"Give A Damn" should be an all year project involving everyone. If you would like to become involved in a "pen pal" type of relationship with a student in the ghetto area of New York, your correspondence would serve as a direct line between the ghettos and an urban area. Your advice, comments, or just plain conversation would always serve a worthwhile purpose to some needy student. If you are interested send your name—address—phone number—age—to:

PRESIDENT ZORN RESIGNED TO ACCEPT NEVADA POST

Dr. Roman J. Zorn, president of Keene State College for the past four and one-half years, will become president of Nevada Southern University in Las Vegas, Nevada, effective March 1. His appointment was announced Monday afternoon in Reno, Nevada, by trustees of the University of Nevada System.

Dr. Zorn, 51, came to Keene State College in 1964—one year after the State Legislature made Keene and Plymouth Teacher's Colleges a division of the University of New Hampshire System. A native of Wisconsin, he was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Rhode Island when appointed to the Keene State College post.

During his presidency, the College has carried out a $10 million construction program to keep pace with a 62 percent increase in enrollments since 1964 and a major expansion of its academic programs. These include five new major liberal arts curricula and a two-year degree program in industrial technology.

SENATE VOTES TO END BOYCOTT CONVOCATION SET FOR THE 9th

President Zorn's Statement Concerning The Boycott

A meeting of President R. J. Zorn and Dean C. G. Davis with Student Senate officers, President Donald Nelson and Vice-President Frank L'Hommedieu, was held on Tuesday morning. Discussion was clarification of the situation posed by the resolution of the Student Senate related to a boycott of classes.

Apparently campus divergences arise from differing interpretations of the nature and format of the Monday assembly held with reference to a student petition about the contractual status of Dr. John B. Wiseman. There should have been coordinated advance planning for the meeting, and in the absence of this there were different concepts as to purpose and structure.

The administration expressed its deep regret that not enough time was available for all who wished to speak and for the termination of discussion at the scheduled end of the meeting. It was noted that the campus controversy is still in an appellate status and that resolution is outside either administrative or student jurisdiction.

There also was discussion of increased student involvement in the evaluation and appeals processes, and there was a useful canvass of some constructive approaches to both short-range and long-range situations.

The student leaders stated that they learned more about the various matters of concern and that they recognized that direct contact with the president should have been made before a decision by the Student Senate.

All parties are very concerned with the well-being of the college and all spokesmen are agreed that further discussions should see ways of resolving the situation. It was recognized that cooling of the emotional climate could contribute to progress, and there was agreement upon scheduling another convocation on January 9.

On Wednesday, Dec. 18, Student Senate leaders Don Nelson and Frank L'Hommedieu met with President Zorn to discuss the decision of the Student Senate to boycott classes until the President apologized for the manner in which the convocation of Dec. 16 was handled, and until the president called a new convocation.

In a special meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 17, the Senate elected to continue the boycott since discussion with the president that morning had not succeeded in establishing a date or procedures for the convocation. At that time the Student Senate elected to send the president, Don Nelson, and the vice-president, Frank L'Hommedieu back to the president's office to discuss procedure and agreed that the boycott should continue until the Senate as a body approved the convocation procedures that Dr. Zorn would be willing to establish.

In a second special meeting the Senate was told by Nelson and L'Hommedieu that their demands concerning the convocation had been met. With no discussion, President Zorn's offer was accepted and the boycott was ended. After the meeting there was some discussion concerning the fact that the motion to accept Dr. Zorn's statement and end the boycott had come abruptly to the floor and been passed without discussion.

Some of the Senate members apparently felt that the demand for an apology had not been met, since the president included in his statement sentiments of the boycott being a hasty decision on the part of the Senate, and also his statement included that the president regretted the outcome of the convocation, and that he felt that it was the fault of a misunderstanding between student leaders and himself as to the definition of a convocation.

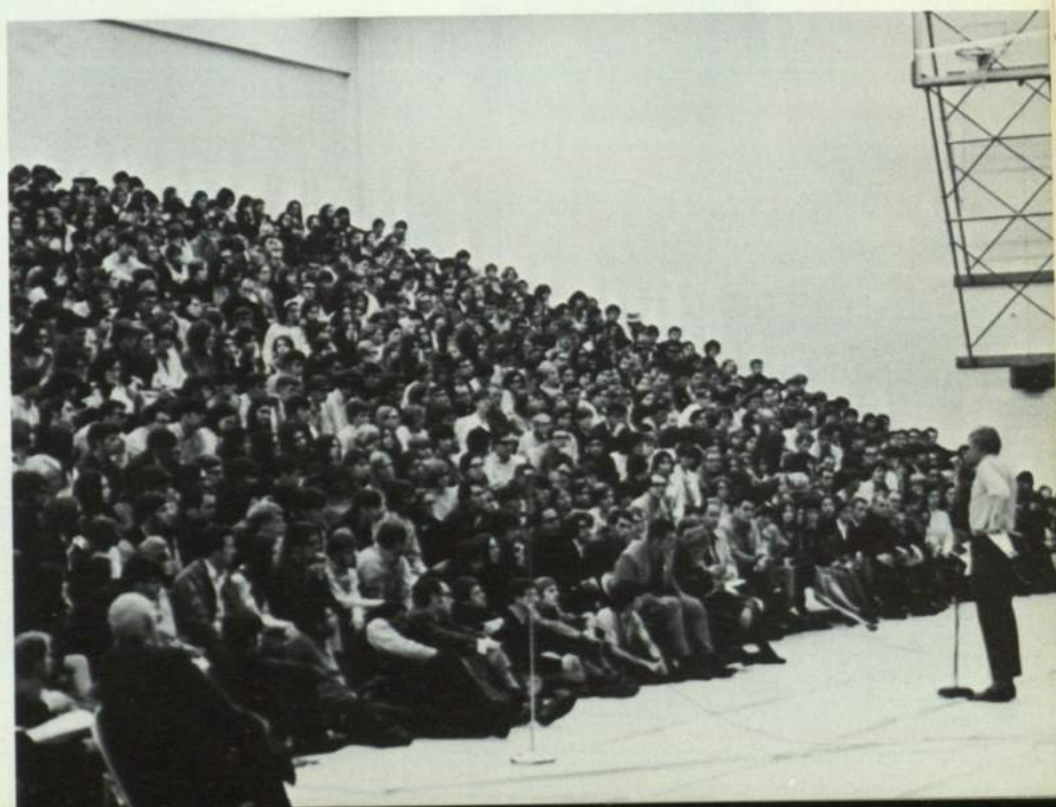

A few senate members were concerned about these clauses and felt that the president should be asked to re-phrase them, and said that they felt these statements made it sound as if the convocation's failure and consequent boycott of classes had been the fault of the students. The senate leaders indicated that they felt the demand had been met satisfactorily, and that it was desirable to return to classes.

KSC FACULTY MEMBER SELECTED FOR WHO'S WHO

The name of a Keene State College faculty member born in Georgia and educated in Florida and Maryland has been selected for inclusion in a Southern who's who volume.

Mrs. Jacqueline Oberfrank, an instructor in speech and dramatic arts, is among some 4,000 persons chosen from 15 Southern states for the 1968-1969 edition of "Personalities of the South," a reference book of educational, business, governmental, and civic leaders from the Southern states.

Mrs. Oberfrank joined the KSC faculty last September after teaching English, music, speech, and dramatics at the secondary level for five years and five years as an instructor in speech and drama at Salisbury State College in Maryland.

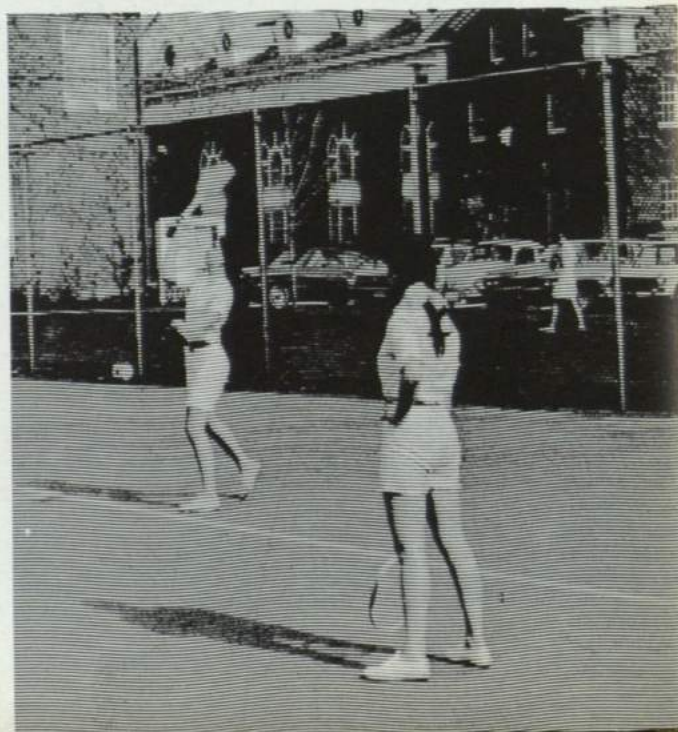

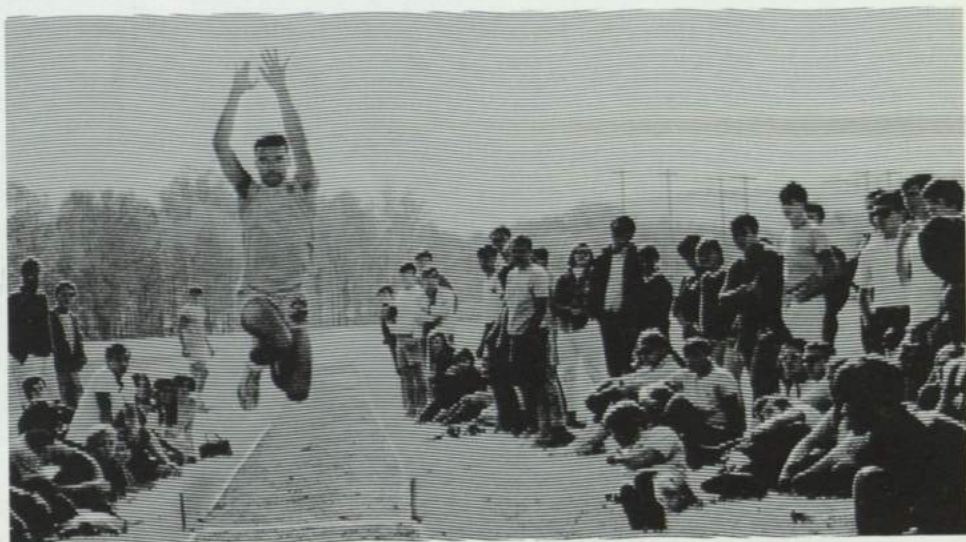

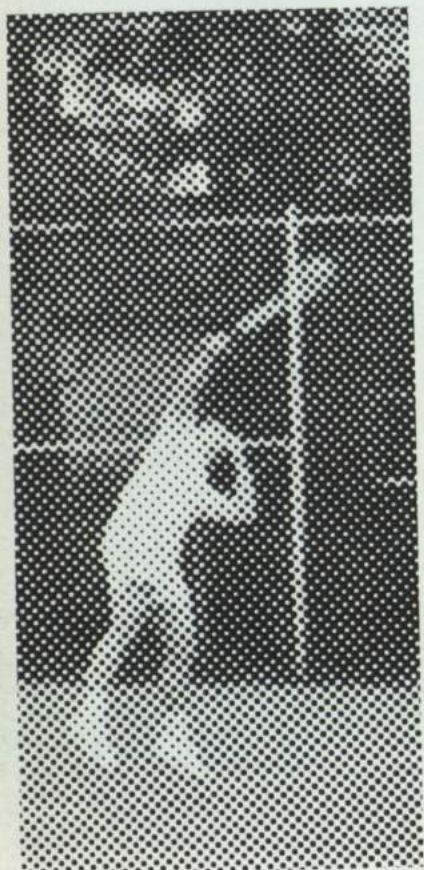

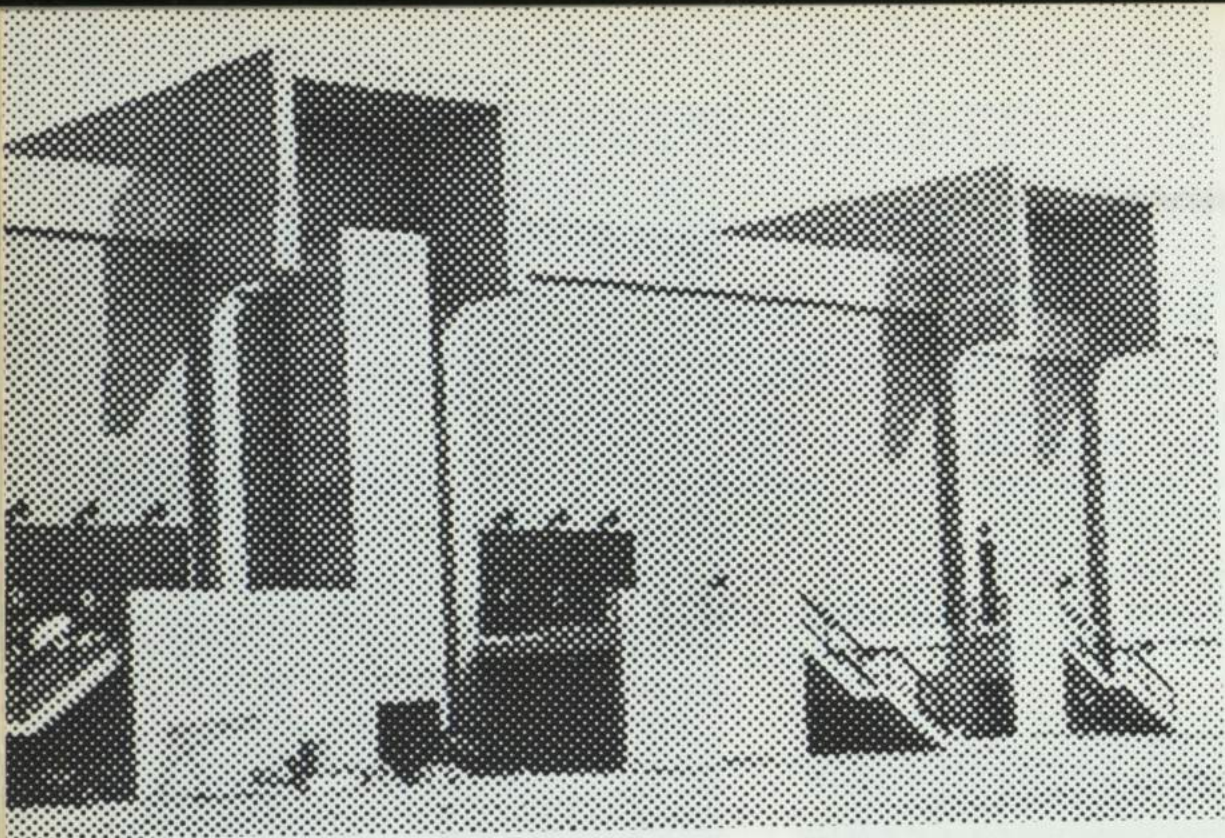

Born in Sumner, Ga., she went to high school in Delray Beach, Fla., and graduated from Florida Southern College with a bachelor of science degree in speech and drama. She earned her master's degree in speech and theater from the University of Maryland and did further graduate work at the University of Iowa.

Mrs. Oberfrank was president of her college theater group at Florida Southern, appearing in 14 student productions. She organized and directed a religious drama group while in college and was elected to Alpha Psi Omega, the honorary drama fraternity.

She was a charter member of the Maryland State Drama Association, and at the group first theater festival the Wicomeco Senior High School Dramatic Club which Mrs. Oberfrank directed won the festival's first prize for its presentation of Albee's "The Sandbox."

Mrs. Oberfrank, a resident of Troy, also organized the Salisbury, Md. Optimist Club's Boys Oratorical Speaking Contest and coached this group for five years.

The 1968 Keene State Soccer Team concluded one of its most successful seasons, tallying a respectable 11-4 record. By the time the team had completed its scheduled games they had succeeded in compiling a 10-3 record which seated them in the division tournament. In the first tournament game the Owls trailed 0-2 at half time, but by playing inspired ball in the second half Keene State College was able to triumph 3-2 over Castleton. The second game saw Keene bow to Westfield. The Owls could not seem to recover their momentum and lost 4-0, ending their season's play.

The school's old scoring record of 12 goals in one season was broken this year by two players; Rit Swain, a sophomore, was high scorer with 21 goals and Wally Dwinnells, a junior, netted 13. Steve Parker, a student from England, rated high in the assists column with 21.

Also to be commended are the other team members whose determined effort and hustle did not pass unnoticed by the many faithful student supporters who attended their games.

BASKETBALL

The 1968-69 K.S.C. Basketball Team completed its season this year with a barely mediocre record. Perhaps one of the main reasons for this weak showing was the obvious lack of veterans on the squad. A quick glance at the roster will confirm the fact that the majority of the team members were freshmen.

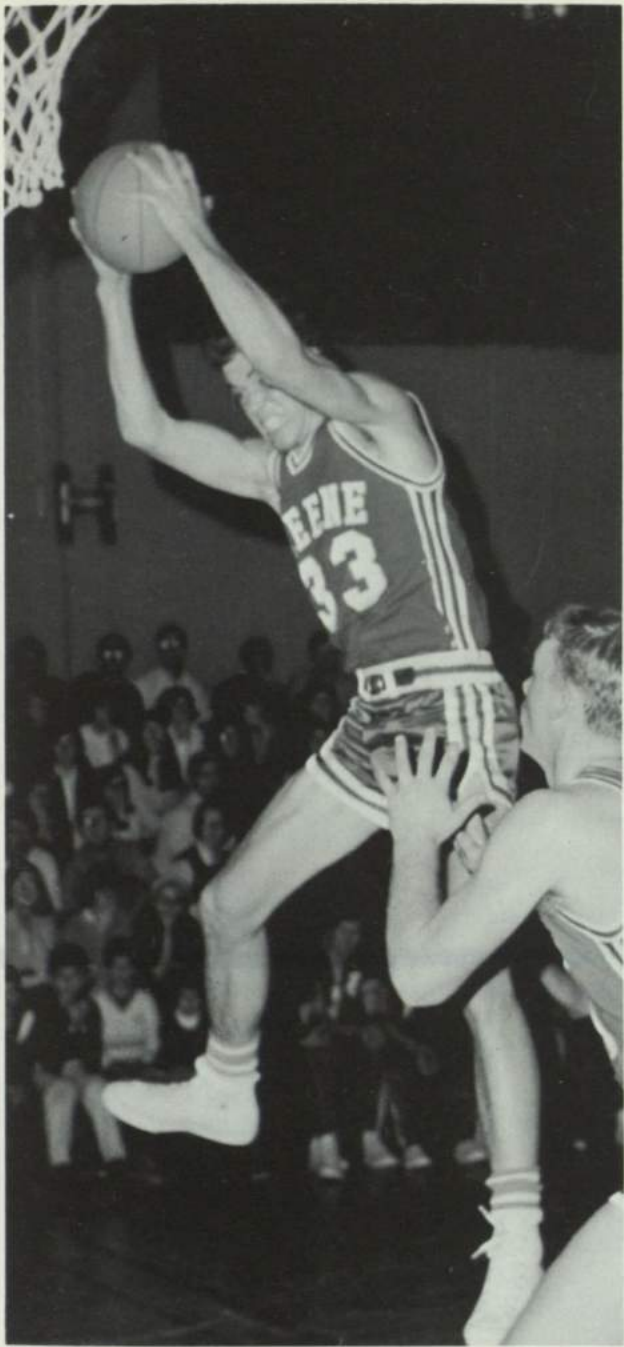

Coaches, for their own individual reasons, seldom care to admit that they are in a "building year", but this fact was quite unavoidable in the case of the Owls. Thus, Coach Theulen had his hands full shaping and molding the players into a well-disciplined drill team. This procedure was quite apparent to anyone stopping by at the gym during the practice sessions. One could see that the players were diligently practicing and re practicing even the most basic fundamentals which are so vital in the formation of a well-rounded team.

The results of their tedious labors eventually paid off as it became apparent that gradual improvement was taking place within the team.

Probably the best example of improved team work took place during the home game with Plymouth. It was in this contest that K.S.C. almost pulled off one of its biggest upsets in many years, losing only by a single point.

Thus, if this rate of improvement continues into next year and the subsequent seasons K.S.C. will emerge with a top-notch basketball team.

Enjoying what might be termed only a fair season this year, the 1969 KSC Baseball Team finished with a 9-7 record. Even though this was not a spectacular showing, the team and Coach Theulen appeared quite satisfied as did many of the faithful fans who attended the games.

The team got off to a rather slow start, losing four out of their first five games. As the season progressed, the team seemed to take on new fire and gained considerable momentum. They completed the remainder of the season by winning all of their last five games, including a sweep of two double headers from Worcester and Gorham State.

Throughout the season Coach Theulen made several substitutions in an effort to permit each player to gain as much experience as possible. Thus, if ever a substitute was needed, there was always someone on the bench who was not completely foreign to the game. Such tactics displayed by the coach, coupled with the fact that the squad is losing only one senior indicate that the future appears bright for next year's team.

The K.S.C. varsity Track Team concluded its initial season with a 2-7 record. This was a satisfying effort considering the squad was out matched in number, 2-1. Even though the facilities were few and practices were on a day-to-day basis, the boy's on the team did a remarkable job. A lack of uniforms, transportation, and equipment posed additional problems for the team members; however, the boys stuck together and produced the first K.S.C. Track Team.

Outstanding members of the team were John Maxwell in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, Dave Aiken in the half mile, Mark Malkoski in the mile and two mile, Vic Orne in the weight events, Ricky Marlin, Captain, in the long and triple jumps, and finally high scorer of the season, Dennis Anderson who entered any event he could.

The team was under the worth guidance of Coach Maurice Collins, who, unfortunately, will not be back next year since he has accepted another position. Even so, he will always be remembered as KSC's first varsity track coach.

Since the beginning of time men have found it helpful and enjoyable to gather together for many reasons. Lodges and clubs have been found in all walks of life from the knights of old to the military and political men of today. Fellowship has indeed been one of the basic needs of the individual. Therefore, it is only natural for groups of college men to meet together in Greek letter societies all over our great country and world.

The first Greek letter society was formed at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia in 1776 as Phi Beta Kappa. This fraternity began as a social society, but today known as a scholarship honor society.

The Kappa Alpha Society was established at Union College, Schenectady, New York, in 1825 and is recognized as the oldest social fraternity in existence today. At the same institution Sigma Phi and Delta Phi were established in 1827, and these are called the "Union Triad". These were secret societies. Many refer to Union College today as the "Mother of Fraternities".

Beta Theta Pi (1839), Phi Delta Theta (1848), and Sigma Chi (1855) formed the "Miami Triad" at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Fraternity life was shut off during the War between the States. However, the first professional fraternity, Theta Xi, (then engineering, now social) was founded at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute during this period.

Since the turn of the century the increase in fraternities has been rapid. Today the total membership of college fraternities exceeds the million mark.

Fraternity men have been and still are the leaders in colleges and universities. When these leaders leave the campus, they still have the fraternity's interest at heart and are willing to do anything they can to help the undergraduates make progress through good alumni relations.

Why has the fraternity lasted for more than a century?

The opportunity for its members to acquire greater knowledge and mutual understanding is offered by a fraternity. It provides experience in professional training and leadership along with a positive type of personality. Experience is provided in working with and getting along with others. Finally, the members of a fraternity possess the support and interest of alumni located throughout the country which results in a real benefit to the individual. Knowledge gained under the conditions of concentrated experience in human relations and associations through a fraternity is invaluable to the individual preparing to enter the professional world.

The brothers of Alpha Pi Tau Fraternity are very pleased with the school year of 1968-69. The most important fact that must be considered is that we have owned and lived in our new house for one full year, working hard with enthusiasm to keep it our own. Several changes had to be made, such as meetings in campus owned facilities and social affairs in privately owned halls.

Greek week came with Jay Dufour representing Alpha for the Greek God competition, and everyone soon found out that his popularity and backing could not be beaten. With this victory Alpha became the only fraternity to receive this crown twice since the competition began four years ago.

Once again the brothers participated in the inner-fraternity multiple-sclerosis drive that proved, once again to be very successful. Just before the brothers went home for the Christmas break, the annual Christmas party for the underprivileged children was held by the brotherhood, and with all the work completed we witnessed 14 youngsters celebrate a Christmas that might never have arrived otherwise. Throughout the year the athletic teams from the house participating in intermural sports could not be beaten and once again we retained the athletic trophy given to the house by the Inter-Fraternity Council. And on the lighter side of achievements, Alpha placed 1st, 2nd, and 3rd in the first annual whist tournament sponsored by the Student Union.

At the end of the year the Alpha Opera Co. presented the annual "Alpha Opera, this year entitled "Cowboys and Indians—or—How-ie Won The West". Again the student body received the mockery with approval.

The year proved to be very successful in every aspect, and one that every Alpha brother is proud to remember and be a part of. A lot of work was given by the brotherhood, but the results of such a successful year were enough reward for everyone.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Sigma Delta Chi is the latest fraternity to be added to the KSC campus. Established only last October to meet the needs of the growing school population, the fraternity now brings to a total of four the number of fraternities available to the male students.

For the past forty years only three fraternities existed on the campus which greatly limited the individual student in finding a fraternity that best suited his own needs and personality.

As the school population expanded, the existing fraternities were unable to accommodate the number of students wishing to affiliate with a fraternity. Consequently, a group of interested students met with the purpose of forming an additional fraternity which allowed further expansion of one's individuality in choosing a fraternity.

The establishment of such an organization was not as simple as one might imagine. Because the original group was few in number, only six to be exact, the problems involved in the initial organization of the fraternity were overwhelming. Later, the original six interested students grew to eighteen. However, in these early stages, problems arose among the group in that they were unable to reach agreement as to the direction in which they wanted the fledgling fraternity to take. From the original eighteen students, as discussion continued, five students left the group, leaving only thirteen students to proceed with the original goals as set forth by the founders of the fraternity.

The next major step was to present the constitution to the Student Senate for its acceptance; this took several weeks to accomplish. From this point on, interest in the new fraternity increased, a pledge class was formed for charter members. Following the completion of the pledge class, there were now a total of thirty brothers in Sigma and the fraternity received new strength.

The final step to be taken before Sigma could be recognized as a fraternity was to gain acceptance into the Inter-Fraternity Council. This was probably the most difficult task that the fraternity encountered, but with the aid of the Dean of Men, and a number of far-sighted members from other fraternities, Sigma Delta Chi gained acceptance.

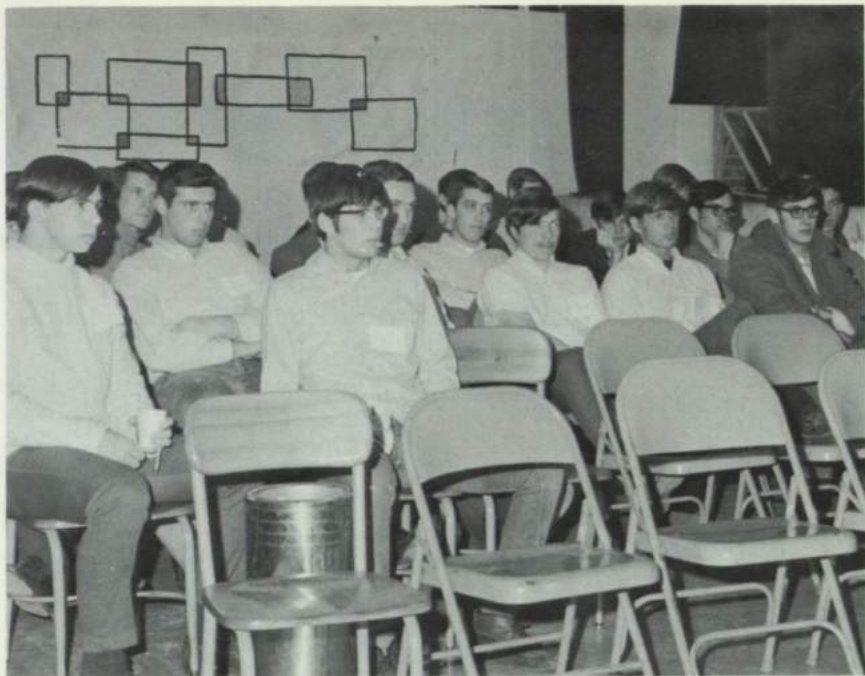

The brothers also were fortunate in acquiring a house from Dr. Harold Goder who had spent many hours renovating the home for residency. Thus, during the coming years the Sigma men will be living in Sigma House, located on the corner of Winchester and Wilson streets.

Sigma Delta Chi is most appreciative of the efforts of their advisors, Mr. Thomas Stauffer and Dr. Richard Cunningham for their mature guidance and encouragement during those first difficult days when the fraternity was being organized. The new fraternity is looking forward to their worthy assistance in the years to come.

The future of Sigma is most encouraging. The fraternity has been offered a colonyship by the national fraternity, Phi Mu Delta. Hopefully, Sigma will become a recognized chapter as early as in the spring of 1970.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

This past year has been an exceptionally successful one for TEKE. As usual, the Fraters of Lambda Sigma chapter dominated every phase of campus life.

TEKE Fraters held the presidency of the Student Senate, Social Council, and the I.F.C. In addition, the house was awarded the Scholastic Trophy for attaining the highest grade-point average.

The Brotherhood participated in the Keene area Cancer and Multiple Sclerosis drives, as well as having our annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. We also painted the classrooms at the Head Start school building.

TEKE was also successful in athletics. We won the football championship for the sixth consecutive year. As a result of winning six out of ten first place awards, the Fraters were presented the Overall Athletic Trophy for the annual Greek Week events. Also, a total of twenty Fraters participated in the schools varsity sports.

The house is proud of its accomplishments this past year, and we intend to double our efforts next year. As a group, and as individuals, the TEKEs once again proved themselves worthy of the title, "Number One."

Give A Damn Lives At K.S.

Nashua In The Plans

Last week four KSC students went to Peterborough to see John Torres, director of the Saxton's River project. Their purpose: to find out what else KSC students can do to aid the project.

The four students, Juli Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Turner and Marilyn Treat came back to Keene with a flood of ideas to relay to the student body. Goldsmith and Miss Treat called a special meeting "for students who were interested in further helping with the Saxton's River project," and, though notice was short, 46 students attended.

At the informal meeting the group was told that the Give a Damn Show is going on the road.

Most of those attending were given the addresses of students from the project and will write letters to them explaining what the KSC students have in mind for further helping the project.

Also discussed was the possibility of a labor force to help Torres with carpentry work when the site is established.

On Oct. 19, Miss Shaw, Miss Treat, Turner and Goldsmith traveled to Nashua to solicit interest in having the show there. They secured the support of some of the faculty at Nashua High School and the local clergy. The four students returned to Nashua yesterday to talk to administrators and the students at Rivier College and Nashua High School. It is hoped that Rivier will sponsor the show and that Nashua High students will lend their time to publicity and ticket sales efforts.

The students said they wanted to take the show on the road for several reasons. First, they recognize it as a means of educating the area residents to the problems of ghetto areas and of encouraging further support in New Hampshire communities for the Saxton's River project.

The students also see this project as a means of uniting the KSC student body.

Dr. Zorn told the student organizers that the administration feels the director should be taking the project. Dr. Zorn said he was pleased to benefit more projects. The project is to organize college projects to act as a

IN MEMORIAM

Out of respect to the memory of Ed Oleson, there will be no regular article for the house this week.

The brotherhood is deeply grieved at the untimely death of our brother. "Eco" was a friend and brother to us all. Although the word tomorrow was always one of uncertainty for Ed, he lived his life with true enjoyment. Indeed, he not only could, but did, laugh in the face of death.

We will always remember his humor, his smile, and his kindness.

We should all pause and contemplate what a precious gift our good health and happy lives really are. These were things that Eco never knew. But he did know the gift of friendship, for which we all will be eternally grateful.

Marilyn Treat, New Editor

Marilyn Treat, a junior English major from Nashua, N. H., has been chosen by the editorial board to succeed Lonnie Bourn as editor of the Monadnock. Bourn resigned as editor for academic and personal reasons.

Miss Treat has served on the staff of the Monadnock as a writer, cartoonist, and member of the editorial board. She was chosen last week by the Student Senate to be one of the three representatives to the College Senate.

KSC Hosts Japanese Educators

A group of secondary school teachers from Japan will visit the Keene State College campus Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The 40 teachers are touring the United States for the first time under the Experiment in International Living project. The two-month tour was arranged to enable the visitors to observe teaching methods and customs in the United States.

The group, which will be hosted at KSC by Dr. Muttaniyl E. Idiculla, assistant professor of education, will visit classrooms, talk with teachers and students and tour the campus with the help of student guides. The Japanese teachers will be on campus most of the day, and will have lunch at the KSC Dining Commons.

Curfew Change Accepted

A committee of the Women's Council to review the curfew change petition, offered the following proposal last Tuesday night: Freshman first semester, 11:00 weekdays, and 1:00 weekends; second semester 12:00 weekdays, 2:00 weekends. The committee further recommended that upper class women have "self imposed" curfew. Members of that committee are Debbie Rogers, chairman, Jean Cotti, Jeanne Chase, Wendy Maxwell, Joanne Raymond, and Marilyn Treat.

The proposal was voted on and passed by a vote of 41 to 5. Becky Raynes, president of the council, asked for volunteers for a new committee to review the possibilities of various systems to lock the dormitory doors after hours.

The Council resolved to vote on whatever proposal this committee introduces at the next meeting, and will at that time, if the proposal is accepted by the Council, forward the matter to the Student Senate.

The committee hopes to hear student suggestions, and has already approached Dean Charles Smith of the Housing office. Members of that committee are Gerry Tenney, Carol Aleksieu, Linda Livingston, Judy Henderson, Pam Burrage, Carolyn Keck, Marjorie Shaw, Phylliss Sullivan, Valerie King, Kathie Knee.

Jack Corey, one of the College Senate Representatives, attended the Women's Council meeting.

On Observing A Figure in a Cemetery

Death came quickly.
He crept in while we weren't looking.
He grasped you by the arm,
I questioned him, remember?
Have you the wrong person? I said.
He said nothing.
I made excuses for you,
But he didn't listen.
I told him I wanted you here.
He simply glanced at me,
But I could tell, by his eyes,
That he didn't understand at all!
I asked him to take me.
I even reached out to grab him—
I only grabbed the air.
I wait, now you know.
For him, to come for me.
I even talk out loud sometimes,
For I know that he hears.
But I must be patient.
You must be, too.
Death will come for me, you know
The way he came for you.

As I awoke this morning
And gently rose my head,

I wished I didn't drink.

through awkward branches that scratch at window panes to November's cold moonlight patterns reflected broken,
On a bedroom wall.
I,
tight-lipped as a toy soldier remember once when leaves blew down like someone else's funeral and I was afraid of night.
It always came with long black fingers wrapped round my throat, and made words stick to my teeth.

And I remember dying once
Going down like a paper bag full of all that water.
But they fished me out with cold fingers and brought me home to daddy.
Daddy knew it wasn't bad.
Daddy always knew,
but he never saw the fingers.
So sometimes I'd call 'mother'
and she'd make me pray,
And I always did, til I grew up.

Now I lay me down to sleep with Fuardini's fat ghost in this corner and only quiet in the others,
And I'll wake up sometime Monday morning
When outside,
All night
beats and breathes through naked branches.

Swings have gone to another playground,

In the reorganized mathematics program the aim was to establish a basic program simple to operate, yet substantial and flexible enough to accommodate today's diversity of students and their objectives. To accomplish this the mathematics major is built on the Calculus, Modern Mathematics and Sets, Linear Algebra, Geometry, and Probability in the freshman and sophomore years with subsequent offerings on the junior-senior level in alternate years or, for certain courses, oftener. Thus the student should be assured a level of competence in mathematics be it for teaching, for graduate study at a later date, or for entering a profession requiring a strong background in mathematics. The department also aims to provide service courses for the Liberal Arts degree and for the following majors: Elementary Education, Science, Industrial Education, and Technology with some of these students earning a minor in mathematics. Periodical evaluation by the department's staff, student teachers, and others points the way to revisions and accommodations. On the whole, it is felt that the above goals have been reached adequately, but not perfectly.

To date the department has 112 majors and 57 minors in mathematics with about 400 others meeting their course requirements. Currently six staff members handle the department's offerings. Increased enrollment and greater demands made on mathematics for computer services indicates continuous reorganization, expansion in computer hardware, and more staff. In addition, we must reach beyond the B.Ed., B.A. and B.S. degrees. The time has come to consider the M.A.T., M.A. and/or the M.S. in mathematics.
