SEE INSTRUCTION NO. 2

Dearest beloved,

Sat. evening night -

With rumors flying thick and fast all day today about Klemens's surrender, I'm quite calm and collected. Lieutenant Truman has announced no official word has come from Eisenhower but we'll know more in the morning. Meanwhile, darling, please

Jim and I are very well, love you always and miss you so much. We were out all afternoon with Betty and Lawrence and came up for a really supper. We were calm to night and is hoping for an early end as all of us are doing. Her best to you. The family is well and I'll see them all tomorrow here. They called to night and expects to have a dinner on Mother's Day. Tell you can join us - we'd love having better.

They will, my love and I hope we'll be seeing you soon. Write me several long letters and hope you received mail, packages and camera.

My love to you as always - they and kisses from Jim.
