Monday aft.,

My dearest,

It's been a terribly long week-end without you but tempis fugit. For the past two days I've been sunning myself and taking it easy. Liesel is so sweet to me. She doesn't let me do anything strenuous and my back feels so much better.

My appetite is fine and your best girl takes an awful lot of kidding each mealtime. I pack away those vitamins and Al keeps saying "and you want reduced rates." I think I gained some weight.

Did you have a nice week-end?

Have you spoken to Ernest about the lease?

My sisters all wrote letters to me and Bess is mailing my valise to me Railway Express. She also ordered the belt and bracelet for Liesel. Al would like to know if Bill Rubel can get a cage (die) and how much it cost. Please find out if you're not too busy.

How do you like the war situation, my love? Al predicted correctly about Russia and perhaps this is the beginning of swatching. My fingers are crossed. How is business now?

Saturday night Becky Rudell invited us for a drive around the countryside and later treated

us to delicious ice-cream sodas in the town drug-store. She's a good natured person and likes me. Later in the evening, we listened to some of Noel Coward's stuff and then sang in a group!
Yesterday was very hot and again we canoed and sat under the jines until a cow chased us.
In the evening, we had introduction night and Al told some funny stories. There are still a few you haven't heard.

Plenty of gals are here but no

boys. I feel sorry for them.

My clothes all look lovely and everyone comments about my slack suits. Have you worn any of your new sport things yet?

I'm still very lonesome for you, my darling. No matter what I'm always thinking of you and talking about you. Do your ears burn?

I do love you and will always love you.

Your loving Florence

P.S. Haven't taken any snaps yet but will soon.
