

NOEL

How are you? I think of you often - far more often than the sight of my handwriting would lead you to think!

I'm crazy about what I'm doing. Again and again he leads us out of Egypt. This is a good year - stray pieces of old puzzles falling into place, another plateau in the ambiguous, gloriously absurd life of faith. Courses are fun, especially theology and the synoptic gospels. A fascinating and richly rewarding summer (past) as a psychiatric chaplain trainer in the Finger Lakes region.

My best to old friends (those who linger!).
Hope your Christmas will be blessed in every way.

NORTHERN GRAPHIC ARTS
LAKE FOREST, ILLINOIS

With affection, Jonathan Daniels for you

A wonderful word just for me - a piece of old English falling fast gently into place, some ancient bitterness buried from my system, the rebirth of faith after a long drought. In order is fun - especially through and the synoptic gospel.

San Norman (who for whom is just a have merged feeling) at church again on Sunday. Did you know that the Master is in ⁶²² ~~Conception~~ (Virginia) I'm glad. I think of you often, always with affection. May your Christmas will be happy and long. Love

Conception Abbey Press Conception, Missouri

Excerpt -

Good to know your father (Bill) is better - it was concerned - sure was disappointed not to see you at the house.

Unto us this day is born a Savior

Dear John,

So good to get your card and note and fortunate - or this would have waited you in Michigan! Sounds like you are thriving. I am happy