Florence, dearest:

Have just spent the past half hour in Sears Roebuck shopping for candles and a flashlight for next week's safari to the rifle range, and it immediately brought to mind so many memories of evenings gone and I wandered then thru Brooklyn store shopping. Like the time we shopped for tires and was excited about opening a charge account; and then the time we shopped for Jimmy's clothes closet. Looking back those moments were unique, and in the second instance a most wonderful feeling. However we have surely have much to be grateful for, and I know the future holds a beautiful store of happiness for us and ours.

not destroy any letters. You get them as I receive them, uncensored and in toto. I noticed Bens's address in yesterday's letter, and I'll try to answer her soon. Tomorrow I expect to mail another package which you will please keep, and advise when received.

I don't know whether or not you purchased that bottle of Scotch, but suggest you do, and also add another bottle of bourbon or blended whiskey, but no rye. This is no "must" so do as you please, if it's too much of an imposition on Charlie forget it.

Have been working on income tax returns for several days for free, but to-day a lieutenant's wife insisted that I take $3. for filling out her return, so I did, wouldn't you?

It is definite that we are going to the range, and under separate cover I sent you a copy of the schedule. If you look it over you will note the various events to take place. Living conditions are much better than the bivouac area, so I am looking forward to an exciting week. Continue writing as usual, and I probably will be able to write at least a card daily, perhaps my usual letter, who knows.

I received your Monday letter to-day, and was happy to learn that you and Jim are well. Also glad the package arrived, but you did not mention whether or not everything was in good order. Also advise me if my dad can use any of those blades. The mail does not run as heavy as it did at first, and also it is very recent since I last sent you a hatch; but I definitely do

Since this was our last chance to go town to obtain candles or a flashlight, as the range has no lighting system, we decided to do so. Managed to get the candles but no flashlights, but will be able to manage o.k.

I feel splendid, weather sure is delightful, and I sure do miss my mummy and Jimmy, but be patient dearest, we will do everything to have you visit daddy soon. Little else to relate tonight, except that I love you ever so much. Please kiss Jim for me, but I'll kiss you in mind. My best to everyone, as ever,

Gg.
