

Tuesday.

Dear George:

As soon as Florence gave me your address, I impressed on her that you were in non-combat, and re-assured her since. The reason I addressed my letter "Port Apprentices" was because I misunderstood when she said "Port" in parenthesis. However, that is easily corrected.

I have written Leonard Case twice, in the last giving him your Upton address. So far I have no reply from him, but I don't mind, because I had cautioned him to devote his spare time to write me only if he could do so after attending to the more important duties. When next I write him, I will give him your new address.

Richard is now stationed in the Machine Records Unit, at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas. He has office hours of 8 to 5. Doesn't know whether it is for a week, a month or permanent. As he puts it, all he knows is that he's been transferred from the Infantry to the Army. He is foregoing any mumble about the necessary operation until he is imbedded in his new assignment. His intended is leaving just as soon as she can get reservations, and they will be immediately married.

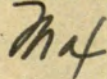

Still in a dither at the office. Tonight I am occupied in compiling a list of investment stocks for one of GJB's clients. The market took an encouraging spurt this afternoon. With a volume of only 450,000 shares up to 2 o'clock, the last hour was vigorously on the up side with as much volume in one hour as was done in four. Of course, the feature was ADC....a mere 114.

I don't know what else to say. You know how I hope the breaks of good fortune drift your way, and anything you think I can do for you needs only your asking.

Unless I get snowed under, I'll manage to write you often.

My best....and loads of good luck.

Sincerely,

Tuesday.

Dear George:

As soon as Florence gave me your address, I inquired on her that you were in non-combat, and re-assured her since. The reason I addressed my letter "Fort Apollonia" was because I misunderstood when she said "Fort" in parenthesis. However, that is easily corrected.

I have written Leonard Cass twice, in the last giving him your Texas address. So far I have no reply from him, but I don't mind, because I had cautioned him to devote his spare time to write me only if he could do so after attending to the more important duties. When next I write him, I will give him your new address.

Richard is now stationed in the Machine Records Unit at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas. He has office hours of 8 to 5. Doesn't know whether it is for a week or a month or permanent. As he puts it, all he knows is that he's been transferred from the Infantry to the Army. He is foregoing any muddle about the necessary operation until he is included in his new assignment. His intention is leaving just as soon as she can get reservations, and they will be immediately married.

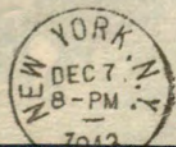

Still in a dither at the office. Tonight I am occupied in compiling a list of investment stocks for one of GIB's clients. The market took an encouraging sport this afternoon. With a volume of only 150,000 shares up to 2 o'clock, the last hour was vigorously on the up side with as much volume in one hour as was done in four. Of course, the feature was ADG....a mere lift.

I don't know what else to say. You know how I hope the breaks of good fortune drift your way, and anything you think I can do for you needs only your asking.

Unless I get snowed under, I'll manage to write you often.

My best....and loads of good luck.

Sincerely,

VIA AIR MAIL

Pr. G. Stoff, 42050100,
6th Bn. Co. H. (Post)
ASF - U.T.C. - NOSA.
New Orleans (2), La

PRIN

M. L. Pincus
176 Seelye St
Brooklyn, N.Y.