- Student Union Board of Control - eleven

EDUCATION SEMINAR

A seminar on new philosophies and methods in education will be held every Thursday at 4 p.m. in Science 115 beginning tomorrow. The seminar is open to all students and faculty.

TRAFFIC COURT TO CONVENE

Traffic Court will convene on Thursday, Sept. 28, at 7 p.m., in Conference Room A of the Student Union.

CORRECTION

In last week's article on newly appointed faculty members, Alex S. Papadopoulos, assistant professor of mathematics, was inadvertently listed in the wrong department.

Papadopoulos received his B.S. and M.S. degrees at the University of Rhode Island and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

PAID POSITION

The Social Council needs a secretary to work several hours a week. Person must be eligible for work-study.

WHO adviser to lecture

Theodore F. Hatch, adviser to the World Health Organization on environmental health, will address the Keene League of Women Voters at its membership tea on Wednesday (September 27) at 1:30 p.m. in Randall Hall.

Hatch, an internationally recognized authority on industrial health, will describe the work of the United Nations in this field.

A Maine engineer who has advised a number of nations on work-related diseases and their prevention, Hatch has had assignments with the Atomic Energy Commission, the military services, the TVA and the U.S. Public Health Service. He retired as professor emeritus of the University of Pittsburgh in 1966 but was immediately called upon by the World Health Organization.

Membership in the League is open to all women 18 and older. A special invitation to the membership tea has been extended to all female students, faculty, and faculty wives. Refreshments will be served following the lecture.

Escape artist show postponed

Ill health and damaged equipment forced the postponement of the Norman Bigelow - ("Houdini Reincarnated") performance Sunday night. Steve Smith, assistant director of student activities, said Monday.

No date has yet been set for the rescheduled showing although one will be announced soon.

Students wishing to challenge the escape artist should contact Steve Smith a few days before the performance.

LOUNGING IN A FUTURE PUB?

KSC Student Senators have suggested the use of the Commuters Lounge of the second floor of the Student Union for a new "21 club". The club would serve alcoholic beverages to members of the KSC community and their guests who are 21 years or older. The Student Union Board, the College Senate and the Board of Trustees must still review the idea.

Student Senate calls for on-campus pub

By RON BOISVERT
Equinox Managing Editor

A motion calling for the establishment of an "over 21 club" on campus was passed by the Student Senate Monday night.

The club would serve alcoholic beverages to members of the college community 21 or older and their guests. It should be located in the Student Union, the Senate motion stipulated.

The club would be self-sufficient, not relying on support from any student funds, Debbie Neuhauser, Student Senate president, said.

The fate of the club remains to be reviewed by the Student Union Board, the College Senate and ultimately the University Board of Trustees, however.

The Plymouth State College Student Senate passed a similar proposal last year which was tabled by the Board of Trustees until this fall.

The sentiment within the trustees is favorable to the PCS proposal, David Gagne, KSC student and member of the Board of Trustees, said.

Neuhauser reported that discussion between PSC, New England College and the N.H. State Liquor Commission has shown the Commission in favor of the on-campus clubs.

"They see it as curbing drunken driving of some college students," she said.

Drinking laws would have to be strictly enforced, Neuhauser said, with infractions fined heavily.

She also said that the Commission favored the "non-profit" aspects of the PSC and NEC plans in that money made from the club would help fund the Student Union.

Possible money generated for the Student Union was one of the main concerns of Douglas F. Mayer, KSC Student Union director, who said he was in favor of the "over 21 club."

"We don't want to raise the Union fee, but we don't know how to prevent it," he said.

Increased funds from the college and from enterprises like an "over 21 club" might help keep the Union fee down, Mayer said.

The present commuters lounge on the second floor of the Student Union was volunteered as a possible location for the proposed club. Other students suggested that areas now operated by the KSC bookstore be used.

Mayer said after the meeting that he was "not sure it was realistic to hope to get the bookstore area for the club."

The Student Senate has hired a local lawyer to investigate any legal problems with an on campus club.

"If all goes well we could have an over 21 club by fall 1973," Neuhauser said.

Social Council changes aid student participation

By GEORGE BEAUREGARD
Equinox Staff Writer

The social council has changed its constitution this year to allow more students to participate in its decisions. Bruce Reynolds, social council president, said recently.

The major change is in its membership which will make the council open to any interested students at KSC. Reynolds said that the Social Council needs as many members as they can acquire to meet the demands of the activities that are on the schedule this year.

Some of the goals for the year range from small concerts to presenting Houdini and a witch. The council will also hold a few dances.

Reynolds said there would be no big name groups this year due to a lack of student participation. He emphasized that student participation will be needed this year in order to carry on a more active program.

According to Reynolds, there are three major organizational changes in Social Council committees. First will be the selection of groups which will be derived from polls taken on campus.

Second will be in the way in which publicity and promotion are handled, and lastly will be the production and technical aspects of the entertainment. These offices will be run by the chairman and executive board.

Potters Guild to host show

A ceramics workshop, sponsored by the New Hampshire Potters Guild, will be held at Keene State College next Tuesday and Wednesday (Oct. 3-4).

The two-day workshop will feature John Glick of Farmington, Mich., a master potter, who will give demonstrations on pot producing. Glick is a practical potter familiar with labor-saving, self-made tools, knowledgeable in technical matters and capable of structuring the day's hours to the best advantage," said Samuel Azzaro, instructor in art at Keene State who is hosting the workshop.

The workshop will be held in butlerfield Hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days, with a noon lunch. The fee is $3 for one day and $6 for the two days. Persons interested in attending may contact Azzaro at the college or at his home (357-0492).

Glick mixes his own clays and glazes, forms and fires his stoneware in his studio. His work ranges from mugs to casseroles, from plates and bowls to large carved or incised relief pots and experimental sculptural forms. Most of his works have a functional quality. Each piece is individually designed. Although pieces in a set may vary slightly, they have a family relationship.

These qualities in his works—esthetic pleasure, technical skill, and attention to functional detail make Glick's pots collector's items.

Glick holds a degree from Wayne State University and a master of fine arts degree from Cranbrook Academy of Art. He has taught at Wayne State University, Detroit and the Bloomfield Art Association in Birmingham, Michigan.

CAT plans two plays

Celebrant Actors' Theatre (CAT) is planning two major productions for the fall semester: Jean Anouilh's "The Lark" and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

"The Lark," directed by E. T. Guidotti, is the story of the trial of Joan of Arc. The play will open October 18 in Drenan Auditorium.

A spokesman for C.A.T. said that the actors have already been cast but there is need for help in costumes, set building and painting, ushering, and light and sound control.

C.A.T. will also produce one children's play during the fall.

The Keene Summer Music Theatre completed its second season showing three major musicals. The three plays were "Dames at Sea," "Company," and "A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum."

The summer theatre employed 11 resident actors, 8 apprentices, a production staff of 8, and a professional staff of 9, many of whom were members of the college and community.

Two children's plays were also produced by the summer theatre.

THE GREAT ESCAPE

Norman Bigelow, escape artist, will perform Sunday (Oct. 1) at 8 p.m. in the Brown Room of the Student Union. Admission is $1 for KSC students, $2 for others. Those wishing to challenge Bigelow should contact Steve Smith before Sunday.

KSC parking causes talk

By MARTY GINGRAS
Equinox Exec. Editor

Several "major problems" with parking regulations and facilities at KSC have been cited by two members of the KSC staff. One has called the lack of parking spaces the major problem and another cites inefficient enforcement of "non-understandable" rules.

A report submitted to President Redfern last semester by KSC's parking committee called for a set of simpler regulations and a change in the way parking rules are enforced.

Dr. Michael D. Keller, chairman of the parking committee last year, said that the findings of the committee were almost completely disregarded. He said that most of the recommendations made were "rational" and saw no reason why they should be ignored.

Keller maintained that "one of the problems with the parking regulations as they exist now, is nobody pays attention to them."

He explained that the reasons for this are the "near-non-understandability" of the rules, and the inefficient way in which rules are enforced.

In order to insure more efficiency the

Human rights activist to lecture

Dick Gregory, comedian turned human rights activist, will initiate the 1972-1973 Concert and Lecture Series at Keene State College Thursday (Sept. 28), appearing in the Brown Room of the Student Union at 8 p.m.

Gregory rose to fame as a comedian 10 years ago at the age of 29. At the height of his career, he began turning more and more toward participation in the civil rights movement in the 1960's and today is much more active in that area than in comedy, although he still makes some nightclub and television appearances.

Born in the black ghetto of St. Louis, Gregory was a high school state champion in track and ran for the Southern Illinois University team while in college. He first gained comedic fame when blacks were a rarity in that field, and used a biting style of humor to attempt to further the cause of blacks and other minority groups.

He took part in every civil rights movement of the '60's, fasting for weeks at a time, participating in protest marches and demonstrating peacefully for various civil and human rights causes.

In 1967, he formally entered politics, running for mayor of Chicago as a write-in, independent candidate. The following year he was a write-in, independent candidate for president. He has recorded many albums, has written six books including his autobiography, "Nigger, The Shadow That Scars Me, Write Me In!" and lectures extensively on college campuses.

Gregory has said: "There is a great social revolution going on in America today. And the wonderful thing about this revolution is that it is not black against white. It is simply right against wrong. The No. 1 problem in America today is not air and water pollution. It is moral pollution. The same moral pollution which keeps the smoke up in the air and also keeps the Indian up on the reservation."

Ten years ago, when he became nationally known, "most of the suffering and negative aspects of American life were known by only the people who were suffering and those few concerned about it," he says. "Now, everyone knows of peoples' plight. Racism is no longer a Southern problem. There's no question that racism is an American problem."

Gregory, father of eight children, holds honorary degrees from Malcolm X University in Chicago and Lincoln University in Pennsylvania.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and students. KSC students, faculty and staff are admitted by ID card. Tickets may be purchased at the Main Street entrance.

DICK GREGORY

Dick Gregory will open the 1972-1973 Concert and Lecture Series at KSC in the Brown Room of the Student Union at 8 p.m. on Sept. 28. He is a famous comedian turned human rights activist.

'Mini-house' dorm concept to be studied

By RON BOISVERT
Equinox Managing Editor

A feasibility study on a "mini-house" concept for KSC's next single-students dormitory will begin this week, Thomas D. Aceto, dean of students, said Monday.

The concept, the third being considered since the Board of Trustees ok'd the college's request a year ago to build a new dorm, would house students in seven to eight "small group structures."

Each house would hold no more than 40 students, Aceto said, and the houses could be arranged in a cluster or scattered in groups throughout the campus.

The study is being conducted by Shepley, Bulfinch and Associates, a Boston architectural firm.

If all goes well, the plan could be implemented by fall 1974, Aceto said.

The original idea, which was put forth in an August 1971 report written by Aceto, was to build college-run apartment houses. This idea was rejected, Aceto said, mainly because the college did not want to get into a landlord-tenant relationship with single students.

"The college should affect student lives through their living environment," Aceto said. "The apartment styled dormitory does not lend itself to that."

Aceto cited various social, cultural and learning programs now taking place on campus as ways the college can affect students.

"Apartments isolate people. We want some feeling of community," Aceto said.

A second reason for dropping the apartment concept was "the feeling that the college shouldn't go into competition with private enterprise for tenants."

College officials then saw no alternative than to build another traditional dormitory, Aceto said.

The Board of Trustees agreed to a plan this summer which would house some 300 students in units holding 12, 16 and 20 students each, and would be stacked to varying heights, some reading eight stories tall.

All plans were ready when the college put a stopper on the project.

"We feel that the college should make various alternative living environments available for students," Aceto explained. Another traditional dormitory would not do that.

Thus, the college came up with the idea of "mini-house" living.

The present mini-houses are the most popular living arrangement on campus, Aceto said.

"They have an atmosphere of community, identity and cooperation to the extent that can't be achieved in Carle Hall."

Each mini-house would house about 40 students on two floors and would have common social areas with fireplaces, kitchenettes, and bathroom.

The Property Committee of the University Board of Trustees officially put a hold on the traditional dorm plans last week so that the college could study the economic and land use factors of the third plan.

Aceto said $2.25 million would be the maximum cost the college could pay for the new mini-houses. The money would be paid through student rental fees over a period of 30 years.

"Room rent should not have to be increased as a result of the new dorms," Aceto stressed.

Art Department adds pottery lab, new kilns

By ANN DESCORTEAUX
Equinox Staff Writer

The KSC art department has added a new pottery lab with two kilns to its existing facilities.

The lab, a pre-fab, steel structure, is located between Carle Hall and the maintenance building. Its dimensions are ten feet high, by 24 feet, by 40 feet and it will have a dirt floor and a running water. Heat will be piped in from the Maintenance building.

The lab, not yet quite completed, is a project of Tom Beal and Sam Azzaro, who originally built a kiln in the garage behind Alumni House. The kiln could not be fired because of fire codes on wooden structures.

The new structure will house a salt kiln and a wood kiln. According to President Redfern, this will make Keene State the only college in the New England area with all four types of kilns... wood, salt, electric and gas. The building cost $3,912 and the money came from last year's budget reserve fund.

Bricks are now being transported to the site for the construction of the kilns. Dirt is being brought in for leveling the floors and the arrival of an overhead door is being awaited.

The building should be in use sometime in November.

McLane gives voters choice

If any students and administrators within the University system have not yet realized the full impact of the victories of Roger Crowley and Meldrim Thomson in this month's primary, they had better wake up soon.

The University, already in deep financial trouble with a preposterously high in-state tuition and skyrocketing out-of-state rates, is on the brink of disaster. The two candidates, both students of William Loeb's philosophy that a log cabin is as good a place to learn as any, are a serious threat to whatever stability the school system has left.

The trouble lies not so much with the fact that they are anti-tax, but that they both have committed themselves to a position that will be irrevocable no matter what the situation is.

They have left themselves with their hands tied and their bridges burned, with no hope for any type of tax restructuring that might become necessary as a result of any unforeseen occurrence, (e.g. a Supreme Court ruling that the property tax is unconstitutional as the sole support of a public school system).

However, the voters are fortunate to have a choice in this year's election, as Concord Mayor Malcolm McLane has decided to run as an independent.

An experienced attorney with a good deal of practical knowledge on government, McLane has kept an open mind on tax reform. He has expressed a desire to remain receptive to all ideas on the tax dilemma. While not specifically promising to pass the first tax reform plan that comes across his desk, he has not committed himself absolutely to vetoing every broad base tax bill, as the other candidates have.

McLane definitely offers a choice to those who are unsatisfied with taking another step toward the 19th century. He is the answer to an alarming problem, and should receive the vote of every person in New Hampshire who has anything to do with the University system.

This newspaper has been writing editorials for ten years about the horrible financial shape of the state. The election of McLane could be the day when we can breathe a little easier.

"IN RESPONSE TO SENATOR MCGOVERN'S CHARGE THAT THE PRESIDENT DOES NOT CARE ENOUGH ABOUT ISRAEL, WHITE HOUSE GARDENER SAUL STERNBERG SAID TODAY...."

FOR THE RECORD?

Dear College Editor:

Attached is the first FOR THE RECORD of the 1972 academic year. FOR THE RECORD is beginning a new series of factual and analytical reports on election year activities, including interviews with Washington political figures.

FOR THE RECORD hereby promises to focus in on all the candidates who deserve the scrutiny.

I hope that this series will interest you and the students you serve.

Sincerely,
Karl Rove
Karl Rove, Director

Letter attached to newsletter received by Equinox earlier this month. Note the phrases "factual and analytical reports" and "all the candidates who deserve the scrutiny." The newsletter, which gave no indication of who its sponsor was, turned out to be a publication of the College National Republican Committee. See story below.

'Factual' news service really Republican PR

By ERIC MALONEY
Equinox News Editor

Earlier this month, Equinox received in the mail an unsolicited newsletter titled, "For the Record." An introductory letter to the newsletter called the publication the beginning of "a new series of factual and analytical reports on election year activities...to focus in on all the candidates who deserve the scrutiny."

However, there were several unusual aspects of this letter that led us to believe that all was not on the level. For one thing, the only identification of any sort on the article was an address, which was in itself rather mysterious: Washington D.C. Inside/Out, The Capitol Hill Club, Washington, D.C.

Secondly, the article was a rather scathing attack on George McGovern entitled "House GOP Policy Committee Chairman Calls New McGovern Welfare Plan Assault on Working Poor."

It was the obvious bias of the article that caused us to, on a hunch, check the phone number with that of Washington Campus News Service, an affiliation of the College National Republican Committee. Sure enough, the two numbers were one and the same.

Is it ethical for a national party to mail out unidentified literature?

The WCNS had come to our attention previously in a College Press Service article, as the producers of very slick public relations literature designed to come across as non-partisan and factual.

CPS quoted an official of the Sierra Club as saying, "It had recently come to my attention that the youth section of the Republican Party is sending out directly to student newspapers regular news stories on the great accomplishments of the President on domestic problems, especially environmental programs."

"Nothing could be further from the truth and it becomes essential to counter-act this propaganda."

CPS also accused WCNS of a "White-house-wash" of the White House Conference on Youth, claiming that while the N.Y. Times was calling the conference "A blow to the policies of the Nixon administration," WCNS was touting it as a huge success for the Administration.

Wondering if it was this article that compelled WCNS to publish a new, unidentified newsletter to avoid the backlash from the CPS story, we called Karl Rove, director of "For the Record."

Rove gave the following explanation: "Previous editions have had that (identification). Our thought was that we wanted the stuff sent out and have it accepted or rejected on the basis of the content."

"The stuff that we've been sending out in many cases has just been thrown away because on the top, it said Republican."

However, there were still questions unanswered.

For instance, there was the odd fact that, although WCNS and "For the Record" were one and the same, and had the same phone number, they had different addresses.

Upon calling the Capitol Hill Club, the address of "For the Record," we found that CHC, which is an exclusive Republican club, did in fact house the "For the

A masthead with feeling

Basically, the reason we have changed the name of this newspaper is because we couldn't get them to change the name of the mountain, the school, the region, and the fifty organizations and businesses with Monadnock in their titles.

It got to the point where we were getting calls meant for the Monadnock Ledger, Monadnock Hall, and just about everything else. Someone would mention the word "Monadnock" out on Appian Way, and nobody would know what the guy was talking about.

So, we have decided to strike out on our own, and give ourselves a new identity which we feel is more in tune with the basic philosophies of this newspaper.

The new masthead, as you probably have already noticed, is "Equinox."

Equinox, as any junior astronomer knows, is when the sun is in such a position so that day and night are of equal length.

We feel, however, that the word can connote much more than that. It signifies to us the principle of fairness in journalism, similar to the representation of justice by the balancing scales.

Besides, we think that the word is sort of neat sounding.

However, if you do not like Equinox, we will happily present to you our alternatives.

At first, we struck out for something with dignity, like the Keene Statesman or the Review. However, there was something missing in the tone, so we went on to lighter things like the Keene State Chimes (Chimes, Times - get it?) or cq (an inside joke).

These didn't satisfy us, so we went even further with Portnoy's Complaint, Pink Freud, The Keene Picayune or the Paper Radio ("the radio you have to read").

Anyway, unless the rename Mount Monadnock Mount Equinox, we finally feel as though we are something original. Of course, we now have to make our material come up to par, but that should be no problem.

Inspired by our newest banner, we march forward and upward into oblivion.

Student Union a den of sin?

A TEN MINUTE SPECIAL
By MELROY STIRWIN

A pub on campus, you say? Ridiculous, you say? Well horsefeathers to you!

We think it's a great idea! Why try to sneak your beer into the Brown Room, when you can get bombed downstairs and then stagger up?

And think of the additional revenue!

Why, in fact, why stop with a pub? The college is a microcosm of the state, right? And the state's income is based on sin, right?

Well, then, let's make the Student Union a den of sin!

For instance, the Brown Room is being wasted on movies for 75 cents a throw, when they could be throwing dice for a reasonable profit.

And what about those Saturday night dances? How about stag films, instead?

And why not broadcast from Hinsdale Raceway over the PA system, with a bookie joint in Doug Mayer's office? We could use the Student Union computer to figure out the odds on the KSC soccer games!

And, of course, we could use the student publications offices for putting out racing forms, lottery tickets, and a new newspaper, Campus Smut.

A feature attraction could be pro wrestling in the commuters lounge, with Flying Fred Curry and Haystack Calhoun taking the place of lesser people like Daniel Ellsberg and Gloria Steinem as our number one attraction.

Slot machines in the bathroom, fortune telling in the halls, bingo games every Friday night - why, the list goes on and on!

And, to top the whole thing off, we could save up enough money to purchase Mount Monadnock and secede from the Union.

And when it's all done, and we want to finally become known throughout the world as the most bizarre attraction in America, we'll raffle off Keene State College.

Ronald McDonald wouldn't be pleased

If these pictures give you the impression that somebody has something against McDonald's, you're absolutely correct.

It all started last winter when some local people decided that the McDonald's billboard on the corner of routes 9 and 10 (left) was a blotch upon the landscape.

So, taking a chain saw, they hacked it down.

When it was re-erected, the objectors went out again and hewed it down with an ax.

This time, no one bothered to put it back up.

Meanwhile, in Marlborough where the second billboard is located (right), a nother group evidently was watching what was going on in Keene and decided to do likewise. The results are, to say the least, emphatic.

Although the main complaint against the 9 - 10 billboard was its ugliness on an otherwise attractive road, the word going around is that there were other reasons.

"Most of the people involved had a lot to say about rip-off corporations. McDonald's is a rip-off with its lousy food," a local resident said. "A lot of people in the area of the 9 - 10 billboard were very happy to see it fall."

"It was sort of a community effort. We were just sick and tired of travelling that road (to Gilsam) and seeing this big ugly red billboard."

Newsletters with Republican heading thrown away

Record" mailbox.

When Anne Casey, representative of the WCNS, was asked why this was, she said, "We didn't want anyone to get confused."

In conclusion, the facts line up like this: "For the Record" is presented as a factual newsletter, but fails to identify its sponsor.

A. Research reveals that "For the Record" is the sister of the Washington Campus News Service, a slick promotional organization under the auspices of the College National Republican Committee.

c. "For the Record" and WCNS, while being in the same building and having the same phone number, have different addresses.

d. The director of "For the Record" admits that proper identification was deliberately left off the masthead, "because the stuff we've been sending out...is just being thrown away."

The question, then, is: is it ethical for a national party to send out, in the form of supposedly non-partisan literature, newsletters without their name on it?

Can their articles be taken as straight news by the college press, without the media knowing that it comes from an obviously biased source?

And, finally, if the answer to the first two questions is no, who is to know what releases can be trusted, and what ones cannot.

Owl Booters stop Quinnipiac, bomb Eastern Nazarene

By MIKE O'LEARY

The KSC soccer Owls raised their record to 4-0 last week by beating Quinnipiac College of Connecticut 2-0 on Wednesday and Eastern Nazarene of Massachusetts 8-1 last Saturday.

The Owls traveled to Quincy, Mass. for the Eastern Nazarene contest fully expecting a hard-played close game. Last year they had to come from behind twice to edge out Nazarene 5-4.

This year Nazarene started quickly again when Steve Stoffis scored at 1:30 on the low drive from 18 yards out. However, that ended the resemblance of last year's game, as the Owls completely dominated play for the rest of the game.

Graham Jones started the Owls onslaught at 3:15 in the first half with a long high ball meant as a pass to Klaus Webber in front of the goal. As the Nazarene goalie and Webber vied for position the ball went over both their heads into the goal.

At 4:15 Klaus Webber took a pass from Jones and quickly put it in front of the goal where Chip Conran sidefooted it in.

Mickey Rooney's goal at 11:20 added to what was becoming a humiliation to the frustrated Nazarene team. Rooney scored at close range after receiving a head pass from Hal Shortleeve.

Showing no mercy, marvelous Mickey scored his second goal of the day on a penalty shot 14 minutes later. The first half scoring ended at 38:00 when Hal Shortleeve scored from five yards out. Pat Stacy got the assist.

At the half Keene led, 5-1.

The second half was marked by the rough play of Nazarene as they tried to throw the Owls off their game. Time and again Keene wasn't allowed to play their game. But at 5:45 Graham Jones kicked the ball from the right corner to Dick Bush who headed it in from eight yards out.

According to JV Coach Steve Parker, this was the best Keene has played this year.

Goals by Klaus Webber and Joe Matheson ended the scoring and the game.

Last Wednesday, the Owls traveled to Hamden, Conn. to meet the Quinnipiac College Braves. The Braves' rough defense frustrated the Owls throughout the game as they scored only twice while taking 23 shots on goal.

"Quinnipiac played a very physical game," Coach Ron Butcher said. "Every time we got against them, they chopped us down."

In the first half, Mickey Rooney and Graham Jones combined for Jones' fourth goal of the season. Rooney faked a kick and fed Jones who drilled a quick shot past the outstretched arms of Brave goalie Bob Sharpe.

The second KSC tally came from Pat Stacy, who scored on the rebound of a blazing shot by Rooney.

Keene missed several opportunities to score in the second half. Owl goalie Brad Steurer recorded four saves on ten Brave shots in his second shutout in three games.

Butcher eyes PSC Match

Coach Ron Butcher would very much like to see his soccer Owls defeat Plymouth this Saturday. For Butcher, this game has to mean a little extra. Butcher played goalie for Plymouth about a decade ago, and probably never dreamed that he would be someday be facing Plymouth as a coach.

Last year, Plymouth spoiled KSC's bid for a perfect record with a startling 2-1 upset win. In 1970, Plymouth drubbed Butcher's Owls 6-0. Now Butcher looks forward to his third try.

To date the Owls have rolled up four consecutive wins, two in the KSC Soccer Tourney and two in the regular season.

Saturday the Owls kicked home eight goals, while surrendering only one, to an always tough Eastern Nazarene squad. In short, the Owls have stopped four tough opponents convincingly, including South-eastern Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Quinnipiac.

Plymouth is also undefeated, having rolled up consecutive victories over St. Anselms, UMPG and Belknap College. In the process, the Panther defense has yet to give up a single goal.

So bring your blanket or lawn chair to the "A" Field Saturday at 2:00. Keene-Plymouth meetings never fail to create some kind of excitement, and this one should be no exception.

Ruggers score first win ever

The KSC Rugby Club gained the first victory in its history Sunday at Jonathon Daniels' school. The Keene ruggers beat the Concord Rugby Club 18-3.

Keene took the advantage early when George Allen broke through the Concord backfield and scored a try (4 points) with ten minutes gone in the game. Stuart Percy, an exchange teacher visiting Keene, converted the try to give KSC a 6-0 lead. Percy scored again toward the end of the first half on a three point penalty kick, giving Keene a 9-0 halftime lead.

Concord got back in the game at the outset of the second half when Len Merski kicked a three point penalty kick. However Keene was not to be denied and minutes later Stuart Percy scored a try from his own end and under kick. Coach and Captain Bruce Stephenson converted Percy's try and Keene led 15-3. Stephenson kicked a three point penalty kick in the closing minutes to finish the scoring at 18-3 Keene.

Stephenson's comment at the game's end was "You guys were beautiful!" and indeed they were.

The Keene forwards (Pack) were particularly impressive though they gave away nearly 20 pounds per man to the more experienced Concord pack. "Our forwards dominated play and worked together exceptionally well," Stephenson said.

"The backs were tackling hard and well. The future looks very bright for us and we're going to win a lot more games this year," claimed Stephenson.

The ruggers play next Saturday at Johnson, Vermont against Johnson State College.

Keene rugger George Allen makes crushing tackle on Concord player. Allen is a senior from Hampton.

Owls defeat New Haven taking ten of top eleven

Showing some promising depth, Bob Taft's Owl Harriers wiped out the University of New Haven yesterday by a High-flying Owl Bob Brown won yesterday's cross country meet at Robin Hood Park. Brown led his mates to 15-49 victory over New Haven.

15-49 score. Bob Brown was the individual winner, and five more Owls crossed the line before Herbie Dunn, an All-NAIA runner in 1971, managed to finish as New Haven's only entry in the top eleven runners.

Keith Martell, Rocky Stone, Dave Millson, Pete Hanrahan and John Barrows finished in the 2nd through 6th positions. After New Haven's Dunn came KSC's Tom Keegan, Kris Roberts, Tom Greenwood and Don McCarthy. Chuck Torpey finished 13th for KSC, right behind New Haven's second runner.

The Owls, now 3-2, travel to Wenham, Massachusetts Saturday to meet Gordon. Gordon promises to provide some tough competition, especially over their home course. This year, however, they are missing their fine, two-time All-NAIA runner Dan Biebel. Biebel now attends Keene State, but will not be eligible to compete until January. Biebel has been working out with the team however, and competing unofficially in the meets. Yesterday he ran well enough to beat Bob Brown, the winner of the meet, by twenty seconds.

Over the last week, the harriers have been hit with the flu, with Kris Roberts and Tom Keegan each missing one race, while Don McCarthy has missed two. Dave Millson, Tom Greenwood and Pete Hanrahan have all had minor bouts with the bug also. Meanwhile Glenn Braunhardt, Mike Marino and Jerry Dee are nursing assorted ailments. Somehow, Taft hopes to have his team at full strength for the Gordon meet.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Gym security is tightened

In a statement released yesterday, it was announced that beginning Thursday September 28, "all people wishing to use Spaulding Gymnasium for any reason will be asked to enter through the main doors on the east side of the building and present a Keene State I.D. card."

The statement went on to explain that too many unauthorized people have been using and abusing the facility. Losses of equipment and damage to facilities prompted institution of the new policy.

Also, according to the statement, this policy will apply to use of the gym on weekends as well as week days. It was added that authorized guests would be allowed to enter the gym, but only when accompanied by Keene State College personnel I.D. card holders.

DeCausey eyes recovery

Jose DeCausey, who underwent surgery on a pinched nerve below his right eye last August, said yesterday that he will be "100 per cent by the start of the basketball season."

DeCausey, a 6-6 forward who averaged 24 points per game last year for the varsity basketball team, sustained the injury March 30 of last year. He was told by his doctor that the numbing effect the pinched nerve had on the right side of his face would subside in a short time. He said that the effect did not subside, and he went to a Dartmouth College plastic surgeon in August to have the operation.

DeCausey said that recovery has been "slow but sure" and that although his eyesight is being affected now, he is confident that he will be fully recovered by the start of the season.

Harriers score first win

Saturday at Robin Hood Park, Bob Taft's cross country Owls registered their first victory of the season. In a triangular meet, the Keene Harriers took the first nine places to cinch the victory. The victims were Norwich University and Lowell State College. The final score read: KSC 15; Norwich 56; Lowell 74.

Glenn Braunhardt, Dave Millson, Rocky Stone, Bob Brown and Pete Hanrahan were the top five finishers for Keene. Following them over the line were Keith Martell, Moo Barrows, Tom Greenwood and Chuck Torpey. Only these nine runners finished for Keene. Freshman Mike Marino was forced to drop out of the race with sore ankles, while Tom Keegan, Don McCarthy and Kris Roberts were all sidelined with the flu. Sophomore Jerry Dee is still nursing a knee injury.

Last Wednesday the Owls were defeated by the University of Rhode Island by a score of 15-42. Top finishers for Keene were Rocky Stone 6th, Keith Martell 7th, Glenn Braunhardt 8th and Bob Brown 9th.

The Owls travel to Wenham, Massachusetts Saturday to meet Gordon. Taft figures Gordon to be a tough opponent, especially over their home course. The Owls next home meet is not until October 17 when they will host Plymouth.

Keene State and Concord forwards interlock in a scrum at Sunday's Rugby match. The Owl club won by an 18-3 score.

Fisk having banner year

By PETE HANRAHAN

There is nothing like athletic success to put a school on the map. And Keene State has made some headway in that direction in the last few years, thanks to some ambitious coaches as well as some top-notch athletes. But this summer one young KSC student has really outdone himself. In a few short months his name has become a household word, nationally.

On The Inside

For the Boston Red Sox this season, Carlton Fisk has done about everything right. Boston fans were astounded by Fisk's hitting in the early season, a time in which the Sox had very few bright spots. Fisk was not even supposed to be in the lineup. And no one expected him to be leading the club in hitting.

After being named to the All-Star team at mid-season, Fisk hardly rested on his laurels. With more significant contributions from his teammates, Fisk has led the Sox into the throes of a torrid four-way battle for the American League Eastern Division title.

It is only appropriate to mention that Fisk, in handling the catching duties for the Sox, has undertaken one of baseball's most unenviable jobs. Fisk has had to handle a constantly changing starting rotation and a shaky bullpen throughout the season, and has done a commendable job. If Fisk is not named AL Rookie of the Year, it will be a crime.

JV Booters host Mt. Wachusett

Within the last few years Keene has fielded some impressive soccer teams. Leading most of those teams was Steve Parker from Slough, England. This year Parker is leading another team. If the JV soccer team's first two games are an indication of the season, it will be yet another successful campaign.

Parker is the coach of the Junior Varsity and he hopes that the mixture of experience and inexperience will jell as the season progresses.

"The only way they can learn about the game is to get better competition," Parker said.

A lack of competition can be the only way to describe the soccer team's first regular season win, however. They beat New Hampshire Technical Institute, 11-0.

Parker described the game, which showed a lot of team cohesion. "They controlled the ball long enough to work out any problems they had as a team. Keene took 47 shots on goal to NH's 3. They had 11 corner kicks to only one for New Hampshire."

Mike Ramianek from nearby Hinsdale scored five goals, while Jim McCormick, also of Hinsdale, scored two. Also helping out with two goals was Mike Pianta of Sunapee. Jerry McDougal and Marc Watkins had a goal apiece.

The JV's first win came in a scrimmage against Assumption College of Worcester, Mass. The rain-plagued game was finally won 4-3 after some very slippery going. Mike Pianta led the way with three goals. The other Keene tally was scored by Jim McCormick.

The team will play Mt. Wachusett Community College on Saturday morning at 10:30, prior to the KSC Plymouth game.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS

Tennis pairings are listed on the bulletin boards in the Student Union and Spaulding Gym. First round matches must be played by Monday October 2.

Second round matches must be played by Wednesday, October 4. Friday October 6 is the final date for the finals. Each team is responsible for contacting their opponents for time of play.

The intramural directors request that participants post results of their matches on the bulletin boards.

Auclair named Y.D. head

The Young Democrats Club elected Don Auclair, a senior, its president at an election meeting last Tuesday.

Other new officers named were Marjorie Gunn, vice president; Roger Lamontagne, secretary-treasurer; and Brenda Reyor, representative to the Student Senate.

In addition to the student elections, the Young Democrats named Margaret S. Langford assistant professor of French, and Nora F. Kerr, assistant professor of Spanish, as their faculty advisers.

The next meeting of the Young Democrats Club will be Thursday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Commuters Lounge, Student Union. Non-members are invited and refreshments will be served.

RUSH PARTY

Delta Zeta Sorority will hold a rush party for all interested KSC women Monday (Oct. 2) at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Commuters Lounge. Refreshments will be served.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE
A NHUC International Education Conference will be held at KSC Thursday, Sept. 28. All college representatives to the conference should initially meet in the Library Conference room at 11 a.m.

CONSCIOUSNESS GROUP

A consciousness raising group meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. in conference room B, Student Union for any female interested in learning more about herself.

CLASS OF '74

Any students who want to run for secretary, treasurer, or a member of the executive council for the Junior class, should submit their names to Nance Frost or put it in the "class of '74" box at the Union desk. All nominations must be in by Friday, Oct. 6. Elections will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 11 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

BALLOT CLERKS NEEDED

The Democratic Party in Keene needs ballot clerks for the November election. Clerks are expected to help keep record of the voting and to tally up the vote after the polls close.

A total of 30 clerks for all five of Keene's wards are needed. The pay is $20 and the clerk must be a resident of the ward in which he or she is working. Under the new residency regulations, most students qualify as residents of the ward in which they reside.

Clerks are needed particularly for wards 2, 3, and 4. The boundaries of the wards are roughly as follows: Ward 2 is the area between West Street and Court Street. Ward 3 between Court and Washington streets. Ward 4 between Washington and Roxbury Streets.

Anyone interested in such a position for educational purposes or for the money should contact James G. Smart, Hillsboro House.

Parking problems

committee report recommended that the head of Campus Security be in charge of all parking policy enforcement and that parking court become an appeal board.

The appeal board would be the only body which can void a ticket.

The committee also wrote a new set of parking regulations, keeping the same basic rules but cutting them from five pages to one page. Keller explained that the rules would be much easier to understand.

William Bullough, Jr., KSC assistant business manager, explained that the regulations are good as they stand.

"One of the basic arguments is, they didn't want to make any wholesale changes," he said. "A couple of their suggestions were impossible to put into effect, although some were good and were put into effect," he said.

CLASS CANDIDATES

A-1 VIEWS

Dave Andrews will present some of his points of view of Alternative One, Thursday at 4 p.m. in Morrison 74. Anyone interested in education or in finding out what those people in A-1 really do, is invited.

TENNIS CLINIC

The Womens Recreation Association is sponsoring a free Tennis Clinic for all KSC women. It will be held every Tuesday from 3-4 p.m. for six weeks on the KSC tennis courts starting Sept. 26 and running to Oct. 31. Those interested should provide their own racket and balls. John Summers will be one of the qualified instructors. Also two qualified KSC students will be helping.

GODSPELL TRIP

The MENC (Music Education National Conference) will be sponsoring a trip to "Godspell" Tues., Oct. 17. The entire cost will be $7.50 and will include college transportation. The deadline for sign-ups is Oct. 2 and money can be turned in to:

"The only problem presenting itself is the shortage of parking spaces."

He said that there were only 36 more decals given out this year than last, but the dirt area out behind the gym is no longer a legal parking place.

"If we had 100 more spaces it would make things easier for students as well as visitors," he said.

At the present time the college is considering grading the land on the other side of the Carle Hall walk, however, the maintenance department has objected because it is the only place they can dump snow.

Bullough said that the College Senate Executive Committee would try to do something to alleviate the problem for both commuters and residents.

In the meantime, it would help if people stopped piggy-backing rides around campus, and started walking, he said.

Ron Ostrow -- KSC artist in residence

Ron Ostrow, contemporary songpoet, will be Keene State's artist in residence for one week beginning Saturday (Oct. 7). During the week he will present four concerts, lead six rap sessions, teach three guitar-picking classes, as well as meet with many college and community groups.

All events will feature Ostrow's original material and all are open to students, admission free.

The week's concert outline includes a "Spiritual Celebration" entitled "I am my brothers keeper," a social study titled "American Music Traced Back to Black," and a poetry concert featuring dramatic readings.

Academic activities will include poetry classes, raps and sharings, songwriting sessions, and fingerpicking sessions for students with chord knowledge.

Ostrow left his position as a computer executive in April of 1969 to devote his time to his music and performances. Possessing an unusually exciting musical versatility, Ostrow's songs project a theme of active love and commitment. His poetry, as diversified as his music, is for Ostrow's complete

characterized by its social poignance.

Ostrow's message emanates from his unorthodox life experiences as a Jew who converted to Catholicism at age twenty to become a Trappist Monk and the development of the man who later traded in a business existence for living.

A composer of 152 songs and 800 poems, Ostrow's formal musical background includes eleven years of percussion study with the late Irving Torgman, first percussionist of the Radio City Music Hall Symphony Orchestra; voice study for four years with Alan Greene, notable vocal coach to Harry Belafonte; two years of classical guitar under Julio Frol, a Fellow of the Classical Guitar Society and student of Segovia; and seven years of independent folk fingerpicking application in his own studio where Ostrow teaches selected students.

Ostrow appeared at KSC twice last year and was received well. Steve Smith, assistant director of the Student Union, said.

"Ostrow is more than a performer," Smith said. "He is an artist, a humanist and a philosopher."

Bids may open Tuesday on married student dorm

By RON BOISVERT
Equinox Managing Editor

Plans for a $450,000 married students dorm complex will be brought to the Property Committee of the University Board of Trustees next Tuesday. If approved, construction bids would be opened the next day and construction could start by early November, Robert L. Mallat, director of KSC physical plant, said last week.

The complex would have three two-story buildings for a total of 26 new apartments. A recreation building would also be built.

The four buildings would be located directly across from the present married students (Bushnell) apartments on Hyde

St., Thomas D. Aceto, dean of students, said. Hyde St. would then be cut off and grassed-in from Wyman Way to Bruder St. to include the Bushnell Apartments in the new complex.

One unit will be built facing north on Wyman Way, one facing south on Bruder St. and one facing the Bushnell Apartments on what is now Hyde St. The common recreational building will be at the southeast corner of Hyde St. and Wyman Way.

"One of the key aspects of the new apartments will be the recreation hall for both the Bushnell and the new apartment married students," Aceto said. "It may serve as a day care center in the mornings and a place for social events at other times."

There will be 14 single bedroom and 12 double-bedroom new apartments. Aceto explained. Each will have two floors, with kitchen and living room on the ground floor and bedrooms and bath upstairs.

Each unit will have a sliding glass door to the rear as well as an external storage area.

"These features will help make the outside more a part of the living environment," Aceto said.

In addition, each unit will have separate hot water heaters, garbage disposal and wall to wall carpeting.

Features such as these may cause rental rates at the new apartments to be slightly more than those at the Bushnell Apartments, Aceto said. Bushnell rates are now $100 per month for single bedroom and $120 per month for double bedroom apartments. Apartments are not furnished but utilities are included.

The new dorm would "initially" meet the demand for married student housing to KSC, Aceto said.

Only three existing structures will have to be torn down to make way for the new development, Aceto said. They are the two houses at the southeast corner of Wyman Way and Hyde St. and the house at 41 Bruder St., now the home of the Rev. Fay Gemmell, campus minister.

DICK GREGORY... "You got a big job, and not much time."

calls youth 'new niggers'

Gregory--', give sanity back to nation'

By RON BOISVERT
Equinox Managing Editor

A thin, but healthy-looking Dick Gregory, who recently completed his 18th month of fasting in protest of the Vietnam war, had a message for KSC students Thursday night.

Calling youth "the new niggers," he asked them to "give sanity back to an insurrection."

"The qualifications for being America's nigger is not that one be black," Gregory said. "The Italians and the Irish were niggers long before the blacks even qualified."

Comparing the treatment of white youth in America with past treatment of blacks, Gregory called on youth to be "America's last nigger."

He thanked youth for helping to change the civil rights movement into a human rights movement.

He said that there exists a moral gap in America and that youth is the only element in the country today that can solve our problem.

"One thing you have that scares us to death is your moral force," he said.

"You've got a big job, and not much time."

He lashed out against the American press, saying that they have not lived up to their responsibilities.

"To be informed means more than knowing about the stock market and busing."

"If newspapers were doing their job we would all know that 90 per cent of the food in supermarkets is unfit for human consumption, he said.

"Why is it that not one newspaper told us about the dangers of automobiles before Nader?"

Gregory had harsh words for the "revolutionary pimps who believe that drinking alcohol and smoking reefer are anti-establishment acts."

Drinking and smoking dope won't change anything, he said. It will only degenerate your body.

Gregory charged that the CIA and FBI were distributing heroin from Laos and Cambodia to Youth in America.

"A nine-year-old kid can find heroin in New York man; why can't the FBI find it?"

"The U.S. has satellites that can spot marijuana from 100 miles in the air," he said. "But they can't spot it coming through Kennedy airport."

The 40 year-old comedian-activist is convinced that George McGovern ("a groovy cat") will win the presidential election.

"The economy will make the difference," he said. "We vote money in this country."

He called the economic boycott as the new focus of American protests.

"If we decided to boycott General Motors until the war ended they would
