

"IF WE CAN KEEP HIM FROM FLUNKING ENGLISH, WE'VE GOT IT MADE!!!"

'LIVE' Events Will Continue

"Operation Live" (Learn in Vigorous Environments) will continue its successful program second semester with such activities as rock, ice and snow climbing, mountain rescue, bike trips, and backpacking. This semester students may also receive credit for the trips.

Each of the two-day long excursions will involve immediate contact with nature and will teach students survival techniques.

The college supplies all equipment, food, transportation and instruction for the weekend. The P.E. Dept. also pays half of the weekend fee. Student fee will be $5.75 per weekend. All trips may be counted as a credited course by the student (2 days = 1/2 Credit).

For more information about "Operation Live" students should contact Keith King at the P.E. Department or dial Outward Bound Films on KSC's new Information Retrieval System (IRS).

Sign-ups for the trips will be held each preceding Monday at 4 p.m. in Spaulding Gym Lounge. The program's schedule is as follows:

Date	Event
1/29, 1/30	Day trips; rock, ice or snow climbing, beginners
2/4-6	Backpack, Long Trail, Vermont. Beginner and intermed.
2/11-13	SKI TOUR, beginner & intermed.
2/18-20	WINTER SURVIVAL
2/21	X-C race & tour, 12K's
2/26-27	SKI TOUR, N.Y., 50K's
3/4, 3/5*	Day trips; rock, ice or snow climbing, beginner
3/12-18	2nd Annual KSC LIVE AT TREK; 5 day backpack
3/25, 3/26*	Day trips, Rock Climbing beginners
3/31-4/2	SOLO WEEKEND
4/1-9	Mountain rescue and evacuation
4/14-16	Backpack
4/21-23	Backpack/rocks, intermed. and advanced
4/28-30	Bike Trips, beginners
5/14-20	Long Trail, Backpack

*Special invitation to faculty and staff

KSC POST OFFICE HOURS

The KSC Post Office in the Fiske Hall basement is now open from 8:30 to noon, and 2:30 - 4:30 Monday thru Friday; and 9-12 Saturdays. It is closed Noon-12:30 Monday thru Friday.

BOOKS CARDS STATIONARY
G. H. TILDEN, INC.
Complete Photo Department

OWLS WIN 6, LOSE 3 OVER BREAK

By PETE HANRAHAN
Monadnock Sports Editor

SALEM, MASS. (Dec. 8) The Owls trounced divisional rival Salem State by a 95-70 score. Jose DeCaussey scored 38 points and grabbed 22 rebounds to dominate the game. But it was Randy Bowman's eight point performance coming off the bench that sparked the team to the win. Phil Pena played well, scoring 14.

SPAULDING GYM (Dec. 11) Coach theulen's hoopsters found themselves facing the University of Maine at Portland-Gorham, their third divisional foe in their first four games of the season. It was to be their third divisional win of the year. The Owls won, 94-80. Jim Drew surprised and thrilled the crowd with 24 points. Jose DeCaussey matched that figure and added a season high of 28 rebounds. Olie Dunbar, a defensive specialist, came through with a 14 point offensive outburst. Mark Tinker intimidated the opposition with his shot blocking and added 12 rebounds.

SPAULDING GYM (Dec. 13) The Owls scalped the Mohawks of North Adams State for victory number five. The backcourt combination of Ron Pierson and Kevin O'Leary turned a small Mohawk margin into a rout for the Owls. They ran over, under and through the confused Bay Staters as the Owls ran up a score of 118-106. Both finished with 19 points. Jose DeCaussey again led the Owls with 28 points, while Jim Drew continued to fly, scoring 18.

SPAULDING GYM (Dec. 15) With a five game winning streak on the line, the Owls collapsed to Western New England College by a 110-77 score. The combined efforts of Fred Smith and Marvin Stephens were enough to top the Owls. The pair combined for 78 points. Nothing went right for Keene. Jose DeCaussey managed to connect on only seven of thirty-four field goal attempts. The team was to head home with a 5-1 record for 1971.

Sub-Base Tournament
NEW LONDON, Ct. (Jan. 3-4) The

Owls were stomped by Eastern Connecticut in the opening round 98-72. Jose DeCaussey was injured in the first half and missed most of the game. He still scored 20. DeWitt Summers scored 15, playing his first game for Keene.

In the consolation game, Keene faced a tough Sub-Base team. The night before Western New England had beaten the Base squad by only one basket. Jose DeCaussey had gone home with a badly bruised hip. But the Owls rose to the occasion with Kevin O'Leary scoring key points in the closing seconds. He scored 17, Jim Drew ran 24 points and Summers added 14.

The Owls won the game, and the third place trophy in a 76-74 squeaker. Western New England won the tournament by beating Eastern Connecticut the same night.

BANGOR, MAINE (Jan. 13) The Owls travelled to Maine to meet Husson College and for the first time this year they really paid the price of being a one man show. Jose DeCaussey scored only eight and fouled out early in the contest. Captain Kevin O'Leary scored 18 to lead the Owls but it was not enough as Keene was dumped by a strong, though not superior Husson team, by a score of 109-87.

MANCHESTER (Jan. 15) The Penmen of New Hampshire College were outclassed by the Owls and dumped by a 74-58 margin. Trying to compensate for lack of ability, the Penmen took advantage of loose officiating in a clawing, grabbing and slapping full court press in the second half. The result was a game-ending brawl and some seriously injured New Hampshire College players. The security force at the New Hampshire College Gym consisted of three students wearing tin badges. Most basketball years at KSC may have been lean ones, but I never saw a Keene team play a cheap-shot game like this one, ever.

SPAULDING GYM (Jan. 17) Eastern Connecticut had trounced Keene by 26 points in the New London Tournament. Led by a spectacular rebounding job by the combined efforts of Jose DeCaussey and Wit Summers, the Owls dumped Eastern by a 92-74 score. Summers and DeCaussey combined for 44 rebounds while the latter scored 32. Kevin O'Leary had 19 while Summers and Ron Pierson added 12 each. The win left Keene with a regular season mark of 7-2.

KSC Owls Lose Five Men As The Going Gets Tough

By PETE HANRAHAN

Since the last issue of the Monadnock a lot has happened on the basketball scene. During December, the team could count eleven players who had proven to be capable of regular duty. Add to that 6'-8" Wit Summers, eligible for this semester, and the team could envision a twelve man roster consisting completely of players of proven quality and experience.

On The Inside

But what happened? Now heading into the toughest part of their schedule, the Owls can count only seven of those twelve. Lettermen Mike Aumand, Stan Sproule (6.2 ppg), and Mark Tinker 96.3 ppg and 10 rebounds per game) all quit the team. Promising Tom Wheeler also quit, while scholastic problems forced starter Phil Pena off the squad.

The loss of 6'-4" Tinker and 6'-3" Wheeler leaves the Owls with no depth up front. Foul trouble to starters Drew, DeCaussey and Summers will leave only Randy Bowman up front, and he is a shooting forward.

Remember Tinker against UMPG? He blocked so many shots that their shooting went completely haywire. But all four players who quit the team for the same reason. They were not seeing enough action.

Ron Pierson and Bowman are our only two proven benchmen. For a fast-breaking team, seven proven performers are either a bare minimum or slightly less than that. A team that was beginning to jell will just have to start all over again.

McGovern

Continued from Page 1

military appropriations.

When asked why in the past he voted for the defense budget while opposing the war, McGovern replied that since the war and defense funds were not separate, he would have had to vote against the whole defense budget.

"However," he said, "I have voted against the entire military appropriations bill for the last four years, as a symbolic gesture of my opposition to the Vietnam conflict."

McGovern was also questioned on the issue of legalizing abortions. He stated his feeling that abortion was a deeply personal and moral matter, and that whether it should be legalized should be decided in the separate states rather than in Congress.

W.H.O.

Willing Hands Outstretched (W.H.O.), a problem solving center in Keene, is holding a meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Keene Lecture Hall, Science Building. Volunteers who want to help by spending time with children are asked to attend.

QUALITY SHOPPE

84 Main St.
Keene, N.H.

Casual and sports wear

Frat To Aid Children

Phi Mu Delta Fraternity will be sponsoring weekly trips to Crotched Mountain, and the campus is invited. A car will leave Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. and will return to Keene at about 9:30 p.m.

Crotched Mountain is a home for the physically handicapped in Greenfield, N. H. The trips will consist of visits with patients as well as work in the gymnasium.

The visits are greatly appreciated by the people there, who have little contact with, but much in, the world outside. Anyone interested may sign up on a list which will be posted weekly in the front hall of Phi Mu house. Transportation is limited, so sign up early.

STUDENT TEACHING

There will be a meeting Monday (Jan. 24) of all students who wish to student teach next year (Fall '72, Spring '73) at 7 p.m. in the Waltz Lecture Hall, Science Center.

STEVE BARON LP

Limited Edition-by mail order
OTHERWAY RECORDS
P.O. BOX 877
ANSONIA STATION
N.Y. 10023
$4.98 + $.50 handling

KEENE FOOD MART

CENTRAL SQUARE

What you want is ice cold!

MELODY SHOP
102 Main St., Keene, N.H.
352-9200
We have a fine selection of Stereo Cassettes, 8 Track Tapes and Records by all the latest artists.
The Sound Center of the Monadnock Region

SUMMERS' SKI & MOUNTAIN CENTER
JOHN SUMMERS KSC '56
Specialists in Skiing, XC Skiing, Mountaineering and Backpacking. Rental equipment available also.
ROCK CLIMBING
Chouinard Lost Arrows and Angles, Steel and Aluminum Bongs, Hardware Slings, Webbing, Mummitt Rope.
Backpacking and Mountaineering Supplies to Keene State College

Keene State College
Keene, N.H. 03431

THE MONADNOCK

Vol. XXIII No. 14
Jan. 26, 1972

Photo by Gingras

THE SCOOP OF THE WEEK? Doug Mayer, director of the Student Union, shocked everyone Monday by offering free ice-cream all day to celebrate the installation of a new soft ice cream machine in the Union snackbar. Today you can get some (chocolate or vanilla) for only 15 or 25 cents. Get them now while the freeze is on.

Out-of-state Would Go Up

Budget Request Seeks Tuition Cut for In-staters

By DANA SULLIVAN
Monadnock Staff Writer

Ins down, outs up?

The possibility of an out-of-state tuition increase and an in-state tuition decrease was mentioned by President Leo F. Redfern in his report to the College Senate last week.

Redfern said Keene State College has submitted a $377,000 supplemental budget request which provides for a ten per cent in-state tuition decrease. If passed, in-state tuition would be $585 for the 1972-73 year.

Out-of-state students would not benefit from the legislators' generosity, however, except in the form of an additional $50,000 in financial aid also requested by the college in the supplemental budget.

Out-of-state tuition is based on the cost-accounted per student. Redfern said preliminary accounting figures show that out-of-state tuition will probably be raised from the present $1,300, but he would not predict by how much.

The president voiced dismay over the discrimination against out-of-state students. He said the legislature sets a quota on the number of out-of-state students so the taxpayers of New Hampshire will not be burdened by educating students from other states, but at the same time these students "pull their own weight."

The supplemental budget request also calls for additional faculty and support staff, repairs and renovations, and instructional supplies.

In other business, the College Senate voted unanimously to accept a motion on college policy on hiring more than one member of an immediate family. The motion, which was referred to the board of trustees, stated that the college may hire more than one member of an immediate family but that no member of that family "may participate in decisions affecting the appointment, tenure, promotion, or other status of a relative."

The senate voted to endorse the U.S. House of Representative's version of a higher education assistance bill. The House version of the bill is institutionally-oriented while the Senate version is student oriented. (See Monadnock, Jan. 20)

FINAL EXAMS

Anyone who has an opinion concerning the retention or elimination of the final exam period should submit his opinion in writing on or before Monday, Jan. 31.

Dr. Carl R. Granquist, chairman of the admissions and standards committee of the College Senate, told the Senate at its last meeting he was disappointed with the response to his request for opinions.

He added that the committee would give greater consideration to individual opinions than to signatures on petitions because the members of the committee want to know the reasoning behind each response.

Letters should be sent to Granquist at Hillsboro House.

A VOTING PRIMER

(The information below was supplied as a public service by the N.H. League of Women Voters.)

Q. WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO VOTE

A. You are: if you are a United States citizen; if you are 18 years of age or over (or will be by election day); if you have been a resident of New Hampshire for 6 months; and, if your name appears on the checklist at the polls on election day.

Q. HOW TO REGISTER

A. You go to the Supervisors of the checklist who meet at least twice before each election to register new voters. Registration dates must be published. You need to show proof of age and citizenship.

College students who wish to vote where they attend school, whose families do not live in New Hampshire, must prove they intend to live in that town indefinitely.

Q. HOW TO REGISTER IF YOU CAN'T APPEAR AT REGULAR REGISTRATION SESSIONS

A. You may contact the Supervisors for an appointment at another time or you may request an application for absentee registration from the Secretary of State (State House, Concord, New Hampshire 03301) not later than forty-five (45) days before any election.

Q. DO YOU HAVE TO REGISTER YOUR PARTY AFFILIATION?

A. You may register party affiliation when you register but you are not required to. But, if you wish to vote in primary elections you must be registered as a member of a political party. You do not have to be a party member to vote in general elections.

Q. HOW DO YOU DECLARE PARTY MEMBERSHIP?

A. If you have never registered as a party member in New Hampshire and wish to vote in a primary election, you may state your party when you register to vote or you may wait and declare your party when you go to the polls to vote just by requesting the ballot of your choice.

Q. CAN YOU CHANGE YOUR PARTY MEMBERSHIP?

A. Yes, you may change your membership from one party to the other or you may now have party designation removed from your name on the checklist by going to the Supervisors of the Checklist at least ninety (90) days before any primary election and requesting such alteration to your registration.

Q. IS REGISTRATION PERMANENT?

A. You will not have to register again unless you move out of town or legally change your name. Exception: All New Hampshire voters will have to re-register during an officially designated period, once every ten years. The first such re-registration will take place in 1973.

Q. WHAT DO YOU DO IF YOU MOVE TO ANOTHER TOWN IN NEW HAMPSHIRE WHERE YOU WISH TO VOTE AND IT IS LESS THAN SIX MONTHS BEFORE AN ELECTION?

A. You should get a transfer card from the Supervisors of the Checklist in your former home town, or from the town or city clerk and give it to the voting registrars in your new home town and your name will be placed on that checklist.

Q. CAN YOU VOTE AS AN ABSENTEE?

A. Yes, the 1971 Legislature amended state election laws and now, if you will be absent from the town or city in which you can vote, or, if because of some physical disability you cannot go to the polls to vote, you may vote absentee in both the primary and biennial elections.

Q. HOW CAN YOU GET AN ABSENTEE BALLOT?

A. You should apply for an absentee ballot from the Secretary of State. Or you may contact your town or city clerk for all details about absentee balloting and for special arrangements made for servicemen.

Q. WHEN DO PRIMARY, BIENNIAL OR OTHER ELECTIONS TAKE PLACE?

A. Town Meeting: 1st Tuesday in March, each year.
Presidential Primary Election: 1st Tuesday in March; every 4th year when a President is to be elected.
State and Federal Primary election: 2nd Tuesday in September in even numbered years.
State and Federal General (Biennial) Election: 1st Tuesday in November in even numbered years.
City Election: in the fall of odd numbered years.

Draft Changes Announced

Responding to heavy criticism from community and draft-oriented groups, the Selective Service System announced last week proposed changes in draft regulations a much simplified application for conscientious objector status.

The changes published include reinstatement of the registrant's guarantee of an appeal following an adverse decision by the local board in personal appearances.

The revisions set a 15-day time limit in which a registrant must request a personal appearance or an appeal, but they permit the local board to grant an extension of this period if the potential draftee is unable to respond due to reasons beyond his control.

Originally the national headquarters

IRC MEETING

There will be a meeting of the International Relations Club Wednesday (Jan. 26) at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room of the Student Union. All members are urged to attend.

IF CONVENIENT

Would junior senators of the College Senate please let Steve Smith take mug shots Thursday afternoon in his office so the secretary can start matching names and faces—and your fantastic legislative career will not go unrecorded?

Photo by Gw

Arthur Blessitt, leader of the Jesus movement on Sunset Strip, carries an eighty pound cross down Appian Way and urges people to return to Christ in order to insure their salvation. Blessitt, an Evangelist minister, spoke Friday night at Spaulding Gymnasium, as part of his New Hampshire campaign to see that voters will elect a worthy candidate to the presidency. Blessitt circulated a flyer during his speech, listing the qualifications, he feels a strong moral leader should have.

SENATE DENOUNCES FEE

The Student Senate Monday night passed a resolution calling for the abolition of the $3 drop-add fee.

While some senators agreed that the drop-add procedure costs the school money, they felt that $3 per student was unfair.

Others felt that the charge is entirely unnecessary.

"If it's not charged during the first two days, why later on?" asked Senator

Nick Skaltis.

The recommendation will be sent to the College Senate.

In other business, the Student Senate voted to support the House version of the Education Bill now before Congress.

The finance committee announced that the deadline for budget requests for next year is Feb. 14. Hearings will begin on Feb. 16 and no requests will be accepted after Feb. 18.

Debate Focuses on Election

By ERIC MALONEY
Monadnock News Editor

Representatives of five presidential candidates participated in a debate sponsored by the KSC Distaff Club, Friday evening.

The five candidates—George McGovern, Edmund Muskie, Vance Hartke, John Ashbrook, and Paul McCloskey—were represented by Dr. David Battenfeld, professor of English; Assistant Dean Thomas Stauffer; Alan Hartke, John Tarrant, and Junior High Assistant Principal George Gru. Dr. Michael Keller, professor of History, moderated.

The debate remained low-key throughout the two hours. Little time was spent on controversial issues, with statements attesting to the candidates' qualifications and character permeating the discussion.

Platforms were not really touched until the question and answer period, when women's rights, military appropriations, rehabilitation were brought up. Questions were general, to enable all panelists to respond.

On the question of the feminist movement, all candidates agreed that they were for it. Battenfeld and Stauffer pointed to independent ratings to support them, and Gru centered his remarks around McCloskey's support for liberalized abortion laws.

In respect to military appropriations, four of the five panelists came out strongly against a large defense budget. They cited their candidate's opposition to such programs as the SST, ABM, and MIRV.

The dissenter was John Tarrant, speak-inf for Rep. John Ashbrook (R-Ohio), who felt that the United States must deal from a position of strength.

Drug rehabilitation brought about a variation of responses.

Speakers for Hartke, McGovern, and Muskie said basically the same things, advocating the lessening of penalties for marijuana, the application of pressure on supplying countries, and an increasing role of the federal government in rehabilitation programs.

Gru based his remarks for McCloskey on more pressure on supplying nations.

"If we can raise the cost of drugs," he said, "perhaps it will lessen the availability."

Tarrant felt that drugs was not an issue to be taken up by the government, but is something that must be solved on the local level.

I.E. ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ELECTION

The Industrial Education/Technical Education Association (IETA) has announced that it will hold its yearly elections Thursday (Jan. 27) at 7 p.m. in Adam's Technology Building.

Besides the regular officers of the association, two student observers will be elected to sit in on both the Industrial and Technical Education curriculum meetings.

Any student enrolled in the Industrial or Technical Education programs is eligible for office. The IETA has asked that interested students nominate themselves at the meeting.

Those elected to regular offices will take office in the fall.

"An army of principles will penetrate where an army of soldiers cannot," Tom Paine

Rep. McCloskey Raps Nixon's 'Indefensible' Bombing Policy

By MIKE O'LEARY
Monadnock Staff Writer

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey (R-Cal) accused the Nixon administration Monday of continuing the war for "pride, prestige, and power."

Speaking before 300 people in the Brown Room of the Student Union, McCloskey termed Nixon's policy of continued bombing of rural peasants in Southeast Asia as "indefensible." He appealed to the voters of New Hampshire to register their disapproval of the Nixon administration on March 7. He believes that Nixon will end the bombing and the war if his re-election depends upon it.

McCloskey termed Nixon's policy of continued bombing of rural peasants in Southeast Asia as "indefensible." He appealed to the voters of New Hampshire to register their disapproval of the Nixon administration on March 7. He believes that Nixon will end the bombing and the war if his re-election depends upon it.

"The March 7 New Hampshire primary could be a vote heard round the world," McCloskey said. "The best way I know of to stop the war is to vote for me on March 7." He said that the United States should no longer support the corrupt government of South Vietnam, which he said resembled the Diem regime. He criticized support of this government and the hiring of mercenaries to fight a war in which the American people don't want to be involved.

McCloskey criticized the "Nixon-Agnew Mitchell" administration of trying to manage the news, and veiling itself in secrecy. Using the Amchitka test and the Anderson papers as examples, McCloskey accused the Nixon administration of deliberately concealing information from the American public.

In the Amchitka issue, he said that the executive branch deliberately suppressed environmental impact statements that would be detrimental to the successful completion of the tests. Similarly he said that the "Anderson Papers" proved that while the administration maintained neutrality in public, it privately followed its "Legacy of power politics" and backed Pakistan.

"The United States government has accepted that it has a right to lie," McCloskey said. These instances are an example of the executive branch's brand of arrogance, he said. McCloskey said that he believes that Nixon's government by "secrecy and deception" has caused a loss of faith in the government by the American people. He noted the general increase in the crime rate and the turning away of youth and attributed it to this lack of faith.

"The greatest strength the United States government has is the American people's faith in it," McCloskey said. A good government requires the participation of those who desire the truth. "The people should demand excellence of the government in Washington."

McCloskey described Atty. Gen. Mitchell, a New York Bond lawyer, as prosecuting vigorously against those who are not identified with the government, while not prosecuting those identified with the government.

McCloskey cited the administrations prosecution of Daniel Ellsberg who released the "Pentagon Papers" to the press, and compared it to the administrations failure to uphold the voting rights bill aimed at the South. McCloskey said that, as an attorney, he takes a dim view of such "discretionary decisions."

In an answer to a question, McCloskey said that he favored federally financed abortions for the poor. He said that the rich are now able to get them, and the poor should have the same chance. He said that there are three rights involved in an abortion—the right of the fetus to live, the right of the woman to control her own body and make her own decisions, and finally, the right of a child to have two parents who want him and intend to support him. He maintains that the last two rights weighted his decision.

Photo by Gingras

Rep. Paul McCloskey addressed over 300 people in the Brown Room

Hartke Enters New Hampshire Primary

By ERIC MALONEY
Monadnock News Editor

Vance Hartke is running for President of the United States of America.

This statement certainly does not send the "multitudes into throngs of ecstasy." It is not because Vance Hartke is a bad guy—on the contrary, he is a very esteemed Senator from the state of Indiana. It is just because he is one of those individuals who does his job but never gets the write-up. (Look through the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, and see how many articles you can find on him.)

For those who are not up to trying to follow the Presidential contest, Senator Hartke is running in the New Hampshire primary. At present, he has a headquarters in Manchester, and has somewhat of a campaigning staff vigorously straining against the tides of apathy and a low recognition factor.

One of this staff is none other than Vance Hartke's son, Alan. That, says the cynic, is certainly nice of Alan.

However, we must not underestimate Alan. A 25 year old lawyer from Albuquerque, New Mexico, he has a glare and style of his own that, at least, can't hurt his dad, and most probably will help him. With a twang that definitely doesn't come from Indiana, he sharply and forcefully outlines his father's programs with all the conviction that one would expect a son to have.

"I think he's a sincere man and an able man," he said Tuesday. "He's demonstrated in his years in the Senate that he's a man who can get legislation passed in many areas."

Admittedly, the recognition factor is somewhat of a hindrance to the campaign. However, Alan doesn't feel that this is a major problem.

"We have an identity problem here, but we think we can overcome that. We think the people are interested in issues."

He also felt that the short time that Hartke has been in the race is a factor.

"After all, some of the other candidates have been running for years."

Alan criticized the other candidates for not presenting their programs. He said that it should be candidate against candidate, and not surrogate against surrogate.

When asked what his father's major plank was, he spoke at length on the war in Indochina. He cited his father's opposition to the war since 1965, and stated that the war was not going to float away, but will remain an issue.

"This is a moral issue with him. He ran for re-election in 1968 and was chastised by the other Democrats in the state for not taking a more administration-minded approach. But he felt that this was an over-riding area of consideration, and that he owed his greatest allegiance to the people of the United States."

He also had comments on the question of amnesty for draft evaders.

"What he says is that he does not want the McGovern solution to the problem, which is basically that you say to the draft dodger, 'come home and there will be no penalty and no consequences whatsoever.'"

"He's been against the war and wants to change the draft laws. However, there is still a draft and if you're going to have one guy being drafted and at the same time there's going to be an amnesty, then you've got a situation where you're sending one guy into battle and you're telling the other guy that there's not going to be any form of service."

Sen. Hartke finds the drug problem a matter for deep concern, and favors the "New Jersey" approach. In New Jersey, a first marijuana offense is treated as a minor crime, and can later be stricken from the records.

Alan Hartke discussed his father's views on the war.

He felt that a major step toward fighting hard narcotics would be to pressure the countries that grow the opiates into ceasing these operations.

Whether or not this can be overcome, as Alan Hartke says it can, depends a lot upon how much headway Senator Hartke makes financially. You need money to run in as many primaries as he would like to, and money is something that he is not presently abounding in.

Victory certainly is a long shot. However, if the Hartke people let loose some more people like Alan, the Senator's recognition factor is sure to rise.

Senator Gravel Explains Muskie Platform

By MARTY GINGRAS
Monadnock Campus Editor

"Absolute power corrupts absolutely," Senator Mike Gravel (D-Alaska) said last Thursday to a small group in the KSC Coffee Shop. This ancient concept summed up his view of the presidency and revived an old idea which still applies to the world today.

Gravel, who is traveling throughout New Hampshire campaigning for Senator Muskie, went on to explain that no president is perfect. "We have to pick the leaders and then hammer them into shape," he said. Although Gravel is backing Muskie, he told the students that he will be the first to pound on Muskie's door if the Democratic hopeful is elected.

The Alaskan senator criticized Nixon's Viet Nam policy of "winding down the war." He expressed the issue in its simplest terms of either continuing to fight, or getting out. "There is only one way to get out of Viet Nam: on ships and planes," he said. "We don't have to fight (in Viet Nam) for our security and we shouldn't do it." He also thought that the war will still be an issue next November despite Nixon's attempts to play it down.

"I think that Communism is a system that has failed," Gravel said. "It won't work." His main objection to the war is in the argument that "we're in a circle where, by fighting Communism, we're creating Communism." He explained that the war in Asia is causing the inflation which in turn is creating more government controls and taking away individual freedom.

Concerning the issue of government secrets, Gravel said, "In a democracy we don't need secrets." He said that there is a need to convince people of that. He complained that there are 100,000 people in the service in intelligence alone, and that "If there's anything the people should know anything about, it's the defense posture of the United States."

The senator used two examples in which he cited the absurdity of government secrets. One example was the Amchitka blast which he explained was unnecessary and cost $130,000,000. He said that this figure is $1,000,000 more than the government is spending on the entire drug rehabilitation program. He also cited that immediately after the constitution of South Vietnam was written, it was stamped secret and hidden away in a file in the Pentagon. Gravel was involved in the Pentagon Paper issue last when he read some of the papers to the press in the Alaskan Congressional Chambers.

Gravel agreed with Muskie completely on the use of money for defense, but

Continued on Page 8

Photo by Gingras

Sen. Mike Gravel (D-Alaska)

Monadnock Editorial

RELIEF FOR SOME

It is with much relief that we receive the news of a possible tuition decrease for in-state students, but it is with considerable dismay that we also see that out-of-staters will be penalized for it.

If passed, the $377,000 supplementary budget request which KSC will submit to the special session of the state legislature next month will effect a ten per cent cut in in-state tuition. It will also provide funds for more faculty and staff, for repairs, renovations, and supplies.

Everyone, except maybe last year's session of the legislature, knows how much help we need just to keep the quality of education at KSC at its present level.

But there is one problem. In the same area that in-staters win, out-of-staters lose. A larger school budget means a higher cost of education per student. And here in old New Hampshire those who aren't natives must pay for every cent of the cost of their education. Therefore, out-of-state students must pay more.

The fresh outlooks and varying background of the out-of-staters are certainly reasons for wanting them around. The present tuition has discouraged many from coming here and has forced many others to leave. More than $1300 tuition a year at KSC is a bit unrealistic.

New Hampshire students at schools in other states don't have to bear the burden of full cost. Why can't New Hampshire reciprocate?

We certainly support any means of tuition relief for KSC students. But, at the same time, the state legislature should take measures to stop its blatant discrimination against one-fourth of the KSC student body.

A School 9dyl'

The following was taken from The Home Library of Entertainment Instruction and Amusement (1902) and credited to the Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Ram it in, cram it in;
Children's heads are hollow,
Slam it in, jam it in;
Still there's more to follow—
Hygiene and history,
Astronomic mystery,
Algebra, histology,
Latin, etymology,
Botany, geometry,
Greek and trigonometry.
Ram it in, cram it in;
Children's heads are hollow.

Rap it in, tap it in;
What are teachers paid for?
Bang it in, slam it in;
What are children made for?
Ancient archaeology,

Aryan philology,
Prosody, zoology,
Physics, climatology,
Calculus and mathematics,
Rhetoric and hydrostatics.
Hoax it in, coax it in;
Children's heads are hollow.

Scold it in, mould it in;
All that they can swallow.
Fold it in, mould it in;
Still there's more to follow.
Faces pinched, and sad, and pale,
Tell the same undying tale—
Tell of moments robbed from sleep,
Meals untasted, studies deep.
Those who've passed the furnace through,
With aching brow, will tell to you
How the teacher crammed it in,
Rammed it in, jammed it in,
Crushed it in, punched it in,
Rubbed it in, clubbed it in,
Pressed it in, caressed it in,
Rapped it in and slapped it in—
When their heads were hollow.

THE MONADNOCK

THE MONADNOCK is published weekly throughout the school year by the students of Keene State College. MONADNOCK offices are located on the 3rd floor of the Student Union on Appian Way. Phone: 352-7309.

All opinions expressed in MONADNOCK editorials are those of THE MONADNOCK and not necessarily those of the administration or faculty of Keene State College. All copy should be typed (double-spaced). Copy deadline is 5 p.m. Monday.

THE MONADNOCK subscribes to College Press Service (CPS), Alternative Features, Syndicate (AFS), Washington Campus News (WCNS) and Metro Associated Services.

THE STAFF

EXECUTIVE EDITOR: Ron Boisvert
EDITORIAL BOARD: Ron Boisvert, Marty Gingras, Don Grison, Paul LeMire, Sheila Lemons, David Worster; CAMPUS EDITOR: Marty Gingras; NEWS EDITOR: Eric Maloney; BUSINESS MANAGER: Donna Adenaro; ADVERTISING MANAGER: Rob Lyle; CONTRIBUTING EDITORS: Paul LeMire, David Worster; SPORTS EDITOR: Pete Hanrahan; CARTOONISTS: Pat Gilmartin, Mike LaCoste; STAFF REPORTERS: Mike O'Leary, Dana Sullivan, Brenda Belanger, Gerry Pilotte; PHOTOGRAPHERS: Bill Gaw, Marty Gingras, Nate Carey, Byron O'Brien; COMPOSERS: Marcia Hall, Judy Preston, John Hyatt, Gerry Pilotte, Anne-Marie Brodeur; ADVISER: Mr. C.R. Lyle II.

All "Letters to the Editor" must be typed (double spaced) and not to exceed 300 words in length. All letters must be signed in order to appear in print. The editors reserve the right to delete any word or words which they consider offensive to the general public. Deadline for "Letters to the Editor" is 12 noon, Monday.

STUDENT HAS HOPES FOR RUGBY AT KSC

To the Editor:

In writing this letter I hope to use this column to help me establish a Rugby Football Team at Keene State College. Rugby is an amateur sport and is much like its descendant, American Football. It is a fast, rugged sport calling for all fifteen players working together. The main aim of Rugby is player enjoyment. All players who want to play, do play.

I plan to have a meeting to organize the club within two weeks. I hope that any student or faculty member interested in playing will attend.

I am convinced that a Rugby Club can be formed at Keene State and that once established it will be well liked. I will greatly appreciate any help that anyone can give me.

Bruce Stephenson

KLEENE STRATE COLLEGE

by Pat Gilmartin

SNEAKERS, SKIRTS AND BILL HALEY-- IT'S ULTRAHIP

(AFS) There seems to be a theory loose in the land about a return on campus to the (silent) fifties. While news of this trend first appeared in a recent page one story in The New York Times, anyone could have seen it coming long ago.

First came the popularity of all those corny love-story-type movies; then soft, acoustical guitar music won out in popularity over blaring acid rock, and the lyrics became embarrassingly romantic, some would say mawkish. Concurrently, there was a wave of nostalgia which encompassed the fifties and included more than a passing interest in such fifties phenomena as Bill Haley and the Comets.

Next, lots of people started wearing sneakers, which were the number one footwear in the fifties, some in combination with corduroy sportcoats, a dead giveaway. The sneakers aroused a lot of suspicions about a return to the fifties.

The rest of the theory about a return to the fifties revolves mainly around historical and economic comparisons. The forties, the theory goes, produced a generation in the fifties which felt the need for respite from years of war and personal displacement; and we are seeing the same thing in the seventies, produced by sixties.

The lagging economy contributes to the picture by freaking out students who fear they won't get a job, so they have to bear down and study hard, thinking—rightly or wrongly—that this will help them land a gig. (Students in the fifties were bearing down for more or less the same reasons.)

Since students have to study harder to get a job, they also need to relax harder, which means—as most students understand it—getting loaded one way or another. But the pressure to blow grass is no longer as strong as it used to be, according to the fifties theorists, so it's no longer necessary to do dope (as if there were no reasons other than social pressure) and students are returning to their number one love, anyway—the juices. Because they are compared to students of the fifties.

So much for the theory. Now for the evidence. A sophomore at Brandeis University named Susan Giavaris is not restrained. In what may well go down in cultural history as the birth of the "new hip," Giavaris gushes, "Socially speaking, Brandeis is coming together, which is incredible. It's getting straight, baby. There is a whole new influx of skirts and sweaters. It's an incredible freak-out. All of a sudden this summer I went out and bought dresses. Why? I felt like feeling good."

Now Giavaris' observations raise more questions than they answer. What does she mean by "straight"? What does she mean by "baby"? How would she define feeling good? But suffice it to say the she has a well-developed sense of irony and that when she says straight, she really means hip—a new kind of hip.

What all this comes down to is the seemingly confusing notion that what used to be considered straight is now hip and vice versa. Now clearly this sort of standard is going to catch a lot of people up short, namely all the people who thought they were hip. But for all the people who considered themselves hopelessly straight, it should prove a stroke of good fortune. In fact, unlike Giavaris, who had to run out and buy skirts and dresses to make the scene. Some of these people—by virtue of never having been anything else than what they are—will be ULTRA-HIP; or to borrow a phrase from the late fifties, so far out they're in.

For example, three years ago, the student government at a small college in Kentucky circulated a petition denouncing the school's liberal administration for pressuring students to "do our own thing." Said the students, "We don't know what our own thing is, but even if we did, we doubt that we'd be able to do it." I mean, can you imagine how hip, ULTRA-HIP, those people would be today?

Following are further examples of the brand new Ultra-Hip. The names of students and their college are suppressed to spare both of them any embarrassment. You've got to understand that these people don't know yet that they're Ultra-Hip.

* At a small college in Rhode Island, a student says, "The big issue on our campus today is that of whether or not the students should be allowed to keep pets on campus. . . many students feel there is a need for a pet if only to relieve their boredom. There are many cases in which keeping a pet has stimulated the student."

* At a college in Washington State, students celebrated homecoming with a Volkswagen stuffing contest, pie-eating contests, bed race, Pep Rally, and bonfire. Greek weekend at a Maine College began with a smoker and ended with an all-Greek keg party. At an Illinois school, homecoming was celebrated with a tug of war and a three-legged race.

* At a New Jersey school, a fraternity and sorority paired up to present

Continued on Page 8

DO YOU BELONG AT KLEENE STRATE?

DIRECTIONS:

- 1) Read the questionnaire carefully.
- 2) Think.
- 3) Answer according to your convictions.
- 4) Don't lie, let your conscience be your guide.
- 5) Remember, "An army of principles will penetrate where an army of soldiers will not."

- 1) If you discovered that your next year's roommate is a member of the opposite sex, you would
 - a) complain
 - b) find out if he/she could cook
 - c) see the chaplain
 - d) buy a sleeping bag
 - e) none of your business
- 2) If you found a rusty carpet tack in your shepherd's pie, you would
 - a) check in the kitchen for the rest of the shepherd
 - b) eat it
 - c) put it in your neighbor's jello
 - d) be thankful for the improvement

- 3) Your choice for the presidential nomination is
 - a) Pascual Kaputo
 - b) Thelonus Monk
 - c) Mr. Zig Zag
 - d) Wendell Wilkie
 - e) none of the above
- 4) If you saw an FBI agent taking your picture at a Gay Liberation Rally, you

- a) would smile
- b) ask him out to dinner
- c) smash his camera
- d) ask him for a copy of the picture
- 5) Suppose you woke at 3 a.m. and saw a blue light flashing outside your window, you would
 - a) run for the bathroom
 - b) call the cops
 - c) call "dial a prayer"
 - d) half of the above
- 6) What is reality?
 - a) does a tree make a sound when it falls in the forest?
 - b) is the Pope Catholic?
 - c) when do we eat?
 - d) are you the FBI?

- 7) Who wrote the following quotation, "You say why, and I say, why not?"
 - a) Charles Hornbeck
 - b) the Mormon Tabernacle Choir
 - c) Who would say that?
 - d) Never answer a question with a question
- 8) When you hear the Huntress Hall bells, you think of
 - a) a hot pastrami sandwich
 - b) Ernest Hemingway
 - c) where you left your skate key
 - d) the days of wine and roses
 - e) what is reality?

- 9) What is your favorite "now" expression?
 - a) twenty-four skidoo
 - b) groovy cool, spiffy keen, out of sight
 - c) residual forces in the Mekong Delta
 - d) "An army of principles will penetrate where an army of soldiers will not."

- 10) Which of the following disgusts you the most?
 - a) reality
 - b) manhole covers
 - c) dirty toenails
 - d) frilly leopard underwear

- 11) Upper Moosejaw is
 - a) a type of chewing tobacco
 - b) connected to the hipbone
 - c) just above Lower Moosejaw
 - d) $1.69 a pound
 - e) hiding under your bed

- 12) The people who authored this questionnaire
 - a) are straight
 - b) are presently in a home in Upper Moosejaw
 - c) eat shepherd's pie
 - d) can't tell the trees from the forest
 - e) write President Nixon's speeches
 - f) are members of the fraternity I Picta Zit

- 13) The people who answered this questionnaire
 - a) must be spastic

- a) eat shepherd's pie
- b) watch the Johnny Carson Show
- c) are embodied with cosmic awareness
- d) are not embodied with cosmic awareness
- e) don't know what cosmic awareness is

You have now completed the questionnaire. Check your answers with the key below and tally up your points.

- | | | |
|---|---|----|
| a | f | 0 |
| b | g | 1 |
| c | h | 2 |
| d | i | 3 |
| e | j | 4 |
| f | k | 5 |
| g | l | 6 |
| h | m | 7 |
| i | n | 8 |
| j | o | 9 |
| k | p | 10 |
| l | q | 11 |
| m | r | 12 |
| n | s | 13 |
| o | t | 14 |
| p | u | 15 |
| q | v | 16 |
| r | w | 17 |
| s | x | 18 |
| t | y | 19 |
| u | z | 20 |
| v | | 21 |
| w | | 22 |
| x | | 23 |
| y | | 24 |
| z | | 25 |

Look below to see how you match with

Continued on Page 8

SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL TO FEATURE PLAY, FILM

Saturday (Jan. 29) will see the first appearance of Cat's Cradle, a rock and roll band of rare talent. They will be combining both vocal and instrumental talents to deliver one of the finer country rock sounds in the area. Greg Smith, Mike Aldieri, Steve King, Carl Peters and Englishman Mike Reden are the musicians who make this possible. In the Mabel Brown Room Saturday at 8:00 - Cat's Cradle (sponsored by the Social Council).

A performance of "Macbeth" by a professional theatre company, a lecture by a noted scholar and three important films will highlight a four-day Shakespeare Festival at Keene State College starting this month.

The festival, which is being sponsored by the college's Concert and Lecture Series, begins on Monday, Jan. 31, with the Portsmouth Players of Theatre by the Sea (TBS) at 8:30 p.m. in the Brown Room of the Student Union.

Dr. Bernard Grebanier, professor emeritus of English at Brooklyn College and one of the nation's most outstanding Shakespeare scholars, will lecture on Shakespeare "As a Poet and Dramatist" Tuesday (Feb. 1) at 8 p.m. in the Ella Keene Lecture Hall of the Science Center.

Films of three of Shakespeare's most famous plays will be presented in addition. They will be Sir Laurence Olivier's production of "Hamlet," Olivier's "Henry V" and Franco Zeffirelli's Rabelaisian interpretation of "The Taming of the Shrew."

Admission to all events is free for KSC students, faculty and staff. The public is invited to attend any or all events at a small admission fee.

The Portsmouth Players of Theatre by the Sea comprise the only resident professional theatre group in northern New England. Formed in 1964, the group's repertory ranges from Shakespeare to modern comedy to classics by a diversity of famed playwrights. The players, headed by artistic director Tom Iannicelli, have presented such plays as Ibsen's "A Doll's House," Jan de Hartog's "The Fourposter," Arthur Miller's "The Price" and "Charley's Aunt" during tours throughout New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont this season.

Professor Grebanier, now retired, taught Shakespeare, playwriting, Milton and other courses during his long tenure at Brooklyn College. He is now working on his 29th book, about the many actors over the years who have performed Shakespearean roles, and has published stories, poems and essays in many magazines, both scholarly and popular. His books include "The Heart of Hamlet," "The Uninhibited Byron," "Thornton Wilder" and "The Great Shakespeare Forgery."

The motion pictures to be presented in connection with the festival all will be screened in the Brown Room. "Hamlet" will be shown at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 1 and 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 2. "Henry V" will be shown at 9 p.m. on Feb. 2.

"The Taming of the Shrew" will be given at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Feb. 2 and Feb. 3.

their musical interests in performance beyond high school.

In addition to being a performing organization, the concert band also functions as a repertory group to expose its members (primarily music education majors) to a large cross-section of standard levels of this performance medium. It also affords music majors who are proficient on more than one instrument the opportunity to perform on secondary instruments.

the Brown Room of the student union. The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Enrollment Increase

Because of significant enrollment increases in the music department, the 60-member concert band has been added to the already established 45-member wind ensemble in order to meet the needs of both music majors and non-majors on campus who have the desire to pursue

CONCERT BAND SLATES FIRST SHOW

The newly formed Keene State College Concert Band will give its first performance next Tuesday (Feb. 1), it was announced today by the KSC Department of Music. The band will be in concert under the direction of Douglas A. Nelson, assistant professor of music, at 8 p.m. in

Advanced Scuba Course Offered

A course in Advanced Scuba Diving will be offered at KSC this semester for those students who have already taken Basic Scuba and wish to go deeper into the skills and applications of diving.

The course, which will be taught by Pat Gilmartin class of '73, will cover such topics as wreck diving, underwater navigation.

The objective of the course will be to train the novice diver in phases other than the standard offshore dives and to familiarize the student with the hazards involved.

The prerequisite course of Basic Scuba need not have been taken here at the college. Any nationally recognized certification (NAUI, PADI, YMCA, etc.) will be accepted. Students not holding a card but claiming to have taken Scuba before will be required to take a written test and a pool test.

There will be a meeting this Friday night of all who wish to enroll in the course, at 6:00 P.M. in Spaulding Gym

what's doing

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1972

6:00 Womens Gymnastics, Bridgewater and Lyndon, Spaulding Gymnasium.

7:00 Swim Meet at University of Vermont.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1972

6:00 Women's Basketball, Plymouth State College, Spaulding Gym

6:00 Basketball, Plymouth, Spaulding Gymnasium

8:00 Men's Ski Meet, Plymouth, Tenny Mountain

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 1972

7:30 Movie, Student Union, "John & Mary," Brown Room, Student Union. Admission by ID card.

8:00 Basketball at Western New England.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1972

1:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Children's Movies, "Little Dog Lost," "The Elephant," "I'm No Fool With a Bicycle," and others, sponsored by KSC Distaff Club, Waltz Lecture Hall, Science Center, Admission .25.

SUNDAY, JANUARY 30, 1972

2:00 Music Department Senior Recital, Craig Stickney, Brown Room, Student Union.

EARL SCRUGGS

FOX WATSON

GREEN MT. BOYS

Sunday, January 30
1972 at 2:30 p.m.

At the Fieldhouse,
Windham College
Putney, Vermont
Tickets $3.00

MEDICAL HALL INC.
Prescription Center
Headquarters for Natural Vitamins
77 MAIN STREET KEENE

SKI,
PARKA
& BOOT
CLEARANCE
SALE

JUNIE BLAISDELL'S
SPORT-A-RAMA
25 Roxbury Street
Keene, New Hampshire

INTRAMURAL INFO

BASKETBALL (Jan. 31-Mar. 3) It will be a Round Robin.

Rosters must be in the P.E. office or to Stan Spiro before Friday (Jan. 28). There is a minimum of seven players on a roster and a maximum of 10. Each team must have a referee for all games or they automatically forfeit. VOLLEBALL will start on March 6th. More to be announced.

SOFTBALL to be announced.
TRACK AND FIELD to be announced.
There will be a spring HANDBALL, PADDLEBALL, and SQUASH tournament Singles and doubles. If interested sign up at P.E. office.
For more information about the above events read the Monadnock weekly or contact P.E. office or Stan Spiro.

GOODNOW'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
32 Main Street Keene, N.H.

Alumni Assoc. Honors Barry At Hoop Game

KSC Alumni Director Fred L. Barry will be honored Thursday (Jan. 27) at the annual home basketball game between the Owls and Plymouth State College in Spaulding Gym.

The evening is being sponsored by the Alumni Association and the KSC Department of Physical Education and Athletics.

Ted Kehr, chairman of the Department of physical Education and director athletics, named the night in honor of Fred L. Barry in recognition of the "tremendous strides the alumni office has made under his direction and for his 23 years of service to Keene State."

Barry, former professor and dean of men at Keene State, will be honored at halftime. Also to be honored will be Carleton Fiske of Charlestown, N.H., a member of the famed Fiske family of athletes and a catcher for the Boston Red Sox.

The alumni and their spouses and friends will be admitted free and may sit in the alumni section of the gym on the east side beneath the KSC alumni banner.

A reception for alumni will be held immediately after the game in the street shoe gym, just outside the main gymnasium.

Heading the arrangements for the night are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Strohshine and Mr. and Mrs. John Moody of Keene.

SKI TRIP

The KSC Ski Club is sponsoring a ski trip to Crotched Mt. this Saturday (Jan. 29). A bus will leave the gym parking lot at 8:15 a.m. and will return at 5 p.m. All KSC students are eligible.

Sign-ups in the gym office will close Friday noon. $1.50 bus fare will be due at the sign-ups. Group rates will be available, passes are welcome. For more information call Jerry Silvestro (827-3340).

PLACEMENT SERVICES

The Dean of Students Office wishes to advise students of expanded placement services being provided by the Financial Aids-Placement Office in Hale Building. Educational placement services for those persons seeking teaching positions are now being provided by this office.

In addition, information on job opportunities in business, industry and government is available as well as career counseling assistance. Mr. Taft, Director of the Financial Aids-Placement Office is being assisted on a part-time basis by Mrs. Frances Donnelly.

SIMON'S
TREASURE CHEST
Diamonds
among the world's most beautiful, most brilliant, because they are the finest in cutting and color.
from $75.00
SIMON'S
The Store of Fine Diamonds
82 Main St. 352-3219 Keene, N.H.
Also Brattleboro, Vt.

Yes, Virginia, KSC Does Have A Swim Team

By GERRY PILOTTE
Monadnock Staff Writer

How many times have you been asked to attend a Keene State College baseball, basketball, or soccer game? Many times I'm sure. But when was the last time someone asked you to a KSC swim meet? Before answering you'd probably pause to make sure you heard correctly and then say to yourself, "Keene State College has a swim team?"

Yes, Virginia, Keene State does have a swim team. They are a young and dedicated group, but relatively inexperienced to college competition.

This may be the first year of varsity swimming at KSC, but the team already consists of a former top New England high school swimmer in the 200 yard backstroke and breaststroke and in the 100, 200, and 500 yard freestyle.

One individual who is highly praised by head coach Jim Quirk is Russ Conroy, a freshman from Belleville, N.J. Conroy is considered to be "one of the best swimmers to come out of the state of New Jersey," said Quirk. "I consider ourselves lucky to have him swimming for KSC." Quirk expects him to be a standout performer for many years.

Dominated by freshmen (8 of them), the thirteen member squad now has one win, two losses. Earlier this year, in the Coast Guard Relays at New London, Conn., Keene State took fifth place against such top N.E. swim teams as Holy Cross, the Coast Guard Academy, Brown University, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and Bridgewater State.

Head coach Dr. James D. Quirk, 32, assistant professor of physics, feels that although he has a very young and inexperienced team, "in a few years Keene State will be a top New England team to contend with."

Quirk has coached swim teams at both the Pittsfield N.H. high school and Pittsfield Boy's Club. He puts his team through two miles of loosening up swimming before each practice and one and one-half miles during practice. But it seems that three and a half miles of swimming a day isn't enough. According to most team members, Coach Quirk doesn't push hard enough. The majority term the coach as "a good coach, but he could be tougher."

Loosening up exercises consists of what Coach Quirk calls the "40-40-40." A swimmer begins by swimming 40 laps of the 25 yard pool using only his arms, follows with 40 laps utilizing only his legs, and finishes up with 40 laps of freestyle swimming. After this, the team will usually break up for a regular practice session or into two groups for a friendly game of water polo.

Practices are held five times a week. With the meet to follow, a swimmer will average 20 miles of swimming per week.

Although the 10 swimmers (including 3 women) and three divers make up the thirteen member team, Coach Quirk admits that this year's squad is not deep enough personnel-wise to compete effectively with most of the other teams. "With only thirteen members we are definitely lacking in depth, although we did take 12 of the 13 events in our only home meet," Quirk said. "But for sufficient strength we need at least twenty swimmers."

When asked if the team had set any goals for its first season in history, Coach Quirk replied, "None really. If we won one meet I felt we would be good." When he was asked what it felt like after KSC's first victory ever, he said, "kind of wet." It seems that after the win the coach was given an unexpected dip into the pool by the team.

Three swimmers, Nancy Sroka, Joyce Langevin, and Joyce Jarest, considered by the coach to be not only fine swimmers but "three of the nicest girls on campus that you'll ever meet," expressed their hopes for a girl's swim team in the near future. Besides liking swimming, exercise, and having an opportunity to meet many people, the formation of a girls swim team seemed to be one of their concerns. Said Joyce Langevin, "A girls swim team? Yes, that would be nice."

The team supports a 2.81 scholastic average (four members on Dean's List) and also has an average of five years of competitive swimming among them. With credentials such as these it looks like Coach Quirk will have nothing to worry about for years to come.

The members of KSC's first swimming team ever are:

TOM BALDWIN: Tom is a Keene resident and a freshman P.E. major. He has been swimming competitively for 5 years. He competes in all freestyle events.

BRUCE BROFMAN: Bruce is a history major from Concord, N.H. A member of the class of '73, Bruce is one of KSC's three divers.

RUSSEL CONFROY: A freshman English major from Belleville, N.H., Russ competes in the 100 yd. backstroke on the relay and in the 200 yd. backstroke.

JOE FOGARTY: Joe is one of the few sophomores on this year's team. He is a resident of Madison, Conn. and majors in English. Joe competes in the 500 and 1000 yd. freestyle.

DAVE GAGNE: Dave is the only other junior on the squad. He lives in Keene and is an Eng. major. Dave competes in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle events.

JOYCE JAREST: A P.E. major from Peterborough, N.H., Joyce is a member of the sophomore class. She competes in all freestyle events and in the 100 yd. sprint.

STEVE KOHNOWICH: A native of Westwood, N.J., Steve is a freshman majoring in Psychology. Steve is the second diver on the squad and he also competes in the 50 meter freestyle.

JOYCE LANGEVIN: Joyce is an English major from Pembroke, N.H. She is a member of the class of '75 and competes in all freestyle and butterfly events.

SCOTT LOCKMAN: Calling South Portland, Maine his home, Scott is a freshman P.E. major. He competes in the 200 yd. individual medley, 200 yd. breaststroke, and in the 400 yd. medley relay.

GARY NOLAN: A freshman P.E. major from Portland, Conn., Gary competes in the 200 yd. breaststroke and in the 100 yd. first relay.

DAVE QUIGLEY: A resident of Weir, Mass. and a freshman elementary Ed. major, Dave is the third diver for Coach Quirk's team. Like the previous two divers, Dave competes in the one and three meter dive.

DEAN ROBINSON: An Eng. Major from Winchendon, Mass., Dean is a freshman who competes in the 1500- freestyle and is an important part of the four-man relays.

NANCY SROKA: Swimming competitively for 3 years, Nancy is from East Longmeadow, Mass. She is a sophomore P.E. major and competes in the 100 and 1000 yd. freestyle events.

WAYNE NESTOR (Team manager) Although Wayne does not compete Coach Quirk attests that Wayne is as important to the team as are the other 13 members. Wayne is a freshman Science major from Brookline, N.H.

SWIM TEAM SCHEDULE

Jan. 26	at Univ. of Vermont	7 p.m.
Jan. 29	Central Conn. St. Col.	2 p.m.
Feb. 5	at C. G. Academy	2 p.m.
Feb. 7	Lowell Tech	4 p.m.
Feb. 8	at Brandeis Univ.	7 p.m.
Feb. 12	at Bridgewater	2 p.m.
Feb. 19	at Nichols College	1:30 p.m.
Feb. 22	Norwich University	4 p.m.
Feb. 29	Trinity College	4 p.m.

Keene Five Will Play Tough Plymouth Squad Thursday

The KSC Basketball Owls will wind up a three game homestand Thursday night when they meet the Plymouth State Panthers in what should prove to be their most emotional encounter of the year.

"I've been ready for this game since the soccer team lost to Plymouth last fall," Kevin O'Leary, captain of the Owls, said yesterday. "The whole team is up for this one."

O'Leary said that he believes that Plymouth uses a zone press, so the game should be wide open. He figures the key to the game will be to break the press. The Panthers are lead by two high-scoring guards, senior Richie Thibodeau and sophomore Bruce Johnston. Both Thibodeau and Johnston are averaging over 20 points a game for Plymouth. The Panther forecourt consists of 6'5" Bob Cowie, 6'4" Dick Blood, and 6'5" Dennis Russell.

The Panthers are 5-3 on the year and have just come off a long lay-off. The traditional rivalry between Plymouth and Keene should make this game a must to see.

This will be the last time the Owls will play at home until Feb. 9, when they meet Castleton.

Owls vs. Panthers-a Must

By PETE HANRAHAN

Plymouth invades Spaulding Gym on Thursday and the house should be packed. The game certainly has an interesting recent history. In 1969 Plymouth froze the ball in both games. Keene won at Spaulding Gym 42-29, although the Owls led at halftime by a 13-12 score. The Panthers tried the same tactics at the Plymouth Field House but the powerful Owls fouled up 65 points when Plymouth had to open up in the second half.

On The Inside

Last year the series was split with each team winning at home. Thursday night should be interesting. Don't look for Plymouth to play the game straight.

GRAVEL

Continued from Page 2

took a firm stand on the issue of amnesty, on which Muskies has remained neutral.

Concerning amnesty, Gravel said that "You won't have amnesty in this country until the people realize they made a mistake and have a reason to give amnesty for." He also said that, realistically, amnesty won't come soon, and probably not until someone new is in office.

Returning to the problem of absolute power for the president, Gravel said, "The power of Congress has been abrogated. It has some powers to stop the president, but in the long run it is no match for the executive."

Gravel is interested, then, in an old American problem: limiting the power of the executive and creating a balance of representation in a democratic nation. Gravel said he was backing Muskies because of his integrity and good personal judgement, but he is wary of the corruption of absolute power.

ULTRAHIP

Continued from Page 5

their first annual Las Vegas Party; and an Iowa school held an After Game Dance entitled, "Hot Pants Nite." The same school had a successful hay ride, Nov. 6.

QUESTIONNAIRE

Continued from Page 5

your fellow Kleene straighties. 11-23 Congratulations, you're now a member of the Archie Bunker Fan Club.

24-35 You're almost ready for happy hours.

36-47 You've made the grade, have a beer.

48-59 You belong at Upper Moosejaw University.

60-70 You cheated, remember, "An army of principles will penetrate where an army of soldiers will not."

QUALITY SHOPPE

84 Main St.
Keene, N.H.

Casual and sports wear

Pregnant? Need Help?

215 878-5800
Women's Medical Assistance

Call

215 878-5800

8 AM-10 PM-7 DAYS

A N.H. PROJECT, U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION & WELFARE

Roussell's
OF KEENE, INC.
9 ELM ST. 352-3123
QUALITY APPAREL
FOR MEN, BOYS AND LADIES

LEVIS

SUMMERS'
SKI & MOUNTAIN CENTER

No Snow? Climb a Mountain!

Specialists in Skiing, XC Skiing, Mountaineering and Backpacking. Rental equipment available also.

Chouinard Equipment, Ice axes, Crampons, Goldline and Mammut rope. -40 degree insulated packs with vibram soles.

Backpacking and Mountaineering Suppliers to Keene State College

KSC's Jose DeCausy goes up for two, against Fitchburg, Monday. He scored 15.

Lose To Eastern Conn.

OWLS UP RECORD TO 9-3

By PETE HANRAHAN
Monadnock Sports Editor

Over the past week, the Owls upped their regular season record to 9-3 with two victories and a loss.

The hoopsters lost a tough one to Eastern Connecticut last Wednesday by a slim 70-67 margin. Dewitt Summers led the Owls with 16 points and no Owl really had an outstanding game. The team just suffered a bad night on the road and although Keene led most of the way, as Coach Theulen said, we just couldn't "sock it to 'em" when we had to.

Spaulding Gym saw the Owls cruise to a pair of victories over hapless Lyndon and mediocre Fitchburg. Saturday's Lyndon contest was a 109-87 laughter which saw eight Owls score nine or more points. Jose DeCausy led Keene with 26 and showed signs of development as a team ballplayer in a game that was difficult to take too seriously by either the local fans or players.

The Hornets had four technicals called on them in the game. Apparently Lyndon has a very good language curriculum, judging from that used by the players and coach.

Monday night's Fitchburg game was an 87-69 cinch for Keene. The Owls, playing mediocre ball in the first half, were suddenly sparked by the hustle of Randy Bowman and the hot hand of Kevin O'Leary. The Owls gained the momentum needed to go ahead and never lost it after intermission. Ollie Dunbar also sparked the Owls with 18 and O'Leary had 19. The whole team played a great, hustling and unselfish game, promising much for the next few months.

This group of talented athletes appears to have regrouped after some hard blows and will be ready when the Plymouth Panthers come to town Thursday.

KSC OWLS SCORING (REGULAR SEASON)

Regular Season: 9-3 Holiday Tourney: 1-1

Player	Points	High	Ave.
DeCausy	294	45	24.5
O'Leary	170	19	14.2
Summers	75	16	12.3
Drew	107	24	9.7
Bowman	108	18	9.0
Pierson	102	19	8.5
Dunbar	76	18	6.3
Silegy	14	9	4.7
Laurent	15	9	3.8
Hayward	2	2	1.0
Preston	2	2	1.0

KEENE FOOD MART CENTRAL SQUARE

What you want is ice cold!

Keene State College
Keene, N.H. 03431

THE MONADNOCK

Vol. XXIII, No. 15
Feb. 2, 1972

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty Raps Nixon's Economics

By ERIC MALONEY
Monadnock News Editor

Sam Yorty, the mayor of Los Angeles who is running for president, parked his campaign car in front of the Dining Commons Monday, and gave a short speech to about 70 people in the Waltz Lecture Hall.

The speech revolved mostly around President Nixon's economic policies, as Yorty lashed out at the large budget deficit accumulated over the last four years.

"I've come to the conclusion that the best way to find out what he's going to do is to see what he says he's going to do, and then he'll do the opposite," said Yorty concerning Nixon's proposed deficit and the actual deficit.

Yorty also lashed out at the three liberal candidates in the New Hampshire primary.

"The Fulbright faction is too obstructionist. They are a danger to the country, and they are certainly a danger to the young people," he said.

He criticized the candidates for having speech writers, stating that Muskies might sound like John Lindsay one day and Robert F. Kennedy the next.

"I just don't believe in all that image building. It's just playing games with the American people."

When asked for his position on the Indochina War, Yorty accused the "doves" of supporting the war when it was popular, while changing their minds when the polls changed.

"I say that our objective in Vietnam was honorable. I condemned the conduct of the war, and said that we should use American air power, get the thing over with, and get out of there."

He stated his agreement with the present policy of withdrawal, however.

He also criticized heavily the discontinuation of the SST project, calling the claims that it will cause environmental danger fallacious.

Photo by Gaw
SAM YORTY'S 'YORTY-MOBILE' remains parked in front of the KSC Commons while the presidential candidate speaks to a small crowd in the Science Building.

HILDEBRANDT-KERR PROPOSALS TO FACE SENATE TEST TODAY 'Contract Major' Also to Be Considered

By DANA SULLIVAN
Monadnock Staff Writer

An anti-discrimination proposal drafted by Dr. Charles A. Hildebrandt is on the agenda for today's College Senate meeting.

Hildebrandt, associate professor of sociology, and Nora F. Kerr, assistant professor of Spanish, said they would introduce the measure to the College Senate after it languished for lack of official action in the Student Senate Dec. 13.

The Hildebrandt-Kerr proposal is directed against the use of "public monies or fees levied from all the students" for support of organizations "involved in categorical and arbitrary discrimination."

If the motion is passed by the Senate, organizations such as fraternities and sororities will be denied the use of the college name, facilities, services and money.

Also on this afternoon's agenda is a report by the Curriculum Committee which includes a proposal for a "contract major."

David B. Andrews, instructor in psychology, introduced the proposal to the committee, explaining that a "contract major" involves having a student draw up his own proposal for a major outside the traditional disciplines.

The student would collaborate with three faculty members at the end of his sophomore or the beginning of his junior year. This would enable a student to provide himself with a hybrid interdisciplinary major, Andrews said.

The proposal was accepted unanimously by the committee last week. Margaret S. Langford, assistant professor of French is chairman of the committee.

The committee is also offering a proposal to eliminate the general science major program in secondary education, to be replaced by the passage of proposed programs in chemistry-physics and mathematics-physics.

The proposal was submitted by the science department after the department members voted nine to one in favor, with one abstention. The new interdisciplinary program was accepted by the committee six to one.

The Admissions and Standards Committee is submitting proposals relative to mid-semester warnings and the dropping and adding of courses. Dr. Carl R. Grunquist, professor of history, is chairman of the committee.

A motion for procedural changes in the senate by-laws, tabled at the last meeting, will be reintroduced for action this afternoon.

The Welfare Committee is offering a proposed policy governing visits by presidential candidates and a proposal for setting aside the merit system in faculty salaries.

The Student Affairs Committee of the College Senate and the Wheelock School supervisory committee are also scheduled to make reports.

The meeting will be held in Room 102 of the Science Center at 4 p.m.

PROFESSOR TO RUN AS CONVENTION DELEGATE

Dr. David Battenfeld, Democratic Chairman for Cheshire County and KSC professor of English will run in the March 7 primary as a delegate pledged to Sen. George McGovern. KSC Student Senate President, David Kyle, will also be included on the slate as an alternate.

Continued on Page 3

EXIT 99, a nine man brass group, will be featured this Saturday (Feb. 5) at 8 p.m. in the Brown Room of the Student Union. The dance is sponsored by the KSC Social Council. Admission is 25 cents.

WKNH-FM Possible, But Not This Year

Since its conception in 1970, the aspiration of KSC's radio station (now WKNH) has been to become a licensed FM station. The chances that this will happen this year are slim though, according to WKNH General Manager Don Gibb.

We're making our best effort," said Gibb, "but it just doesn't look good."

The two major hurdles that the sta-

Gibb said. The FCC would have to grant the station a license.

Even now the station is operating in cramped conditions in their Student Union attic studios, Gibb said. And "substantial" construction would be needed to get the studios up to FCC standards.

A new more spacious on-campus location for the station would be ideal, Gibb said.

But what is needed the most, however, is increased cooperation from the college, which Gibb admits isn't at its best right now.

The station's goal is to become a 10 watt FM station. This amount of power would blanket the Keene area and would make the station available by cable in some of Keene's outlying areas.

WKNH, who changed their call letters last month from WKSC in anticipation of becoming FM, would be required to drop advertising as an FM station. Gibb explained that the FCC is now granting only non-commercial licenses.

Looking into the future, Gibb said that the station would become more oriented to progressive music rather than top 40. He also said that the station would become more professional sounding, and include more coverage of news and sports.

WKNH is presently a carrier current AM station, and can only be heard on campus.

Judge Settles Voter Dispute

College students will be able to register to vote in New Hampshire college towns, if they meet certain criteria, a federal judge determined last week.

Five basic standards were established as a result of a recent dispute between the New Hampshire Civil Liberties Union (NHCLU) and N.H. Attorney General Warren B. Rudman over student voting rights. Rudman had ruled that students could only register in their home towns.

The five criteria are:
*Registrants must be 18 years of age or older at the time of the next election following registration.
*They must be citizens of the United States.

*They must have lived in the town at least six months, or 30 days for presidential elections.

*They must intend to reside in the town indefinitely.

*They must regard the town as his or her domicile.

A spokesman for the American Civil Liberties Union explained last week that any person who registers a student is no longer permitted to ask the student his source of income, financial or marital status, and, most importantly, where his parents reside. He can ask, however, if the student has any previous voter registration.

tion would have to deal with are the Student Senate and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The Student Senate would have to fund an estimated nine to ten thousand dollars which the station would need to go FM.

Photo by Gingras

DISC JOCKEY, Dick Todd, takes a telephone request.