

ALPHA

By Ron Neronsky

The Brothers of Alpha Pi Tau were honored this past weekend by a visit from Brother Leo Cotter. Leo, past president of Alpha, is a graduate student at Indiana State University at Terre Haute. Upon his arrival, Leo issued the following statement: "Due to the clemency and vicissitudes, it is indeed a pleasure that I should be here, and I so declare it."

A hayride is planned for this weekend, to be held at Silver Ranch in Jaffrey. This hayride was planned under the direction of Brother Bob "Frenchy" Cloutier and his social committee, Brother Brian "Muncher" Maynard, and Brother Steve "Bod" Bodnar.

Preparations have started for the writing of the 1968 Alpha Opera. The Opera, an Alpha tradition dating back to 1936, is an annual event. It began as a satire on campus life at KSC. Each and every member of the faculty and administration is under constant surveillance for the starring role in the '68 Opera. BEWARE! THE ALPHA DUCK IS WATCHING YOU!

Other activities at Alpha House, including bull sessions in Brother Bob Baines' room, and drinking sessions in Brother Ron Neronsky's room, have resulted in solutions to many problems. We are looking forward with great anticipation, to continuing these sessions. In case you haven't guessed the drinking sessions usually follow the bull sessions.

This week the Alpha Duck would like to salute whoever is responsible for restoring forks to the Commons.

The Brothers cordially extend their congratulations to Dean and Mrs. Ernest Gendron on the arrival of their new daughter.

KAPPA

by Clyde Lower

Kappa held its 46th annual Halloween Costume Party last Saturday evening. Prizes were awarded for the most humorous attire worn by couples. Judging the humorous concoctions worn by the contestants were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simons. First prize went to the couple of Brother Lenny Hebert and Annette Walker for their costumes portraying Charlie Chaplin and Phyllis Diller respectively. Second prize was awarded to Dave Brown and Pam Moore. Brother Brown made his appearance as the resplendent King Arthur, and his date appeared as Lady Godiva.

The brothers of Kappa again donated their time for a worthy cause last Tuesday to sell light bulbs for the Lion's Club. The leading salesman for the event among the brothers was Paul Prebble.

Brother Joe Rodriguez would like to apologize to all the coeds with whom he has had dates recently. Really, girls, he is basically of a good sort.

Ones Shock Theta

The Ones did it again as they tied previously unbeaten, untied Theta 6-6. The Ones possess one of the poorest offenses yet best defenses in the league and they showed it by intercepting 6 Rick Dimeco passes. Their only score came on one of these interceptions as Pete Benson picked it off and galloped into the end zone. This was only the second score against Theta in 3 years, but again the tally came on a pass interception leaving their defense unblemished.

Being down 6-0 Theta worked desperately to salvage the game. On second down at midfield Dimeco uncorked a bomb to end Mike Nankowski who was all alone. Nankowski went in for the score but the conversion failed and left the game tied 6-6.

Defensive standouts for the Ones were Doug Wakeman, Kevin Rafferty and Pete Benson.

For Theta, Ken "the Snake" Leaf played well both ways.

Roughriders Down George's Gym 6-0

With Jocko Landry at quarterback the Roughriders are a different team. Landry's scrambling was the key to the Roughrider win as he set up their lone score on a 50-yard jaunt down to the George's Gym 3. On 4th down Landry pitched to his right end for the TD.

With 2 minutes left in the game, George's Gym quarterback, Ed Olsen, threw to left end Fred Bramante who was caught from behind on a game-saving dive by speedy Paul Vachon inside the Roughrider 10. The play went for 40 yards but that was as far as George's Gym got. The Roughrider defense stiffened and held off the George's Gym threat to salvage the victory.

One's Revenge Fails vs. Minimen

The One's seeking revenge for their only defeat this season, managed only a 6-6 tie with the Manchester Minimen.

The One's scored first on a pass play from Joe Hill to Kevin Rafferty. This was only the 2nd score the One's offense has chalked up all season.

But the One's lead was short lived as Minimen quarterback threw deep to end George Skiloganis who outran everyone to tie the game. The conversion failed and the score remained 6-6.

Skiers Meet

By Jim Hicks

The first meeting of the Keene Ski Team and Ski Club was held last Wednesday and Coach King announced plans for the coming winter season.

"The men on the team can look forward to several meets in the Intermediate division of the E. I. S. C.," Mr. King stated, "and we are lining up some exciting meets for the women too."

In addition to competitive practice Mr. King said that instruction in basic and advanced skiing will be offered to members of the Ski Club.

"We hope to be skiing on the new Pinnacle Mountain by early December," coach King said, "and in the meantime the Team and any interested members of the Club will be participating in a conditioning program."

The workouts sessions will begin next Monday, according to coach King, and will be geared to individual abilities. Unless there is rain the workouts will be held near the woods at the south end of the athletic field at 4:00. All skiers who are interested in joining the Team and who missed the organizational meeting are invited to this first conditioning session.

Campus Dialogue

At the Campus Dialogue on the 25th President Zorn outlined plans for the proposed new Student Union to be constructed within and adjacent to the present Spaulding Gymnasium.

In addition to complete renovation of Spaulding proper, a new two-story wing will be constructed on the present location of Alpha Pi Tau fraternity.

According to President Zorn, the first floor of the new Union will accommodate a large bookstore, a new snack bar serving 350, and several offices.

The second floor of Spaulding (the present gym floor) will be completely renovated—a new floor put down, the balcony removed, and beams covered by a false ceiling. The gym floor will be left unpartitioned to accommodate dances as well as concerts and lectures. A utility room for student activities will replace the present physical education offices.

The corresponding floor on the new addition will contain extensive commuter facilities including lockers. "We want to go out of our way to serve the commuters because they really don't have any other facility on campus," Dr. Zorn stated.

The second floor of the new section will also have a recreation room complete with pool and ping pong tables; and a large meeting room divided by movable partitions.

The upper floor on the eastern and western ends of Spaulding proper will be rebuilt providing facilities for student publications including darkroom space.

After a final conference with the architect the plans will go to bid, according to Dr. Zorn.

"We must emphasize," President Zorn said, "that this building must be self-amortizing. This will have to come through 1) the bookstore, 2) the snack bar, and 3) student financing, perhaps by means of an increased student activity fee."

First construction will begin in Spaulding itself as soon as the Physical Education Department can be transferred to the new gym. The President stated that, if possible, the Alpha house will not

Soccer

Coach Joyce's Owls rolled over two more opponents last week, increasing their season record to a laudable 8-3.

In the first game of the week KSC shut out Fitchburg here 2 to 0. The second period was the bewitching time for the Owls while Wally Dwinells and Ron Dias performed the magic. Dwinells booted the first unassisted at 6:05 of that period and Dias took a Rit Swain feed five minutes later to insure the victory. The front line, with a fine wind at their backs, boomed 19 shots at the Fitchburg goalie while Keene's blonde backstop, Brian Richardson, was called upon only 9 times.

Saturday the Owls did a repeat performance beating Gorham State here 4 to 1. KSC bombed Gorham's goalie constantly, scoring in each of the first three periods. Chuck Stone started it off for Keene early in the game and Wally Dwinells followed in the second period booting in a Terry Moore pass to make the halftime score 2 to 0.

be disturbed until after graduation next June.

Work on the new wing should begin about the middle of June and if construction goes as planned the entire building should be open by the end of summer or early next fall, according to Dr. Zorn.

Asked about the fate of the old bookstore, President Zorn replied, "It doesn't look good but it's difficult to eliminate a $35,000 building. As long as we're in a bind for campus space it cannot be sacrificed." The President added "... at the time the present bookstore was built we did not have a campus plan as we do now."

Also discussed at the Dialogue session was the possible extension of library hours. Dr. Zorn agreed that there was room for improvement but added that the problem was "partly a matter of staffing. The library is so designed," he said, "that it can't be closed down except for one room. In addition, one professional is required on duty at all times and we simply don't have the staff at the present time." The President suggested it is apparent that students aren't making effective use of the library hours now available.

"Students are expected to attend all scheduled class meetings of any course in which they are enrolled."

This is a quote from the K.S.C. Student Handbook. Now, if this is the policy of this school, I would like to know why. I assume it is to help the average student. If he has to go to class, he will, and absorb things that will help him in the course. If this is the right assumption, all well and good. But I think the average student is mature enough to decide if he'd like to absorb or not. I think he should have a choice as to whether or not he'd care to go. And, if I may be so bold, I would like to see the question of mandatory class attendance put before the student body and the faculty. We could have a little ballot made up that has two choices—

I support _____
I oppose _____ the present system of mandatory class attendance.

and any member of the faculty or student body could vote. That way the administration would know how we feel, because it is us that it affects.

I assume that most people would be opposed. Perhaps that is why the administration hesitates to put it to a general vote. We ought to try it. This way we could all express our opinion.

Want to know what's Keene this week? Well, I'm going to tell you anyway. The fence between Theta parking lot and Costin houses. It seems that some ratty girls keep cutting it. But now the fence has been chained, and wire cutters won't touch it. It is so KEENE when, in this day of student rebellion, the power of mature people can be seen ... and felt!

STRIKE AT NEW KSC GYM SITE

COMMENTS ON STRIKE
by Bev Anderson

Comments on the strike were few. Inquiring as to what is at stake, there doesn't appear to be any effect at all on the continuing progress of the building.

In talking with President Zorn he feels that the strike doesn't include all of the workmen on the project. Most of the tradesmen are continuing with their job responsibility. He stated, "Unless the strike expands to cover all aspects so that it would halt and produce a long term interruption we don't believe it will substantially effect the schedule of completion."

Right now all the college can do is sit tight and wait and see what the construction company will do about the situation. It is their employers that are on strike. As President Zorn said, he does not think the strike will affect the progress of the building. What is at stake and how serious it is is too early to say.

In an interview with Mr. Mallat, director of Physical Plan Development, he feels that as long as the major trades are working and the work is not being delayed there is nothing to worry about.

Strike at KSC Gym Site
by Janet Bogart and Bob Anderson

Wednesday work on the new gym slowed down as laborers employed by the Bennet Construction Co. went on strike. The laborers, represented by the Upholsterer's Union of North America AFI-CIO (Labor Division), went on strike because several workers were laid off.

Clarence B. Ewins, Vice President of the Upholsterer's Union, was called in to represent the position of the laborers in the dispute. He explained that most of the workers on the project, such as the plumbers and electricians were members of their respective unions and therefore eligible for union benefits.

The Bennet Co. laborers chose to organize too. At a meeting last Friday, they requested that the company recognize their efforts. The company gave no answer. Immediately afterward, the company fired six laborers. "These may or may not have been the instigators for the unionization," he added.

Mr. Ewin stated also that at the Keene site laborers were being paid $2.50/hr., whereas workers in surrounding areas are being paid $3.00 and over. He said that the Union will file charges with the National Labor Relations Board on behalf of the workers.

Later in the day the I.B.W.E. (electrical workers union) walked off the job in support of the strike. At the same time, a union truck driver refrained from crossing the picket lines while waiting for word from his representative.

Other unionized workers are now awaiting word from their locals in regards to their backing of the strike. The other unions involve plumbers, carpenters, steelworkers, and heavy-equipment operators.

The state representative at the construction site refused entrance to strikers attempting to use toilet facilities, but refused to comment. Mr. Joseph Lamber, company superintendent, also refused to comment.

"FINANCIAL AID OFFICER ABSCONDS WITH $200,000"

By Judy Wood

remarked Fred L. Barry, Director of Financial Aid at Keene State College.

"I can hardly believe it, myself, but it is a fact that during this 1967-68 college year, financial assistance to KSC students in the forms of loans, tuition—scholarships, and work opportunities will go over the $200,000 mark," continued Mr. Barry. "This aid will go to over 400 students, representing 24% of the 1650 student body. This figure is in line with the national figure of 23%."

The details of voluminous record-keeping, disbursing of funds and credits; sending of notices, and collecting of installments due from borrowers are performed by Mrs. Mary Walker in the Office of Financial Aids on the third floor of Hale Building. It is here also, that students may secure information and application forms for the available financial aid programs.

Soon after the end of World War II, the New Hampshire state legislature instituted the Tuition Scholarship program to encourage New Hampshire young people to enter the teaching profession. This scholarship grant program was the primary, and about the only type of aid available. In 1958, the National Defense Act provided the opportunity for students to secure National Defense Student Loans. The Higher Education Act of 1965 has added other programs to which the college and the federal government contribute funds each year.

Keene State is lacking in endowed funds. These are funds which are of appreciable amounts that may be invested. The returns therefore could be awarded as outright scholarships. It is hoped that graduates and friends in the future will see to it that endowed funds are provided. At present the Alumni Association is ready to begin the second year of a two year campaign to raise $25,000 for financial aid to students.

The forms of financial aid available at Keene are as follows:
New Hampshire State Tuition Scholarship.

In return for a tuition grant, the student agrees to teach a year in New Hampshire for each year he or she receives the grant, or pay it back.

National Defense Student Loan.
The Loan is interest and payment-free during the time the student attends college. 3% interest begins upon his leaving or graduating. Part or all of the loan may be cancelled in return for variously defined types of teaching.

Educational Opportunity Grant.
A program of direct awards to students with exceptional financial need.

Work-Study Program
A program of employment for students, particularly from low income families.

Guaranteed Loans

This program actually begins at the participating bank. The student may borrow without furnishing collateral or parents' signatures. The loan is guaranteed by the state agency, and the interest is paid by the federal government while the student is in college, if the family income is under $15,000, and one-half of the interest after the student leaves college. Undergraduates may borrow up to $1,000 a year.

Keene Endowment Association Loans

The Keene Endowment Association is a holding and investing organization chartered to administer funds which have been given as memorials and bequests for use at the college.

Short and long term loans are provided from these funds. One of these funds is the Maxfield Young small-loans fund administered in the Office of Financial Aids. Another is the Alumni Loan Fund which has recently become a long-term loan program.

Miscellaneous

Keene Women's Club Scholarships

Rainbow Scholarship for Freshmen Rainbow Girls

Jeanne Pearson Loan Funds for Seniors

Today, most of the financial aid to students is based upon computed financial need as determined after consideration of the family income and resources. As indicated above, Keene is especially lacking in funds available as outright grants for excellent scholarship.

Along with about 800 other colleges and universities, Keene State participates in the program of the College Scholarship in Princeton, New Jersey. The procedure requires the parents of the applicant for financial aid to complete and send a Parents' Confidential Statement form to Princeton. The parents' financial resources are analyzed, and a copy of this analyses is sent to the Office of Financial Aids. This report is used as a guide in determining the eligibility of the applicant, and how much aid he requires. The Director of Financial Aids is available to discuss with the applicant and/or the parents any unusual circumstances that could not be included in the form sent to Princeton.

It is important to remember the following:
Any first time applicant must have the Parents Confidential Statement filed. This form is available at the high school or at the college Office of Financial Aids.

In succeeding years after the first, the applicant secures a Renewal PCS from the Office of Financial Aids and has his parents complete and send it to Princeton.
In each of most recent years there have been applications for more

Audobon Series

The second in the Audobon Series presentations will be given on Monday, November 13, 1967, "Tide-water Trails": The wild beauty of Tidewater, Virginia, as it appeared to Colonial naturalist Mark Catesby is the subject of this film story by Charles T. Hotchkiss. Many of the sights that inspired Catesby in his life's work of recording the natural history of North America remain unchanged. Nesting orchard orioles, an amusing opossum family, and courting wood ducks inhabit this scenic area, along with clapper rails and snapping turtles. An up-to-date look at the natural heritage of an historic part of America.

This function is a part of the increasing role that your Tri-Beta and Biology Club is playing in our school. The presentation is produced in conjunction with the National Audubon Society.

IT'S NOT ENOUGH

At Keene's opening convocation this fall President Zorn and Dean Pierce presented approximately 88 students with pins in honor of their achievement of Dean's List and President's List grade averages. Although this was greater recognition than the honor students received last year the MONADNOCK feels this was not enough. Students who consistently prove their serious academic intents should be rewarded with certain privileges they deserve.

The MONADNOCK proposes that any student who achieves Dean's List status for two consecutive semesters be awarded the following privileges:

1. Double the normal amount of cuts allowed for each course.
 2. "Free" cuts on days immediately preceding and following holidays.
 3. The option (with the consent of the instructor) of substituting a term paper for the final exam.
- In addition, the MONADNOCK proposes that students achieving President's list for two consecutive semesters be allowed:
1. Unlimited cuts.
 2. The privilege of attending any class other than those for which he has registered; the option of taking the exams in that class and, if passing these exams, receiving credit for the course.
 3. The term paper option as stated above for Dean's List students.

The MONADNOCK feels that the maturity demonstrated by these students should be rewarded with the academic freedom they deserve.

Retort Record Barnes' Door

An Open Letter to my Teen-age Son
By Victor Lomborg

This is an answer song, to be sung to the tune of Battle Hymn of the Republic.

My mind blows every time that I hear Victor Lomborg say that Jesus and George Washington were Johnsons of their day, and wars are sick and filthy but historically they pay ... and God was not Airborn.

Chorus

Gory gory Victor Lomborg, pulverized hisson on record, then waved a flag and wet his pants and screaming, raised the cry: "applehood and mother-piel!"

There has been considerable controversy recently (as well as in years past) over various aspects of the College Library. These include hours, noise level, book theft, etc. As Librarian, it is my responsibility to see that rumors are squelched, factual information disseminated and, in general, the "other side" presented. Disliking, as I do, being put in a "them against us" situation where it isn't necessary, I have continually asked, publicly and privately, that individuals with library-related problems, questions and ideas come to me to discuss them. Those few people who have come have not always left in complete satisfaction or agreement, but

To the Editors:

Due to the recent teacher strikes, the public has become interested in and concerned about the demands being made for increased salary, additional fringe benefits, and improved retirement programs. The various salary proposals, more frequently than the others, have been met with utter dismay. Many editorials and magazine articles have been written in an attempt to solve this problem.

Not infrequently, it has been proposed that salaries should be graduated depending on the grade and subject being taught. This would mean that the elementary teachers would receive considerably less than secondary teachers.

Now the question arises as to which subjects are most important. If the elementary grades are viewed by college students and teachers alike as being unfavorable, because of the low salary schedule, would the average educator be satisfied to remain in the elementary school system? Or would he look to the secondary level where financial gain is assured? In this case, our elementary school children would definitely suffer. During these important formative years, the students would probably be taught by poorly motivated, mediocre teachers, who are supposed to babysit, discipline, and occasionally act as social workers and public health officials. Shouldn't the teachers in the elementary schools be as well regarded for their efforts as the secondary school teachers?

Sincerely,
Heather Locke

To the Editors of the Monadnock:

I am deeply concerned and disgusted with the course our campus newspaper has been taking this semester. I have come to the conclusion that the editors are either completely incompetent or that they have no regard for the student concern with the way our paper is being run. If you're looking for advice, here it is!

Two weekends ago, Greek Week-end was held as an all-college event. You chose to give this; the most spirited weekend ever in the history of Keene State College, little, if any, coverage. I personally saw your photographer, the honorable Mr. Black, taking pictures literally "by the yard". Is he making a personal collection of these pictures and making a scrapbook to exhibit his photographic genius? Remember, the film he uses is coming from the studentbody and, if I recall correctly, the Monadnock was crying for an expanded budget for this year. Maybe if we stopped wasting money on film that you obviously have no intention of using, you would have that extra money.

Also, the student paper is traditionally the voice of the students, not the voice of a bunch of idiots who have made it clear to almost everyone that they think in a warped manner. Before you take a strong issue in an editorial, remember that when others read it they immediately assume that this is the way most of us think. Most of us do not feel that "Roman fiddles while the curriculum burns", or that he is setting himself up as a God. You people convey the impression that the students are disgusted with the way Dr. Zorn is managing the college. Miss Treat, let's face it, you're not so great yourself. Maybe your cartoon should have read "Treat for goddess". You obviously feel that you are much more knowledgeable than people who are highly educated and are trained in such matters.

In closing, I would request the Monadnock once again become the type of campus newspaper it was established to be!

Concert Tickets

By a vote of the Union Board of Control, the Student Union has purchased twenty-five student tickets for each of the Keene Community Concerts of 1967-68. These tickets will be distributed on a "first-come" basis basis to students on the day of each concert.

The schedule of programs to be presented by the Keene Community Concert Association is as follows:
Tuesday, December 5, 1967, JORGE BOLET, internationally known Cuban pianist
Monday, January 22, 1968, THE CINCINNATI SYMPHONY
Saturday, April 27, 1968, VAREL & BAILLY CO., Parisian Male Choral Group

These programs will be held at the Keene Junior High School Auditorium and will begin at 8:30 p.m. All tickets for these concerts are sold on a season basis.

monday, monday.

Monday fixed everybody good when the feather at the square filled with red and the Great Earth Mother had another kid.

Nothing happened on Tuesday so everybody read the paper and Billy got drafted and his brother got shot and the President's operation was on the front page.

Wednesday everybody went to meetings to decide who needed haircuts and education in general. Thursday everybody got paid and drank beer and beat up their wives or drank martinis and inflicted mental cruelty.

Friday everybody ate meat. Saturday everybody burned the trash and watched the football game and the College Bowl, and Eastern won and everybody laughed.

Sunday everybody went to church and thanked God for America.

London: Palaces, Fog and the Psychedelic Sixties

By Robert Duhaime

It is a common expression to hear that the British have always remained smugly insular to their tight little island, whose surrounding waters are like "a moat defensive to a house". This must be true. How else account for the celebrated headline in a London newspaper: "Record Fog, Continent Isolated?"

Englishmen usually refer to London fog as "pea-soupers"—partly natural mist and partly man-made coal smoke from many open grates. This in part, leads to the following conclusion: England really doesn't have any climate—just many different kinds of weather!

London, capital of Britain and citadel of the British Empire, is actually a conglomeration of villages that have brought nearly 11 million souls together in a vast metropolis.

Straddling the River Thames, the city sprawls in all directions, encompassing more square miles than I could explore in several lifetimes, much less in a few days. The city spreads out for vast distances, a labyrinth of streets, narrow and wide, houses that look very much alike, well-equipped small shops, little green parks punctuated with church spires, and long rows of smoking chimney pots.

I found the people of London most courteous and patient. Despite the stress and strain of London traffic, people in the street, however busy, will usually go out of their way to help one find his direction. And bless them, they all speak English, though some Americans are fond of calling it "an English accent." This makes for one of the added pleasures of traveling in England: you have the illusion that you are understanding a foreign language!

My first visit in London was Buckingham Palace, the official home of the Queen in London. I was dismayed to find that the famed Queen's Guards were not standing outside the gates leading into the Palace courtyard. I discovered that due to constant tourist harassment—the placing of Coke Cola cups on the guards rifles, and the unfastening of their chin straps—the Queen decided to restore the honor of their position by placing them inside the gates. This is only one example where I found that former tourists have literally destroyed traditional sights for those travelling after them.

Not far away I visited the scene of many famous trials of scores of notable prisoners. Old Bailey, the central criminal court, stands on the site of London's notorious Newgate Prison, where William Penn, Daniel Defoe, Lord George Gordon, and other famous personages were imprisoned.

Nearby, in stately Westminster Abbey, all of England's kings and queens since the days of William the Conqueror (except Edward V and Edward VIII) have been crowned. The Abbey is Britains Valhalla—the burial place of many sovereigns, as well as England's "Un-Known Warrior," and poets and statesmen. But, first and foremost, the Abbey is a House of God, where worship has been offered continuously for over 900 years.

While walking through the Abbey, I had the following thoughts. A noble inheritance is not preserved by a nostalgic reflection upon past glories. Faithfulness and loyalty demand something more. It is as true of institutions as it is of persons: that they either progress or regress; they go forward or they retreat; they stretch out from the present to greet and help fashion the future, or they withdraw and petrify.

The history of Westminster Abbey has been one of involvement. The Benedictines seeking order and stability yet engaged in their worship close to the seats of power and government. Coronations and the burial of kings gave to their church a particular character, and linked it up with the life of a nation, a link that has grown more intimate and at the same time wider in its scope as the centuries have gone on.

Whatever one may think of the many memorials as works of art they yet reminded me that the fitful life of man, as seen in the Abbey, even in its greatest achievements, needs to be commended; and that the kingdoms of this world need to be measured against the "city which hath foundations".

London has three celebrated crossroads, each famous in its own right. While Trafalgar Square and nearby Charing Cross may be considered the hub or focus of modern London, to the average Englishmen noisy, traffic-choked, Piccadilly Circus is really "the crossroads of the world." It derives its name from the piccadills, or ornamental collars, worn by the smart young men-about-London in the 17th century.

The Tower of London, dates back to the days of William the Conqueror. Much of the history of England could be written from the records of this ancient fortress, originally intended to keep quarrelsome elements among the City's merchants and traders in line, but also serving to protect them from enemy ships slipping up the Thames. Today, the Tower earns its keep as a safe repository for Britain's dazzling crown jewels.

The booming voice of Big Ben, clearly heard in the evening, echoes in the exciting nightlife of London.

One Saturday evening I had the opportunity to attend the premiere performance of "La Fille du Regiment" at the Covent Garden Royal Opera House. It was in front of this famed Opera House that scenes from "My Fair Lady" were filmed. London also provides nightlife for the "hippie" crowds, for the psychedelic sixties is in full swing! I remember one evening at the big and noisy "Whiskey A Gogo Club", where a variety of London types are among its crowd. Here I danced while abstract images were projected—elongated, distorted and weirdly colored—on a wavering backdrop. Whether it be at "Ronnie Scott's Club", "Cafe Des Artistes", or "Finch's Pub", I realized that I had never seen anything quite like it before.

It was 5:30 a.m. when I took a taxi from my hotel, by way of Hyde Park, to the London Airport. As the jet ascended, I had left a panorama of English history and variety behind me.

funds than there are available. It has become necessary to have a basis by which to distribute the available funds. The program of the College Scholarship Service is serving to do this objective analyses of a family's need for Keene, as it does for several hundred other colleges which use this service. It is a way to determine the relative need of all the applicants.

Those students seeking financial aid should think of their need on a whole year basis, because the available funds are usually committed in the first semester for the entire year. This year the deadline for the Parents' Confidential Statement to be sent in is May 1st.

Students owning an automobile and applying for aid must show substantial justification to the college for the possession of the automobile, before financial aid will be administered.

Under the guidance of Mr. Fred L. Barry, each student at Keene State College who is in need of financial assistance is given every possible consideration.

5 Committees To Form

The Union Board of Control has authorized the formation of five committees in order to facilitate the programming and services of the Union. The committees and their anticipated responsibilities are as follows:

- (1) Recreation—to sponsor campus tournaments in bridge, pocket billiards, table tennis, whist, etc.
- (2) Social—to sponsor dances and entertainment programs.
- (3) Film—to select and sponsor films, both for entertainment and cultural enrichment of the campus.
- (4) Commuter—to represent the interests of the commuters in the programming and services to be provided by the Union.
- (5) Special Programs—to handle requests for special programs or to initiate events that would be beneficial to the College. Forums or discussions might be included in this category.

Membership on these committees is open to all full-time students. Those students who have an interest in serving on any of the above mentioned committees are asked to complete a form at the Union Desk and to leave this form with Mrs. Wagner. The membership and initial meeting of each committee indicates student support for that particular area of programming.

KAPPA

by Clyde Lower

Last Saturday Brother Tom Burns attended the second national Kappa Delta Phi meeting of the year held at the Statler Hilton in Boston. Brother Burns was notified that the Kappa shingles will be delivered shortly to last year's pledge class. This is always a rewarding event for the new brothers.

Kappa's construction crew has once again taken on another tedious task, the construction of a servants' entrance at the front of the house. The crew consists of Brothers Glenn Page, Roger Armstrong, Kenny Wood, Dave Brown, Gary Provost, and Frank Butterworth.

Brother Dave Brown was elected house marshal this week. His duties will include the monitoring of all the activities within the confines of Kappa's new edifice.

Past brother Marshal Morris and his wife paid a visit to Kappa House last weekend. An accomplished musician and storyteller, Marshal traded many nostalgic stories with the brothers as well as performing on his instrument.

Brother Marty Kadel had the thrill of his life this past weekend when, believe it or not, the same girl said "yes" to a second date.

ALPHA

By Ron Neronsky

The Alpha Duck was seen this past week approaching Hale Building in search of a star for the 1968 Alpha Opera. Word around campus is that he'll stop on the first floor. Will he be ADMITTED, Mr. Cunningham?

The brothers of Alpha Pi Tau enjoyed a most successful hayride last Friday night at Silver Ranch in Jaffrey. A return trip is planned for this winter in the form of a sleigh-ride.

Plans are now underway for the annual Alpha Christmas Party for underprivileged children. This is an annual fraternity event. It will be held the week before Christmas vacation. Santa Claus, alias Brother Ed Moreau, will make a gala appearance (HO! HO! HO!)

This past weekend we were graced by the appearance of the Mae West-Memorial Blues Band. Mae West certainly would have been blue if she could have heard the sound produced by this musical aggregation. It was a happening, baby.

The Alpha Vermonsters will be travelling through the woods this weekend. This adventure is in celebration of the opening of the deer season in Vermont. It is the hope of all of us that this outing will prove profitable and will result in a venison dinner to be enjoyed by all. Be sure that you hit your targets, Brothers, and watch out for these ducks.

Congratulations go to Brothers Bob Baines, Dick Conway, and Gene Thibeault on their nomination to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

This week the Alpha Duck salutes the management of the Commons for driving students away on weekends.

Intramural Sports

by Fred Bramante

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

The 1967 Keene State Intramural Football season has finally drawn to an end. With this season came many things that I, as intramural director, feel are worthy of mention.

With this in mind, here are my picks for:

Surprise team of year—Theta B 5-1-0; Surprise game of year—Theta A 6 Ones 6; Game of year—Theta A 8 Alpha A 6; Disappointment of year—Kappa A 0-6-0; Player of year—John Towne; Sportsman of year—Bill Egan; Lineman of year—Bill Marcello, Larry Cormier.

Offensive Team

Linemen—Bill Marcello, Mike Balon, Joel McKenna, Whit Shaw, Gary Greenwood, Lee Merrill, Richard.

Ends—Jay Dufour, Mike Zankowski.

Backfield—John Towne, Jacko Laury, Ken Leafe, Jocko Robertson.

Punters—Pat Corbin, Paul Vackson.

Defensive Team

Linemen—Bill Marcello, Joel McKenna, Whit Shaw, Larry Cormier, Edward Forbush.

Safety Backs—Gary Bault, Paul Backon, Jean McFuirie, Jim Miles. Linebackers—Ken Leafe, middle; John Towne, corner; Bob Laugdon, corner.

Sincerely,

Barney Kolb

Most Valuable Player

John Towne Alpha Pi Tau

John gets the nod in this category for many reasons. His running and passing made him the most feared quarterback in the league and his defensive play was second to none. He was his team's high scorer, quite a feat for a quarterback, and was the main reason for Alpha's success this year.

Team of the Year—The Ones

How can a team score only 12 points offensively all season and have a winning record? I don't know either but the Ones did it. The Ones only have three players who played high school football, Ted Pappas, a second team lineman from Manchester Central, Joe Hill, a second team quarterback from Portsmouth, and Armand Vien, a 140 lb. fullback from Manchester West. With this lack of everything the Ones managed to tie the number one team in the league, Theta A, and also tie the rugged Roughriders.

Game of the Year

Theta A vs Alpha A

Both went into this game undefeated, untied, unscored upon but neither came out that way. Alpha scored first on a John Towne interception runback. This was the first score against Theta A in 3 years, but the Alpha lead was short lived as a pass interference call put Theta first and goal at the Alpha one. On first down Theta's feared sweep took Ken Leafe into the end zone to tie the game 6-6. In the point after try quarterback Rick Dimeco went over on the same play and Theta A won 8-6.

The spirit of both fraternities and their supporters was great as shown by the huge, enthusiastic crowd that attended the game.

Upset of the Year

Alpha B over Kappa A (I bet all of you thought it was Theta A over George's Gym). Kappa figured in this one because of play vs superior opponents including the tough time they gave Alpha A. Alpha B, who barely got by Kappa B, 8-0, played their best game against Kappa A. Bob Cloutier scored both touchdowns, one via Charlie Poland aerial and one on a pass interception runback.

Play of the Year

Dufour's Block vs Theta B

Little Jay Dufour threw the prettiest block of the season on Theta B's Dennis Bosse, the only man standing between John Towne and paydirt in the Alpha A-Theta B game. Towne ran about 60 yards but all cheers were for Dufour.

This play was called back, but I'll spare the arguments and leave bad enough alone.

Best Individual Effort

Leon Boucher—George's Gym

There was no doubt in my mind to whom this award would be given. In George's Gym's first game Boucher intercepted an unbelievable total of 7 passes against Burd's Henchmen in addition to catching 2 touchdown passes by Ed Olsson. George's Gym romped in this one 28-0.

Sportsmanship Award

John Richard—Theta Chi Delta

There's good and bad said about everyone, so I thought, but I found an exception. Anyone that knows John must agree to his receiving this award. He never has a complaint to make and is as honest as I am (maybe that's not a good comparison). John's the best in my book and is a great tribute to his fraternity.

Quote of the Year

Ed Forbush—Theta Chi Delta

Ed was refereeing the Theta A-Ones game and the Ones were leading 6-0. Thetawas desperate. They tried an end run with John Richard trotting the ball. One Theta man threw a cross body block and another grabbed one of the Ones by his shirt and threw him to the ground. Ones' fans immediately jumped on Forbush's back and asked him why he didn't call a penalty. Forbush calmly turned around and said "Football's a rough game."

Sportsman of the Year

Fred Bramante

Fred was a unanimous choice seeing that he's the only one but I think he really deserves this award. He really worked hard and added a little life to the K.S.F.L. If you disagree with this choice, to bad; write your own column.

Tri-Beta

The members of the Biology Club attended a meeting on Wednesday Nov. 1, 1967. Following the meeting there was a movie on the hatching and raising of land-locked salmon in New Hampshire, and refreshments were served. Among matters discussed at the meeting were plans for the next Audubon lecture and film which will be held Monday, Nov. 13, 1967.

The next Biology Club meeting will be on Wednesday, November 15, 1967, and all Biology majors should attend. Dr. Goder will give a talk on the reproduction of hemlocks along the southern to western borders with slides.

Where Your S. A. Fees Go

Last year Keene students paid a total of $18,325 in student activity fees. Interested students know that this money is controlled and allocated by the Union Board of Control, a group consisting of five faculty members and four student representatives. The members of this year's Board are: Mr. Peter Batchelder (chairman), Dr. James Smart, Mr. David Leinster, Mr. William Greer, and student representatives: Jeanne Guertin, Judith Purdy, Craig Collemer, and David Worster. Mr. William Campbell sits as permanent member.

The Union Board of Control met October 18th. Some of the topics discussed were:

1. The purchase of 25 tickets @ $4.50 from the Keene Community Concert Association. A motion was passed to purchase the tickets and make them available to students.
2. It was decided to put up for bid the unused billiard table presently stored in the basement of the Union.
3. The regional Association of College Unions will be attended by the four student Board representatives.
4. Mr. Campbell proposed the formation of five student committees to handle the programming of the Union. The committees suggested were: Recreation, Social, Film, Commuter, and Special Programs. The plan was accepted.
5. The new position of Associate Director of the Student Union was announced to be open.
6. Mr. Campbell announced that Mr. Portwine is the new Union custodian.
7. Recommendations for the new Student Union were discussed.

For students who care where their Student Activity Fees go, the proposed budget for this fiscal year is as follows.

Sat. 12:00 noon to 9:00 p.m.

Sun. 10:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

The Newman Center is located at 232 Main Street and is open to all students at KSC. Free coffee is given out every morning between the hours of 9:00 and 12:00. The Newman Center is an ideal place to study and everyone is welcome. It is our privilege, here at the Center, to be able to say that no one who has ever studied for an exam at the Center has ever failed. So come on down. There are no dues and every student on campus is welcome.

NEWMAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION membership is open to any and all students attending Keene State College. Dues are $1.00 per semester and meetings are once monthly with a speaker or entertainment. Anyone wishing to join may contact Father Vallee in his office or any of the officers. Plans are being made for roller skating parties at Brattleboro, Vermont, on Friday evenings and Saturdays. Also, plans are being made for an ice skating rink behind the Center this winter. All we need is cold weather for natural ice. I'm sure the local Fire Department will let us have their hoses to flood the rink. Next year, 1968, we might have skating dances. For this we need volunteers, help, and ideas. Come on over, join the gang and have a ball.

SDS Instrumental In Student Protests

WASHINGTON (CPS)—On the face of it, the wave of protests against recruiters and military projects that has swept college campuses in the past two weeks would appear to be a direct outgrowth of the Oct. 1st Mobilization. In fact, however, the two are connected only in the sense that both are working against U.S. military undertakings.

The timing of the protests is largely a result of the fact that Dow Chemical and armed forces recruiters have been on the campuses where the protests have occurred.

As to the reason for the protests, if there is any one event that may be singled out as their cause it is not the Mobilization but the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) national convention last July.

At that convention the delegates decided to direct their efforts this year toward reducing military involvement on university campuses. The idea of making this effort did not originate at the convention. As Mike Spiegel, national secretary of the organization, admits, "We really decided after the fact. There was a lot of this kind of activity going on last year on vari-

E. Daniels And RFK

by Carol W. Johnson

Mr. Eugene Daniels, who is a lawyer in the state of New Hampshire, is a candidate for Delegate to the Democratic National Convention. He is also one of the leaders of a "Draft Robert Kennedy Movement". The title of the movement is not what it seems, he stressed, and made it clear that Robert Kennedy would not consider running for the presidency until 1972 at the soonest. The principle reason for using the name R.F.K. is so that people without a great deal of knowledge about politics would be able to get an idea of what the group stands for, simply by reading the group's title: (1) to stop the bombing in Vietnam, (2) to withdraw troops immediately, and (3) to begin negotiations. He said that the most important aim of the movement is to remove the possibility of President Johnson's re-election, by presenting a more favorable candidate. He feels that this action would serve as a means to the end of restoring the Democratic Party. He felt that in order for such a movement to succeed, a tremendous volume of support is necessary, and he feels the support can be gotten by combined efforts and the use of the name, R.F.K.

ous campuses." It is also true that SDS has not been the sole impetus behind each of the campus protests of the past two weeks. On the other hand, SDS members have been involved to some extent in all of them, and have organized some of them.

At the convention the policies voted on did not include tactical questions. According to Spiegel, questions of strategy and tactics are left up to individual SDS chapters. It was probably inevitable that the tactics would be in the direction of sit-ins, however, because SDS has stressed the need for militant action against military involvement on campuses.

Spiegel said that militant action has been emphasized because past protests have shown it to be the most successful method of raising the issues of raising the issues that SDS wants to raise among university people at large.

"When students are willing to take militant action," said Spiegel, "Other people on campus see that this group takes its goals very seriously, and then they start to think about the problems involved."

Another result of militant action has been the increased use of outside police, as in the protests at the University of Wisconsin and at Brooklyn College. For SDS the introduction of the police can be ad-

CAMPUS SING-IN

by Bernie Hartshorn

A Sing-In will be held Saturday, Nov. 18, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union. Leading off the evening's program, which will be sponsored by the Keene State College chapter of The Music Educators' National Conference, will be a group under the leadership of Mr. Bill Beard. During the night's entertainment other local talent will join in on much of the folk singing. Refreshments will be served during and after the performance.

The M.E.N.C. is planning future campus events. Among these will be a series of award-winning movie musicals. Oklahoma! which will start off this series on December 12, will be shown in S.A. 101. This is an excellent production which should be taken in by all.

Other movies scheduled for later dates are "Bye Bye Birdie" and "The Flower Drum Song."

On Sunday evening, November 19, the K.S.C. Concert Choir and the Chamber Singers, under the direction of K.S.C.'s new choral director, Mr. Bird, will appear in concert for the first time this season. These two outstanding performing groups from the music department of Keene State College will take part in the annual Thanksgiving Vesper Service which is to be held this year in Spaulding Gymnasium. The time for the service has been set at 7:00
