Dear Florence:

I wrote a letter to you this afternoon but didn't mail it. Your letter came today and I read it this evening so there were bits of information I had asked about in the other letter that you answered.

I spoke to George at the office this afternoon. He's taking Marion and I up to be with you for the July 4th week-end. I'll bring up my jersey suit for you and if there's anything else let me know & I'll be glad to take it up for you.

Make reservations for Marion and I, you told me how much it would cost. But let me know what clothes I'll need there. A gown? A fur coat? Or a fur trappers outfit?

Joel & Thelma were with us all day (Sunday) yesterday. They're both fine.

Mamma & Papa attended Mirsk's (Foster) graduation at Brooklyn College this morning. They had a wonderful time and then the whole gang came back to the house and had a swell luncheon. Mamma bought a side of cow and there wasn't even a bone left. Did they eat? I surely expected something left for my dinner but wound up with a hamburger.

Send regards to Miesel & Al and take good care of you, and don't be lonesome. I'll sleep with George if you want me to. Eleanor
