Dearest Beloved -

Hope you're fine and handy and on your way home. It's about time you were let out. All's well here, Jim and I are just swell and we're waiting impatiently for Gladys.

Received your Sept. 18th letter from Branch and was a bit moved by all those farewell wishes you had to utter. People do get very fond of you, sweetheart and can you blame them? Perhaps we'll see them together some day in the future.

Hope you had plenty of my letters by now but more important these discharge papers.

Look to the folks, Eleanor and Milda Bell. All are well and send their best to you. Jim and I stayed in most of the day but went out when the skies cleared in the afternoon. There was a beautiful sunset in the heavens tonight.

I love you more deeply than ever and hope we'll be in each others arms home. Mags and Marion from Jim and Florence
