

Thursday morn.

George, dearest,

The sun is out in all its glory and we're all out sunbathing ourselves. It's quite windy in the forest nearby and according to some old timer named Frank there'll be a storm in a day or two. That wouldn't bother any of us because we're just born nature lovers. Hope you're having nice weather and that spring has already come to your part of the country.

We're all feeling fine, healthy and still enjoying the country life. Jimmie looks wonderful and Jan is learning plenty from him. We're sure got a smart rascal, darling Buddy. You'll see for yourself real soon. Just hope that I can get that train by the 30th and then all will be heaven again. I sure miss you and love you so dearly, my love.

Received your Friday and Sunday's letters and was so glad to know about my beloved and that you, too, are walking on wings of love. I've already made notes of all the details that are to be taken care of and as soon as I return to the city I'll get to work on them. Most of my clothes are in good order and Eleanor and Ben are making me learn how to have a good hair do day and night.

With the mail, there was also a short note from Marge's wife thanking us for the gift. That home you call you mentioned, I thought was going to ^{be} made this coming Sunday instead of last Sunday. I'm a little mixed up with the days and dates of the week while I'm up here. In any event, if you do make a call again this Sunday I'll probably be there to answer it - early or late.

We may leave for home on Saturday unless the weather is exceptionally nice. If you get that money order soon and I'll send another one for $5.00 in a day or so. Shall I keep $5.00 in checking account or what do you advise?

Just finished a delicious dinner and enjoyed it so much. Babies are already outdoors and had their morning naps in the sun. Expect a phone call from my mom to-day and I'll also know how your folks are. Too bad about Sam but that "boulder" of yours could have had an essential defense job by now but I do hope he steps out of the army just because of the folks. I can well imagine how Mom feels.

Until to-morrow, my love, I'll dream of you and hope the days fly until we're together as in the past. All my love to you and a kiss and hug from Jimmie. Eleanor and Bea send their fondest wishes.

Sincerely yours,
Flavence

P.S. Did I tell you that Pop got those blades last week. Thanks!
