

SPORTS

KEENE STATE COLLEGE ATHLETICS

BRUINS IN THE BIG COUNTRY? RAZORBACKS IN NORTH CAROLINA? SEE OFFSIDES PAGE 31

PLOWED - Even though playing fields are still unusable, things are looking better than last year. Equinox/FILE PHOTO

Men's Baseball

You win some, lose some; Owls split

By Chris Gagnon
The Equinox

Keene State men's baseball team traveled to Springfield, Mass. this past Saturday opening their northern portion of the season in a double-header against American International College.

After going 4-5-1 in Florida, the Owls split against AIC. The game was supposed to be played in Owl Stadium but the fields were unplayable, forcing the team to travel south.

In game one of the set Yellow Jacket pitcher Matt Kleszczynski dazzled KSC allowing just six hits on the way to his first intercollegiate shutout, 10-0.

The Owls hit Kleszczynski hard in the first but couldn't put numbers on the board. After that, it was smooth sailing for the AIC slinger.

On the hill for the Owls was their ace, Scott Power. Power lasted only three innings in the cold being roughed up quickly by the Yellow Jackets. Geoff Sylvester came in but could not stop the bleeding.

Ryan Royce, a transfer, came on to pitch the last few innings and pitched strong in a losing effort.

Steve Jarvis, one of the team's co-captains explained "Things started off slow in the first game for us and the team definitely could have played better."

KSC roared back in the second game slamming AIC pitching for 17 hits winning 13-7.

The story for the Owls was pitcher Guy Harrington. Harrington, a lefty, breezed through the first six innings almost unscathed before veteran Martin Testo came on for the seventh.

Testo was off the mark giving up five runs before teammate Shawn Berry came in to close the door on the Jackets.

Power made up for his pitching performance in the first game when he drilled his first homerun of the season.

Mac Tiani and Berry each sprayed out four hits in an offensive display. Hitting the ball hard all day was Geoff Sylvester, who racked up four RBIs in the game.

"These were our first two games up north and it's a little bit of a different ball game," Jarvis added, "overall we're happy with the effort in the second game, we showed a lot of heart."

With a record of 5-6-1, the Owls will play again today against the College of St. Rose.

Women's Softball

Setting Sun Saves Day

By Henry Lee
The Equinox

The Lady Owls softball team lost one and tied another in a twin-bill against American International College (AIC) Monday at Owl Stadium.

Each game showcased opposite aspects of the game as the first, a 2-1 pitching duel, was won by AIC while the second was a 12-12 slugfest which was ended on account of darkness.

Keene State freshman Lisa Rowe gave up two runs in the first inning to the Yellow Jackets who relied on the solid arm of Ravella Gericke to shut down the Lady Owls from there. AIC's runs came on a fielder's choice by Kathy Mayo which scored Stacy Squires. The second run came on a sacrifice fly.

The Lady Owls scored their only run in the sixth when Deb Opalski came home on a sacrifice by Melissa Camire closing the lead to 2-1.

Gericke was tough, allowing just four hits to even out her record at 3-3. Keene's Rowe (2-4) took the loss.

In the second game, the Lady Owls came from three down in a seventh inning rally to tie the game at 12, forcing extra innings.

Keene's efforts looked as if they would have been a waste because the Yellow Jackets stung for three more in the top of the eighth and were one out from putting the game away for good.

By the use of profound stalling techniques along with some luck, the umpires called the game due to darkness before the completion of the inning. In this case the score reverts back to that of the previous inning.

With the game tied 4-4 after four innings of play AIC went ahead on a two-run blast by Shannon Mannix in the fifth. They extended their lead 10-4 in the sixth with MacLean and Maureen MacSwiggen providing RBI doubles and triples respectively.

The Lady Owls closed the gap to 10-9 in the bottom of the inning on RBI doubles by Marni Shea and Anne Kelleher. Kelleher scored on a wild pitch and Katje Mickola beat out an infield single that brought home Beth Comer.

AIC upped the ante once more in the seventh by scoring twice on singles by thorns MacLean and McSwiggin.

The Owls bounced back once again tying it at 12 when Mickola doubled to score Shea. Opalski singled in Kelleher and Mickola and then advanced to third on a walk and a wild pitch to represent the go ahead run.

Anxious for the win coach Charlie Beach gambled and sent Opalski when Nicolle McGinney bobbled Melissa Camire's groundball, unfortunately McGinney recovered and nailed Opalski at the plate.

The result was a 12-12 tie that brought the Lady Owls record to 4-7-1 and AIC's to 6-5-1.

SPORTS TABLE OF CONTENTS

MEN'S BASEBALL	32
WOMEN'S SOFTBALL	32
OFFSIDES COLUMN	31
BOSTON CELTICS	31
BOSTON BRUINS	31

THE EQUINOX

THE STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF KEENE STATE COLLEGE

Volume 46, Number 19

Wednesday, April 5, 1995

Keene, New Hampshire

Printed on Recycled Paper

36 pages

ATRIUM - Students get their first look inside of the Lloyd P. Young Student Center upon its long awaited opening on Monday. Reaction from the campus community has been positive. See related story.

Election '96

Dole to announce in Exeter

By Jonathan E. Cooper
The Equinox

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole (R-Kansas) will formally announce his candidacy for President on Monday, April 10.

Ralph Wunder, a representative from Dole's New Hampshire Press Advance Office, said Dole will make the announcement at 2:45 p.m. in Exeter.

Among those attending the announcement will be actor Brian Dennehy, Dev Jennings, the New England Chairman of the 10th Mountain Division, the division Dole served in when he was seriously injured while fighting in Italy during WWII, the Exeter High School Band, as well as some 20 members of the US Army's 10th Mountain Division.

see DOLE, page 8

Opening

Lloyd P. Young Student Center new heart of KSC

• After repeated delays, center opens; receives praise

By Jonathan E. Cooper and Joel Kastner
The Equinox

After more than four years of planning, the multi-million dollar Lloyd P. Young Student Center opened Monday and was met with a positive response from the campus community.

The building is the new home for the college bookstore, mail services, vice president of student affairs office and a number of student organizations.

The new center also features the Owl's Roost, a campus convenience store, the Nite Owl Cafe, the new site for Wednesday night comedy shows and the Sunday Night Acoustic Music Series, and the Eatery which offers students a variety of food ranging from pizza and pasta to deli sandwiches.

Other new features include quiet study areas, DocuNet Copy Center, a subsidiary of Valley Copy of Keene, and an Automatic Teller Machine (ATM) serviced by CFX Bank.

The building was originally slated to open October 1994, but was delayed three times before Monday's opening.

"Last Thursday, I didn't think we would be here today," said Kim Lauer, assistant director of operations for the Student Center. Lauer said crews were working through the opening of the building, and will continue working for the next few weeks to fix minor problems in the building.

see CENTER, page 8

End of VPAA search is near

By Chris Hillsgrove
The Equinox

The search for the vice president of academic affairs is in its final stages.

Friday, the search committee will review the evaluations and submit its recommendation to Dr. Stanley J. Yarosewick by that evening. If all goes according to schedule, the new vice president will be in the position by next semester.

Rob Ferragina, the student representative on the search committee said, "I've conducted all four student forums. Student turnout has been low, but the feedback forms that the students filled out and gave me will be used by Dr. Y when he makes his final decision. I encourage any student who's interested in information about these candidates to contact me at extension 7706 and I will provide their feedback on the search committee."

The four candidates have been here to meet the students. They are Dr. Margaret Malmberg, Dr. Robert Golden, Dr. Eleanor Vander Haegen, and Dr. Charles Flynn, Jr.

"The committee is looking for someone who will provide leadership and will be an effective communication link between the students and their needs and concerns and the administration," Ferragina said.

Dr. Malmberg is currently the assistant to the president for administrative services as well as chair and professor of psychology at Lake Superior State University in Michigan. She has done post-doctoral studies at Harvard and Michigan State University. Malmberg received her Ph.D. and Masters Degree at Texas Christian University. She did her Graduate Studies in Clinical Psychology at Bowling Green State University. She received her B.A. in Psychology at Muskingum College in 1964. Malmberg has been on staff at Lake Superior State, Michigan State and TCU. She has fifteen publications and papers in circulation.

"I encourage any student who's interested in information about these candidates to contact me"

- Robert Ferragina
Student representative for VPAA search committee

Dr. Golden is currently the dean of the college of Arts and Humanities of Shippensburg University in Pennsylvania. He received his Ph.D. and Masters Degree in English and American Literature at the University of Rochester. Golden got his B.A. in history, with high honors at the

see SEARCH, page 8

News

Equinox/Becca Conway
PERFORMANCE - femme, m'amie perform at the 5th Annual Women's History Month Banquet.

Outstanding Women of New Hampshire Awards presented during annual banquet

By Kristy Woods
The Equinox

The President's Commission on the Status of Women held the Fifth Annual Women's History Banquet on Thursday, March 30 in the Mabel Brown Room in the old Student Union.

The evening began with a song performed by the seven women a cappella group, femme m'amie.

The musicians are members of both Unitarian Universalist Church choir, and the Concord Chorale, and are long-time friends.

The evening also included the presentation of the Outstanding Women of New Hampshire Awards by President Dr. Stanley J. Yarosewick.

The awards are given to one woman at the state level, a member of the Keene community, a member of the Keene State faculty or staff, and an outstanding member of the college student body.

This year N. H. State Sen. Jean Shaheen (D-Madbury) was presented with the award for her outstanding work for children's rights and health care reform.

Although Shaheen was not able to attend the function due to a previous commitment, Yarosewick read a statement of acceptance from her.

Karen Wagner, director of the women's crisis services of the Monadnock Region, was awarded for her work in the community.

Wagner has worked for the Women's Crisis Center for 11 years.

She spends her days working close with domestic abuse victims, and distraught teenagers. Although Wagner was thrilled to receive the honor, she said that she does not act alone, stating "In honoring me you are honoring countless others."

Wagner will be leaving her director's position shortly. Along with the knowledge of the tremendous importance of her work the past eleven years, she said she will cherish the honor of being officially recognized.

"This is a memory I will be taking with me," Wagner said.

Pat Rich, an academic counselor at KSC won the award designated for KSC faculty. Upon Yarosewick's announcement, Rich said, "Can you all hear my heart pounding? It is in my throat!"

Rich took the opportunity to compliment her mother. "My mother is a star. The tragedy is she hasn't got a clue. She doesn't know herself as the champion she is."

Rich addressed the issue of women's self-esteem and that many women lack that essential component.

"I am no longer one of those women. I have the Keene State College community for that. I don't know exactly when it happened but I know it happened here," Rich said.

Beth DeAnna, a senior in the sociology program at KSC, was presented also presented with the award. She has earned an associates degree in chemical dependency and is also pursuing a minor in both speech communications and women's studies.

DeAnna serves as vice president of the student body and participates in the Student Assembly. DeAnna, who attributed her strong voice to the women's studies program, said, "I found my voice and I don't think I've stopped talking since."

Although the presentation of the awards was the focal point of the evening, the winners of the Women's History Month Banner Contest also were announced.

The theme at this year's contest was "Promises to Keep" and although there were many entries and the decision was a difficult one to make, the "March on Washington Banner," won first place in the contest.

The sisters of Phi Sigma Sigma and the staff and children of the Child Development Center won second and third places respectively.

In addition to the music and awards ceremonies, a group of six women from the college community read inspirational pieces of material to the audience.

The night concluded with an encore by femme m'amie.

Non-matriculated student bumped

By Lesley McCord
The Equinox

Elections for the 1995-96 officers of WKNH were held last night and Amy Richardson will replace non-matriculated student Gene Donohue as News Director of the station.

Donohue was unable to run for general manager as he had planned, due to the new bi-laws passed by the Student Assembly. The bi-laws specify that anyone running for a stipend position, must meet be a full-time matriculated student, which Donohue is not.

"I don't think it's right; I'm 35 years old, I think I'm some kind of role model," Donohue said. "It's a bummer."

Nick Germana, sophomore class president said the reason for the bi-laws is that stipend positions can't be supported by the school unless the person is completely supporting the school, as a full-time matriculated student.

"It's the feeling that someone who isn't a full-time student doesn't accurately represent the students," Germana said.

George Parnell was elected General Manager defeating Bryan Conklin and Christopher Ouellette.

Co-Music Directors will be Tim Hulsizer and Kelly Walsh, who beat out candidates Steve Chupaska, Francis Mackey, and Andrew Peretti.

Andrew Peretti was elected Production Manager of the station, beating Tim Hulsizer.

Bryan Conklin beat Chad O'Brien in a re-vote because of a tie for Program Director. Others seeking the position were Francis Mackey and George Parnell.

Tara Record was elected Station/Business Manager, winning over Jason Mann.

Student Government to subsidize Art Center

By Christian Devalos
The Equinox

The Student Government of Keene State College will subsidize student ticket prices to the Art Center on Brickyard Pond. The $3.50 increase per ticket will combat federal government spending cuts to the National Endowment of the Arts, if such cuts occur, allowing the Art Center to maintain the current price of $5 per student.

"For me it didn't seem fair that ticket prices would go up, so I needed to find a way to subsidize these tickets. If the Student Government was able to help, that is wonderful. Students help students," Pat Piper, director of the Arts Center said.

According to Piper, the federal government wants to privatize the National Endowment for the Arts. If this occurs, the Art Center will lose $15 thousand of its $88 thousand budget.

William Menezes, marketing manager of the Arts Center said with the cuts in funding, prices could increase, while the quality of the performances declines.

Menezes and Piper said that by losing this money they could still hire some popular artists, but they would not be able to hire the type of quality artists that give workshops for students. This, they said, will affect students directly.

Menezes said that the National Endowment for the Arts provides arts facilities and organizations in New Hampshire over $500 thousand a year, which in turn generates $1.2 million in tax revenues for the state.

Menezes and Piper said that it would be a shame to see art losing out to the federal governments spending cuts.

Piper said because of the Student Government's supplement to the Art Center, the $5 per student ticket price would remain for at least one more year.

Ceremony

Dr. Y to be sworn in on Spring Weekend

By Keith Moriarty
The Equinox

Dr. Stanley J. Yarosewick will be officially inaugurated on April 22, amidst a big week of activities, but the general attitude among Keene State students seems to be one of uncertainty.

The inaugural ceremony and activities coincide with the college's annual Spring Weekend celebration, as well as the Earth Day 1995 activities.

"One of the things that we've done is try to pull together Earth Day, Spring Weekend and the inauguration into one event to bring everyone together," said Retha Lindsey, director of college relations. "We're trying to invite everyone to come, so that it's not just a campus event."

The first events will be the Alumni Mace Presentation and Reception and the Honor Society Dinner, both in the new Student Center on Monday, April 17.

"I think that it's something for students to get excited about."

- Rachael Thomas
Student Body President

The Inauguration Installation Ceremony will be on Saturday, April 22 at 11 a.m. in the Spaulding Gymnasium. The final event of the week will be Dana Carvey's performance on Sunday, April 23 at 8 p.m.

Rachael Thomas, student body president, maintains a hopeful attitude about the inauguration. "I think that people have done so much work for this, I think that it's phenomenal," said Thomas. "From my standpoint, I think that it's something for students to get excited about. A lot of people have put a lot of hard work into this, and it would be a shame if people didn't go to the events. People should take advantage of the opportunity."

The Social Activities Council is doing its part to coordinate Spring Weekend with the Inauguration. "We're trying to work in conjunction with the inauguration committee to try to get a fluid weekend, because there's so many things going on," said Jake Belknap, SAC's Concert and Dance Coordinator.

Other students may not share his enthusiasm. Some students are wondering why it has taken so long for the official inauguration to come about.

"Traditionally they don't do it right away," Lindsey said. "It takes a long time to coordinate and plan everything."

Other students still wonder about Yarosewick himself.

"He seems like the closet president," said Shelley Bishop, a junior. "We don't know much about him."

Yarosewick agrees that he may not be known by all. "In terms of visibility, I certainly don't know all the students, but I am trying to do a number of events to meet students," Yarosewick said. "I do try to be accessible to students."

Some students are concerned, but seem a bit hopeful. "I've got hopes that Dr. Y is going to be more appropriate in his ideas for expansion of the college..." said senior Jon Whittum. "It's about time we got a more conservative, scientific person in office."

Some students said they simply hope the new president is dedicated to remaining at the college. "I hope that he stays for more than a year," said Jim White, a junior.

Dr. Stanley J. Yarosewick

INAUGURATION WEEK HIGHLIGHTS

- Monday - Honor Society Dinner
- Tuesday - Student Display
- Wednesday - Environmental Expo
- Thursday - An Evening of Dance
- Friday - Student Center Dedication
- Saturday - Inauguration Ceremony
- Sunday - Dana Carvey Show

DO YOU HAVE A STORY THAT SHOULD BE COVERED?

CONTACT
THE EQUINOX
AT X-2413
OR X-2414

News

Campus Briefs

Two arrests in Owl's Nests

Keene Police confirm two arrests were made at Keene State College early Wednesday morning. Authorities were notified at 12:20 a.m. of the illegal substances discovered at an unspecified campus location. Illegal substances were seized. Vern Baisden, director of security, could not be reached and campus security declined to comment. Dan Connelly, residence director on duty, also declined comment.

Academic Fair to be held April 21

A fair to showcase the talents and accomplishments of KSC faculty, staff and students will be held as part of Inauguration Week festivities on the afternoon of April 21. All classes will be cancelled.

The Fair will offer an opportunity for students, faculty and staff members of the Keene community, and inaugural delegates from other academic institutions to attend workshops highlighting the most recent work and research interests of our faculty and staff and the collaborative work they have done with their students.

KSC represented at women's conference

Three members of the KSC community attended the National Association of Women in Education's national conference in Orlando during spring break. Anne-Marie Mallon, associate professor of English; Anne Miller, director of residential student life; and Rebecca Brown, associate professor of health and physical education; attended the conference March 8-11. The conference theme was "Transformations: the Changers and the Changed."

Faculty participate in computer training

During spring break, 17 faculty members arranged individual computer instruction sessions to enhance their computer knowledge. Session topics ranged from "How do I take the first step on the information highway?" to "How do I get my home fax-modem to work?" Participants were enthusiastic and recommended that sessions be offered again.

Faculty involved were Fred Wolf, Steve Stepenuck and Frankie Brackley-Tolman, Shirley Smallman, Carroll Lehman, Sander Lee, Margaret Langford and Rocio Bastidas, David White, Glenn Smith, Joe Rousseau, Jane Percival, Ellen Nuffer, Linda Millard, Deborah Black, Ann Beaudry-Torrey, Dottie Bauer.

KSC to host geography bee

KSC will host the New Hampshire State Geography Bee on Friday in the new Student Center. Fourth-through eighth-grade students from around the state will compete in the state-level contest, with the winner receiving $100 and other prizes along with an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. to compete in the National Geography in May.

The state bee is the second level of the National Geography Bee, which began in December with competitions in thousands of schools across the country.

The rest of the country, including the District of Columbia and five U.S. territories, also will be holding their state-level competitions on Friday. Each state will then send a contestant to the national competition in May. The National Geography Bee will be moderated by the seventh year by Jeopardy! host Alex Trebek, and will be aired on PBS on Wednesday, May 31.

Editorial/Opinion

Editorial

Better late than never

During the course of the semester members of the campus community have voiced concern and disapproval of the decision to increase student activity fees in order to fund the new Lloyd P. Young Student Center.

Students, especially seniors, were upset with the prospect of paying for a building that they would only have access to for the final month of the academic year.

The Equinox has attempted to reflect these concerns throughout the course of the semester.

While it is absurd to assume that everyone on campus is pleased with the new center, the majority of the campus community has now voiced their approval of the building and is no longer concerned with the increase in student activity fees.

The years of planning and construction have been worth the wait.

The number of delays before the opening do not seem important.

The fact is that the Lloyd P. Young Student Center is a beautiful addition to the Keene State College campus, and those involved with the design, planning and construction of the facility should be commended.

Students at Keene State College now have a building which will be at the heart of campus life.

This facility should increase student involvement in all aspects of the campus community. The accessibility of student organizations and administrative offices, especially that of Vice-President of Student Affairs Delina Hickey, will only add to this affect.

It is already obvious by the number of students who have used the building in the two days it has been open, that the building is, and will continue to be, an integral part of the college that should be used to its fullest potential.

Paul Strifollino, the director of the new center and the major force behind the development of the building, and the number of students and faculty who worked on the project should be congratulated for their tireless effort.

Commentary

As seniors round the final curve, anxieties abound

By Kasey Welsh
Guest Commentator

As the last month of the semester approaches, there are a lot of mixed emotions running around the campus.

Everyone feels the pure exhaustion from trying to catch up on all of the work that should have been done throughout the semester.

They panic over whether or not they'll even get their classes for next semester.

They wonder if their room draw number is good enough to get them where they want to go next year, and if not, then where should they choose to live?

Many students are planning how much time can actually be spent in the new student union to get the $98 worth they've paid for.

Then there's the maddening search people experience while looking for summer homes and jobs.

Let's not forget the semester stress that some have over final exams.

Each class standing has a typical reaction at the end of the year.

First year students are relieved that they've survived their first year at college. Hopefully, they are able to make a decision about whether they will return in the fall or move on to other things.

Many sophomores (assuming that they are on the four year plan) have come out of their sophomore slump to realize that they're half done.

Juniors anxiously await their senior year. Then there are seniors.

Seniors are in a class all their own, or should I say two classes of their own?

There are those who are graduating and those who are not.

Those of you who have made it to the end and will receive your diplomas on May 13, congratulations! I wish you all the best.

You are probably feeling a little nervous about where to live and if you're going to find a job right away. This is only natural, and I'm sure the first person who ever graduated from college had these same worries.

You've applied yourself here, at least enough to get a degree, and you can apply yourself in the real world and be successful there too.

Remember when you were worried about getting accepted into college? It'll be the same thing, but instead of paying them, they'll be paying you.

As for those seniors who are not quite finished yet, I can sympathize because I am among your group. Look at it this way: you have another semester to put together a resume, bring up your GPA, and find a job when you finally do get out of here.

Strengthen your skills and your friendships for another semester while you're at it. Maybe get involved in a whole new organization just for the experience. Your choices and possibilities are endless.

No matter what kind of senior you are, there is that feeling that the end of the semester is near, or is it a beginning? I like to think so. We've all had some great times here at Keene State. Don't deny it if you're trying.

Whether you've made lasting friendships or have been part of an organization that helped you grow personally in your four (or five or six) years here, a part of Keene State College will always be with you when you leave.

My hope is that you all can and will be proud to say so.

The Equinox is published Wednesday during the academic year. Certain Wednesdays preceding or following holiday periods may be omitted. Call for specific schedule. Advertising deadline is 5 p.m. the Thursday prior to publication. The Equinox reserves the right to refuse advertising. Advertising is not officially accepted until it appears in the paper. Letters to the editor are due noon the Friday prior to publication. Letters may be edited for style and length. They must be typed, double-spaced, limited to 300 words, and signed in ink.

Reader Forum

No response
angers alumni

To the editor:

As a recent graduate of Keene State College I feel obligated to write this letter to you to voice my opinion.

I am very unhappy with the "conversations" that I have had with various offices at Keene in the recent past.

All throughout my four years at Keene there was a tremendous lack of communication between the administration and the students.

Fortunately, it was not a long distance call as I probably would have been put on hold forever.

As a graduate and not living in the Keene area I have made several long distance calls and have received no response.

The first incident was with yearbooks. My husband, Earl, and I were not able to attend his homecoming in '94.

In November we called the Alumni office and asked them what was going on.

No response.

A couple weeks later I called back and asked the status.

They said they had talked to the Chronicle and they were supposed to be sent out the Wednesday after Thanksgiving.

Weeks went by and no yearbook.

I called again at the end of January to the Alumni office and finally got a response -- We don't know!

What ever happened to Thanksgiving - Easter is almost here!

I find this very frustrating that there was absolutely NO communication until the third time I called.

On a separate incident, I called the business office to ask about my husband's W-2 forms which we had not received as of the end of January, when legally they were supposed to arrive.

Of course I got the answering machine as it was after 2p.m. which, by the way, are really dumb hours for a business office to have.

I NEVER received a call back from that office.

Luckily, we received the original a couple days later.

But a simple call that had said that they were in the process of reissuing would have been really helpful.

I can say that both my husband and I enjoyed our years at Keene State academically, but dealing with the Bursar, Financial Aid and Business offices was FAR from enjoyable.

Since I have graduated, the only thing that has seemed to reach us on time, as promised, are our loan bills and pleas for money.

Legally, we have to pay our loans, but I wouldn't expect any extra money from this household for a LONG time.

-Karen L. Terwilliger
Class of 1993

God may be the answer

To the editor:

We have all been reading Arpad Toth's letters in The Equinox over this past academic year, and have noticed he has a pattern of bashing God and Christians, and in the last issue of The Equinox his target was those who are pro-life.

We would like to respond to his articles by asking a few questions...

If you are sure there is no God, why do you spend so much time badmouthing Him?

If you really did believe the Lord does not exist, why would you bother writing about Him so much?

It seems to us that you are actually trying to find God.

Maybe we could help by sharing with you a few things that the Bible says about Him.

1.) God loves you and has a wonderful plan for your life.

As it says in John 3:16, "For God so loved the world He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believes in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life."

2.) But because we have a sinful nature we are all sinful and separated from God (see Romans 3:23).

3.) But there is hope because God sent Jesus to die for our sins (this is even in history books) and rose again (thus Easter) (see Corinthians 15:3-6).

4.) Jesus bridges the gap between a perfect God and us, the sinful people.

So, if we ask Jesus into our heart as our Lord and Savior, we can spend eternity in Heaven with God.

This was a gift and still is a gift from God.

"For by grace you have been saved. Through faith, and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not as a result of works, that no one should boast" (Eph. 2:8-9).

So nothing you do gets you into Heaven, asking Jesus into your heart is the only way according to the "Bible."

So all it takes is a simple prayer; acknowledging God for who he really is: Lord and Savior.

Admitting that you are a sinner, asking for forgiveness, and asking Him to come into your heart.

Just to note... Christians still sin, the difference is, through Jesus we are forgiven. And one more thing, we agree with your statement that it is great humans who have the ability to think.

One thing you may want to consider is who gave you that ability?

We believe it was God.

-Amy Dyer
-Danya Sloboda

Rep. is sympathetic, not apathetic

To the editor:

I was disappointed in the view The Equinox took in last week's editorial, "Turnout reflects apathy."

I agree that the level of participation at the "Rally for Education" was disappointing.

I personally would have liked to have been there.

I understand the organizers reasoning for holding the rally on a weekend so not to interfere with anyone's class schedule, unfortunately this is the only time that I am able to work at a job that pays more than $100 per year.

Myself and Rep. Dana S. Hilliard are the primary voices of the students of Keene State College in the Statehouse, as you suggested we should be.

Over Spring Break, Rep. Hilliard and myself along with President Yarosewick and Dr. Richard Cunningham were in Concord to testify before the Senate Education Committee on SB10 (If passed it would create a study committee to look at the effectiveness of the USNH Chancellors office).

Rep. Hilliard and myself also co-sponsored the only piece of legislation that would have provided for state-wide kindergarten without raising property taxes. N.H. is the only state in the U.S. not to require kindergarten for its children.

This would have changed under our bill.

If HB25 is passed in its current form, KSC will receive no money from the state for capital improvements.

See LETTERS, page 23

What's On Your Mind?

What is your first opinion of the new Student Center?

Dan Jenkins, senior
P.E. teacher certification
"Fairly impressive, but they could have spent a little more time to install clocks."

Nicole Veilleux, junior home economics
"I think it's going to be a big social center on the campus."

Joe Watkins, sophomore occupational safety
"I really like the new Mabel Brown room; it needs a bar."

Dan Leon, freshman biology
"It looks like a little shopping mall."

THE EQUINOX

THE STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF KEENE STATE COLLEGE

229 Main Street, Keene NH 03435 • 603-358-2413
Established in 1947 Circulation: 3,500

Copyright 1995 All rights reserved. Reproduction of The Equinox in whole or part, either printed or broadcast without the written permission of The Equinox is prohibited.

Elizabeth Crooker, Executive Editor

Jonathan E. Cooper, Managing Editor
Megan LaMasurier, Production Manager
Scott Blanchard, Advertising Manager
Joel Kastner, News Editor
Jon Therrien, Spotlight Editor
Henry Lee, Sports Editor
Jen Girard, Managing Secretary

Janette Nord, Business Manager
Amy Moberg, Production Manager
Becca Conway, Editorial Page Editor
Scott Vallee, A&E Editor
Jesse Stenbak, Photography Editor
Curt LaBombard, Circulation Manager
Paul Montgomery, Adviser

Staff: Jason Carrier, Jason Chellis, Dana Clark, Christian Davalos, Alison Fernald, Chris Gagnon, Jane Hembree, Glen Hawley, Chris Hills Grove, Valerie Hodge, Tim Hutzler, Rob Johnson, Krisy Konopka, Jonathan Logan, Chris MacStravic, Lesley McCord, Doug Minor, Les Montgomery, Keith Moriarty, Neil Morse, Kate Mosbaugh, Brendan P. Murray, Matt Onofre, Jennifer Phelps, Jennifer Pizzi, James Port, Danyelle Potter, Meredith Sawyer, Andrew Sayre, Marcia Shelton, James Steelman, Marc Stevens, Jeffrey Sweeney, Hilary Trick, Carolyn Topolski, Todd VanDek, Eric Wells, Rob Wolner, Kristy Woods

Opinion

Todd's TackTics

By Todd VanDell
The Equinox

Suicide should not have to be anyone's solution

It occurred to me that in my column about my musical tastes I neglected to mention how much I absolutely abhor the song "If You Don't Love Me I'll Kill Myself," by Jeff Buckley.

That song, which discusses committing suicide so cavalierly, is moronic.

Heavy metal rockers Ozzy Osbourne, Queen, Metallica and Judas Priest have all recorded songs that deal with the subject of suicide but at least theirs are intelligent in comparison.

However, Ozzy's and Priest's songs ("Suicide Solution" and "Beyond the Realms of Death" respectively) did generate some serious controversy.

In both cases, the controversy was more than necessary in my opinion. None of the songs say suicide is a good thing, although only Queen's song, "Don't Try Suicide" outright says suicide is not cool.

Metallica's song "Fade to Black" and Priest's song both refer to a person who chose suicide as a way out of the misery they must have felt their life had become.

Neither song condones nor condemns the choice.

Ozzy's "Suicide Solution," may have been the most controversial, followed closely by Priest's "Beyond the Realms of Death."

"Suicide Solution" generated controversy because it actually maps out ways to commit suicide by drinking one's self to death.

The lyrics do not, however, say doing so is cool.

They do lean toward attempting to be empathetic.

Sadly, a few years ago, a young man killed himself while allegedly listening to Ozzy's song.

The boy's mother took Ozzy to court, blaming him for her son's decision to commit suicide.

The case was dropped, however, because the judge determined that Ozzy could not be held to blame for the child's death.

It was more the boy's mother's lack of intervention that should have carried the lion's share of the blame.

There was also a nearly identical lawsuit with Priest's song, "Beyond the Realms of Death" (it may have been "Heroes End" - which was also from their Stained Class album).

I haven't heard any recent songs condoning suicide from the realms of country music, which tends to be more typically known for songs with depressing contents (though I don't profess to be an expert).

Actually, come to think of it, the video duet (dual?) between Reba McEntyre and Linda Davis comes close.

Reba's squeeze is having an affair with Linda and the two cheaters get on a boat which blows up with them on board.

But that song/video doesn't condone suicide, it condoned murder as a crime of passion.

But I digress.

The late Kurt Cobain, erstwhile guitarist, singer and primary songwriter for the Seattle's Nirvana, recorded a song called "I Hate Myself and Want to Die."

The song appeared on the Beavis and Butt-head Experience compilation album and was initially dismissed by its author as not to be taken seriously.

Ironically, looking back at the song now, Cobain was obviously foreshadowing his own demise contrary to what he told the press at the time.

Yes, observant one, I have touched on this in a previous column devoted to Cobain's suicide; that's why this topic may have a familiar ring to it.

Anyway, as morbidly tragic as that song was, I did understand where Cobain was speaking from somewhat.

I've been there myself, believe it or not

(and, actually, even though I hate the song, I have been at the if-you-don't-love-me-I'll-kill-myself level before too, to be honest).

My pain may not have been at Cobain's level, but I have been there. But I'm still alive and he's not.

Does that make me better than him?

No.

Some might say I didn't have the guts to kill myself.

Looking at it that way, I admit I didn't.

As I see it, Cobain didn't have the guts to live his life to its natural end.

Life is tough every single day.

Suicide is an easy way out of dealing with it, as far as I'm concerned.

The challenge: live your life every day, even in the face of any adversity you may be dealing with.

That is what's really tough.

Life is the real deal.

Have the guts to live it.

If life gets too tough for you, talk it out with a friend, a counselor, a minister, a favorite teacher or the Samaritans.

Someone.

Life is important.

Your life is important.

Suicide shouldn't have to be anyone's solution.

WKNH 91.3 FM
Presents

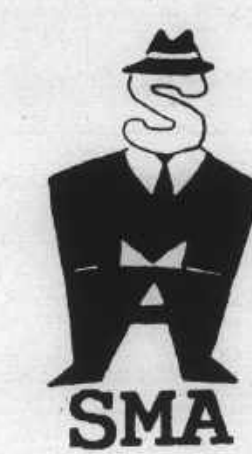

the Toasters

Along With

spring heeled jack

And

SMA

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5TH
IN THE MABEL BROWN ROOM
LLOYD P. YOUNG STUDENT UNION

$5 GEN ADMISSION $3 W/KSC ID
SHOW STARTS AT 8:30 PM

FOR INFO CALL:
358-2420 358-8863

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN BEING A VOLUNTEER TOUR GUIDE?

THE ADMISSIONS OFFICE IS ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS FOR THE 1995-1996 ACADEMIC YEAR

PICK UP YOUR APPLICATION IN THE

ADMISSIONS OFFICE TODAY!

DEADLINE FOR SUBMITTING APPLICATIONS IS APRIL 14TH

INTERVIEWS WILL BE HELD THE WEEK OF APRIL 17TH

USED C.D.'S
Bought & Sold
PITCHFORK RECORDS
"large C.D. collections welcome"
C.D.s Bought For Cash or Credit
43 Main St., Keene, NH 357-5763
Open: M-Th. 10-6 Fri. 10-8; Sat 10-6 Sun 11-4

Studying Abroad This Summer? Better...Book Now!

- * Take Advantage of Student, Faculty, & Staff Discounts!
- * Departures from Boston or New York!
- * Prices are Super low whenever you book!
- * For stays up to 1 year!

-These and many other destinations are available-

ATHENS	$345	AMSTERDAM	$285
BRUSSELS	$255	FLORENCE	$305
LONDON	$285	MADRID	$345
MUNICH	$295	PARIS	$285
ROME	$305	STOCKHOLM	$345
VIENNA	$305	ZURICH	$295

Fares listed are 1/2 the round-trip price for departures before June 14, 1995. Taxes are extra. 1 way tickets available for $50 more than shown.

Call Now & SAVE!
(603) 352-3003
(800) 999-5208

THE Main SALON
64 Main St. Keene, N.H.
352-8128
Mon. - Fri. 9:00 A.M. - 9:00 P.M.
Sat. 9:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M.
Sun. 11:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M.

20% OFF ALL HAIRCUTS
SUNDAYS, MONDAYS AND TUESDAYS WITH STUDENT ID !!!

K.S.C. 10% OFF HAIRCUTS EVERYDAY

MANICURES, PEDICURES
FACIALS, EAR PIERCING WAXING

A FULL SERVICE HAIR
SALON

WE OFFER THE FOLLOWING BRAND NAME PRODUCTS:

KMS      SUKESHA      BIOLOGE
ORGANIC MOODS      NEXXUS      L'ANZA
GRAHAM WEBB      PAUL MITCHELL

News

Search

• from page 1

University of Michigan in 1967. Golden has been on staff of Shippensburg and at the Rochester Institute of Technology. He has published nine scholarly and professional publications from literature to computer literacy.

The third candidate did not actually visit the college. Dr. Vander Haegen already works at Keene State as the dean of sciences and professor of sociology. She received her Ph.D. in sociology from the University of Minnesota. She earned her Masters Degree from Marquette University and at Columbia University. Vander Haegen got a B.A. in sociology from Emmanuel College in 1962. She has previously worked at Mt. Mary College, Mt. St. Paul's College, and at Salve Regina College. She has written six articles about women in education.

The fourth candidate to visit was Dr. Flynn, Jr. He is currently the associate provost at Adelphi University in New York. He received his Ph.D. and Masters Degree from Duke University. Flynn received his B.A. in History at Hamilton College in 1974. He has previously worked at Adelphi, Hanover College, Washington and Jefferson College, Denison University, the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, Millsaps College, and Gustavus Adolphus College. He has published four books on race, class, and culture in the South, and one book for the Army Quarter Masters.

"Out of all the other candidates, Flynn was received best by the students," Ferragina said.

Dr. Richard E. Cunningham, chairman of the search committee and professor of English, arts and humanities at KSC said, "It would be inappropriate for the chairman of the committee to make any comment whatsoever about the candidates."

Ferragina said, "I trust Dr. Y will make a decision which is beneficial to the administration, faculty, staff and students alike and for the future of KSC in general."

Center

• from page 1

Paul Strifolino, director of the Lloyd P. Young Student Center, said it is a matter of time before all of the problems will be worked out.

Strifolino and Lauer said there are no major problems with the new center; most of the problems are doors and locks that are not working, electrical outlets without power and other minor problems.

Lauer said she has heard positive reaction from students and that the center's location will help it act as a focal point for the campus community, something the college was previously lacking.

The general consensus shared among administrators, and now students, is that the building will act as a centerpiece for campus life, offering students a place to congregate and socialize. Placing student organizations in close proximity of one another has already generated a positive response.

"Everybody, especially in this area, is right next to each other. We're not all in separate buildings, like The Equinox and WKNH are actually in the same building with everybody else, and that's awesome," said Student Assembly Secretary Allison Pascucci. "I think it's going to build a real sense of community at Keene State."

Lauer said the building will work as a central part of campus for students and faculty alike.

"Last night (Monday), as we were closing up the building there were probably 50 to 60 students throughout the building just doing exactly what we wanted - hanging out," said Lauer. "In the other building, by 10 p.m. it was kind of deserted."

Lauer also stressed the number of student workers who are directly involved with day-to-day running of the center.

There are six building managers, five information desk attendants and three technical workers, all of whom are students, and will work with the full-time staff during the week, and operate the building on nights and weekends.

The campus bookstore has hired an additional eight student workers to staff the store which is now 50 percent bigger.

Gale Bys, manager of the bookstore, said she plans to expand the clothing line and computer software line by next semester. The bookstore will also evaluate current hours of operation and make necessary alterations, including alternative weekend hours, by next year.

"I think we are fortunate to be in a building like this," said Bys. "I think it's exciting and I hope the students appreciate it."

Bys also supervises the Owls Roost, which is located on the first floor of the center next to the bookstore.

Kari Lackheart, clerk at the Owls Roost, said the campus convenience store has already seen a great deal of business.

"We've already seen a vast improvement in traffic even though it is only the second day," said Lackheart.

The center will also play a vital role in attracting prospective students to Keene State College.

"This is going to be an incredible recruiting tool. I think that it is an appropriate sign of the expansion Keene's been doing over the past two or three years," said Nick Germana, sophomore class president.

Dole

• from page 1

The 71-year-old senator visited Keene in February and spoke at the Keene Public Library.

During that speech, Dole said that Keene and the surrounding area are important to his run for President.

Dole has already received endorsement in his bid for the White House from Senator Judd Gregg (New Hampshire-R). Gregg is working as Regional Co-Chair for the Northeast Region for the Dole camp.

In related campaign news, former Joint-Chief of Staff Colin Powell announced that he will make his decision to run for president by September.

File Photo

HELP SET A NEW WORLD RECORD FOR KEENE

VOLLEY BALL MARATHON

3 PRIZES - $250 EACH

THURSDAY APRIL 20, 1995 @ NOON
'ROUND THE CLOCK THROUGH SUNDAY APRIL 23 @ NOON

ANYONE CAN WIN HERE'S HOW:

The KSC Wise Choices Program presents the first ever, world record setting Marathon Volleyball Game:

- Two teams will play for 90 minutes.
- Play will continue with replacement teams at the end of each 90 minute session.
- At the end of each 90 minute session, the team with the most points will receive three chances for the $150 prize
- The other team will receive one chance for the prizes
- The score of the marathon game will be kept for the duration of the game,
- The overall game will continue day and night during the entire weekend with teams scheduled continuously throughout the weekend. Your schedules session time will be randomly selected from all applications.
- Winners of the $250 Prizes will be randomly selected from all the chances at the end of the marathon
- $10 entry fee allows you to play two 90 minute sessions. Enter as many sessions as you would like

VOLLEYBALL MARATHON

3 PRIZES - $250 EACH

ANYONE CAN WIN! EVEN YOU!

Music and DJ's provided by the Mobile Mixologists DJ Services!

Rules

- Each team may have a maximum of 6 players, although the games are 4 vs. 4.
- Game will be played on the sand volleyball court at K.S.C. Oya Hill
- The game will continue rain or shine!
- Teams may be comprised of all males or all females or combined male and female. There are no gender restrictions
- Your time will be randomly selected from all applications.
- Remember, the game will continue day and night therefore your team may be scheduled at some difficult hours.
- All teams will be notified of their session by April 17, 1995
- Refreshments will be supplied
- If you would like to challenge another team please note the other team on the entry form.

Entry Fee

- $10/ team plus a 10 forfeit fee. The $10 forfeit fee will be returned if your team does not forfeit any game.
- 10% of all proceeds will be donated to Keene Middle School D.A.R.E. Program

Entry Deadline

Due before Thursday April 13 @ 3:00 p.m. Return toe entry form with your $20 dollar fee to K.S.C. Joslin House, room 107, the office of Jim Matthews. MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO KEENE STATE COLLEGE

"Wise Choices" MARATHON VOLLEYBALL ENTRY FORM

Team Name _____ Phone# _____
Co-Captain _____ Phone# _____
Co-Captain _____ Phone# _____
1 _____ 2 _____
3 _____ 4 _____
Would you like to play more than one session? _____
How many? _____ Would you like to challenge another team? _____ Who? _____
Would you like to help with the marathon? _____

Questions? Call Jim Matthews,
Wise Choices 358-2866

KSC

SPOTLIGHT

Personality

Baldini: Making beautiful music

By Erik Willis
The Equinox

Teaching music was something that Don Baldini has always wanted to do.

After playing in two famous bands for more than 17 years he finally settled down in Keene and soon found what he was looking for.

Four years ago, Baldini began teaching at KSC. In previous years he has lectured at UCLA and UNLV and even taught private music lessons.

He went to school for four years at Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana and then ventured off on his own to become a professional musician.

Throughout his professional career, Baldini has played in two famous bands. He played the electric bass for The Tonight Show Band for 14 years. Another musician led him to the studio, and there he performed with no rehearsal. As Baldini put it, "it was sink or swim."

He also worked with Frank Sinatra for a number of years. During this time he traveled the United States, Europe and the Orient. He has played at the White House and also for royalty in Monaco.

A musician's life has many trials and tribulations. It was not uncommon for him to have to keep his suitcase constantly packed because he was always on the road. Many times he would be called to perform unexpectedly.

At the present time he is teaching

Jazz history, music theory, and is the conductor of the KSC Chamber Orchestra and the KSC Jazz Band.

His extensive music collection is comprised of all types of music. He himself plays rhythm and blues, classical, rock and roll and jazz. His all-time favorite band is the Count Basie band. His favorite band of the 90's is Wynton Marsalis. His favorite musician of all-time is Bill Evans, a pianist.

After leaving the performing business, he moved to Keene. He had seen Keene earlier in his life and he enjoys the natural surroundings.

Equinox/Jon Therman
Jam Session-Professor Baldini a former member of the Tonight Show band shows off his talent.

Personality of the week

Rebecca Barron

- Sophomore
- Major- Early Childhood Development
- Hometown- Madison Ct.
- Volunteering Barron volunteers for Monadnock Developmental Services. Monadnock Developmental Services is an organization similar to Big Brother/Big Sister except the volunteers spend time with adults and children that are physically and/or developmentally challenged.

Barron learned about MDS through one of her special education classes.

• Last Year Barron also worked with a five year old boy that had Downe Syndrome.

If you are interested in volunteering for Monadnock Developmental Services: 924-7845 (Peterborough office), 352-1304 (Keene Office), or 876-4175 (Marlborough Office).

Contact the Community service office at 358-2665 for more information or stop by their new office on the second floor of the new Student Center.

Equinox/Rob Johnson
Rebecca Barron volunteer for MDS

Equinox/Jon Therman
Building Bridges- David Cieri, Brandt Anderson, Cara Higgins and other members of S.A.M. are building bridges to the business world.

Club

S.A.M. helps students climb business ladder

By Jason Carrier
The Equinox

Looking for a managerial job? Interested in becoming more familiar with the Keene business community or management world in general?

Then Students for Advancing Management, better known as S.A.M., is the organization for you.

The purpose of S.A.M. is to establish a working relationship between students and the business community through guest speakers, innovative activities and other social events. These events create a valuable head start that bridges the student from college into the working world.

One organization the members of S.A.M. are involved with is the Keene Rotary Club. The Keene Rotary Club consists of high ranking management officials in the city of Keene. Students meet with selected Rotary Club advisors also known as mentors.

Students are placed with the various mentors depending on the interests and the mentors specialties such as human resource management, marketing, and accounting.

Mentors also provide students with internship opportunities.

Members of the rotary club are not always entirely business oriented. The Director of the YMCA in Keene, Humane Society Members and an Occupational Health Nurse are a few members.

Students are often given the opportunity to observe the mentors in their professional roles in relation to the business world.

Mentors occasionally are given the opportunity to attend classes with the students. "This proves to be an excellent way for the college to get involved in the Keene community," explained Dave Cieri, Vice President of Programs and Promotions.

S.A.M. provides the Keene collegiate community with various guest speakers every semester. Cieri explained that Dr. Stanley J. Yarosewick, President of Keene State College, is scheduled to be a guest speaker for S.A.M. this semester and Dr. King, adviser of S.A.M. is expected to provide students with a mock interview session.

Scheduled this semester, are two to three members from eleven various organizations to visit the Keene college community on April 18 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The individual organizations will be given an opportunity to present the student body with see S.A.M. page 21

Spotlight

A green perspective

Preserving the Great Northern Forest

By Doug Minor
The Equinox

To most people any mention of wilderness brings to mind the vast expanses of lands west of the Rocky Mountains, including Alaska. Perhaps, this is for good reason, since most of the land that has been set aside for future generations resides in the western half of the United States.

However, stretching across some 26 million acres and 4 states including northern New York, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, the Northern Forest Eco-region, is the largest expanse of forest in the eastern United States. The region is home to countless species of plants, migratory birds, songbirds and animals. Diverse habitats make the area an ideal home for a wide variety of wildlife such as moose, black bear, bobcat, deer, fox, coyote and the bald eagle to name just a few.

Hundreds of mountain peaks, and sixty thousand miles of lakes and rivers make the region a distinct place unlike anywhere else on earth. The richness of the land and abundance of species makes the land an irreplaceable national treasure, rivaling lands of the western U.S.

Within the past few decades, however, the integrity of the Northern Forest ecosystem has become increasingly threatened by uncontrolled development, ecologically unsound forest practices and declining rural economies - all are threats to the ecological integrity of the region.

The economy of the 1 million or so people that live in communities within the bounds of the Northern Forest Eco-region are based, for the most part, on the logging and tourism industry.

Of concern to many conservation groups such as the Sierra Club, Restore: The North Woods, The Wilderness Society and the National Audubon Society, is that 80 percent of the Northern Forest lands are owned by large timber and paper corporations with headquarters centered outside the region. Only 20 percent of the regions total lands are within the bounds of public parks and forests, with a meager 3 percent owned by the federal government.

There seems to be no local, state or regional control as interests from outside the states and sometimes even outside the country, sell and buy large tracts of land, sometimes overnight. Since 1989, for instance, over 3 million acres of forest land has been sold in the Northern Forest region.

The Sierra Club has put forth several proposals to protect and preserve the long-term integrity of the Northern Forest Region.

They have proposed that a Great Northern Forest Policy plan be enacted to set aside 10 critical wildlands in the region (see listing below). The proposed policy has three key elements: 1. A major portion of these wildlands must become publicly owned and remain in their natural state, 2. Forest management in outlying sections of these wildlands must meet stringent ecological guidelines, and 3. Future human development and large scale commercial forestry must take place only outside these wildlands.

The Sierra Club has proposed to pay for these wildlands by buying them as they become available on the open market.

To accomplish this a federal and state funding program would be enacted to pay for land as it becomes available for sale on the open market. The lands would then be placed in a public trust to protect and preserve them in their natural state from future development.

A new initiative must also be undertaken to work with private land owners, timber companies, and local economies by enacting innovative programs, incentives, cooperatives and taxation policies that allow the Northern Forest region to flourish in a sustainable manner.

The goal of the Sierra Club is to preserve this last great forest of the eastern United States, not only for today, but for future generations.

There is a "common ground" to be found between timber corporations, landowners, and conservationist. A sustainable and more ecologically modeled plan needs to be put into place that utilizes the Great Northern Forest Eco-region as a sustainable resource, for recreation and enjoyment. We can have all three it just means that we might have to alter the way we do business.

To learn more about The Great Northern Forest and how you can get involved, attend the Sierra Club sponsored program called "Preserving The Northern Forest." Michael Kellett from Restore: The North Woods will be presenting a slide show and discussion regarding Restore's efforts in the Northern Forest.

The presentation is Thursday April 13, at 7 p.m. in the Waltz Lecture Hall and is free to the public.

Listing of 10 proposed Wildlands of the Great Northern Forest

Adirondack Park
Greater Baxter State Park Area
Boundary Mountains Region
Northern Green Mountains
Connecticut River Headwaters
Nulhegan River Area
Core of the Tug Hill Upper Androscoggin Valley Area
Downeast Lakes Region
Upper St. Johns Valley

Equinox/Robert K. Wolner
Hot, Hot, Hot- Nothin' Fancy home of the Mexican pizza. Nothin' Fancy also serves delectable Quesadillas and Steak Piccada.

Food

Nothin' Fancy spices up the variety in Keene

By Jane Hembree
The Equinox

Looking to add a little spice to your life?

Nothin' Fancy Mexican Bar and Grill at 149 Emerald St. may have just what you're looking for.

Nothin' Fancy offers a wide selection on their menu to satisfy anyone's appetite.

For starters, each meal begins with salsa and chips and if that doesn't tide you over other house dips include the house favorite, hot sausage and cheese for $4.95 and guacamole dip for $6.95. Various kinds of nachos are available in two sizes such as chili and cheese costing $3.95 or $5.95 and house, salsa and cheese costing $3.50 or $5.50. Side orders include spanish rice, available in small or large portions with or without meat and ranging in price from $1.50 to $2.75. Homemade onion rings for the same prices are also available. Main entrees include a hot mexican pizza with choice of fillings at $5.95 or the steak piccada for $10.95. Quesadillas, burritos and other traditional Mexican meals are of course on the menu with several choices of toppings (these sometimes cost extra). If you still can't make up your mind try the mexican combination plate for $9.95. If you're not in the mood for Mexican, Nothin' Fancy still may be able to please you. Their menu has Americano and sandwich selections. For example, the Texas burger plate comes with onion rings, french fries or a salad for only $6. Also there's the fancy B.L.T. for $3.95. A daily selection of desserts is available too.

Nothin' Fancy is set in the Southwestern style, they even serve beverages in mason jars and adorn the restaurants with cacti and Mexican garbs. With a courteous wait staff that can't be beat, Nothin' Fancy is sure to take you south of the border seven days a week from 11:30 a.m. until close.

Nothin' Fancy is set in the Southwestern style, they even serve beverages in mason jars and adorn the restaurants with cacti and Mexican garbs. With a courteous wait staff that can't be beat, Nothin' Fancy is sure to take you south of the border seven days a week from 11:30 a.m. until close.

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Equinox/JESSE STENBAK

SO LONG, FARE WELL... Many of the concerts and comedy shows that were held in the Mabel Brown Room have moved to the multi-purpose room in the new Student Center. A battle of the bands, hosted by Eta Gamma Chi, was the last event this year.

Performance

Mabel Brown room hosts last battle

By Neil Morse
The Equinox

Eta Gamma Chi sorority hosted the battle of the bands in the last show ever to be held in the Mabel Brown Room Friday night. The battle raged into the wee hours of the night as the contestants vied for the $100 grand prize and a chance to play at the sorority's next function.

First up was Buckle, a band from Gardener, Mass., whose guitarist came down from the top of the rock pile (Mt. Washington) to play. Although they put on a good show, they didn't quite pull off the Pearl Jam covers and their originals were rather weak and '80s-ish. Not having a strong vocalist really hurt this band.

The second band up was Paint It Blue, a favorite amongst KSC's bohemians. Always a crowd-drawer, Paint It Blue played a great set of their own brand of original/improvisational music. Rumor has it that Paint It Blue (guitarist/songwriter, Dave Hughes, singer, T.J. Welch and bass player Jay Aucella) might be leaving for Boston next year in hopes of broadening their musical direction.

The next band was the powerhouse newcomers, Whatever. This band rocked out some note for note covers of Pearl Jam and Green Day to roaring audience approval. Comprised of a diverse group of fraternity brothers, their cheering section was most powerful. This band had a strong singer and it made all the difference in the world. These guys also had the most equipment and the most volume blaring from the stage.

Faith and Squirrels was up next. Keene High's local headbasher's rocked out with some Rolling Stones and Jane's Addiction covers and originals but were a little shaky on the delivery. Faith needs to get back in the garage and work it out a little more but they do have a very solid drummer.

Last up was the quirky Dysfunctional Cheeze. This band is becoming a cult phenomenon here at KSC. There was a large group of Cheezeheads chanting "cheese, cheese, cheese." Also, a good portion of Provolone and American fromage was thrown from the stage in a blatant, horrific display of distorted guitars and ranting vocals.

Not surprisingly, Whatever was the unanimous favorite winning the battle on their first public performance. Paint It Blue was a close second.

Despite the debauchery of the evening the Mabel Brown Room survived with dignity the final show of its long and prosperous life. Good-bye.

Movie Review

Wayans should have stuck with 'In Living Color'

By Krissy Konopka
The Equinox

"Major Payne" is really a major pain not just a clever name.

Damon Wayans stars in the new comedy, "Major Payne." Wayans has been in television's "In Living Color," which also starred Jim Carrey. A few years ago, Wayans was in the summer comedy, "Mo' Money."

Wayans is expanding his resume because not only did he act in "Major Payne," he is an executive producer and part of the screenplay team as well.

Co-starring as Payne's love interest is Karyn Parsons. Most people are familiar with her character of Hillary Banks in television's "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air." Her film character of Miss Wahlberg is very different from that of Hillary.

Payne is discharged from his duties as major because he didn't advance to lieutenant in a given amount of time. However, within two weeks, Payne is back in uniform, and assigned to another mission, only this time, it is more dangerous, more challenging and worse than any other mission before.

He has to coach a group of boys that attend Madison Preparatory School and prepare them for the Junior ROTC tournament in eight weeks.

The boys range from six to 17 years old. Payne starts right in on them, ordering them around, making them do push-ups for the smallest misbehavior and calling them names. He doesn't let the group get the best of him under any circumstances. The boys learned that quickly, after the major makes them shave their heads bald.

The boys aren't interested in winning the championship, but Payne is serious about all that he does and he works them day and night in preparation for the tournament. He challenges the boys, maybe more than he should, but that is the only way he knows how.

While his group of "men" are conspiring ways to get rid of the "Payne," the major is beginning to get involved with the boy's teacher, Miss Wahlberg. She loves the children and believes in nurturing them and building up their self-esteem. Payne believes just the opposite. The two clash on how to handle the boys but if they can just get past that...

The boys try perverted photos, laxatives and a big biker to get rid of him but Payne is always one step ahead. Finally, he tells them he will leave if they can get the trophy. The boys think that he means by taking it, but he means by earning it.

In the last week of training, Payne has earned the respect of his men and the love of Miss Wahlberg. However, he is called back to fight. He says he will be there, leaving the boys to win the tournament on their own. Those who want to know if he returns will have to see the movie.

"Major Payne" is really a disappointment. It seems like Wayans' talent is wasted and the funny parts of the movie are held back. There aren't any scenes that are funny enough to recall for friends or to really get anyone laughing all that much. It isn't a bad movie, but it could have been much better. It had a lot of potential but the comedic part of the movie should have been developed more than it was. All the elements were there—the talented cast and amusing plot—but somehow the movie never clicked.

This seems like "The Mighty Ducks," but not as successful. "Major Payne" gives a few chuckles, but none that are worth $6.50. Wait for the tape to come out on rental—the chuckles are worth a few dollars.

A&E Columns

For Your Viewing Pleasure

By James Steelman
The Equinox

Oscar dreams: films overlooked at the Academy Awards

The Academy Awards—that rich pageant of wealth, power and arrogance... the day Hollywood takes a break from patting itself on the back and lets others pat them on the back instead. As usual, there were no big surprises this year. At least Letterman was on hand to make it all a little more palatable.

Letterman astutely jumped on the bandwagon to champion the cause of "Hoop Dreams," a dynamite documentary that was perhaps the most notorious of the overlooked films at this year's ceremonies.

For those of you who have been asleep for the past six months, "Hoop Dreams" is a film which chronicles the lives of two inner-city (Chicago) youths who dream of playing basketball for the NBA. The filmmakers (Steve James, Frederick Marx and Peter Gilbert) started following the two teens around in 1986 and covered their lives over a five year period—and then spent two years whittling a three-hour film out of 250-plus hours of footage. The result is an engrossing, intimate portrait of these young men and their families and is as much a film about the perils of growing up in the city as it is about basketball. I'm not a huge basketball fan, but the sheer scope of this project impressed the hell out of me. Not only is it a well-made film, but it is amazing how much its subjects open up to the filmmakers, allowing us to observe someone else's life as though we were part of it. It is, simply, a remarkable achievement.

"Hoop Dreams" was nominated for only one Oscar—Best Editing—and it didn't win. Why wasn't it nominated for Best Documentary?

I posed that question to Ken Burns—perhaps the best known documentary filmmaker in the world ("The Civil War"). Burns is no stranger to being snubbed at Oscar time. This year his mammoth undertaking, "Baseball," was completely overlooked. He explained that in order for a film to be eligible to win, it must be seen by the appropriate Academy members at screenings in either New York or Los Angeles. Apparently these screenings are sparsely attended—so sparsely in fact that it is quite simple for a filmmaker to "buy" his/her Oscar simply by offering transportation to and from the screenings to eligible voters. Enough supporters at a certain screening can guarantee a win.

This doesn't explain why neither "Hoop Dreams" or "Baseball" were nominated in the first place. Burns, however, is quick to point out that in a money-driven system such as Hollywood there isn't much room for a documentary category anyway. Documentary films are usually more of a labor of love than an attempt to exploit and cash-in. Perhaps a new awards ceremony, specifically for documentaries, is in order. It could give American audiences a chance to appreciate films which have more meaning than a box-office gross.

"Hoop Dreams" is perhaps the most glaring example of the Oscar's near-sightedness this year, but it's not the only one in my estimation. Both "The Crow" and "The Hudsucker Proxy" deserved to be nominated for Best Art Direction—neither one got diddly. What is art direction? The art director is essentially responsible for the overall look and feel of the film. "The Crow" had some problems script-wise, but it is wonderful to look at. The atmosphere of the comic-book like urban hell is as grim and terrifying as it is unforgettable. Likewise with "Hudsucker." I'll admit it, I didn't care for the film too much, but every set is beautiful, the attention to detail verges on the maniacal and hence, in my opinion, is worthy of recognition.

What the hell happened to "Where the Rivers Flow North"? For those of you who missed my review of it last semester, it is a great little picture shot in Vermont for under $2 million by independent filmmaker Jay Craven. It's the story of Noel Lourdes, a logger who lives in the forest with his longtime companion, Bangor. The film is set in 1927 in an area of Northern Vermont which is

see B-MOVIES, page 14

The Music Beat

Why do they need to make another recording? 'Grease!' tells 'em why

By Frank Behrens
Contributing Writer

There are several reasons for recording yet another version of a Broadway musical when the original cast set is still on the market. The latter Golden Oldies were issued on 78s with only the major songs featured. A newer CD rendering can offer almost 50 percent more of the score. So better sound and more material are two reasons.

Then again, a revival is done on Broadway and so, an "original" cast album must be made to commemorate that deathless event. Or, some producer feels a new or ready-to-retire singer from the world of opera wants to do a cross-over (as when Kiri Te Kanawa was allowed to murder Eliza Doolittle in a horrible "My Fair Lady" remake not long ago).

So when RCA-Victor came out with a 1994 revival version of "Grease!," I added it to my collection for the sake of completeness. Never having liked rock (and I was there when "Dance with me, Henry" started it all), I could equally never tell the satire from the real thing. I will admit, however, compared to what I hear today, the rock of "Grease!" (while not quite the Rock of Ages) is like Mozart.

So RCA-Victor CD (09026-62703-2) is really a lot of fun for those who can remember Sandra Dee and have no recollection whatsoever of the original recording. The notes tell us that "the musical has been re-worked, re-designed, re-orchestrated—a 1990s take on a 1970s musical about the 1950s." Uh, yeah. Is this a revival in the strict sense if liberties are taken with the music? Well, in the case of "Grease!," what difference?

The role of Betty Rizzo, given only two songs to herself, is considered the lead and on this disc Rosie O'Donnell does bring across the toughness that just might hide a vulnerable human being beneath. Backed by Ricky Paul Goldin, Susan Wood, Sam Harris, Marcia Lewis and Billy Porter, she leads a pretty enjoyable romp of what might be nostalgic to some.

And then when the same musical came from RCA with Brooke Shields on the jacket cover and the identical cast except for O'Donnell! I knew that Shields replaced her on stage, but did this cast call for a complete new recording? Well, under the catalogue number 09026-68179-2, this is the same CD except for the bands that used to contain O'Donnell and now contain Shields. Bland is the best I can say! So she is gorgeous on stage. But this is a CD. Oh well, whatever sells.

If you don't know that the music of "Kismet" is Americanized Borodin, then you belong on the steppes of central Asia. Again the original cast effort with Alfred Drake as the poet and Joan Diener is very much available on CD. But two other versions offer a better deal. The RCA-Victor offering (09026-68040-2) has the cast of the Lincoln Center revival back in the mid-1960s and it is a good one.

Alfred Drake is back, sounding a bit more fatherly. Anne Jeffreys is the lascivious Lalume, while Lee Venora and Richard Banke make an attractive pair of lovers. The sinister-comic role of the Wazir is repeated by Henry Calvin from the original Broadway production and he almost convinces you he can sing bass-baritone, which is necessary in the glorious quartet based on Borodin's Nocturne section of his second string quartet. The song given to Lalume in the movie version, "Bored," is included in this set, which I would definitely recommend over the original cast in more respects.

But Sony Records has "Kismet" in their "Broadway" series and it is a stunning version with opera's own Samuel Ramey in the Drake role, Ruth Ann Swenson and Jerry Hadley as full-voiced lovers, and Julia Migenes as the best Lalume yet. You might have caught Migenes as the sexiest Carmen in memory in the film version. While Anne Jeffreys might look better, on a CD, Migenes just oozes vocally all the "it" required of the role and more.

The 68-minute CD includes not only "Bored" but a song for the soprano that was dropped before opening night. The 1994 Sony sound is of course a bit more advanced than the 1964 RCA sound—but that should not be a top artistic consideration.

Where this set fails is in the choice of Dom DeLuise as the Wazir. His light, non-signing voice gets away with it in this only solo but he sounds totally out of his depth in the quartet. The casting of "personalities" in key roles has got to stop! If you get a Ramey for the lead, you do not get a DeLuise to match him.

So which one to get—and you should have at least one—is a photofinish decision, but I leave it to you to examine the photo.

Arts and Entertainment

Concert

Top band players to perform at KSC

• The "Best of the Best" in New England collegiate band music

By Scott Vallee
The Equinox

This may just be the finest concert you will ever hear from college band members.

On Saturday, the Keene State Community will welcome some of the finest band performers from around New England when the New England College Band Association's (NECBA) presents its 13th annual Intercollegiate Band Festival. The concert will be held in the Main Theatre at the Arts Center on Brickyard Pond.

Each year, the NECBA hires a special guest conductor to lead the group. This year's guest conductor is also a nationally renowned composer, Dr. W. Francis McBeth. McBeth comes to the festival from Ouachita Baptist University in Arkadelphia, Ark. where he is a professor of music and the chairman of the Theory-Composition Department. Closer to home, he has also conducted the Manchester Music Explorer's Band.

This year's program will include two original pieces from McBeth: "From These Grapes" and "Of Sailors and Whales" which features the band performing a vocal section. Also on the program are Hanson's "Symphony No. 2 (Romantic) Opus 30, Verdi's "La Forza Del Destino" and Sousa's "Semper Fidelis."

The band consists of 86 members from 22 area colleges and universities. Each member is chosen by submitting an audio tape of a solo performance.

This year's band will consist of nine KSC musicians: Jason Boudard, tuba; Gillian Gual, flute; Louise Dierker, Bb clarinet; Christopher Kelley, euphonium; Sarah Hennings, flute; Thomas O'Malley, snare/mallets; Melissa Sherblom, bassoon; David Stimson, Bb clarinet; and Kevin Ort, cornet.

Throughout the two-day event, the NECBA Lifetime Achievement Award will be presented and an informal discussion with McBeth will be held.

Douglas Nelson, the director of the KSC Concert Band and professor of Music at KSC, has been the president-elect of the NECBA for two years and will be inaugurated this year at the festival. He is in charge of setting up the festival location and getting the guest conductor for each festival.

Call the Brickyard box office at 358-2168 for ticket information.

FILE PHOTO
CULTURE CENTER—The Arts Center on Brickyard Pond is the area's largest center for the performing and the fine arts. Music classes, art classes, theater classes along with the Putnam Lecture Hall Film Series and numerous performances use this KSC facility. This week, the seasonal KSC Choir concert will be held tonight and the annual NECBA Intercollegiate Band Festival will be held on Saturday, April 8. See related stories on this page.

Concert

Spring choir concert tonight

By Jonathan E. Cooper
The Equinox

The Keene State College Concert Choir and Chamber Singers, under the direction of Dr. Hubert Bird, will present "Music for an April Evening," tonight at 8, in the Main Theatre at the Arts Center on Brickyard Pond.

The annual spring concert contains a program of cultural, folk, operatic, musical theater and contemporary choral music.

The Chamber Singers will open the concert with Braham's "Chorus of Homage," Pelz's "Peace I Leave with You," four Slovak folk songs by Bartok and three spirituals.

The concert will also showcase an original piece by choir member Melissa Mentus, "You Are the Light and On and On."

The show will also include a piece from Coleman's musical "Sweet Charity," the traditional Irish folk song "Cockles and Mussels," "Gloria from Ramirez's "Missa Criola," the Spanish folk song, "El Vito" and three pieces from Robert Young. The female voice sections will perform Holst's "Hymn to the Waters" and the male voices will perform, "Blow Ye the Trumpet" from Mechum's opera, "John Brown."

The Concert Choir will end the concert with three selections from Leonard Bernstein's musical, "Candide," based on the novel by Voltaire. Micah Weiss and Lisa Hutson will act out a portion of the production to introduce the final selection.

Last semester, the Concert Choir performed its traditional Christmas Concert, along with a piece titled "Legacy," a tribute to John Fitzgerald Kennedy, on November 22, 1994. "Legacy" was written by Dr. Bird and commissioned by the Keene Pops Choir.

Call the Brickyard box office at 358-2168 for ticket information.

At any rate, my little diatribe is not intended to put anyone off the Oscars—they have their moments when they do the right thing. But I would suggest that they should be taken with a grain of salt. There's a treasure trove of wonderful films out there that don't make it to the world's largest popularity contest. Find 'em, watch 'em and enjoy 'em.

Well film fans, that's enough preaching out of me for one week. I realize this marks the second week in a row that I haven't mentioned anything even remotely related to cheesy monster movies. I haven't lost it—next week we'll look at "Monster on the Campus" (really cheesy) and an Ed Wood classic "Bride of the Monster" (far beyond cheesy). Remember to recycle those black jujyfruits.

Performance

Fear and Trembling rock the TOP

By Jon Therrien
The Equinox

On Friday night, the band Fear and Trembling rocked the TOP room.

Fear and Trembling, a new Christian band performed two sets of songs. Lead singer Kristin Howard wailed out lyrics about sex, drugs and life but also about Jesus Christ and living a Christian life.

The band is compiled of a variety of students and local community people. Howard is the lead singer, Mike Pekham plays rhythm guitar and sing background vocals, Steve Maturro plays bass and also sings background vocals.

Their concert began with "Ready for the Storm" followed by their signature song "Fear and Trembling." Some of the other rock tunes performed were "Story of the Son of Man," "Somewhere over the Rainbow" and "Dangerous Line."

They ended on an upbeat note with their latest single, "Wrong Kind of Love."

Prizes were given away during intermission. The prizes ranged from CDs to T-shirts. The crowd was entertained with a skit performed by band manager Julie Leyare and other members.

Fear and Trembling played mostly rock and alternative music. Many noted that they were much improved from previous performances.

Rebecca Carpenter, a junior elementary and special education major, said, "Judging from other's reactions it was a very powerful concert and really served the purpose of spreading God's word."

Amy Dyer, a senior psychology major, said, "They did a really great job." The band showed a great deal of energy which made the concert really enjoyable.

B-Movies

• from page 13

about to get its first hydro-electric dam—but only if Lourdes sells his land. The power company does everything they can to force him off but he stubbornly persists—a real rural rebel.

Veteran mainstream actors Michael J.

Fox and Treat Williams appear in minor roles, but it is Rip Torn and Tando Cardinal as the couple who are the standouts of the cast. Cardinal is especially fantastic: I haven't seen an actress like her in years. The amount of emotion she conveys without saying a word is magical. She not only deserved a Best Actress nomination, she deserved to win. Shame on you, Academy!

Calendar

Campus

April 5

COMEDY Brian Frazer. 9 p.m. Nite Owl Café. Free. For more information call Patrice at x-2664.

BIBLE Study. Student Union, 2nd Floor Lounge. Keene State Christian Fellowship. 7-8 p.m.

INTRAMURAL Tennis tournament entry deadline. Room 112, Spaulding Gymnasium. 4 p.m.

CONCERT Choir/Chamber Singers. Main Theatre, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 8 p.m.

MUSIC for an April Evening, presented by the KSC Concert

Choir and Chamber Singers. Alumni Recital Hall, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 8 p.m. Call the box office at x-2168 for more information.

April 6

INTRAMURAL Whiffleball entry deadline. Room 112, Spaulding Gymnasium. 4 p.m.

KEENE State Christian Fellowship. Great Hall, Holloway Hall. 7:30-9 p.m.

WKNH Listen to WKNH 91.3 fm for the latest club & dance mixes. Only on "Original Sin" with the Darkangel of Radio. 4-6 p.m.

April 7

Community

4/5

LARRY Levine & BudMusic. Open Stage Feature. BudMusic charms its audiences with a blend of classical, folk and rock traditions, a warm acoustic sound with rich vocal harmony and a humorous stage presence. 8 p.m. Donations. the Folkway, 85 Grove St., Peterborough. call 924-7484 for more info.

TIM Dyer and Friends. A definite open mike night, Tim now has an entire evening to strut his stuff. Mole's Eye Cafe, downstairs at the corner of Main & High, Brattleboro, VT. For more info. call (802) 257-0771.

DISAPPEAR Fear. The brain behind this band is a seemingly unstoppable and very energetic woman named Sonia, who sings and writes from a great passion to diminish the fear in a world which builds barriers between people. 7 p.m. $10, adv./$12, door. Iron Horse Music Hall, 20 Center St., Northampton, Mass.

4/6

OPEN Mike Night at the Mole's Eye Cafe. Downstairs at the corner of Main & High, Brattleboro, VT. For more info. call (802) 257-0771.

COURSE selection for Fall '95 ends.

NEW England Intercollegiate Band. Main Theatre, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 7 p.m.

April 8

INTRAMURAL tennis tournament. A Field Courts. 11 a.m.

BASEBALL at Sacred Heart University.

SOFTBALL at University of New Haven.

NEW England Intercollegiate Band. Main Theatre, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 7 p.m.

April 9

4/7

HOOP Dreams. A Hopkins Center film special. the role of basketball in the dreams of inner city teens. Praised by critics as one of 1994's best films. Spaulding Auditorium, Dartmouth College, Hanover. $6. For more info. call 646-2422. 7 p.m.

RACHEL Bissex & Bernice Lewis. Rachel's truly remarkable voice and wide ranging repertoire make her one of the finest talents in the region. Bernice is a very strong songwriter who has elevated the experiences of everyday life to an artform. 8:30 p.m. $10. The Folkway, 85 Grove St., Peterborough. for more info. call 924-7484.

4/8

ANI DiFranco has a voice that can rock the boat one minute and the cradle the next. Colonial Theatre. 7:30 p.m. $10, adv./$12, door. Lisa McCormick to open.

4/9

BREAD & Puppet, kicks off the Art and Social Justice Conference and Festival. Brattleboro Union High School, Brattleboro, Vt. Adults, $8adv/$10 door. Students & seniors, $4 adv/$5 door.

4/10

JUNIOR Wells. Blues legend and his 8-piece band kick off Spring Blues Series. 7:30 p.m. $10, adv. The Pearl Street Nightclub, 10 Pearl St., Northampton, Mass. Call 413-584-7771 for more info.

4/11

LECTURE Judge A. Leon Higginbotham, Jr. delivers the Frank Rowe Kenison Lecture, "Justices Thurgood Marshall and Clarence Thomas: Clashing Views and Values". Rines Auditorium, Franklin Pierce Law Center, 2 White St., Concord. Free. Open to the public. Call 228-1541 for more info.

MUSIC The Sunday Night Acoustic Music and Open Mike Series. Featuring, Paint it Blue. Nite Owl Café. 7 p.m. Sign up by 6:45 p.m. for open mike. Prizes and free food. For more information call Patrice at x-2664.

PRAYER Keene State Christian Fellowship. Carle Hall Options Room. 7-8 p.m.

SOFTBALL vs. University of Bridgeport.

COLLEGIUM Musicum. Alumni Recital Hall, arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 8 p.m. Free and open to the public. For more information contact the department of music at x-2177.

April 10

MENC workshop. Alumni Recital Hall, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 2 p.m.

April 11

BIBLE Study. Mabel Brown Room. Keene State Christian Fellowship. 7-8 p.m.

INTRAMURAL Whiffleball Tournament. Main Gym, Spaulding Gymnasium. 7:30 p.m.

WKNH executive board meeting with both old and new executive boards. 12:30 p.m. Lounge.

FRENCH Club meeting. 6:30 p.m. Brew Bakers, Main Street. Call Amy at x-7934 for more information.

Try something different this weekend!

Explore local history

Start at the Cheshire County Historical Society. Look up somebody from the local area and find any local landmarks having to do with that person.

This is not only a way to get to know the area, but also to help you learn history in a more fun and interesting manner.

Arts Center

Saturday,
April 8

Wednesday,
April 19

NEW England Intercollegiate Band Festival. Expect a musical feast when the 1995 New England Intercollegiate Band Festival, representing the best of New England's college musicians, takes place. Main Theatre, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 3 p.m. General public, $7; senior citizens, KSC Staff, youth and KSC students, $5.

AN Evening of the Dance. Through Saturday April 22. KSC Dance showcases its talented students, faculty, guest professionals, and alumni with an evening of dance that sparkles with enthusiasm and exuberance. Main Theatre, Arts Center on Brickyard Pond. 8 p.m. General public, $7; senior citizens, KSC Staff, youth and KSC students, $5.

You Should Know

• Box Office Hours are noon to 5 p.m., M-F, and two hours before each performance until intermission.

• All theatres are wheelchair accessible.

accessable.

• All sales are final.

• Cameras, tape recorders, food and beverages are not permitted.

For more info, on Arts Center Performances call x-2168

Classifieds

Notices

FOSTER Parents needed for children from birth to age 18 who must live their parents. Information: N.H. Division of Children and Youth Services, toll-free, 800-624-9700, or Rachel Lakin at 357-3510

ADOPTION

Warm loving couple will shower your baby with love and kindness, wonderful grandparents, lots of little cousins, financial security and an excellent education. We will treat you with care and respect. Please call Sharon and Keith collect evenings/weekends at (401) 521-4968.

LISTEN to the Powerjam on WKNH 91.3 Thursday's 9p.m. - midnite for today's hot hip hop mix!

LISTEN to WKNH 91.3 FM for the latest club and dance mixes. Only on "Original Sin" with the Dark Angel of radio. Every Thurs. from 4-6 p.m. Tune in and let loose!

WE buy sell trade: Stereo rec. $ amps, speakers, CD players, hi-end auto, cassette players, scanners, antennas, VCR's, TVs, Nintendo and Sega players and games, blaster boxes, boom boxes, camcorders, CB's, hi-end tools, etc.

AZ OUTLET

is your store where you can get cash for your merchandise/ buy at low prices/ or trade... 425 Winchester St., (across from Fairfield's Motors) T-F 10-5:30 Sat 10-4 ... 358-0021 We also repair VCR's

LISTEN to Inertia on wed., from 3-6 p.m. on 91.3 FM

EQUINAD AND CLASSIFIED POLICY

CLASSIFIED POLICY: The deadline for classifieds is Friday at noon. Boxes are done on a random basis and may be requested but can not be guaranteed.

EQUINAD POLICY: The Equinads are a means for the campus community to speak their mind with their anonymity assured. Equinads are edited for last names, profanity, threats and length of more than 30 words. All equinads have the right to be published, space permitting. When space becomes an issue, Equinads are published allowing only 5 per organization/person. Those that do not appear need to be resubmitted. Equinads must be submitted to the basket outside the Equinox office by Friday at noon to be considered for publication the following Wednesday.

LOUSY typing? Call Lori at ext. 7251 for information.

ROB Base- coming to KSC? Probably, Listen to 91.3 FM Thursday's 9pm for details!

KNOW a funny joke? Call After Dark info line and your joke could be on T.V.!!! 358-8888 x4343

"AMBIENT: house, dub, trance, tribal, techno, chill, etc...AND music from the UK. Warp and rising high labels, and Detroit's +8 label, "Intelligent techno" and "Pure electronic" music PAST and FUTURE SOUND - Saturday's, 12-2 pm on 91.3 FM. THE NEW EDGE IS IN KEENE."

DJ For hire. Specialize in Hip-Hop, reggae, R&B and house music. Inquire at x7690

Education Majors

The pre-professional skills test (PPST) will be administered on Saturday, May 6, 1995. Registration materials MUST be picked up at the Teacher Education office, Joslin House ground level, between April 17 and May 3, 1995. For your information, the fee for the exam will increase in the fall of 1995.

HEY everyone! Get your Spring Weekend T-Shirts on sale in the Dining commons!!

THE Concerned Students Coalition would like to apologize to the individuals inconvenienced by the cancellation of "Roger and Me". Our next film, "Through the Wire" will be shown as scheduled. -CSC

WATCH After Dark tonight and Monday at 11 pm on Paragon Channel 8KSC

DANA Carvey is coming Spring Weekend, April 23. Well, isn't that special...

ROB base isn't coming, Tuesday ain't playin' with Black sheep but "Tuesday" is coming at ya with his new tape in April!

KNOCK knock. Who's there? After Dark's info line 358-8888 x4343 and tell us a joke!

Help Wanted

SUMMER JOBS - $10.25/hr or commission. Advertising sales. Sales experience helpful but not necessary. Training provided. Work close to KSC. Car recommended. Call Steve Gorman at 800-865-9200 for details& application. METRO MARKETING GROUP

LOOKING for TUTORS! Paid positions. Interested? Call Maria at x2390.

WKNH 91.3 FM encourages members of the KSC and surrounding communities to join or station. For more information, please call 358-2417. EOE

SUMMER Job Opportunity at Organic Vegetable farm in Westminster, VT. (30 min from Keene) Full or part time. Flexible hours. For more info call Tom Harlow at 802-722-4520 or 802-722-3418.

For Rent

LAKEside housemates needed. No lease. $216 month. Call 358-3081

APT for rent. 4 - 1 bedroom Apt's each perfect for 2 students. 1 block from campus available 6-1-95 $650/month includes heat, electricity, gas, hot water, rubbish and plowing. 357-3444 Anytime

NEED a place to stay for the summer? Call x7102, we'll negotiate.

WANT to sub-lease for the summer? nice apt. on Main St.. $500 includes heat & hot water. Call 358-6909.

SUBLETTERS needed for summer. $220 a month plus utilities. Half mile from campus. No pets. Please call 355-4419.

LOOKING for a place to live this summer? Call 352-8055. $175/month plus utilities. Parking, pool options, opportunity for single & close to campus.

For Sale

FOR sale: A 1986 Oldsmobile, 2 door, Delta 88. $2,250 or best reasonable offer. Call Bob at 357-3144

FOR Sale: Casio fx 7700GB Power Graphing Calculator. Great condition. Needs new battery. Less than one year old. $45 or best offer. Call Art at 358-7918

NEW oversize twin waterbed with heater, wooden headboard. Call Jane at 358-2490, 357-3738

FOR SALE: Brother word processor. Call Andrea at x 7704

GUITAR - For Sale. Aria acoustic G-string. Beautiful condition with hard case, $120.00 or best offer. Call 358-7625. Ask for Zeppi

REFRIGERATOR for sale. It keeps things cold and is perfect for a dorm room. $50 or best offer. Call Claire at x7244

FOR Sale: 2 Minolta camera systems. Call Marc 357-9796

LADY Dutchess Piano (upright) Excellent sound- in tune $200. Call 358-2540

NEED to sell. good condition ski is with bindings included. Size 175. $100 or best offer. Call Jeff at x7907

More Classifieds

NEED to sell refrigerator perfect for dorm room for $30 or best offer. Call Jeff at x7907

FOR sale: Technics stereo receiver. Good condition, $25. Call Marc at 357-9796 FOR Sale: 1984 Chrysler New Yorker, 4 door, 78,000 miles. Asking $2500.00 firm. Need to sell fast. Call Jessica at 358-7510

FOR Sale: Two by two cubic refrigerator. $60 or best offer. Call x7052

FOR Sale: Smith Corona PWP word processor with: monitor, thesaurus disc, 80,000 word dictionary, and grammar check features. $250 or b.o. 357-7518

NEED to sell refrigerator. Perfect size for dorm room. Only 1 year old. $50 or best offer. Call Jeff at x7907.

Organizations

FRENCH CLUB - Are you interested in taking part? Every Tuesday night at 6:30 in Morrison 73. Call Amy at ext. 7934 for more information.

COME and meet a great group of people at the next Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Alliance meeting, 2nd floor of Parker Hall, every Thurs. at 7 p.m. All are welcome!

JOIN CRC, ever Thursday at 12:30p.m., and you'll be joining a great family of friends.

WOMEN'S Rugby Club- Practices every Tuesday night 10:30-12:00 in the gym. Come one, come all.

Equinads

BRENDA, you are the best big sister I could ever have. Thanks for everything. Love, your little sis, Erin.

DELTA class - I love you all, you're the greatest! Huh-Huh-Huh. That was pretty cool. Love, Erin

ETHAN - you're finally getting your equinad. Now where's mine, roomie? Kel

I feel kinda funny... Garth

DID you ever wonder what Bugs Bunny would look like in a dress?

WHO'S that lady in the Dining Commons serving food? You mean IRMA? Schwing!

KG - Hey! When's our next chance at female-bonding? Thanks for walking over there with me last week! We should've been as crazy as Patricia! CT

JEN - Will they ever make all of the deadlines? 'Course not! - Carolyn

WONDER Twins - Just who do you think I am right now? I love you guys -Thanks for a great night! Kelly

SPEAKING of the commons...I think I'm gonna hurl...

TO the 4-c crew and others: Thanks for putting up with me wit my insane week! Thanks for your support and understanding! Profane

SISTER Tom - What do you like for supper? Fish?

TΦΞ - Party on girls!!

IT'S all fun and games until someone loses their Dean Martin CD!!

PINHEAD - Next semester is going to be great...3 math classes! Go us! Profane

SHADOW - You're done, stay with it!! Love, Spill

JOE B. - Brother...What was that...you're thinking of getting a pet snake??? JK!!! ♡ CT

JB - Smile...please! I was so busy being a "typical female" that I never got a chance to tell you how awesome it was to see you play again! Can I have your autograph? (Just Kidding) :) Carolyn

SCOOTER - Do you like chocolate or vanilla ice cream?

PSYCHO, Just wanted to tell you that I love ya man! Have a great week! Profane

HIL - Sorry I have such a big mouth. I'll buy you a razor to make up for it.

EVEN poor girls need underwear!

SHADOW - Things may suck now...but they are gonna get better!!! Love, Spill

MEINE Zimmerkammeraderin ist tot! "giggle"

JEN - I need a new dress. Do you want my old one?

PUMPKIN Head, I care deeply for apathy. Remember apathy can be our friend! Profane

NOT gonna do it - Wouldn't be prudent at this juncture...

COOPER - You know I love you. Happy Birthday pookie bear! Love Beth

SHEEP, the messengers of Satan, are watching you!

THE Jigsaw CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1 Phonograph record
5 instant
10 Court order
14 Exchange premium
15 Porch
16 Top-notch
17 Poetic time
18 Chekhov
19 Sit for a portrait
20 Make impossible
22 Moves along aimlessly
24 Operated
25 Undiluted
26 Convincing
29 Mardi Gras, for example
33 Lessen
34 Desire
35 Mountain on Crete
36 Golfer
37 Ballesteros
38 Grew dimmer
38 —free
39 Native of: suff.
40 Pitiless
41 Strike with fear
42 Not egotistical
44 Worse
45 Dolly material
46 Capek play
47 Decrease

DOWN

1 A little wet
2 Operatic prince
3 Father
4 Real
5 Show off
6 Settle after flight
7 Poker stake
8 — Paulo
9 Got in the way of 10 Elk
11 House cover
12 Part of M.I.T.: abbr.
13 Golf pegs
21 Superman's Lois
23 — and rave
25 Kind of orange
26 Crates
27 Fat
28 Mallet
29 Morse and area
30 Clergyman
31 Like a lot
32 Delayer's motto
34 Bring about
37 Like some skin
38 Contemptuous
40 Sept
41 Lemony
43 Unsubstantial
44 Chatters
47 Getz or Laurel
48 Big sandwich
49 L.A. players

50 Lore
55 Group of players
56 Smallest
58 Run away
59 Equips with weapons
60 Upper crust
61 — Bator.
62 Prying
63 Cuts into cubes
64 Old instrument

ANSWERS

*You're invited to ...
... a gala celebration!*

At the New

Keene State College Bookstore/Quick Stop

Located in the Student Center

Prizes and Give-Aways all week!!!!!!

Come and join the Fun

Spotlight

SAM

• from page 10

a ten minute presentation.
Following the presentations, representatives from the various organizations and students will be able to attend an informal individual discussion session within the new student center.

A few of these organizations include Markem Precision Tools, National Greens Insurance, MGM Insurance and others. The career day is being organized and run by Dr. John Pappalardo, assistant professor of management.

Annual trips to the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston and Wall Street are other ways the organization experiences how the business world operates every day.

This semester, volunteers from S.A.M. will also be participating and organizing an Easter party for Cedarcrest a home for disabled children in Keene.

S.A.M. is not only an on-campus organization. The organization is also available for graduates and businesses throughout the nation.

It is used as a network system allowing those interested to keep close ties with the business community. Journals are mailed regularly and training workshops are conducted to provide instruction for those interested.

Six executive members within the S.A.M. organization are in charge of the groups activities and events on campus.

The six executive members include a president, three vice-presidents: Executive Vice President, Programs and Promotions Vice President and V.P. of Membership, a treasurer and a secretary. Adviser Dr. Stephen King overlooks the organization and provides input at the students request.

On campus S.A.M. meetings are located in the Science 101 Wednesday at 9:30 p.m. and all are invited.

DRUNK DRIVING DOESN'T JUST KILL DRUNK DRIVERS.

Alonso Drake, killed 3/17/91 at 10:58pm on Robbins Rd., Harvest, AL.

Next time your friend insists on driving drunk, do whatever it takes to stop him. Because if he kills innocent people, how will you live with yourself?

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS DRIVE DRUNK.

GRAND OPENING EVENT NEW ACOUSTIC MUSIC SERIES

PRESENTS
PAINT IT BLUE

APRIL 9 AT 7:30 PM
In The New Campus Center
Nite Owl Café

CALL 358-2664 FOR MORE INFORMATION
KSC STUDENTS FREE, PUBLIC WELCOME
Sponsored by the Student Union

Conservation Careers Begin Here!

Where: Sci 101

When: April 6th

Time: 7 p.m.

- SCA® offers expense-paid professional opportunities in National Parks, Forests, and Wildlife Refuges
- Academic Credit Available

The Student Conservation Association, Inc.
P.O. Box 550, Charlestown, NH 03603 • (603) 543-1700

Sponsored by the Biology Club

ROOM DRAW

Schedule

ELIGIBILITY

This year, 1289 returning students (including RA's) applied for the 1995-96 academic year (493 men and 796 women) by the March 17 deadline. All students who submitted their housing/dining contracts & $100 deposits prior to the deadline are eligible (unless a disciplinary status prohibits the student from participating) to proceed through this year's Room Draw process.

THE PROCESS

All students (and their roommates) should report promptly at the beginning of the designated time, according to class standing and lottery number order (see schedules below). A Residential Life staff member will give you your contract card(s) and you will be lined up according to lottery number order. This schedule will be followed closely so please arrive at the beginning of your scheduled time to keep the traffic flowing smoothly. Do not arrive early - you will not be called at the scheduled times.

If you are planning to have a roommate(s), please bring them with you, or bring a note from your roommate(s) giving their permission to select a room. If you have a class during your designated room selection time, give a friend a permission letter to choose a room for you.

APRIL 10 AT HOLLOWAY GREAT HALL:

Singles, 5/7 Person Apts., and Students Needing Special Rooms Due To Medical Conditions (pre-approved)

APRIL 11 & 12 AT RANDALL HALL:

Men (4/11) and Women (4/12)

All Singles, 5/7 Person Apts., and Students Needing Special Rooms Due To Medical Conditions (pre-approved)

MONDAY, APRIL 10: AT HOLLOWAY GREAT HALL

4:30 - 4:40	Students Needing Special Rooms Due To Medical Conditions (pre-approved)
4:40 - 5:00	Seniors
5:00 - 5:20	Juniors
5:20 - 5:30	All Sophomores and Freshmen
5:30 - 6:15	5/7 Person Apts.

Room Selection: WOMEN

Wednesday, April 12: At Randall Hall

4:00 - 4:40	Seniors (75+ credits) and roommate(s)
4:00 - 4:20	#s 1 - 184
4:20 - 4:40	#s 185 - 796
4:40 - 5:40	Juniors (45-74 credits) and roommate(s)
4:40 - 5:10	#s 1 - 179
5:10 - 5:40	#s 180 - 796
5:40 - 6:00	2 ND Semester Sophomores (30-44 credits) and roommate(s)
5:40 - 6:00	#s 1 - 796
6:00 - 7:55	1 ST Semester Sophomores (15-29 credits) and roommate(s)
6:00 - 6:25	#s 1 - 89
6:25 - 6:50	#s 90 - 159
6:50 - 7:15	#s 160 - 284
7:15 - 7:40	#s 285 - 487
7:40 - 7:55	#s 488 - 796
7:55 - 8:15	Freshmen (0-14 credits) and roommate(s)
7:55 - 8:15	#s 1 - 796

Room Selection: MEN

Tuesday, April 11: At Randall Hall

6:00 - 6:30	Seniors (75+ credits) and roommate(s)
6:00 - 6:30	#s 1 - 493
6:30 - 7:10	Juniors (45-74 credits) and roommate(s)
6:30 - 6:50	#s 1 - 136
6:50 - 7:10	#s 137 - 493
7:10 - 7:50	2 ND Semester Sophomores (30-44 credits) and roommate(s)
7:10 - 7:30	#s 1 - 185
7:30 - 7:50	#s 186 - 493
7:50 - 8:30	1 ST Semester Sophomores (15-29 credits) and roommate(s)
7:50 - 8:10	#s 1 - 104
8:10 - 8:30	#s 105 - 493
8:30 - 8:50	Freshmen (0-14 credits) and roommate(s)
8:30 - 8:50	#s 1 - 493

Eligible Lottery Numbers (There were NO in-eligible numbers this year)

MEN #s 1 - 493      WOMEN #s 1 - 795

For more information, contact your RA, ARD, RD, or the Residential Life and Dining Services Office.

Reader Forum

Letters

•from page 5

Plymouth State and The University of New Hampshire are expected to receive some state money.

We are working to get Keene State its fair share of state funding.

I am working on several pieces of legislation that I hope to introduce next year which would make higher education more affordable to the people of New Hampshire.

Rep. Hilliard and myself have placed education at the top of our agendas in Concord.

The Equinox's implication that we are apathetic, and that we do not care about the students at Keene State, is not true.

We stand by our records, and will continue to do so.

-Robert K. Wollner
State Representative

Letters

to the editor

•Letters to the editor should not exceed a limit of 300 words.

•Letters to the editor may be edited for style and length.

•Letters to the editor will not be published unless they are signed by the author in ink.

•Letters to the editor are due by noon on the Friday prior to publication.

•Letters to the editor may be turned in to The Equinox offices which are located on the second floor of Elliot Hall.

LETTERS OF INTENT FOR EDITOR
POSITIONS FOR THE EQUINOX ARE DUE TONIGHT
GENERAL STAFF MEETING
9:30 PM
BASEMENT OF ELLIOT HALL

"I went from house to house, getting any food or clothes they would give me. Then I handed it all out to any needy people in the neighborhood."

-Jack Powell
Solihull, MD

Jack Powell is one of the little answers to the big problems facing every community in America. And because there are more people than problems, things will get done. All you have to do is something. Do anything.

POINTS OF LIGHT FOUNDATION
Do something good. Feel something real.

COMEDY

IN THE NEW
NITE OWL CAFÉ

BRIAN FRAZER

Grand Opening Show
APRIL 5 AT 9:00 PM
In The New Campus Center
CALL 358-2664 FOR MORE INFORMATION
KSC STUDENTS FREE, PUBLIC WELCOME

No snappy slogan will get you to watch...

AFTERDARK

However tonight's special guest will.

He'll be watching, so you had better be!!!

Wednesday (Re-run Monday) Paragon ch8 11pm

VOTE VOTE VOTE!! Student Government Elections!

April 12th:
9:00 AM-7:00 PM
in the Dining Commons

(For Matriculated Dining Students)

AND

Coffee Shop

(For Matriculated Non-Dining Students)

VOTE VOTE VOTE!!

News

Money

Is an elite college worth the price?

By College Press Service

ATLANTA-- Ever wonder if it pays to invest in that expensive, elite college?

That depends how you define success, said Emory sociologist John Boli. If success is measured in professional status and high salaries, then an elite college is worth the money, said Boli.

But if being successful includes the nurturing of the "life of the mind" then results aren't as positive, said the author of "Cream of the Crop: The Educational Elite Comes of Age."

"Cream of the Crop" is based on a study of 320 college students who graduated from Stanford University in 1981.

During their four years at Stanford, Boli and a colleague, Stanford dean and professor Herant A. Katchadourian, examined the factors that influenced the students' choice of majors and careers.

In 1991, a decade after graduation, the authors contacted 200 of the original study participants to determine how a college liberal arts education affected their personal and professional lives.

The perception that a diploma from an elite university represents a ticket to career success seems to be confirmed by Boli's research: 80 percent of the Stanford students went on to obtain graduate degrees and more than 90 percent have embarked on professional careers.

Of these, 27 percent were business executives, 17 percent attorneys, 11 percent physicians, and 9 percent engineers. The graduates' median income a decade after college was $54,000, with a combined median income of $104,000.

But when it came to identifying what qualities were important to consider in a career, few graduates were practicing what they preached, Boli said.

"The educational elite choose careers virtually dripping with money, status and security, but 10 years ago and today more than 90 percent identified intellectual challenges and creativity as the most important qualities to consider in a career," he said. "Although graduates make time for sports, exercise and hobbies, intellectual pursuits and volunteer and political activities receive far less attention."

The fact that the benefits of a liberal arts education are not easily discernible among it graduates should be of concern to universities, Boli said.

Boli also said he is especially concerned that a majority of the "best and brightest" graduates, at least based on the Stanford study, are not entering fields such as public administration, the arts and education.

"Of course, we're starting with the assumption that universities should combine a liberal arts education with solid career preparation," Boli said. But these days of financial accountability and curriculum debates, we should ask whether we need to be concerned if these graduates do not pursue a 'life of the mind,' or if they do not bother to read literature, visit museums, or challenge their beliefs in a search for meaning."

by Keoki Johnson, Student Affairs Reporter

Dealing with Crisis and the KSC Judicial System Part 1

This week, I decided to start a column that will run for two weeks incorporating two Student Affairs Offices, namely those of the Associate Dean of Student Affairs and the Associate Director of Residential Life. I will start the column this week by writing about the Associate Dean of Student Affairs; Andrew P. Robinson.

For what purpose do students use the Associate Dean's office?

Students use this office primarily if they want to take a leave of absence or withdraw from Keene State College, Robinson said.

Why do students take leaves of absence or withdrawals from KSC?

There are many reasons for students to take absences or withdrawals; some are known to the student while others are not, said Robinson. The primary reasons are: medical, financial, personal and academic.

What is the difference between a leave of absence and a withdrawal?

A leave of absence is a temporary thing, Robinson said. When this happens, the student has the intention of returning to KSC at a later date. With a withdrawal, a student acknowledges that they have no intention of returning to this college. The two main reasons for a student to withdraw from KSC are that they are either moving out of the area, or they are transferring to a different institution.

What else does your office do for the student body?

The Office of the Associate Dean of Student Affairs also helps students with problems, Robinson said. For instance, if a student wants to transfer from KSC because they are having problems here, we might be able to help them out by acting as mediators. Mediators are people who help solve conflicts in a way in which both parties feel satisfied with the resolution. A student in this situation needs to sit down with us to discuss the options open to them in their situation. Sometimes, problems can be resolved, the numbers of students who withdraw and leave increase dramatically in the fall because a lot of times the decision to withdraw or leave is made over the summer.

Does everyone who takes a leave or withdrawal come to talk to you about it? No, Robinson said. A lot of student's don't know that they should talk to us. They need to figure out where they are headed in their college careers and in their lives, so they just withdraw. If this happens, they lose all their credits and standing, as well as their GPA. If they take a leave of absence, they retain all their past credits and GPA and when they return, they can pick up where they left off. In the case where a student feels that they need to start over again because of a bad first start, they can re-admit themselves under the "New Start Program", a program which enables them to come back to Keene State with a clean slate.

Does your office deal with other types of problems?

Yes, we also deal with a lot of family crisis problems by doing a number of things, Robinson said. Students contact us about situations such as deaths in families. In this case, we call the student's professors and act as student advocates. Parents also call our office to alert us on problems like financial crisis, he said. When parents do this, they can find out about other options. In this case, we act as a central referral agency. We work with other offices and on academic issues. When parents call, we have them check back with us to see whether the problem was rectified, said Robinson.

Can you go into more detail on how your office uses mediation?

Our office acts as a cushion, or safety net. We will hire resolution coordinators to develop on campus mediation programs along with training the residential life staff and other staff members and students to be mediators. We look forward to using mediation as part of our on campus judicial system, Robinson said. In the mediation process, the two disagreeing parties sit down with a mediator to discuss the conflict. Each party states views and the mediator helps to work out the resolution. It takes the resolution burden off the court. "It's a win-win situation," Robinson said. In mediation, each party tries to see the other's viewpoint. "The system is most effective between two students or organizations, and the student/faculty mediators help make the students feel more empowered," Robinson said. This semester we will be assessing who needs to be trained and setting up the program. The mediation part of resolution is an important aspect to educate the community. "I'd like to see courses taught in peer mediation in schools."

What is your role in the judicial system?

This office deals with conflicts that arise outside the residential life area. If it's serious enough, the Keene Police are involved.

This has been a paid advertisement

TOY CITY

Hobbies - Games - Toys
Historical - Fantasy - Adventure Gaming!

The Center At Keene 149 Emerald Street 352-3131

i'm not rich and smart. just smart.

THAT'S WHY JOSTENS OFFERS SPECIALLY PRICED COLLEGE RINGS.

$299
MEN'S CONTINENTAL 10K GOLD

$219
WOMEN'S ASTORIA 10K GOLD

JOSTENS

SPECIAL RING ORDER DAYS
THURSDAY & FRIDAY: APRIL 13th & 14th

KEENE BOOK EXCHANGE 11-3pm
$20.00 Deposit.

A REFRESHER COURSE

We'd like you to take this simple test to see if your home is as energy efficient as possible. Ready? Let's begin. How many of you have TV's? How many times have you left the room and left it on? How many times have you fallen asleep watching it only to wake up to the "Star Spangled Banner"? And what about your lamps and lights? Do you turn them off when you exit a room? Is your house excessively lit during the day? Next, check your thermostat.

If all gas-heated homes were properly weather stripped we'd save enough natural gas to heat 4 million homes.

Odds are, it could use adjusting.

And finally, see if there's a draft coming from your windows and doors.

If there is, you could be letting valuable energy fly right outside.

Now, for the answers.

Try installing timers on your lights and television.

They're simple to use, and inexpensive.

Turn your thermostat up or down

a few degrees. If you get cold, grab

a sweater or a blanket. If you're hot, wear fewer clothes. And, as for your windows and doors, a couple packages of $3.00 weather stripping should do the trick.

Each of these things will help save energy and resources for the years to come. And if we can do that, we all deserve high marks.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND TIPS

CALL 1-800-MY-SHARE.

IT'S A CONNECTED WORLD.

DO YOUR SHARE.

If everybody adjusted their thermostat by 6 degrees we could save up to 190,000 barrels of oil a day.

HEY, WORK FOR THE 'NOX NEXT SEMESTER!

SIGN UP FOR JRN 280 A

DURING COURSE SELECTION

EARN CREDITS FOR WRITING DESIGNING ADS OR PHOTOGRAPHY

Samaritans Inc. of the Merrimack Region

357-5505

24 Hour Suicide/Crisis Hotline

A United Way Agency

Mental illness has warning signs, too.

Withdrawal from social activities. Excessive anger. These could be the first warning signs of a mental illness. Unfortunately, most of us don't recognize the signs. Which is tragic. Because mental illness can be treated. In fact, 2 out of 3 people who get help, get better. For a free booklet about mental illness call the National Mental Health Association: 1-800-969-NMHA

Learn to see the warning signs.

Every novelty but the yellow submarine

Rock Tee's, Coed Naked Tee's & Joke Tee's - Funky Hats
Jackets - Stickers - Patches - Tapestries - Bandanas - Jewelry
Novelties - Gags - Masks - Wigs - Theatrical Makeup and oodles more!

Take the Yellow Submarine to Funny Business

No, Man, they can walk. FB is in Central Square

Funny Business
Tues., Wed, Thurs., Sat. 10-5:30, Fri. 10-9, Sun. 12-5:30
29 Central Square, Keene, NH 355-6339

Eleanor Roosevelt could have been an adjunct
Picasso could have been an adjunct
Einstein could have been an adjunct
Newt Gingrich is an adjunct
Do you know who your adjuncts are?

They are people who work, write and research daily in their fields. People who put years of thought and practice into their teaching strategies. People with experience and contacts in a variety of jobs and projects all across the country. with 141 positions in faculty, they are a vital part of the Keene State community.

So, if you're a student, support staff member, or full-time faculty member and you haven't talked with the adjuncts in your department lately, look around, say hello -- you might be pleasantly surprised to find out what your instructors and colleagues are doing these days.

If you're an adjunct instructor here at KSC and you'd like to meet with others to compare teaching notes, maybe share some project ideas, drop a note to "The Adjunct Exchange," mailstop 3801. hope to hear from you soon!

Your New England Ford Dealers have great incentives for '95 college graduates.

Qualified graduates get $400 cash back and pre-approved credit up to $18,000 on any new Ford. The $400 cash back is in addition to most all other offers or qualified graduates can take advantage of special financing. And with your pre-approved credit, there's no down payment and no payment for 120 days. So hurry in. Or for more information call 1-800-321-1536.

NEW ENGLAND
FORD
FORD DEALERS

Anyone enrolled in graduate school or who has or will graduate with at least a bachelor's degree or graduate degree between January 1, 1993 and September 30, 1995 is eligible for either the cash rebate or special purchase financing on purchases only when you take retail delivery from October 1, 1994 through September 30, 1995. Qualified buyers from Ford Credit are restricted to pre-approved credit on purchases only, up to $18,000 or MSRP whichever is lower. No down payment and 120 days deferred payment eligibility based on verifiable employment within 120 days of vehicle purchase at a salary sufficient to cover living expenses and vehicle payments. Residency restrictions may apply. All 1994, 1995 and 1996 Ford cars, light trucks and minivans are eligible. See dealer for additional details.

News

Mental Health

Depression: An invisible problem on campuses

By Megan LeMasurier
The Equinox

I can't sleep. I don't feel like eating. What's wrong with me? Nothing matters anymore. Do these phrases sound familiar about you or a friend? These symptoms and feelings may be signs of clinical depression.

Depression is a widespread health problem yet many people fail to seek help. College students are as vulnerable to depression as the rest of the population. Often the signs are not recognized or the person does not know where to turn for help. Others see depression as a sign of personal weakness.

It can also be hard to tell when sadness is just "the blues" or a clinical depression. Sadness is a natural and unavoidable part of life. But unlike sadness or grief, clinical depression does not go away by itself. People who are clinically depressed may not feel better for weeks, months or years. The depression consumes their lives, affecting their relationships, moods, thoughts and actions.

Statistics from studies done by the National Institute of Mental Health show that 25 percent of women and 10 percent of men will suffer from an episode of depression at least once in their lifetime.

Research also shows that more than 80 percent of individuals with clinical depression can be successfully treated. Treatment can include medication, psychotherapy or a combination of both.

In the college and greater Keene community there are many resources for students seeking help.

The Counseling Center located on the third floor of Elliot Hall offers a comprehensive range of services to both full and part time students. Services include individual and couples counseling, therapy and support groups, referrals to community services and substance abuse counseling.

The Counseling Center also provides a 24 hour crisis intervention line. This service may be accessed by calling 358-2436 after hours. The caller will reach a message that will ask that they leave their phone number. The beeper of the counselor on call is activated and the counselor will return the call. During weekday hours, students may stop by the center in person.

The Counseling Center is open daily from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. although there are some evening appointments available. The center can be reached at 358-2437.

The Samaritans is a confidential United Way supported agency located in the Keene community. It is a suicide/crisis hotline available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year to listen and befriend those who are depressed, despaired and suicidal.

The Samaritans number in the local Keene calling area is 357-5505. The toll free hotline is 1-800-639-5401. The call will not show up on a phone bill therefore leaving the caller completely anonymous.

Clinical Depression Self-Screening Test

Feelings of sadness and/or irritability

Loss of interest or pleasure in activities once enjoyed

Changes in weight or appetite

Changes in sleeping pattern

Feeling guilty, hopeless, or worthless

Inability to concentrate, remember things, or make decisions

Fatigue or loss of energy

Restlessness or decreased activity noticed by others

Thoughts of death or suicide

If five or more of the preceding symptoms have lasted more than 2 weeks, see a doctor or counselor as soon as possible.

courtesy of the National Mental Health Association

Samaritans Inc.

We are here for the people who are depressed, despaired, and suicidal...

357-5505

24 Hour Suicide/Crisis Hotline

A United Way Agency

The Obnoxious is coming...

PROTECT YOURSELF

April 19th to a paper near you!

You can run but you can't hide.

'CHECK IT OUT'

Sports

Revenge

*from page 36

scored four and veteran Rick Fortier had the hat trick.

Draper noted that he was happy that everyone got a chance to play and played well in the match.

Three days earlier the story was quite the opposite as Keene surrendered to nationally ranked Dean Junior College by a similar score.

In the first quarter the Owls kept the score close but could not keep up with Dean's unmatched speed and ball handling skills.

"This is the best team they (Dean) has ever put on the field, they were pretty to watch," admitted assistant coach Jon Ingram. It wasn't until late in the fourth quarter that Mike Lafuer scored to break the shutout.

Although the team lost Draper was impressed with the hustle of the defense and mid-field.

"They played at 100 percent," Draper added. "If they play like this in the future we're going to win ballgames."

Back on March 25, the KSC lost a heartbreaker to Green Mountain State 8-7 in overtime.

In a game they needed to win, the team blew an early lead allowing Mountain back into the game. Before the contest was over there were four lead changes.

The Laxsters were up 7-5 with three minutes to play and gave up two quick ones to force the sudden death where Green Mountain put the game away.

"We threw this one away," lamented Draper, "The wheels fell off of the wagon."

The scoring was evenly distributed as seven different players tallied. Johnson, despite the loss played well stopping 22 of 30.

In their home opener on March 22 the Owls took on the Division III club of St. Anselm's and fell 10-7.

St. A's used their exceptional speed to their advantage and converted on penalties in the second to overcome KSC.

Lafuer was ever present and tallied a hat trick while Kevin Condon and Chris C. each dropped a pair in the twine.

Keene will face off against rival Castleton State tonight at 5 on the turf.

Pitching

*from page 36

On Saturday the Owls traveled down to Connecticut to square off against Bridgeport. Needing a win badly the team tightened up to sweep the bill.

Strong pitching from consistent senior Mike Lumley (1-0) and lefty Kyle Piper (1-0) was the key to the Owls two wins 6-1 and 1-0. For Lumley it was his first complete game of the year and Piper threw his first career shutout allowing only five hits.

In game one run support came from the hot bats of Mac Tiani (2-5), Shawn Barry (2-4), and Jarvis (2-4). Tiani singled in the fourth, eventually scoring on a throwing error giving KSC the 1-0 lead. Mike Montovani drilled a two out RBI single scoring Jarvis who had been on with a double to give the Red a 2-0 lead and Lumley all the cushion he would need.

The second match proved to be a pitching duel. Bridgeport starter John Paola put on a pitching display but Piper was even tougher.

The Owls scored their lone when runners reached first and third on consecutive errors and Jeff Sylvester hit a fly ball deep enough to score the runner from third.

The three game streak has given the Owls something to cheer about after being thumped by St. Rose a week earlier. The Owls were outscored 31-0 in the doubleheader.

The second match proved to be a pitching duel. Bridgeport

Lead

*from page 36

Opalski on base to give the Lady Owls all of the runs they would need.

Assumption put together a rally in the third but Casey made a brilliant play to put an end to it. The game was called on darkness after the completion of the fifth inning.

The Lady Owls were scheduled to play a double header yesterday but weather conditions did not permit.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO WRITE SPORTS FOR THE EQUINOX NEXT FALL AND EARN 2-3 CREDITS WHILE ADDING AN "A" TO BOOST YOUR G.P.A? POSITIONS OPEN TO COVER THE FOLLOWING: PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL, PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL, COLLEGE FOOTBALL, KSC MEN'S SOCCER, KSC WOMEN'S SOCCER, KSC FIELD HOCKEY, KSC TRACK, KSC BASEBALL, KSC SOFTBALL AND IF YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES TRY FOR THE POPULAR SPORTS COLUMNIST POSITION! CALL HENRY LEE AT THE EQUINOX EXTENSION 2413

RECREATIONAL SPORTS...

'March Madness Finale'

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Wednesday April 5th

Women's Final - 8:45 pm

Men's Final - 9:45

Sports

Boston Celtics

Douglas is little big man

By Doug Hitzerman
The Equinox

The mystique of the Boston Garden claimed another victim Sunday as the Celtics defeated the Dallas Mavericks 94-78 in their second straight victory. For Boston (29-48) the win was their fourth in six contests.

Sherman Douglas continued to display a hot hand for the Celts tossing in 27 points and handing out 10 assists. Dino Radja chipped in with 16 points to go along with his 11 rebounds off the bench.

The loss dropped the Mavericks parquet floor record to 0-15 since joining the NBA in 1980. Boston is the only club

Dallas has yet to beat on their own court.

The 67 year old Boston Garden will be demolished and replaced at the end of the summer. In its place, the new Shawmut Center, located just across the street.

The Celtics led at halftime 58-41 but got outscored in the third quarter cutting the lead to six going into the fourth. But it was Xavier McDaniel who scored eight of his 17 points in the final frame to lead the Celts to the win.

Sophomore player Jamal Mashburn led Dallas with 30 points yet received little help from the injury-plagued Mavs. Dallas lost rookie point guard Jason Kidd in the first period to neck spasms where he joined Jimmy Jackson, the team's leading scorer, on the bench. Jackson is suffering from an ankle injury.

In other Celtic action last week, the Green came away with a 100-99 last-second victory Friday against Miami when Dino Radja put home the game winner with authority with 1.7 ticks on the clock.

Douglas once again led the Boston attack as he scored 29 points hitting 12-21. It was his last seven assists, however, that turned down the Heat. The guard fed Dino Radja under the iron and he jammed in the winning bucket.

Glenn Rice was Miami's top scorer with 26 but it was the play of Kevin Willis who kept the Heat in the game. Willis finished with 20 points and as many rebounds.

Friday's victory was the Celtic's second over the Heat in five days, Dee Brown hit 41 to highlight a 126-115 win in Miami on March 28.

Thursday the Celtics traveled to the Windy City to visit Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls. The Bulls, who won 100-82, beat the Celts for the second time in less than a week as Jordan and Scottie Pippen combined for 40 points.

Boston got an excellent performance from Derek Strong, 17 points and 12 rebounds. Dominique Wilkins added 14 points and 11 boards as well, and big men Eric Montross and Radja combined for 20.

The C's, who trailed in the contest by 12 at the intermission closed the gap to six in the third, but withered in the fourth on poor shooting to bring the mark to 29-85 on the night. Montross was 0-8 from the line in a pitiful free throw shooting display.

Rookie of the Week

Casey Receives Honors

By Henry Lee
The Equinox

Keene State College's Stephanie Casey began her softball career in grand style by being named the New England Collegiate Conference's "Rookie of the Week."

A freshman from Lebanon, Casey batted .348 during the Lady Owls' first week of games up north to raise her season mark to .326. Casey's best performance came in Keene State's sweep of conference foe Southern Connecticut State University this weekend.

Casey has also been thrown into the fire defensively. She is the Lady Owl's starting shortstop this season, and has responded like a seasoned veteran.

ANNUAL AWARDS DINNER

The Keene State College Athletic Department will hold its annual Athletic Awards Dinner on Friday, April 28 at 5:30 p.m. in Spaulding Gymnasium.

The dinner will recognize all Keene State student-athletes on the college's 14 intercollegiate teams. In addition, special presentations will be made to Keene State's male and female "Athletes of the Year", top scholar-athletes and four-year letter winners. The program will also include a video presentation.

Student/athletes should return their reservation slips to the athletic department office in

Track

Fitchburg Invitational

By Henry Lee
The Equinox

The Keene State Men's Track team placed third in its opening outdoor meet of the season, Saturday at the Fitchburg Invitational.

The Owls had several strong performances including first place finishes by Chris Beyer (Concord) in the 400 meter race (52.98) and freshman William McElroy (Jaffrey) in the triple jump (37'11 1/2").

Ken Flynn (steeple chase 10:28), Erik Kress (5000m 16:32), and Dave Keene (800m 2:01.30) also placed second in their respective events.

Keene State finished the meet with 39 points with Norwich taking home the prize collecting 96.5 points. Karen Barbara's third place finish in the 800 and 1500 meter races highlighted the Lady Owls' participation in the Invitational. Christina Baines (Manchester) had a personal best time of 5:26.30 in the 1500 meter.

The Lady Owls placed sixth in their field of competition.

Boston Bruins

Tide Turns for Bruins as they Continue Streaking; Now Losing

By Jacob Mical
The Equinox

A three game winning streak took somewhat of a reversal this week when the Bruins fell short 2-1 to the Washington Capitals Sunday night, their second loss in as many games.

The game was a showcase for two rookie goaltenders, Boston's Blaine Lacher (14-7-1) and Washington's Jim Carey (11-2-2). U.S. Air Arena Sirens were silent until late in the second period when the Caps scored on a Jeff Nelson tip that fluttered defiantly over the sprawled out Lacher.

Washington worked the neutral zone trap to perfection in the first two periods rejecting Bruins from entering the zone. It wasn't until early in the third that Boston began to see scoring opportunities.

Defenseman Alexi Kasatonov was finally able to solve Carey when Adam Oates stole a pass and dropped him a pass after beating the Capitol defense to the outside. For Kasatonov it was his first on the season.

Washington was able to answer and did so with only two minutes remaining in the game. Kelly Miller intercepted a pass deep in the Bruins zone and had little trouble back-handing a shot by Lacher.

Saturday afternoon featured a matinee with the defending

Stanley Cup champion New York Rangers. The 3-2 loss snapped the Bruins three game winning streak.

The Bruins skated well early and Ted Donato gave the Bruins a quick 1-0 lead when he shot from the right circle at 2:24. It was Boston's seventh shot in less than three minutes.

Alexi Kasatonov helped the Rangers battle back when he took a pass at the circle and spun twice in traffic before beating Lacher high.

The second period was all New York and the fireworks started when Sergei Nemchinov stuffed a loose puck between the legs of Lacher 17 seconds in. Kovalev scored his second in the game on a one-timer from former Hartford Whaler captain Pat Verbeek.

Down 3-1 the Bruins scored on a gift when Adam Oates rushed short handed and caught Glen Healy sleeping cutting the lead to one. Surprisingly the tally was Boston's first short-handed of the season.

The Bruins were unable to surmount any attack in the third as the Ranger defense dug in hard at the blue line.

Boston still retains third place in the Northeast Division, 15 points behind Quebec, holding a four seed if the playoffs were to begin today.

With the NHL trade deadline drawing near, the Bruins find themselves looking for defense-men and another goaltender. The Boston Globe reports that there are several Bruins that may be on the blocks. Glen Murray, Jozef Stumpel and Mariusz Czerkawski are just a few names that have been recently thrown around.

Bruins President and GM Harry Sinden appeased fans earlier this week when he announced that he had absolutely no intention of making any moves with all-star captain Oates.

Boston will face off against Buffalo tomorrow night and then play Tampa Bay on Saturday.

SPORTS

KEENE STATE COLLEGE ATHLETICS

STEPHANIE CASEY WAS NAMED THE NECC
"ROOKIE OF THE WEEK"
SEE PAGE 35

Men's Baseball

Strong Pitching is Key

By Chris Gagnon
The Equinox

Win three, then lose three. That's exactly what describes a streaky team, and that's exactly how this week unfolded for the Keene State College Men's Baseball team.

The Owls (8-9-1) have played all of their games thus far on the road and poor weather spoiled their home opener yesterday.

After dropping three straight decisions (two of which were to power-house St. Rose College), the Owls responded by beating Bridgeport twice and pelting Fitchburg State College 9-3 Sunday.

Against Fitchburg the Owls jumped ahead scoring twice early, capitalizing on their opponents errors in the second inning.

Guy Harrington was on the hill for the Owls and he could not stop Fitchburg from rallying back to tie.

Stevie Richards came up big singling in newcomer Mike O'Brien in the top of the fourth giving KSC the 3-2 lead. Harrington mowed down the opposition in his half of the inning to give Steve Jarvis the opportunity to triple down the third base line. The hit plated Mac Tiani and put Jarvis in the position to score on an O'Brien double, giving KSC a 5-2 lead.

The cushion proved to be more than Harrington needed as the lefty breezed through the rest of the game allowing only one more run. It was the sophomore's first complete game of the season.

See "Pitching" page 34

WASHOUT - The Keene State Men's Baseball team lost to poor weather condition forcing them to cancel their home opener yesterday. The Owls hope the cold weather will not cool down hot streak.

Equinox/KAREN ROYCE

Women's Softball

McCourt, Mickola, Claffey lead Way

By Henry Lee
The Equinox

The Keene State Lady Owls made a statement Saturday when they swept a double header from division rival Southern Connecticut State University. Keene outscored Southern 19-11 in the two games.

The Lady Owls, who got off to a shaky start this season, established themselves in the NECC by winning their first two conference games.

In the first game of the twin-bill Keene jumped out to a 3-0 lead in their first at bat that gave freshman pitcher Lisa Rowe (3-5, 6.96) room to work. Before Southern could breathe the Lady Owls tallied six in the fourth inning on consecutive RBI producing singles by Katie Mickola, Jessica McCourt, Melissa Camire and Brenda Sepanek.

McCourt went four for four with two doubles as Stephanie Casey and Marnie Shea collected two hits each.

Southern was not down completely. They scored once in the sixth and rallied in the seventh.

Head coach Charlie Beach then brought in Jen Claffey (4-3, 3.32) in to close the game out. With the bases juiced and the tying run on base, left fielder Shea made a game saving catch to preserve the win.

Southern gave everything they had in the first match and Keene dominated in the second winning 7-2. The Lady Owls set the pace once again by scoring three in their first at bat, proving to be all Claffey would need to coast to the victory.

RBI doubles from the clutch tandem of McCourt and Mickola accounted for the early lead, they got support later in the game when Anne Kelleher, Casey, and Deb Opalski each belted out two hits.

On Thursday Keene State took the diamond against Assumption College and split the double header.

In the first game first year pitcher Rowe was roughed up early and even took a line drive off the head that skimmed into centerfield before Melissa Camire came in to slow Assumption down. The Lady Owls were unable to get back into the contest even though their hit totals matched those of Assumption.

Mickola and McCourt each had three hits in the effort. Game two represented a better pitching performance as well as revenge. The Lady Owls struck early again. The "M's" (Mickola and McCourt) struck again with back to back run scoring doubles.

Mickola hit her third home-run of the season with

See "Lead" Page 34

Lacrosse

Revenge is sweet for KSC

By Henry Lee
The Equinox

The Keene State Lacrosse club pelted North Adams State 21-1 on Saturday in game that was anything but close.

Keene (1-3) had come off of three consecutive losses and took out their frustrations on Adams scoring in the first two minutes and never looking back.

"We really needed this one for morale," head coach Jim Draper said in reference to the recent win. "We had them on the ropes from the get-go."

Newcomer Kevin Condon scored five times and has given the Laxsters some immediate production. Al Cardarapoli

See "Revenge" page 34

SPORTS TABLE OF CONTENTS

MEN'S BASEBALL	36
WOMEN'S SOFTBALL	36
LACROSSE	36
TRACK	35
ROOKIE OF THE WEEK	35
BOSTON BRUINS	35

THE EQUINOX

THE STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF KEENE STATE COLLEGE

Volume 46, Number 19

Wednesday, April 12, 1995

Keene, New Hampshire

Printed on Recycled Paper

36 pages

Keene State part of 200,000 in Washington

By Jonathan E. Cooper
The Equinox

WASHINGTON - More than 40 Keene State students were among the thousands of people who crowded the National Mall for the "Rally for Women's Lives" on Sunday.

The trip was organized by Carle Hall assistant resident director Jennifer Hapgood and Erica Humphrey and Philip Pinkerton, both of whom are resident assistants in Carle Hall.

The three students began officially organizing the trip in February, but Hapgood said she had been thinking of organizing such an event for two years.

"Two years ago, the group went down for the abortion rights rally," said Hapgood. "This was something that really interested me; something that I really wanted to do."

The organizers worked with The National Organization for Women (NOW) who established an office to handle rally information. Patrice Strifert coordinator of campus activities, and Laura Perry, director of Women's Resource Center.

The group raised $3,800 through fund-raising, donations from on-campus organizations, student assembly, faculty members and the offices of Vice president of Student Affairs Delina Hickey and President Stanley J. Yarosewick.

see KSC, page 24

NOW says rally successful

By Elizabeth Crooker
The Equinox

A woman is battered every 15 seconds, a rape occurs every six minutes and every 11 days a woman is murdered by her husband or boyfriend.

Organizers from the National Organization for Women (NOW) and other feminist groups hoped to shed light on these problems with a weekend of activities in Washington, D.C. that ended with a five-hour rally in the shadow of the Capitol building.

"We will not rest, we will not stop until all violence against women stops," Eleanor Smeal, president of the Feminist Majority, said Sunday at the rally.

According to the U.S. Park Police, who used helicopters to count the crowd, 50,000 people were on hand. NOW and its President Patricia Ireland, who urged to crowd to sign a rally petition, estimated the

see RALLY, page 31

KICKOFF - Sen. Bob Dole (R-Kansas) entered the race for the White House on Monday.

Senator Dole announces bid for White House

By Joel Kastner
The Equinox

Exeter, N.H. - After months of anticipation, Sen. Robert Dole (R-Kansas) announced his intention to run for president in the 1996 election.

The announcement came almost 20 years after his first attempt, when Dole ran for vice president under Gerald Ford.

Dole addressed the crowd of roughly 500 on the steps of the Exeter Town Hall, his second time that day making the announcement. The first was made in Kansas several hours before he arrived in New Hampshire.

Unlike his recent visit to Keene, which was set in the town-meeting format, Dole read from a prepared speech.

In addition to making his bid official, Dole presented the GOP's now familiar "Contract with America" messages: less federal government, reduce spending, and the need for the country to adhere to the 10th Amendment.

Dole said the founders of this country based the constitution on a "radical new theory of politics," one which limited the power of the central government and left it with the states.

"I believe the federal government

Rally for Women's Lives

SUPPORT - (TOP) An estimated 200,000 people attended the "Rally for Women's Lives" organized by NOW (National Organization of Women) held in Washington, D.C. on Sunday.

MESSAGE - (LEFT) This t-shirt, designed by a KSC student, was one of 6,000 displayed over the weekend as part of the National Clothesline Project.

Equinox/JESSE STENBAK

should do only those things specifically called for in the constitution," said Dole. "All others should remain with the states and with the people."

This "philosophy of freedom" allows for the full potential of the people to surface, Dole said. "Tested by history, yet too often ignored in Washington," Dole said, adding that he is the candidate to strictly follow the 10th Amendment.

Dole said the public is uncertain about the future of the country. Threats of random instances of crime, and a "constant assault" on American

see DOLE, page 25