

PHI MU IS INDUCTED AS NATIONAL CHAPTER

Thirty members of Keene State College's Phi Mu Delta Colony were initiated into full chapter status on Saturday, Sept. 26, in ceremonies at the Brown Room, Student Union Building.

National officers of Phi Mu Delta as well as college officials were on hand during both the initiation ceremonies and the installation banquet which followed. On hand were College President Leo F. Redfern, Dean of Men Ernest O. Gendron, National Executive Secretary George E. LaTour, National Vice President Rev. Owen J. Sanderson, Raymond H. Christopher, national secretary, and Shaun Fitzgerald, national undergraduate member of the fraternity's National Council.

President Redfern's main address stressed that he expected the name of Phi Mu Delta "to carry a great deal of esteem and respect." Dean Gendron then welcomed the new chapter to the campus. Following this, chapter president Philip J. Soares and former chapter president John A. Griffin were presented the chapter charter by the Rev. Sanderson.

A party followed the installation banquet. More than one hundred members and guests were on hand at the party held in the house cellar. President Redfern showed remarkable talent on the foosball table and Rev. Sanderson's jokes were enjoyed by all.

As many may have observed, on Wednesday night, a campus wide march was conducted by the brothers. This march was conducted as a preliminary to the weekend's activities. The march resulted in the generation of a great deal of spirit as well as a few sore throats.

Field Hockey Team Loses

By EILEEN VIEWEGER

After only 4 practices, KSC's field hockey team took on Springfield College last week in its first scrimmage. Goalie Sue Koeber proved to have an outstanding game, shutting out 14 goals of the 18 attempted. On the offense, Jean Andrew, Cathy Savoie and Peggy Bingham Gay teamed up to keep the ball in Keene's possession. Linda Schrempf, playing center halfback and Karen Sietke, the wing half demonstrated great ability to maneuver the ball into the net once, making the final score Keene 1, Springfield 4.

On Thursday the team played another scrimmage against New England College. KSC shut out NEC by a score of 9-0. Nancy Balla, Linda Maree and Karen Miller each scored three goals.

Coach Herndon feels the potential is definitely there for a very successful season because "we all play hard and stick in there."

KSC Harriers Post First Win

By MIKE TARDIF

A very hilly course on a sunny, hot and humid day was the setting for the Owls first cross country meet of the season. The meet, held at the 4.5 mile course at Johnson State was won by KSC with Captain Denny Anderson crossing the finish line first with a time of 22:48. Mark Malkoski finished second in 23:10.

Coach Taft, who was pleased with his team's early showing, praised the efforts of the players. Tom Keegan finished fourth, and Pete Hanrahan, Al Preston and Mark St. Saviour all placed within the top 10.

The next meet will be at St. Anselm's against Boston State and Bates on Thurs. Oct. 1. The Owls first home meet will be Saturday at Robin Hood Park on the new 4.8 mile course. Coach Taft describes the new course as one in which a spectator can see the runners six times throughout

OWLS WIN OPENER

By MIKE TARDIF

Keene State College opened the 1970 season with a convincing 6-0 win over Farmington State College. The Owls completely dominated their first NESCAC match of the season, while being coached by Ron Butcher.

KSC goalie Brian Richardson posted a shutout in his first game while Farmington goalie Don Datis was called upon to make 21 saves, four in spectacular fashion.

Wally Dwinells opened the scoring at 2:20 of the first quarter with a 6 yard rebound shot. Rit Swain followed at 8:02 assisted by Steve Parker and then again at 18:16 assisted by Dwinells. Dwinells then added his second goal 8 seconds before the end of the first half. Rit Swain completed his hat trick, scoring on a penalty kick at 4:55. Freshman Chip Conran rounded out the scoring in the third quarter on an assist from Steve Parker.

Monday, against North Adams, the Owls posted their second victory of the young season. Coach Butcher, not as pleased with his team's performance as on Saturday cited "over confidence and improper execution of basic fundamentals" as the reason.

North Adams and KSC traded goals in the first quarter. Rit Swain scored for the Owls, after picking up a loose ball and, firing a perfect shot between the legs of Adam's goalie Don Ruel. The first half ended with KSC being beaten to the ball, deviating from the game plan planned by Butcher.

The second half, however, was dominated by Keene. Steve Parker and Rit Swain?

Swain made no mistakes on their penalty kicks during the third quarter, resulting in the 4-1 score. Brian Richardson had 13 saves and freshman goalie George Allen had 2 while playing in the 4th quarter.

The Owls will play their first home game at the Athletic field against Johnson State Wed., Sept. 30. Coach Butcher expects a tough game from Johnson, a "strong team with good coaching." This should be a real test for the Owls. Game time is 3 p.m.

the entire race. The Owls will face New England College and Gorham State at 2:30 p.m.

Campuses Face Crisis

COMMISSION FILES REPORT

The President's Commission on Campus Unrest established by President Nixon has finished a report which examines the "crisis of violence" at the nation's colleges and universities. The panel was started last June 13 in the aftermath of disorders at one-third of the nation's 2,500 colleges and universities in the month following the President's announcement (April 30) that U.S. troops would intervene in Cambodia.

The basic theme of the report is that American campuses face a crisis without parallel in the nation's history. The roots of it, the commission said, lie in divisions within the society that go beyond such issues as the war in Vietnam or racial injustice.

The panel's major conclusions:—Most students are neither violent nor extremist. But "a small minority" of extremist students and faculty members are bent on university destruction.

Peaceful protest and dissent must be protected both on campus and off, but perpetrators of violence and disruption must be identified, removed from the campus, and vigorously prosecuted.

—The roots of student activism lie in "the unresolved conflicts in our national life," but the "major defects of the universities" also play a part.

—Most universities have not adequately prepared themselves to cope with possible disorder. Many do not have adequate communications channels and grievance procedures to settle student problems.

—The nation's failure to resolve issues of war and racial injustice have contributed to the escalation of student protest and disorder by exacerbating the divisions in society.

—Government action and inaction at all levels has contributed to campus unrest. "The words of some political leaders"

Senate Agenda Suffers Setback

WKSC Begins Broadcasting

By MARTIN GINGRAS

WKSC began regular broadcasting on Monday night from the old projection booth in the rear of the Student Union. Disc jockeying for the station, which was on from 6 p.m. to midnight, were Gary Kenny, Steve Stefanik, and Peter Pickett. The station's frequency is 1360.

Dick Todd, general manager, told The Monadnock that the station is still in the programming stage and there are no set disc jockeys, programs, or regular hours. The station has sold some ads but they will not be aired until the staff is sure everything is going right.

The music WKSC is now playing can be labeled "contemporary-progressive" but this programming can be changed to suit the college audience. Students are urged to leave any opinions or music preferences in the WKSC Mailbox in the student union.

IN CORRECTION

In correction of the announcement made in last week's issue of The Monadnock, the Center for Human Concerns' meeting at 8 p.m. on Oct. 8 will be to discuss and plan many activities for the coming year, and to elect new officers. The Center has not yet committed itself to one specific issue, but rather encourages all students and faculty to attend the meeting and express their views.

Honors, Exhibitions, Dinner Highlight Parents Day

Keene State College will host its annual Parents Day next Sunday (Oct. 11), with a special honors convocation, open houses, dinner, and exhibits and demonstrations by many of the College's departments highlighting the day.

They are: presentation of the Student of the Year Award by the College's weekly newspaper, The Monadnock; the Outstanding Freshman Award from the Epsilon Pi chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national education society; and the Beta Beta Beta scholarship.

The convocation address will be given by Dr. Thomas D. Aceto, new dean of students at Keene State College. He will speak on "Right On: The Challenge of Excellence." Dr. Leo F. Redfern KSC president, will bring greetings to the audience, as will Neil Gallagher, president of the Keene State College Student Senate. Dr. Richard F. Cunningham, associate professor of English at Keene State, will preside.

FRESHMEN VOTE

Less than one-third of the freshman class voted in the elections for the Student Senate and Freshman Class President held Fri. Oct. 2.

Running for the Senate were Diane Lavalley, Nancy Catano and Karen Patewood. Running unopposed for president was Norman Michaud, now the president of the Freshman class. Diane Lavalley and Nancy Catano were elected to the Senate.

Out of a class of approximately 650, only about 200 freshmen cast their vote.

THE MONADNOCK is published weekly throughout the year by the students of Keene State College. All letters to the Editor must be signed in order to appear in print. Names will be withheld upon request. The editors reserve the right to delete any word or words which they consider offensive to the general public.

Freshman elections were held last week and judging from the poor turnout of voters, freshman showed little interest in choosing their officials. Less than one-third of the class voted, and those that did vote did not have much of a choice in candidates. Only three people ran for the two seats in the Student Senate and one person ran unopposed for the presidency of the class.

Freshman students often feel discriminated against because of their first-year status and comparative inexperience in college matters. In this area of elections, at least, freshmen showed extreme lack of responsibility. Students are responsible for their own governing and there exist a great difference between good student government and poor student government.

Lack of responsibility was also demonstrated by the entire student body last week when departmental elections to the College Senate took place. Each academic department was to elect one person to serve on the college's major legislative body. Meetings were held and few people bothered to show up. This had to result in poor elections; college senate representatives not very representative of all the students.

The College Senate makes all major decisions regarding all aspects of college life. It provides direction and leadership for the college as a whole. Student leaders in the past have fought for and succeeded in attaining increased student representation on the Senate. It is not only desirable for students to serve on this body, but very necessary, for the students' needs and concerns must be expressed.

Hopefully, those elected to office will provide more-than-adequate, strong leadership for the students, and the lines of communication between the individual student and his representative should always remain open. But the apathy exhibited by a majority of students at KSC is typical of the nowhere attitude that has plagued this campus for too long. Let's get working to make this community the more active, meaningful environment that it can and should be.

The Sea: Wealth or Waste

By PAT GILMARTIN

The late President Kennedy once said "Knowledge of the oceans is more than a matter of curiosity. Our very survival may hinge upon it." His words are becoming frighteningly more appropriate every day as we see our environment pillaged by pollution. It is also becoming frighteningly clear that we may be hanging our hopes on a rusty hinge. For the sea too, is falling victim to contamination by the blind monster-Man. Not only does the poison in our air fall into the sea with the rain, and the DDT in our fields reaches the ocean with surface runoff, but Man pollutes the briny deep directly, by using it as a receptacle for nerve gas, radio-active debris, contaminating chemicals and raw, untreated sewage. We are rapidly digging ourselves a grave; for once life in the sea is gone, the surface world can survive for no more than a year.

Many marine animals (including the great Blue Whale) are on the point of extinction because of the unrestricted hunting policies of some countries' fishing fleets. The ocean is not, as many people like to think, an inexhaustible resource. The Sea's wealth can be harvested by Man, yes, but only if we use common sense in taking what we need and excluding from our take those species which are becoming low in number. There is no need to commit underwater genocide in order to feed the Earth's population.

Sadly enough, many of the fish that Man slaughters each year never make it to the platter. They die as a result of the tons of poison that we throw into the Sea every day. In the United States alone, the richest country in the world—50,000,000 people are dying of malnutrition while we apathetically destroy a potential source of food. Fish powder concentrate, an extremely high-protein flour which is made from common "trash fish," could be manufactured for about twenty cents a pound if the government would spend the money necessary to per-

LITERARY SOCIETY

To the Editor:

Last Thursday evening, Sigma Pi Epsilon held its first meeting of the year, a meeting designed to be organizational in nature. Five people attended, and I found myself asking, why? Several reasons came to mind: people had other meetings, or they had to work, or they didn't know when the meeting was scheduled, or they didn't know what Sigma was. It is on the last point I wish to speak.

Sigma Pi Epsilon is the campus literary society; it publishes a magazine of poetry and short stories called the Journal, but is more than just a way to get poems published. With an active membership, Sigma can do many other things. It can bring contemporary poets to our campus to give readings and discuss poetry. It can bring local talent together for poetry readings and folk sessions. It can combine the intellectual with a lot of fun. It can do all these things and more, but not without an active membership. Sigma this year has enough money to publish four journals, but it can't be done without people who are interested enough to come out and lend their support. A Sigma meeting has been scheduled for Thursday night, Oct. 15, at 6:30 — show you care and attend. Ignorance is no longer an excuse in these times.

David Worster

tion gap — just look at our advanced "model society." I feel that as a concerned student I cannot hold in my feeling any longer, nor can I accept many of these things. I cannot understand how our society evolves as it does without little concern from the people it affects. I can't accept corruption by politics, the war in Viet Nam, the great drug problem or an educational system that in itself will prove useless to many teachers as well as students. Maybe I'm an idealist...or maybe I can face reality.

Whatever, I'm glad Mike that you spoke out, that you as an instructor still spoke out! If we had more concerned adults like yourself, our society would be better off and the education of our youth (especially future teachers) would be worthwhile and not just a repetitious pile of requirements.

GOOD LUCK

To the Editor:

I think the new policy of the paper is wonderful. It proves that college students are interested in things other than immediate college news.

It took a lot of courage to print many of the articles and I hope you and your staff have a lot more. The paper gets better every year and I think this year's is the best. GOOD LUCK.

Linda Muller

IN REPLY

To the Editor:

Regarding a letter that appeared in the Oct. 1 issue of The Monadnock by "one" J. Crook, it always amazes me to hear one man claim that the majority did not rule and the "minority is taking the school away from the apathetic majority." There is some substance in what Mr. Crook says. However, activism does get more results than apathy.

Jay suggested that a referendum would be the only way to find out if the students wanted a change in concert admission policy. Those students who were here last year might remember that throughout the campus, a written survey was taken, asking whether students were willing to be charged admission to concerts to help increase the quantity and quality of entertainment. Out of an approximate 1500 returns, less than 40 were unwilling to pay to see concerts. Unfortunately, Mr. Crook was not with us last year.

As for the incidious accusation that the Student Senate did not represent the majority of the students, the new profit retention bill was passed unanimously and the committee that reported to the Senate was lauded by the Senate president. When Jay went to school, he may have seen Tom Rush and the Other groups at no charge. At that time, however, we were not under the influence of the worst inflation that has ever occurred in American economics. Tom Rush may have cost $1,000, if that, being his first professional tour and coming out of Portsmouth N.H. Today Rush could cost in the neighborhood of $5,000. Besides that, the budget of the social council was $8,000 not the

PHOTOS TO BE EXHIBITED

An exhibition of color photography ranging from desert landscapes and still life to action scenes and portraits by James C. Gillespie will be featured at Keene State College's Thorne Art Gallery this month.

The exhibit, "The Essence of Color," consisting of some 100 photographs, will open this Sunday (Oct. 11) and will run for the next three weeks until Oct. 30. The opening reception, hosted by the Friends of the Thorne Art Gallery, from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. will coincide with Parents Day at Keene State College this year.

Gillespie, a native of Greenfield, N.Y., is a former Missouri farmer who turned to serious photography 14 years ago. He began specializing in color photography in 1959, doing his own processing, or darkroom work, and opened his Wingate Studio in Winchester, N.H., in 1960. He is now based in Northfield, Mass.

Gillespie says his goal in color photography "is to explore everyday subjects from coast to coast, depicting the drama and emotion inherent in the subject itself." He has exhibited in galleries across the United States including the Gallery of American Crafts in Pinehurst, N.C., the Mulvane Art Center in Topeka, Kans., the Ozark Empire Fair in Missouri, the Springfield Art Museum in Springfield, Mo., and the Pioneer Valley Creative Art Festival in Massachusetts.

A cattleman turned photographer, Gillespie and his wife formerly lived in Springfield, Mo., where he owned Bright Elbow Ranch. The Gillespies moved to Northfield, Mass., in 1946 and operated a small farm and raised prize Brown Swiss cattle. In 1955, a back ailment forced Gillespie to sell the farm and turn to photography, a childhood hobby. He returned to Missouri for a year to work with artist Raymond Kennon, switching later from black and white to color photography.

$6,000 originally allotted for this year. The council had to fight for additional legislation to acquire a supplementary 3,000 last May to bring the total budget to a mere $1,000 increase in 3 years.

The students have indicated to the council on numerous surveys that they want current "big name" groups like Ten Years After, Delanie & Bonnie, The Who, Jethro Tull or Grand Funk. These groups range in cost from $5,000 to $10,000. The only way to acquire them is to charge admission and to retain the profits made. For example, assume that the first concert with Biff Rose will cost $3,000 to put on. By charging $2.00 a ticket and selling 1500 tickets the S.C. budget will still have $9,000 which may be used to put on two remaining concerts. This makes possible a second concert with someone like Ten Years After that goes for about $7500. Charging $2.50 a ticket and selling 2000 tickets with a net receipt of $5000 we would have another $7500 to put on a third big concert. In no other way can the council give the student the "big name" entertainment they want to hear. If we didn't get the right to charge, a budget of $15,000 from the Senate would have been necessary for any kind of entertainment they want to hear. Contrary to what Mr. Crook said by "the students will be assessed automatically and get nothing in return except 'now' entertainment with an admission fee," the students will get to see the entertainers they want to see by paying a nominal fee. The money raised would go to bring more and better entertainment to their own campus.

I, in no way, however, infer that Jay's

Search Begins For President

The University of New Hampshire Presidential Search Committee, appointed this summer to find a successor to UNH President John W. McConnell, is seeking student input, including suggestions and names of candidates for its consideration.

The 15 member committee, which includes two students, was appointed when UNH President McConnell announced last March that he would retire June 30, 1971. The UNH Board of Trustees will select the new president when the search committee completes its work.

The committee has already met several times to formulate procedures, to begin to define the job and qualifications of the UNH presidency, and to start the actual search. Robert W. Correll, UNH professor and secretary of the committee said that the committee is interested in finding out how the students (including KSC students) feel about the presidency, what kind of person should be considered and suggestions about what students feel are important.

The Committee also welcomes the submission of names of candidates by KSC students. These names should be accompanied by some biographical information.

This information can be sent directly to Judge Bernard I. Snierston, Committee chairman, Winston Building, Laconia, N.H. 03246, or given to Professor Thomas L. Havill at KSC.

CLUB SPONSORS BOOKSALE

The biology Club of Keene State College will sponsor a booksale Thurs., Oct. 8th in room 307 of the Science and Arts Building.

The booksale will be an all day affair and only books of good quality and condition are to be sold. A wide variety of mostly new books will be sold either separately or in bundles of ten at a cost not to exceed 50 cents in either case.

READ BULLETINS

To the Editor:

Last night I attended the annual meeting of the Campus Ministry. Dr. Redfern, Dr. Wolterbeek (the guest speakers), Rev. Gemmel, a number of area ministers, members of the board of trustees and only two students were present.

We discussed Dr. Wolterbeek's role on Campus, and drifted into a discussion of the role of police on campus and community, and how we could help to create a better relationship. After the meeting one of the students present commented: I never realized how many adults are interested and sympathetic to our problems. I am glad I came but why aren't more students here? I have asked myself the same question, and one of the answers is that many students didn't even know the meeting took place.

I am writing this letter as a student and trustee of the Campus Ministry to ask all of you: please read the announcements on the bulletin boards and make a note of the meetings that interest you; then make sure you plan to attend them. It is not enough to sit back and complain. Make your voices heard. In KSC there are many who will listen!

Sight-Sound Play Reviewed

By BYRON O'BRIEN

Michael and Christopher Kressy combined artistic skills to produce "Earth-Toil and Sesame." Seventy to eighty students participated in this unique experience last Friday evening at the Waltz Lecture Hall.

"Earth-Toil and Sesame" was a two part presentation, part one being the pulsing, chaotic presentation of film, voice and triple slide projectors, part two being a rap session.

Confusion was king in the film. The overlapping lifeless slides aided the chaos. The voice of Sesame was plaintive, searching. The voice of Earth-Toil was coaxing, reassuring.

The rap session, led by Michael Kressy, gave needed substance to the film. Kressy asked the audience their impressions; and their replies were varied and numerous. Some comments were, "It was confusing", "Earth-Toil and Sesame were sexual conflict", "Sesame was the manequin in the lifeless farmhouse and Earth-Toil was Life, the free blowing trees at the film's end", "After talking, we should see it again."

Reactions were many as "Earth-Toil and Sesame proved to be stimulating and thought provoking experiment in involvement to all of us who participated.

Sigma Organizes

Sigma Pi Epsilon is the campus literary society. It serves to bring poetry to the campus and encourages local talent by publishing a magazine called "The Journal", made up of material submitted by KSC students.

Dr. David Battenfeld, Sigma Pi advisor, has explained that the society has more money than ever before, enough to publish four Journals. They also plan to sponsor readings and discussions with contemporary poets such as William Meridith. Folk sessions and readings by local students are also being considered.

Acting President David Worster, has expressed his dismay at the small number of KSV students who are interested in Sigma Pi. He has invited all interested students to attend the next meeting to be held Thurs. Oct 5 in 1 Parker Hall at 6:30 p.m.

The singers are a unique choral group composed of the United Nations Secretariat Staff. The group includes 40 odd voices representing at least 25 different nations. Each member will appear in the colorful native dress of his country.

The singers are under the brilliant direction of Donald Read, a noted tenor soloist in his own right, voice teacher, and a member of the faculty at the Preparatory Division of the Juilliard School of Music and the American Academy of music and art.

The song fest will be at the Keene Junior High School auditorium and is for the benefit of the Community Ambassador fund. The public is invited to attend.

Harriers Win First Home Test

By MIKE TARDIF

The first cross country meet for KSC at the new 4.8 mile course at Robin Hood Park was a successful one, as KSC defeated Gohram State and New England College. Denny Anderson established the first course record, finishing first in 27:35. Tom Keegan and Pete Hanrahan, who both had outstanding races, finished 4th and 5th respectively.

During the first three meets of the season, the Owls have shown that they have plenty of depth in their lineup of winners. The Harriers, who have had at least one top winner out of action for every meet, have come up with the extra help needed. Freshmen runner, Sandy Shapiro, did not finish Saturday's race due to an injury sustained on the course.

Sports Car Rally Offers 14 Trophies

The Monadnock Sports Car Club will hold a rally Oct. 11. Registration for the event starts at 12 noon in the M.P.B. parking lot on Optical Ave. in Keene. The entry fee is $3 and any car is eligible.

Local automobile dealers have provided trophies for their respective products. Rallies are time/speed/distance events conducted on highways in the region. The object is to arrive in a certain place in a certain time. Penalty points are awarded for arriving at a checkpoint either early or late. All that is needed to compete is a car (any sort of car) and a driver-navigator team.

This is a good opportunity to try out the sport of rallying while standing an excellent chance of winning a trophy for your efforts. For further information contact Colin Lyle at 532-07532 in the evenings.

PHI MU VISITS CEDARCREST

On Wed., Sept. 30, eleven brothers visited Cedarcrest, a home for mentally retarded children in Westmoreland, N.H. A series of skits were performed for the children followed by a sing-in led by Pete Desrochers and Skip Watkins. The highlight of the evening was the duo of Vince McGonis and Chuck Stone singing the Mickey Mouse Club Theme Song. Also participating were brothers Dick Morini, Pete Hanrahan, Rick Marlin, Mike Oleniak, Dave Westover, Chris Keyes and Keith Ritchie. After the sing-in, cider and doughnuts were served.

Steve Parker's fourth period goal clinched a 3-2 victory for the Owls in Saturday's soccer match against Salem. On the home cross country course at Robin Hood Park, frater Pete Hanrahan was finished fifth, helping the Owl Harriers to a sweep over Gohram State and NEC.

SOCCER TEAM UNDEFEATED

By MIKE TARDIF

The KSC soccer team, playing their first two home games of the season, defeated Johnson State 1-0, on Wednesday, and Salem, 3-2 on Saturday.

Against Johnson State, a perfectly placed corner kick by Steve Parker enabled freshman Chip Conran to score the only goal needed for the Owl's victory. In the fourth quarter goalie Brian Richardson came up with several spectacular saves, while earning his second shutout of the season.

On Saturday, a come from behind effort during the second half gave Coach Ron Butcher's boppers a 4-0 record on the season.

Butcher described the match as being the Owl's best of the season and the best he's seen considering the team's short passing game. The team showed great ball control, while outshooting Salem 51-24.

Behind 2-1 at the start of the second half, Keene wasted no time as Rit Swain scored on a pass from Bill Russell, tying the game. This was Swain's second goal, his first tally coming four seconds before the end of the first half. After several scoring opportunities, Steve Parker drove home the winner at 12:35 of the fourth quarter.

Goalie Brian Richardson, playing in four games so far, has allowed only 3 goals for a respectable .75 goals against average. The next home game for Keene is Tues. Oct. 13 against Castleton.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

A true asset to the KSC Soccer Team, and starting center halfback, Co-captain Steve Parker well deserves the title Player of the Week. Steve is presently a junior majoring in secondary education English with a Physical Education minor. Originally from London, England, Stevie began his soccer career at the age of 8. He played fullback and wing half for the Pathfinders Boys Club in Slough, England for 6 yrs.; being captain for 3. When he was 15 he became a member of the Slough Technical High School team and also played on the Buckingham Shire County team for 3 years. Stevie was again honored when he was chosen for the England Boys Club team that competed against Scotland, Wales, Ireland and Germany. When he was 17 he was accepted to play on two apprentice professional soccer teams: the West Ham United Football Club and the Reading Football Club. At 19 due to injury Stevie had to stop playing for almost two years.

In Sept. '68 Stevie was admitted to KSC and began his outstanding career with the Owls. All totaled he had 28 assists (in his freshman year) and has scored 21 since then. He was also selected to play on the all conference team.

Stevie feels this year has a great potential mainly due to Coach Butcher's ideas and enthusiasm, but until consistency is obtained the results will be speculative.

have helped inflame passions. "Law enforcement officials have too often reacted ineptly or overreacted. At times their response has degenerated into uncontrolled violence."

"All Americans must help reduce bitterness and hostility. They must respect both the processes of law and the expression of dissent."

For students, the commission has high praise—and harsh words. While applauding the idealism that motivates many college youth, the report condemns those who participate in disruptive acts for whatever cause or harbor in their midst others who do.

COSTS COULD RISE IF ARMS TALKS FAIL

(Reprinted from the New York Times, Oct. 11)

The Nixon administration said this week that the United States may have to embark on a "tremendous increase" in defense spending unless accords are reached with the Soviet Union in negotiations on the limitation of strategic arms and in other pressing areas.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, appearing together for an hour on "Issues and Answers," a radio and television program of the American Broadcasting Company, catalogued, in effect, examples of what the Administration considers Soviet bad faith in situations ranging from a speed-up in the arms race to the Middle East and Indochina.

But despite his and Mr. Laird's generally gloomy assessment of Soviet intentions everywhere, Secretary Rogers said he did not think that the bitter criticism in the Soviet press of President Nixon's peace plan for Indochina "reflects the view of the Government fully."

Soviet Charges 'Fraud'

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda charged yesterday that the Nixon proposals for a cease-fire in place and an Indochina peace conference were a "great fraud."

Mr. Rogers declared that this represented "standard Communist propaganda which is expected."

The Nixon Administration does not consider the critical statements that have come from North Vietnam and other Communist countries as outright rejection of the peace plan outlined by the President last Wednesday. Mr. Rogers said today: "We think that the time may come when the other side will negotiate."

"I have a feeling," he said, "that the Soviet Union and Hanoi will both give very careful consideration to the President's proposal because of the tremendous support that the proposals have received not only in this country but all over the world."

Two Peace Plans Proposed

Here are the key elements in the five-point Indochina peace plan offered last week by President Nixon, and the key elements in an eight-point proposal that Viet Cong representatives presented at the Paris peace talks on Sept. 17:

The American Proposal

1. All armed forces in South Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia should immediately cease firing and remain in their present positions. International supervisors as well as the forces involved should police the standstill cease-fire.
2. An Indochina peace conference should be called to deal with warfare in the three Southeast Asian nations. Meanwhile, the talks at Paris among American, South Vietnamese, North Vietnamese, and Viet Cong officials should continue.
3. The United States is prepared to negotiate on a timetable for complete troop withdrawals as part of an over-all settlement. Mr. Nixon referred to previous U.S. peace proposals, which called for mutual American and North Vietnamese troop withdrawals.
4. Negotiations should begin on a political settlement that "reflects the will of the people of South Vietnam" as well as reflecting "the existing relationship of political forces in South Vietnam." The South Vietnamese must determine for themselves the kind of government they want.
5. Both sides should immediately and unconditionally release all prisoners of war and detained civilians.

The Viet Cong Proposals

1. The United States must "end its war of aggression," halt the Vietnamization of the war.

Birth Control Advocate To Speak Here

Birth control advocate Bill Baird will lecture at Keene State College Thursday night [Oct. 15] as part of a year-long series sponsored by the College's Concert and Lecture Committee.

His talk, "Overpopulation: A Desperate Future," will be at 8 p.m. in the Mabel Brown Room of the Lloyd P. Young Student Union. A question and answer session will follow.

Advocates Birth Control

One of the nation's staunchest advocates of birth control, Baird has for several years been testing state laws on the dissemination of birth control information and devices. A 1966 arrest in New York resulted in a change in that state's laws affecting birth control information. A 1967 arrest in New Jersey led eventually to a change in New Jersey's laws concerning birth control.

Baird is currently engaged in an appeal from an overturned conviction in Massachusetts. Baird was convicted earlier this year, after spending several weeks in jail awaiting trial, as a result of a 1967 arrest for giving a university coed a birth control device. Last July, the U.S. Court of Appeals invalidated the conviction and said state law prohibiting his action was unconstitutional. However, the state attorney general's office is appealing, contending that the Massachusetts Supreme Court only a week before had held that the state laws on birth control were, indeed, constitutional. The attorney general's office contends that the state supreme court has precedence over the court of appeal's decision.

Founder and director of the New York Parent Aid Society, a non-profit birth control, abortion, and narcotic center, Baird is a former clinical director of a national pharmaceutical firm.

Baird is currently a consultant to the New York State Senate Sub-Committee on Health and Mental Health as well as an advisor on birth control to the New Jersey State Legislature. He is also responsible for bringing the nation's first mobile clinic, which assists mothers in poverty stricken areas, into Harlem and Bedford-Stuyvesant.

Tickets, available at the door, are $1 for adults and 50-cents for students. Keene State students, faculty and staff are admitted by ID card. The student Union is located at Main Street and Appleton Way.

FUND DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

Keene State College alumni have topped their 1970 fund drive goal by a whopping 28 per cent, it was announced by Harold A. Haggood, fund drive chairman.

The annual drive, which began Jan. 1 and ended July 1, drew a total of $16,017 in contributions and pledges. The goal was $12,500, which was a 25 per cent increase over last year's $10,000 goal. The funds raised for the College during the 1970 drive represented a 49 per cent increase over funds raised in last year's drive.

Of the $16,017 raised, $8,814 has already been allocated. The largest amount, $4,000, went to a payment on the car loan which the Alumni donated to KSC last year, $2,000 to the Concert and Lecture Series "Charlie Brown," $1,500 in athletic scholarships, $500 for the Random Concept and $175 for blazers for Student Campus Guides. $639 has been restricted to Memorial Funds.

The committee for KSC Fund Projects is now in the process of making decision on the other requests for funds in order to recommend other allocations to the Alumni Board of Directors and the President of the college.

"During this period of turmoil on most college campuses, it was most gratifying to see that the alumni of Keene State College were still responsive to the needs of the college," Haggood said. "The excellent support given by President Leo F. Redfern helped immeasurably to make this drive the most successful in the history of Keene State College. A special tribute should also be paid to Dave Costin who headed a vigorous 100 Club Membership campaign."

"As chairman, I personally want to thank my committee, the class agents, the many canvassers, and the alumni who support this year's fund drive. The results clearly indicate that our alumni believe that we should continue to strive for excellence at Keene State College."

Costin, assistant professor of student teaching at Keene State and vice chairman of the 1970 drive, led a committee which, by means of an intensive effort, enrolled 83 additional members in the 100 Club, members upon contributions of $100 or more.

The Class of 1938 led all others in percentage of participation by members and in funds raised. Paced by Paul E. Nordman, of New Berlin, Wisc., 1938 class agent, the class contributed a total of $801 with 57 per cent of class members taking part in the drive.

Fred L. Barry, alumni secretary at Keene State, lauded Nordman for his outstanding leadership. "Paul, together with several associate agents, inspired his

Awards Given On Parent's Day

By PAUL LEMIRE

Spaulding Gymnasium was the site, on Sunday October 11, of a gathering of nearly 800 parents, students, faculty and administration to honor exceptional students from the campus at the official Honors Convocation.

President Leo F. Redfern greeted the Parents Day crowd on behalf of the students, faculty and administration, and spoke shortly on the high cost of education.

Student Senate President, Neil Gallagher followed Dr. Redfern with a review of what he asserted to be the three important areas of student life on this campus. Those areas included education, social activity, and athletics.

Awards Distributed

The presentation of awards to Dean's List students, some 200 in all, was made by Dr. Clarence G. Davis, Dean of the College, and Dr. Edward F. Pierce, Dean of Administration.

Several scholarships were bestowed upon KSC students. Michael Micucci, President of the Tri-Beta organization, presented Debbie Dudar with a financial scholarship. Textbook scholarships were also awarded to Linda Dionne and Karen Koski.

The Epsilon Pi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, represented by its President Joyce DeGelan, offered Outstanding Freshman Awards to Ronald Boisvert, Robin Warren, Pamela Smith and Penny Smith. These awards were given for satisfactory achievement of a 4.0 cumulative academic average.
