

CALENDAR HEARING

An open hearing on the 1973-74 academic calendar will be held Wednesday (Nov. 8) from 4-6 p.m. in the Hale Conference Room (third floor). Those who have comments to offer or proposals to make with regard to the composition of the academic calendar are urged to attend.

WINTER PARKING

After November 15, 1972 there will be no parking in the following lots after 11 p.m. 1) A lot-Hale Building, 2) B lot-Fake, 3) C lot & G lot-in rear of Alumni, 4) D lot-rear of Student Union, 5) E lot-Library lot & Hillsborough lot, 6) G lot-Commons Bay, east of the Commons, 7) Appian Way.

PUB MEETING

The first annual meeting of the Executive Board of the Keene State College Student Union Pub will be held Thursday (Nov. 9) at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Room. It is an open meeting and all may attend. The Executive Board plans to answer any and all questions that students, faculty, administration and Keene residents wish to have clarified. The Executive Board consists of:

President—Rit Pare
Clerk—Nora Lydon
Treasurer—Meg Griffin
Board of Directors: Nancy Riddle, Ron Cote, Mickey Rooney, Clayton Tanner, and Jeff Cady.

All opinions, positive or negative, are welcomed. Let's get this Pub thing straightened out!

EXTENSION BULLETIN

The 1973 Spring extension Bulletin is now at the printer and will be available the first week of December.

FUNKY POTATOES

Funky Potatoes will appear in concert in the Mabel Brown Room Sunday, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. The group plays blues and rock and consists of six pieces: 1 horn, 1 sax, two guitars, 1 bass, and drums. Admission by ID. The concert is sponsored by the Class of '74.

KEENE FOOD MART
CENTRAL SQUARE

What you want is ice cold!

Roussell's
OF KEENE, N.H.

9 Elm St. 352-3123

QUALITY APPAREL
FOR MEN, BOYS AND LADIES

SNOWFLAKE LAUNDRY

26 ROXBURY STREET, KEENE

HOURS: 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

26 Quality Maytag Washers—
Full 30 Min. Wash Cycle

9 Hoyt Gas Dryers—
Only 10 cents (for 10 min.)

2 BRAND NEW DRY
CLEANERS. INEXPENSIVE
SELF-SERVICE.
(10 lbs. for only $2.50)

Also stop conveniently next door at AUBUCHON HARDWARE for all those "Do-It-Yourself" projects!

Still more letters

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN — AN AFTERTHOUGHT

To the Editor:

In the last few weeks and months we have seen some of America's muddiest political campaigns. Whether you're for McGovern or Nixon, the jury is about to come in with its verdict. What happens when the public hears the verdict could greatly affect our country for years to come. What will you do if McGovern wins? What will you do if Nixon wins? Herein lies our fate.

McGovern in his campaign has lashed out at the President with words of "liar", "immoral", "genocide", "corruption", "mistrust", "antitrust", and hoards of other comments. He has gathered a group of extremely dedicated and conscientious followers who would literally die for their candidate.

Nixon himself has avoided this rhetoric and concentrated on his achievements, his goal for a generation of peace and support of our military as a bargaining position for that peace.

Whether you are for Nixon or McGovern, once the voting is finished Tuesday, the jury will have decided. Both McGovern and Nixon agree the jury has the ultimate decision. The choice is quite clear.

There is, however, a real concern, no matter who wins, of reuniting the American public after the election. If McGovern wins, it means that presidential supporters everywhere will have to tighten their belts bite their lips and watch McGovern cut the military drastically and give South Vietnam to the 'Commies on a silver platter.

If Nixon wins, it means McGovern supporters will have to tighten their belts, bite their lips and watch the situation progress, however it may, for four more years.

If they, both sides, don't bite their lips and accept the jury's decision, the stage will be set for a confrontation that could tear America apart.

There are foreign ideologies who would be more than happy to fuel a feud between McGovern supporters and Nixon backers. The kindling for the fire is very evident to anyone observing the hostility between Nixon and McGovern camps, both of whom want peace but are miles apart on the way to procure it.

It is we the people who want peace and part of that peace must start at home. Whoever wins, forgive your brother for his accusations and attacks during the heat of political battle, and ask him to forgive you for your attacks too. Pray to God to make us all brothers once again and continue our pursuit for a better mankind and an environment spiritual and physical. By doing so we will keep the kindling in the fire place, which is division, from being lit by a small match, which is right or left wing extremism, and thus keep the whole house from burning to the ground. Do unto others as you would have others do unto you, and love your neighbor as yourself, no matter who he is.

Richard Cogswell

in memoriam

Richard Barnes

Richard Barnes, a 1972 graduate of Keene State, died last week in an automobile accident in Bath.

To us, at Phi Mu Delta, he was better known as "Bad News." We used to kid him about his slicked-back hair and his country and western records.

There are other things that we will remember also. We'll remember how hard he worked around the house, how dedicated he was to the fraternity, and how good naturedly he took all our kidding.

As long as all of us who know Dick Barnes live, so too will all the memories we have of him and all that he did for the house, the school and each of us.

Though God chose to call Dick from us after a short time on this earth, we are all thankful to have had the opportunity to know him.

SHOW YOUR WARES

An arts and crafts show and sale will be held Saturday, Dec. 2, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Student Union Brown Room. All students and community members are invited to display their wares. Contact Steve Smith in the Union office to reserve a display area. The program is sponsored by the Union Programming Board.

JOB OPENING

Student needed to do typing and filing for Dr. Lohman in the Education Department. Must be on work study.

QUALITY SHOPPE

84 Main St.
Keene, N.H.

Canal and sports wear

TEE GEE

Tapes Galore

is found at
33 Main St. Keene and
41 So. Main St. Concord

Soccer, Cross Country teams tops in NAIA

stories
page six

Keene State College
Keene, N.H. 03431

equinox

Vol. XXIV, No. 9 / O
NOV. 8, 1972

Members of the KSC Soccer team run triumphantly downfield after scoring the second and deciding goal against Castleton to win the conference title. (Story and pictures on page 6 and 7.)

'Peoples Yellow Pages' to list social services

A group of young people in the Keene area have begun work on the People's Yellow Pages of New Hampshire, a descriptive listing of social services and social change activity in the state.

The Yellow Pages is a low budget project of Willing Hands Outstretched Incorporated (WHOI), a drop-in help center in Keene. The project's coordinator is Jon Walker of Keene.

The Yellow Pages, not unlike KSC's Itsabook, will be a tool that people can use to locate resources to work on personal and social problems, Walker said.

The 60 to 80 page book will be available in late February and will cost about 35 cents, Walker said.

The Yellow Pages will be a state-wide venture with help from workers in all major cities and towns and counties compiling information from each area, he said.

Some specific topics the Yellow Pages will cover include: food coops, birth control, alcoholism, drugs, communes, community agencies, peace action groups, education, poverty, ecology, media, welfare, unemployment and alternative vocations.

In addition, listings of out-of-state groups and organizations that New Hampshire people might find useful will also be included, Walker said.

"The group hopes the project to provide bridges of freedom between people by making available for people a spectrum of possibilities from which to choose," he said.

"It will be a directory of individuals and groups offering their services to the community and working, in some capacity, for social change."

"The long range effects of the Yellow Pages are hard to determine at this time," Walker said. "However, one can see from similar projects in New York, Boston and San Francisco that they will inevitably play a key role in the evolution of communities from present standards to a non-alienating, non-exploitative socio-economic network."

Food club questions eating habits

"People should take more interest in the food they eat," Carol Stoyan, a member of the new Health Foods Club at KSC said.

She explained that "anyone can take a course in nutrition through either the Home Economics program or through the A-1 program."

"The courses attempt to cover the physical and psychological aspect of nutrition and the present nutritional value of the food in the U.S. and elsewhere," she said.

Stoyan explained that "people eat the way they do because of tradition. They are used to having a medium breakfast, a small lunch and a big dinner."

"The best diet consists of having the morning meal be the largest because you need the energy during the day, not at night when you're relaxing," she added.

Stoyan shared this opinion with Adele Davis, author of a booklet entitled "Foods Facts and Fallacies." Stoyan quoted from Davis, saying "In the morning you should eat like a king, in the afternoon you should eat like a prince, and at night you should eat like a pauper."

"A poor nutritional diet could result in Psoriasis, vision difficulty, loss of hair, problems in hearing and many other diseases," she explained. "Through taking the proper vitamins, you can rid yourself of disease."

"One example Stoyan gave of this was the 'Davis was losing her sight until she began an organic diet. After eating organic food for a period of time, Davis regained her sight completely.'"

Another example she gave was that of the Hamzutsa people who live on an island 100 miles long and 1 mile wide. She said that "the 90-year-old men on that island can still reproduce, and there is no disease."

The reason for this she said was because "the people are vegetarians and the soil content is high in minerals."

"People should take the time to find out more about the food they eat," said Stoyan. She explained that today some boxes that contain food "are made from recycling and contain the chemical PCB, which is poisonous to the human body."

"The preparation of some meat is also harmful," she added.

Stoyan said that if people would like to find out more about nutrition, without getting into a course, they could talk to her at Rockingham House or at the Health Foods Club on Wednesday nights from 6-7.

She added that the "Health Foods Club is going to propose an organic foods table at the Dining Commons." "However, we need a majority of students to back up the proposal." Interested persons can contact her or Don Land, professor of computer science.

Extension students may pay Union fee

The Student Union Board has proposed that special and extension students be charged a $1 per credit Student Union fee. Presently, these students are exempt from paying any union fee while full-time students are billed $30 per year.

The proposal would also change the summer session Union fee from $6 per student to $1 per credit.

The rationale to the proposal explained that special and extension students do make use of the Student Union while they are on campus and that the amount of time they are on campus is directly related to the number of credits they carry. Thus the $1 per credit fee.

The fee change, which would generate an estimated $4,500 in extra revenue, has been passed by both the Student Union Board and the Student Senate. The proposed fee must still be approved by various Trustee committees and finally by the full Board of Trustees.

Target date for the new fee would be the spring semester, Doug Mayer, director of student activities, said.

Without the extra revenue generated by the new fee, it will be necessary to raise the Union fee for regular students next year, or face a cut in services and programs, Mayer said.

"I would hate to cut out programs that students are involved in," he said.

If the fee is accepted some "modest" facility improvements will be made, including the painting and refurbishing of walls and the design of gallery space for a student art exhibit program, the report said.

Doug Mayer

Steam comes out of manhole, and two students turn backs to naked tree.

and don't miss...

MUSIC

KSC CHAMBER SINGERS in "A New England Thanksgiving", featuring music from Colonial America. Sunday (Nov. 19), 8 p.m., Brown Room, Student Union. Admission free.

"THE PRESIDENTS BAND" in concert. Friday (Nov. 17), 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m., Brown Room, Student Union. Admission: KSC students $1, others $1.50.

KSC BRASS QUINTET CONCERT. Wednesday (Nov. 15), 7:30 p.m., Brown Room, Student Union. Admission free.

THEATRE

"THE RANSOM OF RED CHIEF," presented by the KSC Children's Theatre. Friday (Nov. 17), 7 p.m., Drenan Auditorium. Admission: adult with child, free; adult without child, 50 cents.

LECTURES

"THE WORLD OF WORK," a lecture by Russell Haviland. Thursday (Nov. 16), 7 p.m., Keene Lecture Hall, Science Center. Sponsored by IETA.

"TODAY'S RISE OF THE OCCULT," a lecture by the Rev. James Bjornstad. Thursday (Nov. 16), 7:30 p.m., Brown Room, Student Union. Admission free. Sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

FILMS

"THE MARK" Thursday (Nov. 16), 7 p.m., Waltz Lecture Hall, Science Center. Admission 50 cents. Sponsored by the Fine Film Society.

"CRIMSON PIRATE." Thursday (Nov. 16), 2 p.m., Brown Room, Student Union. Admission: 75 cents & ID.

EVENTS

COSTUMES by Nancy Bowditch. Through Nov. 21 at the Thorne Art Gallery. Viewing hours: Monday-Friday, 1-4:30 p.m., Sunday 3-5 p.m.

RUGBY vs. SPRINGFIELD. Saturday (Nov. 18), 2 p.m., A field.

Minister to speak on rise of occult

The Rev. James Bjornstad, graduate of Northeastern Collegiate Bible Institute and New York Theological Seminary, will lecture on "Today's Rise of the Occult," Thursday (Nov. 16) at 7:30 p.m. in the Brown Room of the Student Union.

For the past several years he has been working with high school and college-age young adults in problems of contemporary culture.

Formerly the assistant director of the Christian Research Institute, he is currently director of the Institute of Con-

Band to present jazz, rock, soul, blues

The Presidents Band, a seven man group with a background in jazz, rock, soul, and blues, will be playing in the Mabel Brown Room Friday, Nov. 17, at 8:30 p.m. and 11:00 p.m.

The Presidents are lead by Phillip Slaughter, bassist, composer and arranger.

Slaughter organized the group 14 years ago in Indiana, and since then the group has played at Expos in Montreal and Japan.

Besides Slaughter, the group consists of a guitarist, flute, two tenor saxes, two trumpets, an organ, and drums. The show also includes special lighting and choreography.

The cost for the program will be $1.00 for KSC students, and $1.50 for all others.

To feature colonial compositions

Thanksgiving choral music slated

"A New England Thanksgiving," a special program of vocal music for the Thanksgiving season, will be presented Sunday (Nov. 19) at 8 p.m. by the Keene State College music department in the Brown Room of the student union.

Mr. Bjornstad is also a member of several learned societies including Delta Epsilon Chi, Evangelical Theological Society, and the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. He is a lecturer of Philosophy and Theology at Northeastern Collegiate Bible Institute and is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at New York University.

He is the author of several articles dealing with contemporary Christianity and has written several books, including

Under the direction of Hubert Bird, assistant professor of music, the program will be offered by the Keene State College Chamber Singers and will feature music entirely by American composers who lived during the Colonial Era.

Mr. Bjornstad's appearance at KSC is sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

Twentieth Century Prophecy and Stars, Signs and Salvation in the Age of Aquarius.

The Rev. Bjornstad will also speak at the Sturtevant Chapel, Washington St. and Ave. in Keene, November 15, 17, 18, and 19. Week night services will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the regular schedule of Sunday services, 9:30 a.m., 10:45 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., will be followed.

Mr. Bjornstad's appearance at KSC is sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

Composers such as Timothy Swan, Andrew Law, Thomas Hastings, and William Billings are included in the program. The music ranges from the straightforwardness of "Thus Saith the High, the Lofty One" (Billings), which is in a simple "round" - a musical form Billings often employed; to the glaring angularities of "Erect Your Heads, Eternal Gates" (Law); to the plaintive "My Refuge is the God of Love" (William Walker).

Also included are two compositions by the 19th century composer Lowell Mason, who first instigated music in the public school curriculum of the United States.

The Thanksgiving program represents the first performance of the year presented by a Keene State College choral organization.

The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

Several programs available to study abroad

By MARTY GINGRAS
Equinox Exec. Editor

Many students at KSC probably do not realize how easy it is to get into a program to study abroad.

The fact is that, through Keene, there are opportunities to sign up for two programs, one a semester of independent study in a foreign country, and the other an experience in international education.

Nancy D. Stuart, coordinator of international education at KSC and a member of the English Department, said that "Keene is really at the beginnings of international teacher training." She said that about 60 students from Keene are sent abroad each year.

The program was started in 1970 when the first group of student teachers was sent to Brentwood College of Education in Essex, England under the leadership of Dr. Paul Blacketer, chairman of the Education Department. Since then, groups have traveled to St. John's College in York, and Ripon College of Education in Yorkshire, England.

The groups usually consist of 10-15 students with a faculty member as their leader. The program lasts six weeks with four weeks involved in participating in local schools and two weeks of independent travel.

Nancy Stuart

Although the program is not presently subsidized in any way, its costs are among the lowest of any in the international program field. Keene budgets cost at $535, all inclusive (except passport and personal spending money) per student.

"Students go to learn, not to teach," Stuart said. "They go to adapt, not to disturb a culture."

Besides the six week program in teaching, students are also able to spend an entire semester abroad. This is arranged with the independent student program of the School for International Training in Brattleboro, Vermont.

This program includes living with a family in a small community for a while and then moving to a large city for a study of contemporary culture, and for independent research.

Intensive language study is also involved for students preparing to study in non-English speaking countries.

Stuart said that opportunities in this program are open to all students regardless of their major. The advantages of the independent study program are that students get to live with a family in a foreign country, learn the culture of a people, and have a good opportunity to travel, she said.

Stuart explained the problem of creditions and personal programs can be worked on a personal basis with each student. "The variety of overseas programs is almost unlimited," she said.

"For people thinking about a semester overseas, they should be thinking towards September, 1973," Stuart said. "Overseas semesters are generally better for juniors and seniors," but she said there was no limit. "Freshmen should spend a year planning, though."

Two other programs for overseas studies are also in the works.

Dr. Lawrence M. Benaquist, assistant professor of English, is planning a trip to London with a group of students during the Christmas holiday. The students will see a number of current London theater productions.

A Home Economics exchange program starting in 1973 is being planned in conjunction with Rivier College in Nashua and Leeds Polytechnic Institute of Leeds, England.

Stuart expressed a desire to see more students applying for the programs. Detailed pamphlets and bulletins and applications can be obtained from Nancy Stuart in Parker Hall.

KSC pub may be privately owned

The pub, KSC's proposed on-campus bar, might become a privately-owned business, should it be passed by the Board of Trustees, Student Senate president Debbie Neuhauser said yesterday.

"We have had some requests to take bids from private organizations," she said.

She added, however, that the pub would still be controlled and run by the students.

"It would be similar to the snack bar, which pays rent to the college."

She also said that it is unlikely that the pub would be located in the Student Union.

"If the drinking age does not get lowered to 18, it definitely would not," she said.

"We would be using facilities and money of all students, when the pub could only be used by a minority."

She said that no other locations have been discussed, and emphasized that the pub at present is only a paper organization.

"First, it has to pass," she said. "The organization is set up in case it does pass, because the club must exist for at least a year before we could apply for a liquor license."

She said that if the drinking age does not go down by next year, the pub executive board would probably sit and wait.

"If it were given to a private business, it would be up to him whether or not to open it before the drinking age is lowered."

Neuhauser also said that the board is presently examining all possibilities for management and location, and is investigating any possible problems that might occur.

"They are presently talking with local businessmen, to see if it would affect business in the area."

She said that she doubted if the Hildebrandt-Kerr motion, which would prohibit age discrimination in college organizations, would affect the pub, assuming that both were passed.

"If it were a private organization, it definitely would not," she said.

BUDDHIST SPEAKER

Maung Maung Ji, a retired statesman and diplomat, Buddhist scholar, and the founder and president of London's Vi-hara Society will speak at the Newman Center Saturday, Nov. 18 at 10:30 a.m. He was trained by Mrs. Annie Besant and C.W. Leadbeater and is an international psychic and cosmic healer, and has worked with Gandhi and Nehru in the All India Congress.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

Want to learn how to fix a radio, change tires or sparkplugs? Your big chance may come with proposed Industrial Education Technical Association free workshops. The IETA is currently feeling out student interest for such workshops through questionnaires available in the dorms and the Student Union. Fill one out.

Course on environment available

An environmental interpretation course aimed at education majors will be introduced into the biology department next semester.

Dr. Edmund A. Gianferrari, associate professor of biology, said that "we are trying to get education people interested in ecology, especially elementary education students."

The course will be taught by graduate student, Lois A. Bradstreet, but Gianferrari said he will be in charge of the course.

"The course is a basic study of outdoor education using the biotic community concept," Gianferrari said.

Topics for discussion include: how to utilize natural history in any school curriculum, the out of doors as a schoolyard laboratory, environmental resource materials, and field trip leading experience and techniques. Ecological principles and inter-community relationships will be stressed, he said.

The second semester course is listed in the course schedules as Biology 411 seminar and will be offered Tuesdays at 11 a.m.

Gianferrari stressed that enrollment is open to anyone and no previous biology courses are required.

QUALITY SHOPPE

84 Main St. Keene, N.H.

Casual and sportswear

MONDAY, NOV. 27, 1972

The School of Management of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y. will be interviewing all day interested applicants for the Masters in Business Administration and M.S. in Accounting Program on

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
School of Management

KSC cheerleader Janice L. Robins of No. Babylon, N.Y., gets smiles all around as four of the college's first five Positive Action Scholarship winners chat on campus. The scholarships, worth up to $2,600, are given to academically talented ethnic minority students. From left: Miss Robins, a violinist and new member of KSC's cheerleading squad; Stanley C. Brittingham of Perth Amboy, N.J.; James C. Harris of Dover, N.H., and Donald A. Maddox of Concord, N.H. Absent from photo is Alvaro Roldan, a native of Colombia and now from Manchester, N.H. All five are freshmen.

Equinox is published weekly throughout the school year by the students of Keene State College. Equinox offices are located on the third floor of the Student Union on Appian Way. Phone: 352-7309.
All opinions in Equinox editorials are those of the Equinox staff and not necessarily those of the administration or faculty of Keene State College.
All copy should be typed (double-spaced) on one side. Copy deadline is 5 p.m. Monday.
Equinox subscribes to College Press Service.

-- our view

PIRG eyes consumer issues

The most important aspect of the New Hampshire Public Interest Research Group (PIRG), now in its infancy at KSC, is that it plans to confront the problem of information gathering on consumer issues. It is for this reason that students should show their support by signing the PIRG petition.

It is a time-worn premise that a true democracy cannot be achieved without the constant flow of information to all citizens. If, for example, people are not aware of the extent of pollution of the Ashuelot River, then certainly they will not be shocked into a concern for cleaning it up. If people are not aware of the extent that non-foods are being promoted by the food industry, then certainly there will be no public outcry for good food.

Thus, PIRG's research aspect — to work to provide a data base for action on consumer problems — is a most crucial one. And indeed, the academic community should have been playing a much greater role in the research of consumer and environmental problems all along.

Unfortunately, research costs money, and it is in the context of this problem that PIRG has met its first real opposition.

The KSC group is now circulating a petition in support of the raising of student fees by $2 per student to fund their organization. Students not wishing to support PIRG would get their $2 refunded at the beginning of the year, they say.

We do admit that this seems to be a backwards way of doing things, but most students are in support of consumer action (who's for pollution?); and the fact remains that $2 feels like a lot less when it is part of one's oversized school bill, especially when these bills are sometimes lessened through loans and grants, than it would be otherwise.

Thus, students who support PIRG, except for the way they are collecting their fee, are not supporting PIRG at all. There is no other realistic way for them to hope to get funds from students.

The solution to environmental problems certainly won't come overnight, but PIRG seems to be a most reasonable place to start.

One minute...

A special study at Plymouth State College has shown that, if five minutes were added to each class period, the semester could be reduced by one week.

Simple mathematics reveal that, if only one minute were added (or one-fifth of 5), the semester could be shortened by one day.

If Keene State were to institute this plan, it would mean one extra day of Thanksgiving vacation, or two half-days more on either side of Christmas vacation.

This plan, indeed, warrants careful consideration by the College Senate.

Even if we were to extend each class by only 30 seconds, it would mean an additional half-day for rest and relaxation.

State has present for college; brand new co-ed dormitory

By MELROY STIRWIN
Equinox Staff Degenerate

The Equinox has learned that the State of New Hampshire is giving to Keene State College, as a Christmas present, a new co-ed dormitory.

The dormitory, to be named Herbie the Frog Hall, has been secretly constructed in the White Mountains by a crew of Alternative One students taking a course in Practical Architecture.

The new dorm, according to unreleased documents, will be transported by flatbed truck during Christmas vacation, and will be ready for student living by next semester.

The dorm will be the only wooden structure on campus, and will house as many students as will fit.

"Gentlemen, Russia's Nuclear Power Is Increasing At An Alarming Rate—They've Got An Enormous 2,500 Deliverable Warheads To Our Paltry 5,700."

--letters

Tears for 'poor Doc Felton'

To the Editor,

I had to weep "96 Tears" for poor Doc Felton. It seems he's worried about justifying his particular brand of "teaching techniques". Oh, my. What if the taxpayers should find out he's pushing his own manuscript as the basic sociology text in his class. Could be a conflict of interest there.

I'd like to suggest to Dr. Felton that he exhibits the prime reason why student evaluations of faculty members should be made public material for discussion and action. The reason is Fear. He among others is afraid to publicly air his teaching methods. He among others is afraid to say to the masses — "This is what I am, this is what I stand for, this is how I teach my students."

It is true that if our teachers knew all the right and wrong methods to teach, we could trust them to lead us to enlightenment. Unfortunately, for all of us, they don't. Therefore, it seems that some sort of structured system for evaluating our teachers is in order.

Does this mean information may come out that will hurt the teachers? Yes, perhaps, but that is not the intent. The intent is to expose teaching methods and materials to constructive criticism.

I must remind Dr. Felton that all KSC employees are public servants. And as such, they hold a public trust. Professionally, they owe their students a certain amount of exposure. If they can't defend their methods, let them seek their American Dream (contentment?) elsewhere. Besides, it's healthy for our ivory-towered academics to squirm and see themselves as their customers see them.

J. Crook

Prof raps 'Christian gerrymandering'

To the Editor,

Richard Cogswell's letter to the editor (Nov. 8) is an excellent example of Christian gerrymandering. His concern with extinguishing post-election political antagonisms concludes with an unacknowledged citing of the Golden Rule and a somewhat unpoetic amendment to the "love your neighbor as yourself" dictum.

Cogswell chooses thus to gerrymander from a man who also said (Matt. 10:34) "Do not think that I have come to bring peace on earth; I have not come to bring peace, but a sword," from a man whose total eschatological lack of concern with the political sphere is expressed in (Mark 12:17) "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." Cogswell's principle of selection is that of the public relations man: mention only what produces a favorable image.

On second thought, maybe Cogswell is a master of irony. Does he turn the other cheek, or is he tongue in cheek? Could it be that his faith has failed to immunize him against the sting of the Socratic gadfly? The deliciously ironic similarity between Jesus and his disciples and Cogswell's description of McGovern and his followers "who would literally die for their candidate" — could this be intentional?

Charles E. Hornbeck
Assistant Professor of Philosophy

All letters must be typed (double-spaced) and should not exceed 300 words. The editor reserves the right to edit all copy. Final deadline is 5:00 p.m. Monday.

--letters

It does cost school money

To the Editor,

RE: An answer to "Raps the Parking Fee"

Yes, it does cost money to maintain a reserved parking space for your car. It is not only the matter of the paper work of selling decals, it also gives us a system, and we can afford to police that private space for you. In addition, we paint you yellow lines, place a sign, plow the snow in winter, and pick up the beer cans in the spring.

So, cool it, Marshall. There is a float, an idea not to charge for the decals. We will still have to have a system and maintain that space for you. Therefore, we will raise tuition so that all the students who do not have cars will help you pay for it.

Bill Bulough
Justice of the Peace

To the Editor,

Student evaluation of faculty has been a controversial subject on campus for some many months now. Without making an arbitrary decision whether such evaluations are of value, or not, I would like to offer your readers the following questions to think about:

ADVANTAGES of student evaluations:

1. Provide an opportunity for students to release inhibitions, anxieties, tensions toward the instructor — their day in court — for those who need it.

2. Since instructors mark students, the evaluation provides the students an opportunity to mark or grade the instructor — may be good psychological student morale.

3. Basically it appears to identify the students' popular instructors.

To PIRG..

To the editor,

People are becoming more and more concerned with the problems of environmental pollution and consumer protection when they begin to realize what is really in their hotdogs, soft drinks, and drinking water. And they're becoming more apathetic when they realize that individually they can't do anything about it.

From Washington to Vermont students are signing petitions for the creation of student public interest research groups (PIRG). The Minnesota PIRG, for example, is operating during its first year on a budget of about $200,000. This money supports four attorneys, two scientists, and other young people working full-time on environmental, consumer, property tax, housing and municipal government problems. They are finding that PIRG is an effective way to combine academic and extracurricular activities and really learn something.

Recycling your cereal boxes and old term papers is one step in solving the pollution problem but if the mill that recycles it is still dumping wastes into our rivers and emitting sulfide gases into the air, then your good intentions are wasted.

For years, thousands of college students have wasted time and energy in courses and subjects that bored them because of their remoteness from the realities of the times. Finally there is a chance to relate our education to reality and make it mean something. The professional staff will be there to show us how.

New Hampshire needs the support of Keene State students to start the PIRG. No one who signs the petition is obligated to do anything. Members of PIRG will have the opportunity to participate in any research group or may be a passive member.

We need your signatures to show that Keene State feels that New Hampshire should have a PIRG. Please sign the petition in your dorm or the Student Union.
Lesa Lakeman

...Or not to PIRG

To the editor,

The Virtue of being PIRG
Student: What will you do?
PIRG: What a question! We'll make the environment better for you.
Student: You'll better the environment?
PIRG: What's so strange in that? Don't we pick up after our 'snack'?

Student: That's different.
PIRG: How is it different?
Student: I've got bills to pay, not just you.
PIRG: But that's the very first thing — there's more than school.

Student: How else will I get through?
PIRG: We'll save you.
Student: You?

PIRG: Yes, we!
Student: God forbid!

PIRG: We'll save you whether you like it or not.
Student: Oh! It's two dollars or else!

PIRG: You don't like it, but we're going to do it none the less.

Student: Good God! It's not fair!

PIRG: We will save you, my little man!

Student: Suppose I don't want you to?

PIRG: All the more reason.
Tom Peairs

student evaluation or for quality education? What is the implication here?

9. Unfortunately in this day, permissive teaching would be the most popular but not the best for the student, no research evidence to the contrary.

10. How many courses has the student evaluator taken from the same professor?

11. Students have a right to say what they think should be taught, but they do not have the qualifications to decide what should be taught; that is, which concepts and understandings should be selected and taught. This is often referred to as "felt" need vs. "real" needs of students.

12. Are students qualified to make these professional academic judgements with any degree of worth or value? What does a student (freshman, sophomore, junior, etc.) know about principles of education, educational tests and measurement, education psychology, audio-visual aids, etc. — the tools of quality teaching?

13. How serious are the students when they fill out the evaluations? (not necessarily a lack of honesty, but a lack of interest)

14. What is the student enrollment in the class?

In other words, what are the coefficient correlations of student evaluations of instructors' courses as to factors such as: major or non-major course of the evaluator, elective course of non-elective course, absences, per cent distribution of grades by instructor, tentative grade in course at time of making evaluation, year status of student, professional expertise of student, etc.

However, I would be most interested in evaluations of courses by those students who have graduated and are now teaching. Evaluations from graduates who have taught from three to five years would appear even more valid.

Furthermore, on the basis of item 12 above, if administrators use the student evaluation results for determining per cent salary increment, they should consider the legality of the criterion.

Dr. Arthur J. Giovannangeli

(MORE LETTERS ON PAGE 8)

go with what you've got

Executive Editor
Marty Glasgow

Managing Editor
Ron Bolwert

News Editor
Eric Midway

Sports Editor
Pete Henshaw

Photography Editor
Bill Gaw

Advertising Manager
George Beauregard

Editorial Board

Ron Bolwert, Marty Glasgow, Paul Levine, Eric Midway, Debbie Nussbaum

Business Manager

Donna Adams

Faculty Adviser

Dr. C.R. Lyte II

On The Inside

N. E. Patriots hire new coach, but will lose again

Well, Johnny Mazur has been replaced. But our woeful New England Patriots need more than Phil Bengston, Mazur's replacement, to return to respectability. The Pats have allowed nearly 300 points in nine games, and gave up 52 to still undefeated Miami on Sunday.

Let's get down to the business of making predictions. Last week's record was 11-2. The overall record is now 38-12-2, for a .760 percentage.

BUFFALO over NEW ENGLAND — The Bills, strong on offense, should have enough to dispose of the Pats. A good day for O. J. Simpson.

CINCINNATI over BALTIMORE — The Bengals need this one badly, while the Colts are out of the race in their division. The Bengal defense is a tough one.

DALLAS over PHILADELPHIA — The Eagles have won two in a row, but Dallas will end that streak easily.

GREEN BAY over HOUSTON — The Packers are not about to have their division-leading record blemished by the hapless Oilers.

MINNESOTA over LOS ANGELES — Last week's thrilling win over the Lions may have sparked the Vikings. Ed Marinaro gives the Vikes still another of-

DETROIT over NEW ORLEANS — The Lions are still very much in the race for NFC Central Division honors. The Saints are already talking about next year.

GIANTS over ST. LOUIS — Watch for Norm Snead to pick the Cardinal secondary apart. St. Louis, meanwhile, is still operating on the flip-a-coin quarterback system.

MIAMI over JETS — Someone is going to knock off the Dolphins. The Jets are strong on offense, but give up too many points. It's tough to bet against Miami.

OAKLAND over DENVER — The Raiders have not been very consistent, but are coming off a strong showing against Cincinnati on Sunday. Charlie Smith seems to be returning to form for the Raiders, after a series of injuries.

PITTSBURGH over CLEVELAND — This one, being played at Cleveland, should be one whale of a football game. It could end up deciding the AFC Central Division title. The Steelers look solid, however, while Cleveland is spotty on defense.

KANSAS CITY over SAN DIEGO — Both teams have been disappointing, but the Chiefs should win at home.

SAN FRANCISCO over CHICAGO — This one will be close, but the 49'ers have been more adept at putting points on the board.

WASHINGTON over ATLANTA (Monday Night) — The 'Skins should make it seven straight wins. It's hard to believe that Washington's lone loss was to the Patriots.

Pete Hanrahan

Cross Country, Soccer teams win NAIA titles

Harriers cop first crown

By MIKE O'LEARY
Equinox Staff Writer

Keene State College has finally won a conference title in cross country. Coach Bob Taft's men won the NAIA District 32 Championship Saturday at Gorham, Maine, and it had been a long time coming.

In the last four conference meets (NESCAC and NAIA) in which the team had competed, KSC had come out second, four consecutive times, by a total of eight points. That skein included last week's NESCAC finals.

Saturday the Owls won convincingly. KSC had 19 points, 29 ahead of UMPG, their nearest rival.

After Presque Isle's Henry Chipman won the race in convincing fashion, the Owls capped five of the next six placed. Dave Millson finished 2nd, and after UMPG's Brian Gillespie crossed the line, KSC's Pete Hanrahan, Glenn Braunhardt, Rocky Stone and Bob Brown finished in a four-way tie for fourth. Because Presque Isle did not enter a full team, KSC runners finished in the 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6 slots in the team scoring to give Keene its low total of 19.

Keene State's John Barrows finished 11th, and Kris Roberts 15th. All seven KSC runners were awarded All-District Medals. Hanrahan had previously been named to the All-District team in 1970, while Braunhardt had been All-District last year.

Bob Taft, completing his fourth year as cross country coach, was obviously pleased with the results. He noted that the win was Keene's first ever in a conference meet, and added that he would have "hated to end the season at Plymouth last week," referring to KSC's near-win in the NESCAC finals.

KSC SPORTS

NOV. 15, 1972

PAGE SIX

Klaus Weber uses his head in a crowd of Castleton defenders.

Graham Jones (left) catches a Castleton defenseman in the air and dribbles by him. Keene finally beat Castleton, 2-1, to earn District Championship.

Klaus Weber paces booters

By JASON HANDFIELD
Equinox Sports Reporter

The KSC booters defeated the Castleton State Spartans 2-1 Sunday afternoon for the NAIA Northern Regional Championship.

The two teams battled the day before to a 0-0 tie and in the process broke the NAIA record for most overtimes, 10.

In Saturday's encounter Keene outshot the Spartans 34-14 but due to the sparkling performance by Castleton goalie Dan Adams, the Owls failed to score. Owl netminder Brad Steurer also proved himself to be one of New England's finest by turning away 14 shots which could easily have hit the nets for scores.

Sunday's game started out in the same fashion as Saturday's with both goalies making superb saves.

Castleton scored first with 29 minutes gone in the initial half as Keene was called for a hand-ball in their penalty area. Dave Fair converted the penalty kick (the first on Steurer this year) and put the Spartans ahead 1-0.

As the crowd came alive in the second half, so did the Owls. The first Keene goal resulted on a cross from Mick Rooney to Klaus Weber who headed the ball over the outstretched arms of Adams.

The deciding goal came with 25 minutes gone on a perfect cross from Mick Rooney to Klaus Weber who blasted a shot past the dejected Dan Adams.

Keene will meet Southern Mass. University this Saturday at the A. Field at 1:00 p.m. for the district 32 title. The Owls easily defeated the Bay State team earlier in the season by the score of 5-0.

The Owls should not look for an easy win as SMU has improved rapidly during the season. The fact that the winner travels to Dunn, N.C. for the national tournament should add incentive to both teams.

Last season the Owls defeated the University of New Haven 3-2 for the right to travel to Dunn and finished fifth in the nation in small college soccer.

OWLS TO PLAY AT HOME

The Keene State College Soccer team will host Southeastern Massachusetts University Saturday at 1:00 on the "A" Field. The winner of the game will represent New England at the NAIA National Championships at Dunn, North Carolina. Be there and support your team!

Swim team to open season with relays this Saturday

By GERRY PILOTTE
Equinox Staff Writer

This Saturday (Nov. 18) Keene State College's second swim team in history will begin its season with a scheduled meet in Albany, New York.

Coach Jim Quirk and his squad travel to Albany to compete in the Great Dane Swimming Relays at the State University of New York.

Although this is only the second consecutive year that the team exists Quirk classifies his 'school' as a team of stand-outs who should be competitive enough all the way to the New England's (championships).

Last year the team swam in a total of fourteen meets. This year the team has increased its schedule to seventeen meets including 13 duals, 2 relays, and 2 championship meets.

Quirk commented that from the enthusiastic practices the team has been holding over the past three weeks the team is ready for its initial encounter.

Also swimming in the Great Dane Swimming Relays Saturday are: host team, State University of Albany; Plattsburg, RPI, Union College Bridgewater, and three junior colleges, including Fulton Montgomery.

The 1972-73 swim team schedule is as follows: Great Dane Swimming Relays (Nov. 18 away), UNH (Nov. 28, home), UMass (Dec. 2, away), SMU (Dec. 7, away), Coast Guard Relays (Dec. 9, away), WPI (Dec. 16, home), Central Conn. (Jan. 17, away), Univ of Vermont (Jan. 23, home), Norwich and Holy Cross (Jan. 27, home), SCSC (Feb. 3, away), LTI Feb. 5, away), Husson College (Feb. 9, home), Colby (Feb. 10, home), Bridgewater State (Feb. 17, home), NAIA Championships (Feb. 19, away), Trinity College (Feb. 27, away), and N.E. Championships (March 1, 2, 3).

Dick Bush (right) heads ball towards goal as Mickey Rooney and Klaus Weber watch.

Junior Varsity Owls finish season at 6-2-2

By MIKE O'LEARY
Equinox Staff Writer

The J.V. Soccer Owls played to a 1-1 tie with a very enthusiastic and sometimes-quite skillful Mt. Hermon team Nov. 1. Mt. Hermon hustled prevented the Owls from settling down. Play fluctuated from end to end throughout the first half with many near misses by each team.

The second half produced much of the same. Finally with four minutes left in the game, Mike Pianta scored to put Keene ahead 1-0. Following a good build up, Harry Price passed perfectly to Pianta whose fierce drive from close in eluded the goalie.

Keene's lead was short-lived, however. Sixty seconds later, Mt. Hermon equalized the score with a goal, on a play which caught several of the Keene defensemen out of position.

"I think the team relaxed after Pianta's goal because so short a time was left," Coach Steve Parker said. "I think a 1-1 tie was a fair result."

Coach Parker said he was pleased with the play of Marc Watkins and Jeff Morrill.

"Marc showed, at last, some of the speed and ball skills he possesses. Jeff pulled off a couple of good saves at a time when his confidence was sagging," he said.

Parker used other words to describe his teams 7-5 loss to Champlain Junior College Nov. 3.

"This was just about the most farcical game I've ever witnessed," he said. "The field was small and in such dangerous condition that skillful play was impossible."

Indicative of the way the game would eventually go, Keene's usually solid and consistent full back Barry Stetson scored two goals for Champlain. Keene goals by Marc Watkins and Jim McCormick offset Stetson's bad luck, but after scoring four times, Keene was tied at 2-2.

Champlain decided to get in the action and scored three quick goals before Keene answered with a goal by Mike Pianta on a penalty kick. At the half, Keene trailed 5-3.

For the first 22 minutes of the second half, Keene pressed relentlessly. Finally Lyman Morgan converted a left foot volley to pull Keene within one goal. But Champlain picked up momentum and scored two goals before captain Rhodes could score for Keene. Final score, Keene 5, Champlain 7.

"I told the fellows after the game that they had to lose games like that to learn what it's all about," Parker said. "And when we returned to Keene Coach Butcher told me that as a coach I had to sit through games like that to learn what it's all about."

On last Tuesday, the Keene State J.V. Owls lost their last game of the season to a very talented UMass team, 2-0.

"This was the fastest game that I've seen for a long time, especially at this level," Coach Steve Parker said after the game. "The game started at a furious pace and really didn't let up, right up to the final whistle."

The score at the half was 0-0, with both teams going hard. Although UMass maintained a lot of pressure, they failed to score. The second half was about a repeat of the first half, but UMass got on the scoreboard after 20 minutes when a long shot was deflected past a surprised goalkeeper, Jeff Morrill.

Play fluctuated for the rest of the game with neither side really getting good chances or near misses. UMass got their second goal on a corner kick with only five minutes remaining in the game. The ball was partially cleared and a hurried shot returned to the goal area where it squeaked between the full back guarding the near post and the goalpost itself.

"Although we lost, I was really pleased with how the team played. Good performance by goalkeeper Jeff Morrill, fullbacks Barry Stetson, Emerson Coleman, and John Tower were the highlight of the Keene defensive play," Parker said. "All three fullbacks have turned in consistent performances all year, except for the Champlain game, and Jeff Morrill has really improved over the second half of the season."

Captain Tommy Rhodes had a good day offensively and controlled the ball very well, while Colin Wilcox turned in a hard tackling, spirited performance.

The J.V. final record is 6-2-2.

FRIDAY
NOVEMBER 17th, 1972
8:00 pm
PUTNEY FOLK
PRESENTS
LEO
KOTTKE
also: William Morrissey
at the FIELDHOUSE,
windham college,
putney, vermont
exit 4 off U.S. 91
tickets on sale locally and at the door. for information call 802-387-5511
tickets - $3.00

KEENE FOOD MART
CENTRAL SQUARE

What you want is ice cold!

GOODNOW'S DEPARTMENT STORE
32 Main Street Keene, N.H.

letters

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

An open letter to the college community:

The family of Dick Barnes wishes to express their deepest appreciation for your kindness and sympathy on Dick's death.

Our sincere thanks especially go to the Industrial Education Department, the Alumni Association, Phi Mu Delta fraternity and his friends. Also, a special thanks to Kenneth Mitchell for the comfort and help he gave us.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnes and family

RECYCLE YOUR TRASH

To the Editor,

Can a recycling program come to Keene? It can with your help! The idea was started by a group of students involved in an Ecology project. From this project it has branched out and now has the possibility of becoming an established organization on campus. With the support of the student body, the organization has a possibility of being a reality.

Our constitution has been written and is being submitted to the student senate this week. The club will be working through P.I.R.G. and faculty members to increase its manpower.

There will be a meeting on an announced date on WKNH. If you have any ideas and want to be involved in the club, come to the meeting! Without a recycling program in Keene, the city and the campus at Keene could and actually has become a big garbage heap. Look for the posters around campus and call Mark Anderson, 403C Carle Hall, 352-9194.

Mark Anderson

CASSETTE RECORDER

All Purpose

Professional Controls
Automatic Level Control
Digital Frequency Counter
Condenser Microphone
Battery/AC

$49.95

RADIO SHACK

RADIO SHACK 357-0100
FAIRBANKS PLAZA, KEENE

Roussell's
OF KEENE, INC.

9 Elm St. 352-3123

QUALITY APPAREL
FOR MEN, BOYS AND LADIES

CHARLESTOWN MILL STORE

120 MAIN ST., KEENE, N.H.

- The Home of 20,000 Sweaters
- A complete line of ladies sportswear
- The store that saves you money
- open daily 9 to 9, sat. 9-5:30, sun. 12-5

FREE KITTENS

352-4932, 8 Butternut Drive. After 6

TRAFFIC COURT

Traffic Court will convene on Thursday, November 16th, at 7 p.m., in the Student Union, 2nd floor, Conference Room A.

SAC MEETING

An open meeting of S.A.C. (Student Activities Council) will be held on November 28, Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Conference Room B in the Student Union, to examine and define the philosophy and goals of S.A.C. Anyone who has any opinions to express are urged to attend.

ARE YOU CURIOUS YELLOW PAGES?

If you are interested in helping the People's Yellow Pages in compiling a list of social services throughout the state or have any information to include in the Yellow Pages visit the PYP Headquarters at 83 Spring St. or call 352-5450.

Santa Klaus (Weber) gives KSC fans an early Christmas gift.

Photo by Gingras

Rit Pare and Nancy Riddle demonstrate the proper method of getting out of a wooden box. The box was part of a Mabel Brown Room exhibit for the two day symposium "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is?" last week.

YMCA JOBS

The Keene YMCA has several opportunities for volunteer and paid employment.

If you would be interested in committing yourself to programs dealing with Keene's youth, call the Y today at 352-6002 and ask for Eric Melder, Program Director.

Several of the opportunities revolve around the following Y programs: Junior High Lounge Program (drop-in lounge, photography, theatre, weight-lifting, rap sessions, etc.) Saturday Goodtime Hours (for children from Keene's housing developments.) Little Braves (new program where college students function as big brothers or as a father to fatherless boys.) Saturday Busing Program for the communities that surround Keene. (Instructional swim, arts and crafts, small group games, and gym games. Front desk coverage. Instructional classes—you name your skill, we may be able to design a class around your talent. Pool and gym instruction and classes.

MEDICAL HALL INC.
Prescription Center
Headquarters for Natural Vitamins
77 MAIN STREET KEENE

Hass Camera Center
1073 FLM ST. MA CHESTER, N.H.
669-5115

Refrigerated professional film, color paper and chemicals

• Rentals on any photographic equipment

• Bulk film

Student Discounts
on all photo supplies

Professional equipment at professional prices.
Open daily until 5:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday 10 a.m.

Holland House of Hobbs
26 Washington Street

TEE GEE

Tapes Galore

is found at
33 Main St. Keene and
41 So. Main St. Concord

Whitewater: 'Dancing to the max'

The U.S. Whitewater team surprised the world, and the Europeans in particular, when they scored an upset, winning a bronze medal and finishing in much better team position than had been predicted during the XXth Olympiad in Munich this summer.

Pictured left is the American two-man canoe team of Burton and Sopwith coming out of an uphill gate and heading back down the slalom course.

The pictures shown here and on page two were taken by Equinox photographer Lou Kolivas when he participated in the games with the U.S. Whitewater team.

"Dancing to the max means giving all or going all out," Kolivas said, "and that's exactly what the American team did."

Keene State College
Keene, N.H. 03431

equinox

Vol. XXIV, No. 11
NOV. 29, 1972

WKNH denied use of Randall Hall rec-room

By ERIC MALONEY
Equinox News Editor

WKNH, Keene State College's radio station, has unexpectedly been denied use of the Randall Hall recreation area to relocate its studios and offices.

In a statement released on Nov. 14, Dean of Students Thomas D. Aceto cited a sudden increased interest in residence hall social, recreational, and educational programming as the basis for his decision.

Without a new studio, WKNH's planned conversion to an FM station cannot take place and the station would remain an on-campus radio station, according to WKNH General Manager Don Gibb. Their studios are now located to the rear of the Brown Room in the Student Union.

"(My) obligation seemed clear; find suitable space for both groups," Aceto said in his statement.

Originally, the college had approved the proposal. Construction was supposed to begin this Oct. 15, but was delayed until Nov. 1 and finally to the 13th. On the 10th, Gibb received the memo informing him that the proposal was being reconsidered.

"... (I) owe an apology to all the students concerned for not involving them more directly in the reconsideration of the use of the Randall Hall space," Aceto said.

Aceto expressed his support for the relocation that will allow WKNH to apply for an FM license. The administration met with radio personnel on the 16th of November, and suggested the basement of Parker Hall, Doyle House, and the hospital as possible alternative sites.

Gibb was unhappy with the delay, however.

"I am not as displeased with the fact that we aren't getting Randall Hall, as I am with the fact that we were given no prior notice and were not consulted with."

He said that the delay would mean approximately 40 more stations would be granted 10 watt licenses, and there is a possibility that WKNH could be stuck with 10 watts indefinitely.

"We cannot file for a permit until we have a specific location in mind," he said.

"When we do get a location, there are blueprints and plans that have to be drawn up. All of this paperwork had been completed on Randall Hall, and now we have to start over."

Gibb said that, if a location were decided upon within a few weeks, and everything went letter-perfect, the station could sign on by next fall semester.

However, the locations are only tentative, and each has its problems that could cause further delay.

"The hospital won't be vacated until next April, which would mean a long waiting period for us," he said.

He said that there were many noise problems in Parker Hall, with banging pipes and people walking upstairs.

Gibb said that another problem would be the height and distance of the antenna.

"The higher, and closer, the antenna is, the more power we will have."

He said that ideally, the station could put their loop on the top of the channel 52 TV station antenna, which would give them the equivalent of 1000 watts of power.

He said, though, that they would have to get a grant to do it.

"An antenna on top of a reasonable high building on campus should allow us to cover the basin," Gibb said.

Gibb emphasized that the station could not possibly go FM at their present location.

"The FCC would never allow us a permit," he said.

"It's too small, too noisy, the traffic flow is bad—we wouldn't have a chance," Gibb said that the future of the station now lies with the administration.

"It's out of our hands now. They are the ones who will have to decide if we can get space."

Photo by Gingras

Don Gibb in the WKNH broadcast studio. "too small" and "too noisy."

New Hampshire hits rock bottom

The state of New Hampshire has been ranked 50th in the nation in per capita support of higher education, according to a study published in the Chronicle of Higher Education (Nov. 13).

With tax support of $16.79 per person, New Hampshire is a full $10 behind its nearest competitor, Massachusetts, who is ranked 49th.

The figures for New Hampshire were down about 1.5 per cent from last year's total of $17.06 per capita.

The report shows state support for Keene State College has dropped 13 per cent in the last two years. In the same period support for Plymouth State was down 14 per cent while University of New Hampshire support decreased some 6 per cent.

Nationally, state support for higher education has risen some 23 per cent in the past two years, a slight slowdown from the 39 per cent rise experienced in the previous two years. Total state support for education for 1972-73 comes to $8.5 billion.

The national per capita average was $41.46. Hawaii held onto its first in the nation rating with support numbering $84.95 per capita. Alaska is second with $73.75.

In New England Rhode Island set the pace with $42.72 per capita, and was ranked 25th nationwide. Figures from other states were: Connecticut $37.10; 37th; Vermont $36.24, 38th; and Maine $33.05, 41st.

Commenting on the Chronicle report, UNH President Thomas Bonner said that state universities are heading for financial disaster and that New Hampshire cannot remain so far out of pace without "severe consequences."