Tuesday night

Dear George,

I haven't as yet had the time to take one of those whole hand typing lessons yet; but even this two finger system is fast becoming easier. I think that I shall stick to this system; even though I can never expect to get as fast as I would if I mastered the other system. It is not essential that I be a speed wizard; it is of more importance that I learn quickly. That being the issue I guess I had better stick to the easier learning two finger method.

There have been no changes out here, we are still very busy and working without a let up. It has become very cold out here; the temp. hovers between 5 and 15 degrees; which is quite cold. We had already begun to look forward to some nice spring weather; but the weather man thought otherwise. I guess it must have turned cold in N.Y. too.

Have not been in touch with those people yet; in fact I never gave it a thought until I sat down to write you. We are managing to spend our evenings quite well so far this week.

If you have never tasted Vodka you ought to; it is smooth; but quite warming and potent. It cured me of a slight cold that I developed somewhere. I think the change of weather played a prominent part in this development.

Looking forward to the receiving of the laundry.

I hope that you and Flo are well, and that business has picked up for you.

Best regards,

Bob
