Field Hockey Team Stuns Springfield

In their most outstanding game in the two year history of intercollegiate field hockey at Keene State College, the varsity field hockey team stunned Springfield College of Springfield, Massachusetts, with a 2-1 victory Monday.

Right wing Nancy Cochrane, being marked by national player Pam Hixon of Springfield, surprised the opponents time and again with a non-stick-side dodge.

around the darting Hixon. Cochrane centered the ball for drives for goal by freshman inner Karen Cushing, one of which was put on the scoreboard.

The Keene State defense had its best day on the pitch with plays being set up on 25-year-clears by sophomore goalie Susan Koerber. Miss Koerber played the best game of her career, making 46 saves at the goal mouth. Left fullback Chris Galgano, back in the starting line-up after her head-on encounter before the U Mass Sportsday, coordinated play in the Keene circle with right back Susan Lockwood. Although it was the first time for the two to work together, their well-planned switching kept the Springfield forwardline at a stand-still.

"The biggest difference," said Coach Daisy Herndon of the Keene State Owls, "was the fact that our girls wanted that ball more than the Springfield Club." Keene is now four and three for the season. The next home game is Thursday against Fitchburg State College at 3:00 p.m.

KSC Alumni 1972 Fund Goal Set At $25,000

Alumni leaders have set a goal of $25,000 for next year's annual fund drive at Keene State College, it was announced today by Thomas S. Clow of Durham, chairman of the 1972 drive.

The goal is an all-time high and exceeds the 1971 fund drive target of $21,000 by nearly 20 per cent. Keene State College alumni far exceeded their '71 goal this year, contributing some $26,000 to the fund.

The Alumni Committee has been busy making plans for the use of the money collected in last year's drive. Although it has not yet been approved by the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, the committee plans to make a final payment of $3700 on the Carillon, give $200 for the continuation of the Distinguished Teacher Award, $4000 to the Concert & Lecture Series for the next two years, and $1500 for athletic scholarships for the '72-'73 season. The Association will also allocate $175 to buy blazers for the Campus Guides as they did last year.

Of the $26,000 netted in last year's drive, $11,394 was given to specific funds such as the Alumni Loan Fund, Wallace E. Mason Library Fund, the Athletic Fund, and various Memorial Funds. The balance is unrestricted and will be used according to the Alumni Association's discretion.

During the '70-'71 college year, the alumni gave money for the second installment on the Carillon Bells, athletic scholarships, the Distinguished Teacher Award, renovation of the college camp, and an Acoustical shell and stage equipment for the music department. Money was also given to the College Concert and Lecture series, the KSC campus guides for blazers, and to the music department for the Random Concept and Jazz Ensemble.

"We plan to place even more emphasis on personal contact during the coming campaign," said Clow, a 1965 Keene State graduate and now a master's degree student at the University of New Hampshire. In line with this, area directors will be named for the state's major cities and areas and will be responsible for organizing volunteers to contact each KSC alumnus on a one-to-one basis.

Clow announced the appointment of two area directors at an organizational meeting held on the Keene State campus last weekend and said he will be naming the others shortly. The two already appointed are Robert L. Mallat Jr. of Keene, director of physical plant development at Keene State, who will head the Keene area drive; and Norris L. Learned of Claremont, an English instructor at the Claremont Vocational-Technical College,

Peters Given Teacher Award

By GERRY PILOTTE

Dr. Ann C. Peters, chairman of the mathematics department, has been the recipient of the first Distinguished Teachers Award in KSC history. The $200 award was presented by Keene State College's Alumni Association at Sunday's (Oct. 17) Honor Convocation.

Mrs. Margaret R. Ramsay, member of the Board of Trustees and former president of the Alumni Association, stated such an award was long needed. "The Alumni Association determined that students received awards or scholarships for outstanding achievement and felt that one area which had been neglected had been the professors," she said.

GAGNE NAMED TRUSTEE

David Gagne, president of the KSC Student Senate has been nominated as the first student trustee to the University system in New Hampshire history.

Governor Walter Peterson announced his nomination of Gagne Monday morning. The nomination is subject to the approval of the Governor's Council which meets next week.

"This is not an easy decision," remarked Peterson, "I had to choose among five outstanding young men," from Plymouth, UNH and Keene.

Gagne said that he was "pleased and thankful" for the governor's decision.

Gagne also disclosed Monday that if his appointment was approved he would resign from his position of Student Senate President. He cited an "agreement" among the student body presidents of UNH, Plymouth and Keene that if any one of them received the appointment, he would have to resign as president due to the arising "conflict of interests."

Gagne defined this conflict saying that he would represent the citizens of New Hampshire and the students of the whole University system rather than just the students of KSC.

A 24 year old junior majoring in English, Gagne explained that his two main interests on the board would be the financial state of the institution as well as the promotion of higher education in general. He cited the report of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education as the type of thing he would promote.

Gagne sees great merit in the concept of student trustees. "Student input, especially pertaining to student affairs, is far as 'first hand information will be of great value to the trustees," he said.

"It will also be a valuable tool to let the students know what's going on at higher levels."

The term of student trustee will be for one year. The students will be chosen on a rotational basis among the three members of the University system, Plymouth being next in line.

A Vietnam veteran, Gagne was the recipient of the Bronze Star and of the Army Commendation Medal. He is currently a resident of Keene and a counselor at Coos House.

McGovern To Offer Amnesty For Draft

(CPS) — Presidential hopeful Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.) announced Sept. 23 that if elected he would grant amnesty to men in jail or expatriated for resisting the draft and the war.

In the Washington Press Club conference, he also stated that he opposes war crimes trials for American political leaders who led the U.S. into the war in Indochina.

ALPHA ESCAPES DISASTER AS FIRE DAMAGES ROOM

Members of Alpha Pi Tau fraternity narrowly missed a disaster Sunday afternoon when a fire broke out in a second story room of their house at 6 Madison Street.

Mike Guerette, President of Alpha, told the MONADNOCK that only one person was present in the house at the time of the fire and that three fire engines responded to his call. The fire was confined to one room but Guerette reported that if it had not been caught in time, the house could have burned completely.

A fire department official said that "several hundred dollars worth of damage" was caused but as yet there has been no report on the cause of the blaze. Most of the damage was limited to a dresser, two beds, the ceiling and walls, and a charred main beam. The downstairs received some water damage, Guerette reported, but no personal items were ruined other than a few smoked clothes.

Dean Gendron offered his help to the two burned-out students, Steve Burke and Steve Armstrong, in finding temporary living quarters while their room is being repaired. St. Bernard's Church also offered to let the Alpha men live in their rectory for the time being.

Guerette said that the room will be rebuilt after an estimate by building contractors has been made.

"We appreciated all the assistance we had from the other two fraternities and the police and fire department," Guerette said.

CAT to Open with 'Collision Course'

"Collision Course", a series of one act vignettes depicting life in America, will be the KSC Celebrant Actors Theatre opening production of the year. The play will be presented tonight through Saturday at 8:20 p.m. Admission is free for KSC students. Tickets are available at the Student Union Desk or at the door.

The series of one act plays are designed to be brief, satirical and sometimes witty scenes on Americans in action everywhere from Harlem to Italy.

Under the direction of E.T. Guidotti, KSC professor of speech and theatre, the cast includes Cheryl Downing, Anne Marie Chaput, Kristin Wivage, Diane Anderson, Greg Smith, Peter Mollema Jr., Tom Anderson, and Mark Tullgren.

"Collision Course" was originally performed this summer by KSC's summer theatre group and received good reviews when the group performed it in Scotland as part of the renowned Edinburgh Festival.

The cast, with some new additions, is the same one that performed the play in Edinburgh.

The series of 11 plays were written by contemporary writers including Jules Feiffer and edited by Edward Parone. Original music for the plays has been written by Greg Smith, a KSC junior from Torrington, Conn.

A new position, that of Assistant Director in the Theatre Department is being announced in conjunction with the opening. Mark Tullgren, a KSC graduate of last year will assume this position. Mark has worked two years of summer stock and plans to do graduate work in speech and theatre next year.

Monadnock Editorial

A FIRST HAND VIEW

The state of New Hampshire is to be congratulated for its realization of the benefits of a student trustee of the University system, and any KSC student can surely testify that Dave Gagne of KSC was a wise choice for the history making appointment.

The Board of Trustees can be seen as the place where the needs of the state and the wishes of the university are thoughtfully balanced out. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that the trustees maintain a close contact with the university which they govern. This may be extremely difficult for the average businessman-member of the board, however.

A student member can serve as a liaison between the board and the students at large. What better information when dealing with student affairs than the first hand one. In many cases only students can provide this crucial viewpoint.

The Gagne nomination also reflects the nationwide re-evaluation of youth. All college-age people now have the right to vote; and certainly the board should have some representation from this particular group of citizenry.

Finally we would like to acknowledge the students' right to actively participate in the governing of the institution in which he is the most important member.

We do question, however, whether only one student trustee can successfully fulfill the needs of the board as we have outlined them. A student from UNH, for example, may be quite qualified to speak convincingly on the situation in Durham, but his views on Keene and Plymouth may be just as lacking in first hand experience as most other members of the board. This would in fact defeat the hope of a first hand link between the university itself and the board, which is the most important role of the student trustee.

We might also note that youth now make up a sizable portion of New Hampshire's population, surely more than 4% (the present youth representation).

It is clear that if the Board of Trustees is to maintain a close contact with the realities of the whole University system and if the board is to represent the growing population of youth within the state, it must increase its student membership. We suggest three members: one from UNH, one from Plymouth and one from Keene.

AMBASSADOR BUSH SEES RED CHINA ADMISSION

By RON BOISVERT

George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Friday that Red China would "almost certainly" be admitted to the UN. "The question is," Bush added, "on whose terms should they come?"

Speaking in Manchester on the eve of the history-making UN China debate, Bush said that he was "guardedly optimistic" that the Peoples' Republic would enter on U.S. terms.

The U.S. supports a so called two-China policy, which would seat Red China on the Security Council and would leave Taiwan with only a General Assembly seat. The opposing Albanian resolution calls for the expulsion of Taiwan from the UN on the grounds that its government is an "illegal" one. Diplomatic observers are still in doubt as to how the vote will go on the sharply divided issue.

A self-styled critic, the 47 year old former Texas congressman outlined the reasoning behind the U.S. decision to support the UN seating of mainland China.

Noting China's recent re-emergence on the world scene, Bush said, "it is essential for common survival that the UN reflect realistically the changing world power structure."

"These new power realities," he went on, "demonstrate a shift from confrontation to cautious negotiation."

Bush, a 1971 Nixon appointee, strongly asserted the other half of the argument however. Referring to the Albanian resolution, he said, "It would be a travesty of the principle of universality if one government were included only to exclude another."

Bush dispelled rumors of U.S. arm twisting and financial threats over the China issue. He explained that the U.S.'s only weapon was a forceful and articulate expression of views."

Bush also denied any relations between the China talks and the SALT talks.

Ambassador Bush

"Nothing in our China policy is designed to exacerbate the difficulties between the USSR and China," he said.

Commenting that the U.S. would not permit the Republic of China to be "gobbled up" by mainland China, Bush said that the U.S. would continue to fulfill its treaty obligations to Taiwan if they are expelled from the UN.

Bush also disclosed that there was some "demonstrated flexibility" on the part of the Republic of China in spite of its official statements which sharply criticize US policy.

Bush's appearance in Manchester was sponsored by the Governor's Committee on the United Nations as part of New Hampshire's observance of UN week.

To the Editor;

As a result of an article appearing in the October 13 issue of THE MONADNOCK, I would like to reaffirm my position regarding a motion proposed in the college senate to eliminate the final examination period from the college calendar.

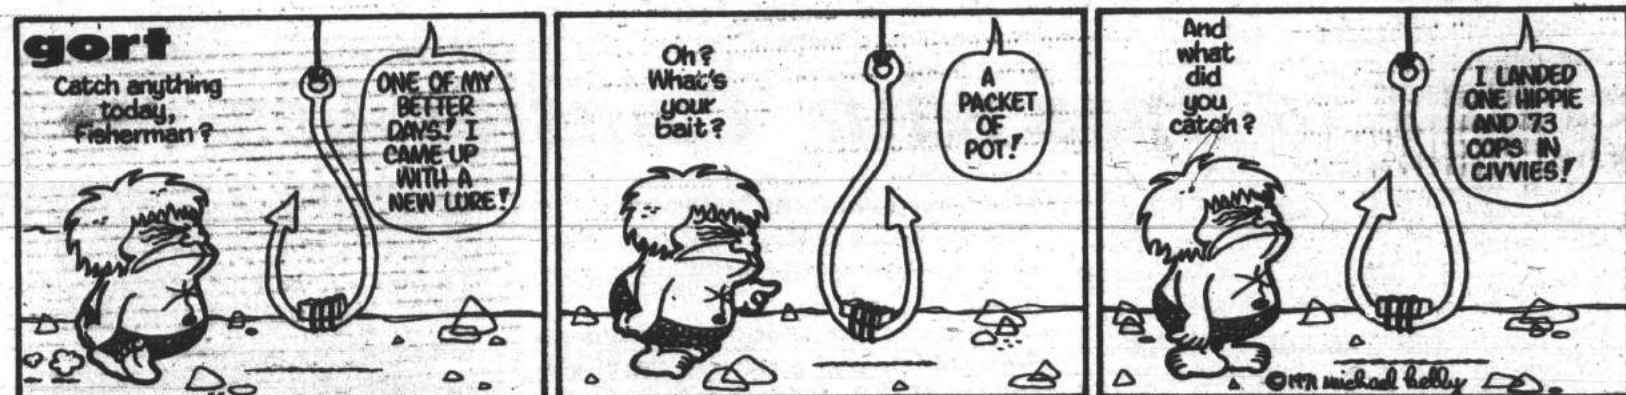

The intent of the motion is to eliminate the final examination period from the school calendar, NOT to eliminate final examination per se. Another intent of the motion is to make it "legal" (as opposed to extra-legal) for an instructor to measure learning by some procedure other than a final examination—if he or she deems it appropriate.

The advantages and disadvantages of a final examination can be argued endlessly, but the real issue is the instructor's discretionary right to determine whether such an examination is the most appropriate way to measure learning and whether Keene State College wishes to continue to devote 1 1/2 weeks each semester to an archaic school calendar tradition.

Convocation Honors 100

Over 100 Dean's List students, seven sophomores, one faculty member and one member of the Keene Community were all honored in KSC's annual honors convocation held last Sunday.

Clarence Davis, dean of the college, awarded Dean's List pins to over 100 KSC students who attained at least a 3.0 average for the last two semesters.

KSC's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, the national honor fraternity, presented their annual outstanding freshmen awards to seven KSC sophomores with the highest cumulative averages in the freshman class of 1974.

The sophomores are: Edward H. Becker Jr. of Springfield, Vt., a drafting and design major; Annette Albryn of Newark, Ohio, sociology major; Barrett Waling Jr. of Keene, a psychology major; Leslie A. Nelson of East Swanzey, a foreign language major in secondary education; Janice A. Klemarczyk of Exeter, an elementary education major; Sandra A. DePietro of Schenectady, N.Y., a mathematics major; and Robin Hill of East Gloucester, Mass., an elementary education major.

Dr. Ann C. Peters, chairman of the mathematics department, received the first annual Distinguished Teacher Award from the KSC Alumni Association (see story above).

And finally, Dr. Leo F. Redfern, president of KSC, presented Edward C. Sweeney Jr. the annual Granite State Award for his "outstanding contributions to education in New Hampshire."

Redfern and David Gagne, Student Senate president then addressed the gathering of some 550 parents and friends.

Wanna Tuition Increase

In his address, Gagne urged parents to press for added state aid to education saying, "I will speculate and say that if the legislature doesn't act before next year we will face even another tuition increase to meet the needs of this college to maintain its present level of service."

He also noted that although KSC is a state institution, it is funded "primarily" by student tuition.

"Tuition for a state university is the highest in the country in New Hampshire," Gagne said.

"Does New Hampshire have any other more valuable resource than the development of its youth," Gagne asked the audience.

KSC Named Map Library

Keene State College has been named a repository library for topographical maps from the U.S. Department of Interior's Geological Survey, thanks to the combined efforts of a KSC professor, a U.S. senator and the director of the Office of Geological Survey.

The maps will be housed in the Geological Department Library in the college's Science Center and will be available to all persons and organizations on a reference basis, said Quentin H. White, assistant professor of geography at Keene State.

"Senator Norris Cotton of New Hampshire was instrumental in helping the College to be named a repository library,"

KEENE'S NEW HORIZONS WORKSHOP FINDS TEMPORARY HOME AT KSC

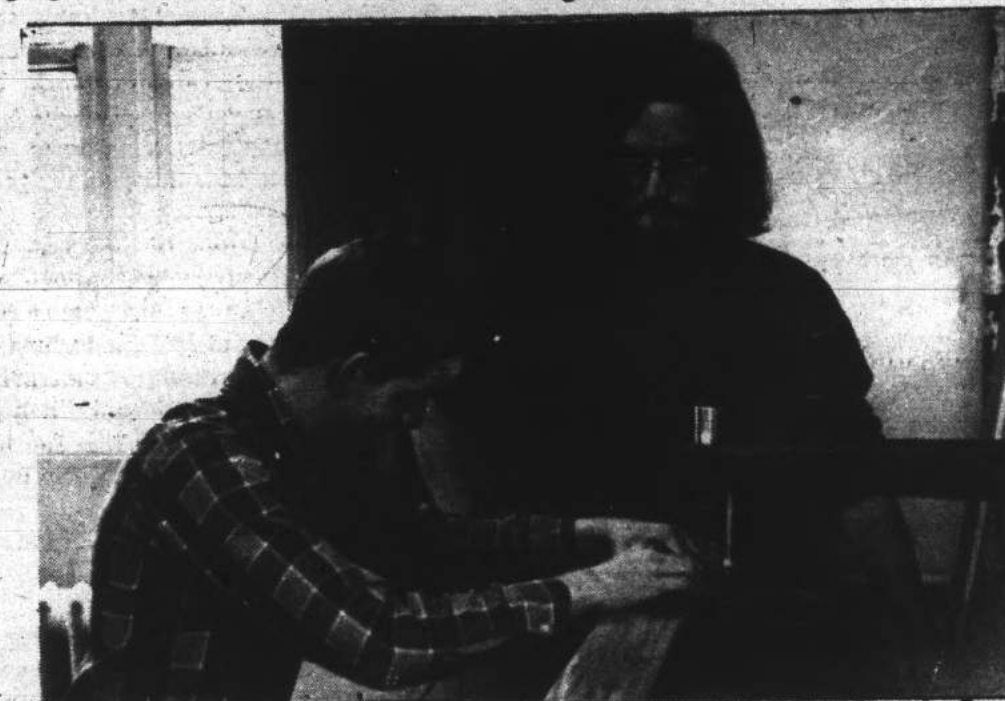

By MIKE O'LEARY

The New Horizons Workshop, a manufactory employing mentally retarded people, has found a temporary home at KSC in the Huntress Hall basement. The workshop, an annex of Keene's New Hope Center, provides protective employment for all mentally retarded children and adults.

Originally the workshop was housed in the New Hope facility on Wood St., but this facility often became a distraction for the children not in the program. Consequently, the workshop decided to seek a more suitable site to produce their crafts.

Initially, the workshop looked to the community for housing, but because of a lack of funds and some local opposition they were unsuccessful. Finally last August, some six months since their quest for a home began, Center administrators put in a plea to KSC President Leo Redfern. Within three days, New Horizons had a temporary home at Keene State College.

Dick Nevell, workshop director, instructs one of the New Horizons workers

The college is renting two rooms to the workshop for $1200 a year. Both sides agreed the location would be temporary. The college may need the rooms for classes next year and the workshop will soon need facilities which can handle more sophisticated production.

The 11 children and adults in the program, who range in age from 16 to 26, produce cedar cross pendants, beads and block-print Christmas cards, which are sold at the workshop.

Dick Nevell, the 24-year-old director of the workshop, hopes that the program will eventually provide an income that will realistically help support the life of the workers.

"This will depend upon a great deal of local support, both from the business community and the government," he said. "As it stands now it is virtually impossible to create a truly lucrative crafts program, and yet our workers are not yet ready to take on subcontract work."

Meanwhile, training at the new workshop site will continue. The items produced are on sale at the facilities in the Huntress Hall basement and at various stores in the city.

Mr. Nevell hopes that students and faculty will visit the workshop between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. weekdays. He maintains that it is good for the retardates, and also for business.

1971 Draft Ceiling Set at 125

The Selective Service System today announced that Random Sequence Number 125 would be the ceiling for induction into the military for young men in the 1971 first priority selection group—that is, those registrants born in 1951 or earlier who received lottery numbers in 1970 or 1969 and are available for induction during 1971.

The Department of Defense, last week, announced a 10,000 draft call for the remainder of 1971. Draft Director Dr. Curtis W. Tarr said that Selective Service local boards would deliver 6,500 in the period

November 29-December 9. Tarr said that he has directed boards to give at least 30 days notice to all registrants facing the induction process in coming months. Current draft regulations require 10 days notice.

Tarr said that the uniform national call provision of the new draft law assures every young man in the 1971 group who is 1-A and qualified with a RSN of 125 and below that he will receive an induction notice in the near future. Tarr pointed out that some of these men will enter the Army in January, February or March of next year because of the extended liability provisions of the Selective regulations.

"Equity of treatment for all registrants requires that all men with RSNs of 125 or lower face the induction process," Tarr said. RSN 125 was the ceiling for inductions through June of 1971.

Tarr also said that he has directed local and appeal boards to defer all actions

HARRIERS MARK 13th WIN

By JOE PAPPO

The KSC Harriers marked their 13th victory last week in defeating Lowell State with a perfect score of 15-50. Freshman Keith Martell once again took top honors with a finishing time of 24:27 for the 4.8 mile course.

Keene took the first ten spots in Wednesday's meet. Glenn Braunhardt, Dave Audielmo, Denny Anderson and Pete Hanrahan followed Martell with times of 24:55. Mark Malkoski seems to be returning to last years form as he finished 6th. Jerry Dee was 7th, Tom Keegan 8th, Tom Greenwood 9th and Al Preston 10th.

On Saturday the Harriers placed third in the Merrimack Invitational behind Albany State and Lowell Tech. The final tally was Albany 21, Lowell 81, and Keene 91. Keene was among 17 schools and 100 runners to compete in the meet.

Albany's Dennis Hackett finished first with a time of 27:24. KSC's finishers were Dave Znglielmo 16th, Denny Anderson 17th, Glenn Braunhardt 18th, Pete Hanrahan 19th, and Keith Martell 20th.

Coach Taft was disappointed with the team's performance and felt that some of his men should have finished in the top ten.

Keene's record now stands at 27-3. They are in contention for the NESCAC championship.

The committee decided that emphasis for the selection of the recipient be placed on classroom teaching with consideration being given to "accessibility and rapport" with students in and out of the classroom.

Dr. Peters, a member of the KSC faculty for 23 years, was born on March 22, 1907, in Lyon County, Minnesota. Peters received her B.S. degree from Marquette (Minn.) State College and her M.A. and Ed.D. degrees from Columbia University. Her topic of doctoral dissertation was "The History of the Evaluation Movement in Mathematics."

She has had articles published on mathematics in "Mathematics Teacher," from 1950 to 1970, and she co-authored "Sequential Tests of Educational Progress in Mathematics" in 1956.

Dr. Peters taught elementary school and junior high school in Minnesota, and senior high school in Indiana. She was a civilian teacher at Fort Sheridan during World War II, mathematics films supervisor for Educational Films Inc., N.Y.C., and worked as mathematics test consultant for the Educational Testing Service located in Princeton, New Jersey.

Dr. Peters is also affiliated with several civic organizations such as the Keene League of Women Voters, the N.H. Social Welfare Council, the New Hampshire Council for Better Schools, the Cheshire County Historical Society, the N.H. Council of World Affairs and the Planned Parenthood Association of Southwestern New Hampshire.

A committee consisting of three students, three faculty members, two alumni representatives and President Leo F. Redfern, ex officio, made the final decision.

The nine member committee set forth the criteria and methods of nominations. Nomination of the award was open to all student organizations and all alumni were able to nominate on an individual basis. All nominations had to be accompanied by a supportive statement with awards being limited to full-time faculty only.

Since the Alumni Association decided to sponsor the award only late last school year the committee had to work quickly. "We had a problem with time because the nominations were taken only this fall but," said Mrs. Ramsay, "next year nominations for the award will be taken in the spring."

Plymouth Prevails 2-1

KEENE SUFFERS FIRST LOSS

By MIKE TARDIF

Keene State College's nine game winning streak was finally stopped short at the hands of rival Plymouth State College, Saturday.

The two soccer teams played to a 0-0 deadlock over the first half, but at 8:54 of the third quarter, Panther, Don Hubbard, scored on an indirect kick which put the Owls behind 1-0. Seven minutes later Keene's Graham Jones maneuvered his way downfield, firing a shot, which rebounded out to Rit Swain, who then placed the ball in the top right corner to knot the score 1-1. Swain's tally was his fifteenth of the season.

At this point it seemed as if Keene was on its way to another fine offensive drive, but they were definitely hampered by several contested calls by the officials. Then at 18:00 Reinier Bertelmen scored the winning goal for the Panthers on a penalty kick.

The Owls just couldn't capitalize on the opportunities they did have, including a hard shot by Mark McEvoy that hit the post, much to the dismay of the many Keene fans attending the game. From then on Plymouth used just about every tactic possible to keep the Owls from scoring. Their efforts were successful as both Graham Jones and Hal Shortleeve were ejected from the game protesting what they called a "physical attack" from one of the Plymouth players.

The KSC soccermen couldn't organize much of a scoring attack during the last frame as Plymouth played strict defensive ball. However, on a controversial play, McEvoy managed to break through the Panther defense and passed off to Rit Swain, who headed the balls into the Plymouth nets.

A short time later the official on the scene nullified the goal, ruling that Swain had tipped the ball in with his hand. Time then ran out on the Keene booters, who outshot the Panthers 27-12.

The Owls may get another look at Plymouth as there may be a 2-way tie for first place in the Northern Division of the NESCAC. This would result in a play-off match between either Keene, Plymouth, or Castleton.

The Owls travel to Fitchburg Thursday and return home for a Greek Weekend game on Saturday against Eastern Connecticut.

on classifications, personal appearances, and appeals until new regulations containing draft reform provisions are effected. The 1971 amendments to the draft law which were recently passed by Congress require the Selective Service System to publish all regulation changes in the Federal Register at least 30 days before they become effective.

"Because of the many reform provisions in the new law and being instituted by the System, it would be unfair not to extend these forthcoming advantages to registrants now facing classification or appeal actions. Accordingly, I have directed that all local and appeal boards defer action on such cases until the new regulations are formally distributed," Tarr concluded.

who will head the Claremont-Newport area drive.

Among those present at the meeting were Dr. Fred J. Wilkinson of Lexington, Mass., director of Urban and Community Education for the New England region of the U.S. Office of Education; Charles J. Mitchell of Suncook, director of counseling services at New Hampshire College and chairman of the 1971 drive; Neal C. Slocum of Burlington, Vt., media specialist for the Burlington public schools; Paul H. Nordman of Newtown, Conn., manager of the General Motors training center at Tarrytown, N.Y.; Mrs. Margaret R. Ramsay, former KSC chairman and now the KSC alumni representative to the UNH board of trustees; Dr. Leo F. Redfern, president of Keene State College; David E. Costin Jr., assistant professor of education at Keene State; and Fred L. Barry, KSC alumni director.

Harris Declares Dem. Candidacy

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS) — Calling himself a representative of the new populism, Senator Fred R. Harris (D-Okla.) formally declared himself a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Speaking Friday, September 24, in the Senate Caucus Room, the Oklahoma Democrat remarked that Americans were losing faith in their government leaders and are becoming convinced that elected officials are incapable of changing the nation.

"I intend to try and turn this country around before it is too late," Harris said to the approval of over 200 supporters gathered for the announcement of his candidacy. Harris becomes the second official contender in the race for the Democratic nomination. Senator George McGovern announced his intention to seek the presidency last January 18.

Harris intends to build his new populism around three main points: Better distribution of the national economy, better distribution of power at home and a return to idealism as a basis for foreign policy abroad.

YOGA CLASS OFFERED

Al Mesher, the yoga specialist who demonstrated his talent to KSC students two weeks ago, is back by popular demand.

Mesher will be holding yoga classes weekly in the Carle Hall Seminar Room. The lecture-demonstrations will be held each Wed. and Thurs. at 7 pm. All students have been invited to attend.

Liberal/Radical Parties to Challenge 'Republocrats'

By ERIC MALONEY

Small liberal/radical parties across the country are attempting to unite into a powerful fourth party before the 1972 presidential elections.

35 such parties representing 25 states met in Albuquerque, New Mexico on July 4 to organize what will be called the "Coalition."

The Coalition views itself as the only alternative to what it calls the "Republocrats." The Democrats and Republicans, in its opinion, are tied down by monied interests and an inability to bring about change, and differ only in their names.

The Coalition hopes to become a grass roots movement, with its financial support coming from the citizenry rather than from corporate powers. It calls for people to rally around a common set of ideals rather than a central figure.

The central platform, drawn up at the July 4th convention and sent to the various small parties for ratification, includes such planks as:

- * An end to tax loopholes for the rich.
- * An extensive national health care program.
- * Strict enforcement of all anti-trust laws.

* The abolition of all crimes without victims, including drugs, alcohol, sex, and gambling. The platform also includes: Immediate withdrawal from Southeast Asia, abolition of the draft, amnesty for draft resisters, and prohibition of presidential wars.

The Coalition has an extensive environment program, including the recycling of wastes, rapid transit systems, and the use of resources for human-oriented purposes rather than for profit.

The platform will be submitted for final ratification at the national convention in Dallas, Texas during the Thanksgiving holiday. The convention will also decide upon a presidential and vice-presidential candidate.

PIANIST PETER NERO TO PERFORM IN KEENE

Famed pianist Peter Nero will appear in concert in Keene next Monday night (Nov. 1) through the courtesy of the Keene State College Concert & Lecture Series.

The performance will be held in the Keene Junior High School auditorium, starting at 8:30 p.m. The concert date had originally been scheduled for the KSC campus, but was switched because of a larger seating capacity in the auditorium. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and students. KSC students, faculty and staff are admitted by ID card.

Students are reminded that seating will be on a first come first serve basis and that they should plan to arrive early. Nero, regarded as one of the finest and most exciting pianists in the world today, will present a program titled "From Back to the Beatles," an evening of music accompanied by a lecture demonstration from the keyboard.

Born in Brooklyn, Nero began playing the piano at the age of seven and by the time he was in his teens had appeared with many symphony orchestras and had won a scholarship to Juilliard. After graduation from Brooklyn College with a bachelor of arts degree, Nero played mostly in nightclubs for six years before forming his own trio. In 1960, RCA signed him to his first recording contract. During eight years with RCA, he made 25 albums. He signed with Columbia Records in 1969.

Nero has appeared with every major symphony orchestra in the United States and England and recorded his own concerto, "Fantasy and Improvisations (Blue Fantasy)," with the Boston Pops Orchestra.

Tudor Music Wows Crowd

The krumphorn, lute and rauschpfeife replaced the electric guitar Monday night at KSC, when the Waverly Consort presented a program of 16th Century music to an enthusiastic audience.

Students, some of whom couldn't tell a protative organ from a dulcian, applauded laments, love songs and jigs of the reigns of Henry VIII and his red-headed daughter Elizabeth. The program was the second in the Concert and Lecture Series this year.

The Consort included four versatile players: Kay Jaffee, Sally Logeman, Michael Jaffee and Lucy Bardo, and two singers, Joan Summers, soprano, and Constantine Cassolas, tenor. Among them they performed on 14 different instruments.

The selections ranged from King Henry's own "Pastime With Good Company" to a sprightly rendition of "Nobody's Jig" played by Kay Jaffee on recorder. Occasionally, Michael Jaffee sketched the history of certain unest, like the somber "O Death, Rock Me Sleep," once thought to have been written by Ann Boleyn before she was beheaded.

Above the buzz of the krumphorn and the muted "pling" of the 14-string lute, the soaring voices and clear diction of soloists Summers and Cassolas, allowed the audience to share the bawdy flavor of Elizabethan songs and the martial beat of "Lord Willoughby's Welcome Home."

The Waverly Consort remained until Tuesday morning, when the members performed a "masters concert" for music majors, as an additional attraction.

Dance to Benefit Peoples' Hot Line

A dance to benefit the People's Hotline will be held this Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Brown Room of the Student Union.

The dance, which is being sponsored by the Student Union, will feature the Prairie Oysters and Gary Croteau. Admission is $1. All proceeds from the dance will be donated to the financially ailing People's Hotline of Keene.

"The hotline is doing something for us daily, it's time we do something for them," said Steve Smith, assistant director of the Student Union.

STEAL THIS COLLEGE!

or HOW TO LIVE AT KSC FOR LESS THAN $5 A YEAR??

By PAUL LEMIRE

Authors have been writing about how you can live and tour Mexico, France, Germany, Spain...all on $5 a day. The American Youth Hostels have also contributed to this search for inexpensive satisfaction.

Keene State College has its own version of how to live on a pittance and still get the best of anything available. FEED YOUR HEAD FREE. There is a service on campus from which you can feed your head for free. It's the Health Service at Fiske Hall basement (open seven days a week). Dr. Wolterbeek, an M.D. and a psychiatrist, and his staff of nurses are there for any student who needs counseling about his exam anxieties, his love life, his special-quirk. If your body is sick they'll even supply you with pills and nasal sprays and salt. I must have been given all of my $10 worth of aspirin so far. Should any emergency arise—you broke an elbow, a hand, a nail—you should filter through the Service. X-rays taken at the hospital are not generally free, but your insurance may take care of that. (All students have accident insurance paid for by the Student Activity Fee).

FREE STRAIGHTENING-OUT. If it's academic advice or referral you're looking for (and if you are a Frosh) your Advocate Group leader—the person to whom you were assigned for the Orientation tour—can help dissolve what you seems a heavy academic problem.

Other good sources of counseling in general are Dean of Men, Ernest Gendron; Dean of Women, Ruth Keddy, (both in Chesire House); Father John Barrett, (Newman Center), and Rev. Fay Gemmell (Alumni House).

Unless your college appointed advisor, who is usually a professor in your major, is especially interested in you don't bother with him or her. Hundreds of students I've spoken with have been extremely disappointed with their inexperience and clumsiness at academic counseling. If you had to pay for this service it would generally be a waste of time and money. Find a prof who suits you and ask your department chairman to switch.

FREE LEGAL BEAGLES. If it's the strong arm of law you need, the following are a few places you can go to without worrying to pay a tuition's worth for legal advice: American Civil Liberties Union in Manchester, N.H.; Legal Assistance of NH at 31 Central Square in Keene; the NH Bar Assn. at 77 Market St. Manchester; or the City Attorney at 3 Washington St., Keene.

FREE JOBS. Although the job market is especially low now, the Employment Security Dept. of NH at Keene (216 Main St.—across from Hale Building) can help you get a job for full time if you can swing it. If you qualify for federal monies you may be able to get a job part time under the Work-Study Program doing some kind of work—be it clerical, light industrial, maintenance—right here on campus. Their jobs have been a real life saver for many students in the past. Just see Mr. Robert Taft, Financial Aids Director at the Hale Building. His bulletin board usually has jobs offers too.

FREE MONEY. Well, almost free. Mr. Taft will also couch you with a short-term loan if you need to buy something of importance and you have no bread. There is no interest to speak of, and the loan is often payable in a week or more.

MORE FREE MONEY. If you don't feel that your money is being at all well spent, if you feel that the trivia it is being spent on is distasteful to you, start an RSO of your own: a Recognized Student Organization. Few if any groups have ever been refused money for their interests at KSC. In fact, many have become defunct with much money left over. The STOP (Stop Today's Over Population) group was given a $1800 budget to work with. The members bought about $12 worth of pamphlets, and it died. This is your money they worked with. If you feel that there is spendthriftism on campus start your own club, get the money you need, and use it well. For more info, visit the Student Senate office, 2nd floor Union.
