Helen Schellenberg, alto
Harry W. Davis, tenor
Jesse F. Davis, baritone

The Star of Bethlehem Adams
Trumpet solo Frank E. Kirby
Hallelujah Chorus, The Messiah Handel
Choir, Glee Club and Orchestra

Second Part of Program

The second part of the program was the cantata "Christmas," by Francis Abt, rendered by the Woman's Glee club, directed by Miss Dieffenbach, with Miss Barbara Severance, Hillsboro, as reader. This was given from the platform.

The chorus numbers were "Fervent Longing fills Creation," "The Angel's Song," "Song of Shepherds," "Chorus of Angels," "The Shepherd's Greeting," and "The Angels' Lullaby."

Miss Virginia Hough, Lebanon, sang the solo, "The Angel of Peace," and Miss Evelyn Brinton, Keene, "An Angel."

The chorus showed a keen appreciation of the finer technique and a deep understanding of the meaning of "Christmas."

Mr. Stowell was pianist for the first part of the program and Miss Elizabeth Goodell for the second session.

boring teacher training institution will be presented for the office of president of the National Education Association at its next annual convention to be held at Denver, June 30 to July 5, 1935. The candidate is Dr. Caroline S. Woodruff, principal of Castleton Normal at Castleton, Vt.

The following sketch appeared in a recent issue of THE BIRDS-EYE, publication of Castleton Normal:

"Dr. Woodruff's professional history and affiliation with the National Education Association give her a strong claim upon the interest of all who wish to see a progressive educator fill this office. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi - Kappa Chapter, Columbia university - with her M. A. degree from Middlebury college and her degree of Doctor of Education from Norwich university - the first honorary degree conferred upon a woman by a military university.

"Her service in teaching has been in many fields and on many levels of the educational program. Classroom teacher, principal, superintendent - hers has been the administrative genius which has given Castleton Normal school a place of distinction among teacher training institutions during the past thirteen years.

"In addition to being a life member of the N.E.A. as well as a member of the National Department of Superintendence and of the National Council of Education, she has filled with dignity and superior leadership many important offices.

"We go on record as predicting the election of our beloved principal to this office which she unquestionably deserves."

Dr. Woodruff is a friend of our own president, Dr. Mason, and of Keene Normal. She has visited here often, with other members of her staff. The editors of THE KRONICLE join with other friends in best wishes for her election to leadership in the N.E.A.

Winifred T. Hammond, Manchester and Francis Pace, Portsmouth, dressed as Puritans, and honorable mention for a similar type was given Miss Jean E. Morey, Lowell, Mass., and Walter Moore, Plaistow, as Puritan maid and man.

In the originality class the judges' choice was that of "Daniel Boone," cleverly depicted by Ross Gale, Rutland, Vt. A close second choice was the robot, or mechanical man, by Emerson McCourt, Portsmouth. Honorable mention was made of Paul E. Bridges, South Elliot, Maine, who appeared in the scant costume of a Mohammedan.

Faculty Shares in Honors

The faculty shared in the prize winning, Miss M. Marie Thyng being judged the most comical in a "Believe It or Not" representation of one of the freaks at the world exposition in Chicago.

Roy Newton, Alton, and Raymond Robinson, Hinsdale, dressed as scrubwoman and bum, received second honors, and Lawrence Goss, Hampton, as a clown with double-sized ears and feet won honorable mention in the most comical class.

The decision of the judges was based on types of costume, their adaptability in the specific class and the amount of work put into the dress.

The colors of the three Manchester schools, green and white of Central, red and blue of St. Joseph's cathedral, and blue and white of West Side, in paper streamers, formed the chief decorative effect, depicting a winter scene.

Program Enjoyed

A program of entertainment was presented under the direction of Miss Mae R. Youngquist, Manchester. This opened with a soprano solo, "Indian Love Call," by Miss Arlene Jenkins, Hanover. Neil Sullivan and Miss Jeanette Saigh, both of Manchester, participated in a humorous debate on the subject, "Why

CAPTAIN APPLEJACK

The date has been set for the postponed performance of the three-act comedy, "Captain Applejack". It will be given in Parker hall on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 16. The change from the December date first announced, was made necessary by the crowded schedule of events just before the holidays and also on account of one of the cast leaving school.

"Captain Applejack" is a comedy. It combines in an unusual way, humor, fantasy, and romantic adventure. New attractive scenery is being built and painted for the production. Tickets can be had from members of the dramatic club.

Gorham Game

The men's team won its third game of the season against Gorham, Maine, Normal school in Gorham, on Thursday evening, Dec. 20. Keene was represented by Zoulias, Wyman and Johnson, forwards; Sullivan, center; Giovannangeli and Nordman, guards.

The first quarter ended in a 7 to 7 tie, but Keene pulled ahead to a good lead in the second quarter and managed to keep it throughout the game.

Gorham missed several opportunities to shoot. Gorham will play a return game here on Jan. 19.

Man Should Beware of Black Shirts." Miss Virginia Chase, alto soloist, of Seabrook was called on to encore numbers as a "Blues Singer." Miss Youngquist was enthusiastically received in several readings. The entire club joined in a medley of songs including the alma mater and football songs of the three Manchester schools.

Miss Jean F. Baird, head of the art department, and Miss Elizabeth E. Gregory, geography instructor, were judges.

K.N.S. STUDENTS and KEENE PUBLIC HEAR WERREN RATH, FAMOUS BARITONE, SING

Music of School Series Is Largely Attended and Greatly Appreciated

Some 700 music lovers from the Normal school and surrounding vicinity were most enthusiastic and delighted with the vocal concert given by Reinald Werrenrath, the famous baritone, in the Spaulding gym on Jan. 21.

Mr. Werrenrath's program was varied, holding the interest of the audience throughout.

The wide range of tone, and breath control, sincerely demonstrated in his singing showed all the finish of a true artist. He began easily, using a more powerful voice later in the program for the heavier type of songs. Beginning with songs of a quiet, homely type he then sang pieces of a more powerful nature, the climax coming in the singing of the dramatic aria "Credo" from Verdi's "Othello" which he so picturesquely described. He amused his listeners when he said that the baritone parts are always the parts of villains in operas; that tenors are always the heroes, and that, really, "baritones are much nicer than

METROPOLITAN ROOF-GARDEN IS CHIEF DECORATION AT ANNUAL MID-YEAR BALL

Formal Social Event of School Year Held In Spaulding Gym Is Usual Gala Party — Tea Dance Is Held on Following Saturday Afternoon

The annual mid-year ball, an outstanding social event of the school year, was held in Spaulding gymnasium, on Friday evening, Jan. 25. More than 100 couples, all in formal dress, attended. The decorations, which suggested a metropolitan roof garden, with the New York sky-line on the stage for a background, were carried out by a committee of art students with Miss Ruth Mary Doe, Northwood, chairman. Music of quiet, but engaging rhythm, was furnished by Doug Newton's orchestra of Bellows Falls, Vt. Many out-of-town guests from near by educational institutions, as well as K.N.S. alumni and students, were noted on the floor.

The patrons and patronesses, who received the dancers were: Pres. and Mrs. Wallace E. Mason, Miss Isabelle U. Esten, dean of women; H. Dwight Carle, dean of men, Miss Ida M. Fernald, assistant dean, Miss Mabel R. Brown, Frederick J. Simmons, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Davis.

The presidents and vice-presidents of the different classes composed the ball committee. Each one assumed a chairmanship with a specific duty, which resulted in the party being planned and conducted with unusual smoothness.

Miss Lillian Hoek, Reeds Ferry, president of the four-year home economics class was general chairman of the dance.

Committee Chairmen

The other officers and committee chairmen were: Fred L. Barry, Charlestown, president of

BOTH FRATERNITIES CLOSE THEIR RUSHING SEASON, NEXT COMES INITIATION

Kappa Delta Phi and Alpha Pi Tau Choose New Members

The two fraternities of the school finished their annual rushing season on Feb. 4, after ten days of activity. Members of the freshman class were entertained informally by both the Kappa Delta Phi and Alpha Pi Tau men. The Alphas held a smoker in the social room of Spaulding gymnasium on Jan. 28, while the Kappas conducted a party for the first-year men at the school camp at Wilson pond, on Friday, Feb. 1. Following supper, honorary members responded to toasts and then followed a period of games and music.

On the latter occasion Roy A. Sullivan, consulting editor of THE KRONICLE, was made an honorary member of the fraternity.

For the next few weeks the newly elected members will be prepared for the formal initiation ceremonies, which will take place soon after the return to Keene following the early spring recess of the school.

The following men were pledged to Kappas: from the sophomore class, Clifton W. Smith, Salem. From the freshman class, Donald S. Cooney, Enfield; Jesse F. Davis, Hampstead; Kenneth L. Creighton, Hampton; Ross M. Gale, Rutland, Vt.; Sherman S. Joslin, Westville; Walter Palmer, Enfield; Luther M. Preston, Auburn; Vernon J. Perkins, Lyme; Victor A. Seymour, Dover; Daniel A. Tolman, EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES AT K.N.S.

DRAMATIC CLUB CAST SUCCESSFULLY PRESENTS PLAY "CAPT. APPLEJACK"

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the annual presentation by the school dramatic club which was given in Parker hall on Jan. 16. The three-act play "Capt. Applejack", by Walter Hackett was staged by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York.

The part of "Ambrose Applejohn" was taken by Donald Piper, Meredith, and the other important rolls were filled by the following: "Mr. Pengard," Thomas McCullough, Manchester; "Ivan Borosky," Fred Barry, Charlestown; "Lush," Lewis Montrone, Keene; "Poppy Faire," Miss June Kendall, Montpelier, Vt.; "Mrs. Whatcombe," Miss Eleanor Tarbox, Brattleboro, Vt.; "Anna Valeska," Virginia Chase, Smithtown; "Mrs. Pengard," Barbara Severance, Hillsborough; "Palmer," Mabelle Felch, Seabrook; "Denet," Victor Seymour, Dover; and "John Jason," Richard Trufant, Peterborough.

The roles of pirates were taken by James Whittemore, Andover; Raymond Robinson, Hinsdale; Robert Edmunds, Loudon; Walter Lucien, Hudson; Amilcare Scarponi, Portsmouth; Paul Brooks, Greenfield; and Walter Zygmunt, Manchester.

Sprague W. Drenan, head of the English department, directed the play and he was assisted by Paul Stinson, Milford, assistant-director; Miss Iona Shee, Lebanon, stage-manager; Raymond Robinson, Hinsdale, and James Whittemore, Andover, assistant stage managers; Wesley Brett, Keene, scenery; Ira Stopford, Portsmouth, electrician; Miss Helen Pratt, Keene, business manager; Dorothy Plaisted, Sanford, Maine, property manager; Walter Zygmunt, Manchester,

VARIOUS CLUB ACTIVITIES

The Rostra

The Rostra endeavors to devote one meeting each month to the study of Roman life, customs and personalities. The subject for the meeting held on Jan. 10, was Horace, in observance of the two thousandth anniversary of his birth. The program was in charge of Miss Beatrice Whitaker, Claremont, who was assisted by members of the Freshmen class.

A brief business meeting was held at the conclusion of the program. Miss Dorothy Plaisted, Sanford, Maine, chairman of the committee for the entertainment to be given by the club in March, reported on plays suitable for presentation. The club voted to give a one-act comedy, "Sauce for the Gossips."

assistant property manager, Miss Jennie Symonds, North Bennington, Vt., Miss Madeline Dearborn, Concord, and Miss Jeanette Snow, Keene, costumers; Miss Waltina Chrostowski, Claremont, Miss Elizabeth Britton, Keene, Miss Claudia Crotteau, Marlboro, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Montpelier, Vt., and Miss Jane Langer, Manchester, make-up.

A note on the printed program setting forth the policy of the club reads as follows:

"The Dramatic Club believes that it is a privilege to give to as many students as possible an opportunity to do practical work in play production. Possibly there are more members on our staff than are absolutely necessary, but all of them have, we feel, gained some experience in the many-sided and fascinating business of putting on a play. The earnestness and competence with which they have worked confirms us in the belief that we are doing something worthwhile in our sole objective—to train future teachers to become able play directors."

Opheus Club

The Opheus club presented a special program in talks and music, on the life and works of noted composers who were born in the month of January, at the monthly meeting in Spaulding gymnasium, Jan. 14. Miss Ruth E. Clement, Derry, was in general charge.

Miss Laura Eaves, Peterboro, gave two talks, one on the life and compositions of Puccini, and the other on the eminent present day pianist, Hoffman.

Charles J. Stowell, Walpole reviewed the music of Mozart and played the first movement of Mozart's Sonata in A.

Miss Dorothy H. Conway gave a talk on the life of Schubert and the club joined in singing some of his work.

The life of Lowell Mason, founder and "father" of public school music, who served as music instructor in Boston schools free of charge, in order to prove his experiment, was presented by Rene Mathieu of Penacook. Some of Mr. Mason's hymns were played by Miss Clement.

Miss Ruth Mary Doe of Northwood told of the early activity of Walter Damrosch in conducting opera in New York and spoke of his orchestral work, and the music appreciation value of his radio broadcasting.

Rural Club

The Rural club held an interesting meeting on Jan. 8, at which the speaker was William F. Skelton, supervisor of off-campus High schools. The subject of his talk was "The Use of Standard Tests in Rural Schools."

Mr. Skelton stated that when one goes out into a new field he will find many types of individual differences. Tests must be given to find out what the pupils can do. Listeners were cautioned not to depend wholly on these tests. High marks may show

ALL MEN'S GROUP OF THE SCHOOL JOIN IN GET-TO-GETHER SMOKER

The annual men's get-together was held in Spaulding gym, on Jan. 17, with a committee from the two fraternities in charge. In making arrangements for the affair the committee chairmen were: Don Chamberlain, East Jaffrey, for the Kappas; and Amilcare Scarponi, Portsmouth for the Alphas.

Mr. Scarponi acted as master of ceremonies. Various members of the faculty were called on for remarks, including Dean H. D. Carle, Clarence H. DeMar, and Conrad A. Adams. Group singing was lead by Harry W. Davis, head of the music department. There were several musical novelties presented by Clarence O. Richardson, Harrisville, and readings by Thomas McCullough, Manchester, Carl Johnson, Hillsboro, and Walter Zygmunt, Manchester. Don Piper, Meredith, welcomed the first-year men in behalf of the Kappas, and Joseph Baines spoke for the Alphas.

Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served and a social hour was spent in games and conversation. Members of the freshmen class were special guests.

ability; low marks may be due to a temporary cause or to a permanent one.

A few specimen tests were shown, including the Otis group intelligence scale, the Otis self-administering tests of mental ability, and the Metropolitan tests. The speaker stated most emphatically that the low grade pupils or "morons" never lead in these tests. With this Miss Idella K. Farnum, club sponsor, agreed in the discussion period.

A book of views of his rural school taken by Robert Hill, of the class of 1932, with explanations, was exhibited and was the center of attention during the social hour following the address.

CONFERENCE PLANS

Already seven students have signed up to attend the annual spring conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers to be held in New York city in April. It is hoped that there will be several more in addition to the official delegate elected from the student body. Those who attended last year were most enthusiastic and gave interesting reports of the conference on their return. Miss Louise Tewksbury, '35, Littleton, was the official delegate in 1934.

NURSERY SCHOOL

Mrs. Edith M. Peek of Concord is the principal of the nursery school which holds daily sessions in the Practice house. Her assistant is Miss Bernice O'Brien, Keene, a graduate of the three-year elementary curriculum in 1934. Miss Elizabeth Eouillette of Pembroke, has been secured as nurse.

The school is in session from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m. Twenty-five children are enrolled. The school is organized as one phase of the federal government's emergency education program. The Normal school is cooperating with the State department of Education and Supt. Laurence O. Thompson, local superintendent of Schools.

CLUB SPEAKER

Miss Louise Norton, formerly instructor in the Home Economics department here, and now supervisor of that department for the State Board of Education, was a recent speaker before the Hollis Woman's club, on the topic, "Art in the Home".

SCHOLARSHIP DAY

Saturday, May 4, has been selected for Scholarship Day for the year 1935. High school students of the state will be guests of the two Normal schools and compete in standard form tests based on the subjects of the High school curriculum.

KAPPA NEWS

The 14th annual freshman party and reception was given by Gamma chapter in Spaulding gym, on the evening of Jan. 11. About 50 couples attended, including 10 couples of alumni.

Patrons and patronesses were: Pres. and Mrs. Wallace E. Mason, Miss Isabelle U. Esten, Miss Ida E. Fernald, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Huse, Miss Mabel R. Brown and Harry B. Preston.

The gymnasium was decorated for the occasion with blue and gold streamers and colored balloons. On the stage potted palms made an attractive setting for Richardson's orchestra which furnished the music. During intermission refreshments of ice cream, cookies and punch were served.

Decorations were in charge of Andrew J. Crooker, Jr., Hillsboro; Richard Trufant, Peterboro; Clifton Kew, Waitesfield, Vt.; Donald Chamberlain, East Jaffrey, and Thomas McCullough, Manchester.

ART DEPT.

The Ardencraft club recently added two more names to its membership list, those of: Wesley Brett and Philip Whitney, both of Keene. The Club is planning to study oil painting soon.

Miss Jean F. Baird, on a recent week-end trip to Boston, studied the paintings of Egyptian excavation under the direction of the Museum of Fine Arts, made by Joseph Linden Smith, Dublin and Cambridge. She says that they were most realistic and interesting.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Carolyn Alls is unable to return to K.N.S. this year.

OPEN SEASON

"Now, remember, my dears," said Mother Raccoon to her children, "you must always watch your step, because you have the skin the college boys love to touch!" —Exchange.

ALPHA PI TAU

The annual Tea Dance sponsored by the Nu Beta Upsilon and the Alpha Pi Tau has again proven a great success. We appreciate the cooperation and hard work given by members of the Nu Beta Upsilon in promoting the success of this affair. Special mention goes to Pres. Baines for his fine workmanship in preparing programs. (Did you like them?)

We congratulate Mr. Caldwell on the success of his basketball squad and Brothers Sullivan, Zoulias, Wyman, Beard, Corson, and Manager Scarponi for the parts they played in making this team a success.

Brother Robert Domina will remain at Hancock High School for the third nine. Brother Paul Brooks will be stationed at Hampstead High, and Brothers Farrar, Hasting and Dickinson will return to Central Junior High.

We wish Brothers Carroll Fortier and Carl Johnson success at Wheelock School.

TRADES and INDUSTRIES

We are all glad to welcome Harry P. Wood, Keene, and Robert C. Omand, Manchester, who have joined the 2. T and I division. With the return of George Corson, Rochester to school this division has now regained the number of seven.

Members of the third and fourth year divisions will remain in their teaching positions and in industries for the next nine weeks. There are no changes in the study divisions with the new year.

We were glad to welcome several of our students who are working or teaching off-campus at the time of the mid-year ball and tea dance. All are enjoying their experience.

Congratulations to "Monty" Kallach of last year's class whose marriage is announced in another column.

MUSIC NOTES

The following are some of the recent engagements of musical students:

Jan. 2. Unitarian Layman's League. Instrumental Trio and Jesse Davis.

Jan. 17. First Cong'l Church Men's Club. Instrumental Trio.

Jan. 27. Baptist Church, Evening Service. Chapel Choir.

Feb. 6. Prof. Women's Club of Keene. Instrumental Trio and Jesse Davis, soloist.

The rehearsal of the chapel choir on Sunday evening, Jan. 20, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Davis, and was preceded by a tea and fire-side social.

We are sorry to lose Frank Kirby, '37, Amherst, from our midst as he and his trumpet have contributed a great deal to the musical activities of the school.

Charles Stowell has been engaged as organist at the First Congregationist church for the month of March.

The annual Tea Dance following the Mid-Year ball was held on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 26, from 2 until 5. Dancing was enjoyed to Doug Newton's orchestra, and tea was served.

KEENE KRONICLE

FOR SALE — NEW HAMPSHIRE

Have you become a fan to New Hampshire's latest fad? Don't tell me that you didn't know that New Hampshire has gone ski-conscious in a big way? Evidently more than a little high pressure sales talk is needed around here.

Every week during the winter, snow trains leave Boston for points north best suited for winter sports, as determined by weather and ski experts. Armed with all sorts of equipment for winter sports, people from less fortunate parts of New England come to our state for a grand good time. They bring the old favorites — snowshoes, skates, skis, and toboggans, — yet we can easily see that those "elongated wooden runners" are the most popular companions.

You don't have to be a ski jumper or an expert cross country skier to participate — by far the most popular type of skiing is down-hill skiing. Necessarily, skiing as we have adopted it is much different from skiing down those long smooth Alpine slopes high above the tree line. Many of our trails are merely the widened foot paths that lead over the mountains, for we have left the cow pastures and golf courses for greater excitement. This year, New Hampshire has at least 20 well mapped out ski trails in all parts of the state, from the Peterborough region in the south to the Whitefield region in the north. If you are quite ambitious, you may choose the 21-mile Wapack trail with a maximum grade of 20 degrees in the Peterborough region, or perhaps you would prefer the 38-degree grade of Hell's Highway on Mt. Mooselauke. However, between these extremes of length and steepness, we find at least a part of all the trails easy enough for the novice. But please remember that trails marked "novice" are the next step after the practice slope, so it is well for awhile to try your new skis out on some gentler hills. Certainly practice dodging rocks, trees, and stone walls typical of most of our hills would be excellent training.

Don't let our out-of-state neighbors excel us in our own sports — let's show the world that we are truly the "Switzerland of America", and, incidentally, hand in a lot of gym credits. —M.C.

EDUCATION NOTES

The new $175,000 High school building at Alstead, was dedicated on Jan. 3. It is the gift to the community of the late Charles N. Vilas. The principal address was given by Prof. James A. Tufts, of Phillips Exeter Academy, and a personal friend of Mr. Vilas. The State Board of Education was represented on the program by Commissioner James N. Pringle.

The new building is a two-story structure of dark red blended brick and is described as one of the best buildings of its kind in any community the size of Alstead. Mr. Vilas not only provided the money for the building but he also willed a sum for its maintenance.

William E. Givens, formerly superintendent of schools at Oakland, Calif., has succeeded James W. Crabtree as secretary of the National Education Association. Dr. Crabtree has been made secretary emeritus after a period of seventeen years service. The January issue of "The Journal of the N.E.A." contains many items of appreciation of Dr. Crabtree's outstanding service to the cause of education in the United States.

By a change of policy under the leadership of Pres. Henry Lester Smith, membership in the N.E.A. is now open to senior students in teacher training institutions. This gives to such students the benefits of the publications of the association and the personal satisfaction of having a share in the work of the profession.

TEACHER VISITATION — Delaware teachers of one-teacher schools and the lower grade teachers of two-teacher schools have one day for group-visiting other schools. The Department of Public Instruction has arranged this year a motorecade to visit five schools in this one day. Something different is observed at every stop; there is discussion at each school.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

Wheelock - Central Junior High - lesson plans - aren't those words familiar? Keene is justly proud of its city training schools.

But the outside training schools are equally interesting. Keene and Plymouth cooperate in furnishing cadet teachers for high schools in Hancock, Hampstead, Orford, and Dalton. In turn, these schools provide an excellent chance for actual teaching under supervision.

Five years ago, Hancock High school became a training school with Miss Bertha C. Manchester as its headmaster and critic teacher. Under this system, more varied courses are provided, and there is greater chance for individual help. Hancock is justly proud of its small but thriving school.

In its eight years of existence, under the guidance of Miss Gladys P. Twitchell, Orford High school has increased its original enrollment of 18 pupils to 75. Do not these figures witness the service which that training school is offering in Orford and surrounding towns?

Yet, if you ask the students who served their internship at Hampstead which training school is best, you'll hear them praise Hampstead and its fine critic teacher, Miss Augusta Nichols.

Dalton High school is more remote. For this reason, perhaps, it offers secondary education to more pupils for whom it would otherwise be impossible, than do the other schools.

Every June, these schools graduate pupils. Some go on to higher education. Others go out into occupations. We cannot accurately predict the service of these schools. But all indications point towards success. —A.U.

"We need in this country the type of education that frees the human mind from ignorance and superstition, and loosens the bonds of oppressing circumstance. We need the type of educational training that ferrets out native ability and encourages and stimulates intellectual aptitude, wherever it may be found."

—Harry Woodburn Chase of N.Y.U.

PETERBORO ALUMNA WINS HONORS IN HER PAINTING

During December last Miss Mabelle Richardson of Peterboro, a graduate of the class of 1927, conducted an exhibition of her paintings at the Playhouse gallery, 52 West 8th Street, New York City. Included in the collections were several portraits as well as several abstract paintings.

Commenting on her exhibition a New York Daily says in part: "Miss Mabelle Richardson, portrait painter and without question one of the finest dry brush women painters in this country today, was born in the hills of New Hampshire and came to New York in 1929 to study at the Art Students League. Her interests were divided between sculpture and painting. After dabbling in both for a short time she definitely decided to go in exclusively for painting, specializing in portraiture.

"As a very little girl Mabelle Richardson had already decided to be an artist and at the age of 15 was apprenticed to George De Forrest Brush, also a New Hampshireite.

"When Miss Richardson decided to go in for portraiture she placed herself under the tutelage of Kimon Nicolaides, an instructor at the Art Students League. During her four years of intensive training under the guidance of Mr. Nicolaides, Miss Richardson won a scholarship from the Beaux Art Institute."

The article closes with a fine tribute of Mr. Nicolaides to the work of his pupil and with a list of prominent people for whom Mrs. Richardson has made portraits. Her work has found a place in many well-known private collections.

Word has been received of the engagement of Llewellyn Albert Brewster, Dover, a member of the four-year English curriculum to Miss Clara Clark. Mr. Brewster has been teaching in Massachusetts since graduation.

1930 AND 1932

Two recent graduates of K.N.S. have been added to the staff of the public schools of Keene. Miss Gertrude Upton, Keene, formerly teacher at Canaan, is now at the Symonds school, West Keene, and Miss Sarah (Sally) R. Griswald, East Jaffrey, for two years at the training school conducted by Plymouth and Keene, at Dalton, is now teacher of home economics in the Symonds and Franklin Junior High schools.

1932

Miss Edna L. Johnson, Hillsboro, after two years as a teacher in the Hopkinton High school, Contoocook, is now employed at the Junior High school, Portsmouth.

Miss Irene E. Jewett, Middlebury, Vt., has been appointed assistant 4-H club agent in Grafton county. She will handle the home economics projects in the girls' clubs. Since her graduation from the Home Economics department here in 1932, Miss Jewett has taught in Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Colcord. Plaistow, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Edna, to Clifton E. Cook. Miss Colcord, a graduate of Haverhill, Mass., High school and Keene Normal school, is a teacher in Lyndeboro. Mr. Cook attended Haverhill, Mass., High school and Business college and is employed by the Taylor-Goodwin company of that city.

1933 AND 1934

On Christmas day, 1934, Miss Eleanor A. McAllister, '33, of Warner was married at the home of the groom to Maurice Boyd Kallloch of Concord.

The ceremony was performed by candlelight and the home was attractive with Christmas greens. The double ring service was read in the presence of immediate relatives.

Mrs. Kallloch is a graduate of the Warner schools and of Keene Normal school, class of 1933. The bridegroom, who was graduated from Concord High school in 1930, completed his course at Keene Normal school last June. Mrs. Kallloch is teaching at Newbury and her husband is instructor in Mechanic Arts in the Alenstown schools. Both are well known basketball players and are now members of the Bradford town teams, the Squaws and the Indians. For the present they will make their home at 18 Donovan Street, Concord.

Miss Palmina Quintilio, Keene, has accepted a position with the Community players of Boston, promoting and directing local talent shows for community enterprises. During her course in the Keene High school and in the Normal school, Miss Quintilio appeared in a number of amateur theatrical performances.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM OUR OLDER ALUMNAE

Mary Harris of the class of 1918 is now Mrs. Harold E. Gaw of Manchester. For several years she taught at the Wheelock school in Keene, and the Parker school in Manchester. Mr. and Mrs. Gaw have two sons, John H., and Robert H. Her address is Route 1, Box 52, Manchester.

Mrs. Henry C. Chickering nee Imogene L. Lawrence, 1918, is the town clerk of Chesterfield. Since graduation, Mrs. Chickering has taught (1918-1919) in Hinsdale, (1919-1926) Chesterfield and since then been town clerk. She has a son and daughter, five and three years old, respectively.

Miss Anna M. Drennan, 1919, is teaching Home Economics in Baltimore, Md. She has attended New Hampshire University and the University of Maryland for extensive training.

Miss Florence M. Borden, 1924, is now in Hingham, Mass. She taught in Hanover for a few years and then went to the New England Conservatory of Music and graduated in 1930.

Mrs. Ralph B. Brainard (Miss Lucy M. Belknap, '24), is now living at Colebrook. She taught for one year at the Raymond High school, and was for three years Home Demonstration agent for Coos county, under the supervision of the Extension service of the University of New Hampshire. Mrs. Brainard is the mother of two daughters, Ruth Ellen, and Hazel Louise. Mr. Brainard is the proprietor of the Stickney pharmacy in Colebrook.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Keene 19—Plymouth 18

The annual Plymouth-Keene girls' basketball game was held at Plymouth on Saturday evening, Jan. 19. The local squad consisting of Captain Dorothy Minor, Keene; the Misses Georgia Day, Jane Langer, Manchester; Shirley McIntyre, Whitefield; Betsey Crowell, Kensington; Elizabeth Martin, Montpelier, Vt.; Velma Peirce, Winchester; Janet Fletcher, Claremont; Edwina Luneau, Tilton; Florence Dustin, Hampstead; Fern Lloyd, Bellows Falls, Vt.; Lula Morey, Eva Dostillio, Ruth Rix, Keene; and the coach, Miss Marjorie Bateman, also Miss Roberta Smith, and Leonard C. Morrison left the campus Saturday morning at 9:30 and drove to Concord where they stopped for dinner. From there to Plymouth everyone was much impressed with the great amount of snow completely covering the houses in some places. Upon arriving at the Normal school, the Keene girls were assigned to rooms and enjoyed a restful afternoon until a gong announced the time of supper. During the tour of the Plymouth campus, much appreciation was voiced of the impressive row of skis, the library, dormitories, and social rooms.

The game started at 7:30 with the following line-ups:

KEENE		PLYMOUTH
Fletcher	rf	Norwicki & Bryan
Day	lf	Hurd
McIntyre	cf	Bowles
Minor	rg	Ashford
Lloyd	lg	Boudle
Morey	cg	Smith

Timer, Peirce. Scorer, Martin. The game was exceedingly close, neither side scoring for the first four minutes. At the end of the first quarter, Plymouth led 4-2, but at the half Keene boasted 11-8. About two min-

SPORT NOTES

In connection with the visit of the Castleton Normal basketball team here, Coach George McKenzie of the Castleton team showed motion pictures in Parker hall of Olympic winter sports contests in 1932 and of an ice festival in August, 1934 at the Lake Placid arena.

Mr. MacKenzie's 11-year old daughter, Miss Beth Helen MacKenzie, gave an exhibition of fancy and figure skating on the ice rink in the rear of the Normal school library. Both were enjoyed by a large group of students.

BOYS' SPORT NOTES

The class rivalry has been transferred from speedball to basketball. On Thursday, Jan. 10, the opening games of the K.N.S. intramural basketball schedule were played. As usual there are two freshmen teams, one sophomore team, and one made up of junior-seniors. The two freshmen teams were the first to play, and the "Trojans" coached by Stanley Johnson, Keene, won from the "Steam Rollers", coached by James Nucas, Manchester, 22-12.

In the next game, the seniors, coached by George Zoulias, Manchester, and William St. Jacques, Laconia, barely nosed out the sophomores, coached by Harold Smith, Groveton, 21-19, in a game that was nip and tuck from beginning to end.

utes before the finish of the game, the score stood 18-17 in Plymouth's favor, when Miss Georgia Day made a beautiful long shot and the whistle sounded—leaving a score of 19-18 in favor of Keene.

Following the game, Keene was royally entertained by the Plymouth squad at a banquet and dance. We left Sunday morning on the return trip and arrived safely, but half frozen amid a delightful snow storm.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

City Club

On Jan. 9, in one of the fastest games of the season, with the lead see-sawing back and forth through the whole game, the Keene Normal quintet defeated the Keene City club team, 42-41 in the Keene High school gym. Giovannangeli with 13 points and Nordman with 12 played well for Keene Normal. Wheelock and Humphrey, both with 9 points, and Laurent with 8 led in the scoring for the City Club.

New Britain

Jan. 12 Keene Normal five continued its winning streak by taking a 28-27 game the New Britain Teachers college of New Britain, Conn. Giovannangeli who scored 15 points for Keene threw in the final point in the closing seconds of the game.

Gorham

Jan. 19 K.N.S. flashed an offensive attack in the final period to defeat Gorham Normal five, 50-34, in the Spaulding gym on Saturday night. Gorham climbed very close to our boys during the third period, but during the last stanza they were left behind in a cloud of Keene Normal dust as Paul Nordman with 11 points, Stan Johnson with 10 and "Art" Giovannangeli with 17 points "opened up" on them.

Fitchburg

For three periods the Keene Normal school basketball team waged a nip and tuck battle against Fitchburg Teachers college in the Spaulding gym on Jan. 18, with the score as close as 18-19 in favor of Fitchburg at the close of the third quarter. Keene floundered in the last quarter and lost 39 to 22.

Keene put up a plucky fight against great odds, as each man was out-weighted and out-reached throughout the game. The usual shooting technique of the stalwart Keene guards was a lot

FRESHMEN STATISTICS

While all types of physical specimens can be found among Keene Normal freshmen girls, on the whole they score fairly well in their general health data of height and weight filed with Miss Lucy W. Clark, R. N., school nurse.

The average age of the freshmen girls is 18.7 years, the average weight 118.2 pounds, and the average height five feet, 2.01 inches.

There is a range of just an even foot from the tallest to the shortest girl in school, with few extremes. The tallest girl is five feet eight inches and the shortest four feet eight inches.

The differences in weight are of a much wider range. The heaviest girl weighs 176 pounds and the lightest tips the scales at less than 100 pounds, or 92 1-4 pounds to be exact.

Seventy percent, or 61 girls of the 87 freshmen, are of average weight. There are 16 underweight, or 18 1-2 percent, and 10 young women, or 11 1-2 percent overweight.

The Keene Normal school average age is slightly higher than that of Simmons college freshmen whose average age is 18.2 years, but the girls of the Boston institution are generally taller and heavier than at Keene, with the tallest girl over six feet and the heaviest weighing over 200 pounds.

Miss Bateman: "What game would we have the Junior High play for practice in shooting?"

off which accounted for many baskets being placed on the "file".

This is the first game on the red side for Keene Normal, but we can expect plenty of "comeback" since it requires a defeat to show the value of constant victories.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

By H. B. P.

Miss Adra R. Goodridge, formerly student assistant in physical education is now secretary of the physical education department of the School of Education at Boston university, and also editor of the "News Letter", monthly publication of the department.

Principal Edwin S. Huse of Central Junior High school, on a recent trip to Boston, attended the 2,000th convocation of St. Andrew's Royal Arch chapter, held in Masonic temple. Mr. Huse is one of 190 living members who have belonged to the chapter for 25 years or more.

Miss Elizabeth R. Gregory, instructor in geography, spent a part of the Christmas vacation in attending a meeting of the National Council of Geography teachers in Philadelphia. Here she was joined by her father Prof. W. M. Gregory of Western Reserve university, Cleveland.

In order to make more real the articulation between the teaching of the Normal department and the practice schools, a larger number of observations have been arranged this year at both the Central Junior High, and Wheelock training schools. Students in the first year classes in "Introduction to Education", and second-year students in parallel subjects are included. Arrangements for the critic teachers to visit classes on the campus have been carried out.

The Jan. 7 issue of "The Journal of Education," Boston, contains an article by Maynard C. Waltz, head of the department of languages, entitled, "The Character Tripod". The three essentials are according to this article (1) "A knowledge of right and wrong", (2) "A habit or capacity of right conduct", and (3) "Some sort of drive that brings the knowledge of right and wrong to the front so that conduct is ordered to accord." Mr. Waltz closes with a strong plea that the instruction in character building be raised "to the level of concepts and ideals as rapidly as possible through attitude building".

LITERARY

Have You Read?

"GOODBYE MR. CHIPPS"

By James Hilton

America's introduction to an English author, who has published several stories in his own country. Discovered by the editors of the Atlantic, "Mr. Chipps" in book form has gained the ranks of "best seller". It is the story of a master in an English "public" school, whose mellow humor, and fine sentiment made him an institution at the school. He will come to rank with Dr. Arnold, of "Tom Brown" and "The Roman" of Lawrenceville, among the immortal schoolmasters of literature. Little, Brown of Boston is the publisher.

"HEAVEN'S MY DESTINATION"

By Thornton Wilder

A new story by the author of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey". Its central character is a young college man, a salesman for school text books, whose desire to reform other people's lives gets him into perpetual trouble. Like most people in the world, he is not all bad. He was told by his college teacher that he had a "closed mind". As his life story develops under Mr. Wilder's pen, we see how fatal to integration of character this lack of open mindedness really is. This novel is from the house of Harper, N. Y.

"WHAT I LIKE IN POETRY"

By William Lyon Phelps

Readers of Prof. "Billy" Phelps' department in Scribners month by month will be glad of a selection of his favorite poems in this permanent form. Most of the verse represented is found in "The Golden Treasury", or in anthologies of modern verse. But the distinctive touch is the editor's thumb-nail essays which introduce most of the poems. One critic has called the volume "714 pages of very satisfying bed-reading". A good book to own, to treasure as the nucleus of a library of the "world's best" in poetry. Scribners, N. Y. is the publisher.

EXCHANGES

"THE ENTERPRISE"

Keene High School, Keene, N.H. The Freshman number of the present year from the Keene High school, is up to the usual high standard of previous seasons. We are pleased to note that the assistant editor is James Drenan, son of Sprague W. Drenan, head of the English department at K.N.S. Graduates from THE ENTERPRISE staff have found a place on the editorial board of THE KRONICLE, practically every year since the latter was established in 1928.

"THE BIRDS-EYE"

State Normal School, Castleton, Vt.

This paper has as leading editorial a greeting from Pres. Caroline S. Woodruff. Another featured article announces that Dr. Woodruff will be presented to the next meeting of the N. E. A. at Denver, as a candidate for the position of president of the Association. Among other interesting articles are an editorial entitled "School Keepers or Teachers", and the contribution under the heading "Who's Who".

"COLLEGE SPIRIT"

State Teachers College, Mankato, Minn.

Featured in this publication are events of school life all very well written. The viewpoint of the students is maintained in the editorial department; especially noteworthy is one editorial on school administration. Sports are also emphasized, and the school is to be congratulated on its fine showing in this line.

"THE METEOR"

Berlin High School, Berlin, N.H.

Berlin should be highly complimented on its splendid school paper. The editorial work tops the list in excellence with the literary work a close second.

A very clever idea is a page entitled "Let's Get Acquainted with Berlin High School." This contains an interesting article on Dr. Lloyd P. Young, superintendent of schools.

The book reviews are also well done and the paper is very well organized.

AROUND THE CAMPUS

Classes in Room 52, Blake house, are royally entertained by the music from the Nursery school in the basement.

Speaking of Blake house, ask the "Home Eccers" why all the shrieking in their kitchen, Kora Katnip can only suggest that she chased a mouse under the door the other day.

Wanted: "A Rhode Island Red Apple". The 4-H Division.

Ask the student who was referring to the Saar "Pebble-scite" if he has been writing "Love Letters in the Sand".

Kora Katnip observes that there is a decided improvement in the oral English used in classes. Perhaps the mutual checking by students and instructors accounts for it. Kora always said, "Every teacher should be a English teacher."

Found: Keene Normal school spirit! Is it any wonder that Coach Caldwell has a winning basketball team? Those hearty cheers and songs are a big help. Build up our school; don't tear it down.

Kora Katnip wonders how the girls can knit in classes and still keep up with the discussion. She dropped a stitch in the attempt recently.

Mr. Preston: I'm sorry, Miss Luneau, but we didn't hear one word in your resolution.

Edwina: Which word was it?

Miss Gregory: What country in Europe raises corn?

Class: (Blank silence)

Miss G.: There's only one country, and that's Hungary.

A class at Wheelock, studying the story "The Last Class", were discussing the scene in which the townspeople come to the schoolhouse to witness the master's last class.

Teacher: Why are there so many people in the back of the room?

Bright pupil: Maybe it was an observation.

tenors"; that some day he would write an opera with a baritone hero and three tenor villains.

Then there followed a group of lively sea songs.

The closing group of songs contained the ever favorite "Duna" which was beautifully executed and appeared to be the most outstanding song of the evening.

At the close Mr. Werrenrath spoke of the pleasure he felt in coming to Keene again as it is one of the places where he got his start as a vocalist.

Program

I. (a) Love Me Not (Secchi); (b) Leezie Lindsay, (Old Scotch, arranged by Kreisler); (c) Over the Hills and Far Away, (Old Irish, arranged by Fisher); (d) When Dull Care, (Old English, arranged by Wilson).

II. (a) Licht, (Sinding); (b) An den Sonnensehein, (Schumann); (c) The Two Grenadiers, (Schumann).

III. Credo from Othello, (Verdi); encore, Silvia, (OleySpeaks).

IV. Three Sea Songs, (a) Pirate Song (Gilbert); (b) Trade Winds, (Keel); (c) Captain Strattan's Fancy, (Deems Taylor), encore, Smilin' Through.

V. (a) Lone Dog, (Erlebach); (b) Chumleigh Fair, (Halliday); (c) Duna (McGill); (d) Danny Deever, (Damrosch); encore, Mandalay.

Mrs. Mary Ely, the accompanist assisted in furnishing a fine piano background for Mr. Werrenrath's songs.

ERMINE

You wear your ermine gracefully,
You slender, shapely, snowy tree,
But snow-gods, whirling down to see,
Scowled and howled in mockery.
"You are plebian, tree, to be Wearing this white so haughtily."
The tree whispered pityingly,
"Tis bearing proves gentility."

—DORIS B. WILSON, '33—
—From Concord "Monitor".

Teacher: How many days has each month?

Student: Thirty days has September. All the rest I can't remember. The calendar hangs there on the wall. Why bother me with this at all?

MAY FESTIVAL

the Normal school groups in festival, following the successful program instituted last year. The MacDowell male chorus, the Keene Woman's club chorus, and the Keene Orchestral society have voted to cooperate, and rehearsals of the individual groups will commence at once.

Hady's "Creation" has been selected as the principal work to be given. This contains, aside from the chorus numbers, solos for soprano, tenor and baritone.

The dates selected are May 12, 13, and 14, commencing on a Sunday afternoon and including concerts on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

FRATERNITIES

Manchester; Carl E. Youngquist, Manchester.

Those pledged to Alpha were the following: Raymond L. Robinson, special, Hinsdale; from the sophomore class, James A. Jordan, Stratford; Robert C. Ormand, Manchester; from the freshman class, Laurence E. Goss, Rye; Lester F. Harris, Jr., West Swanzey; James H. Leh, Keene; Paul H. Nordman, Keene; James Noucas, Manchester; Stanley A. Johnson, Keene; Walter Zygmund, Manchester.

The rushing season was carried on by agreement of the two fraternities, and supervised by the Dean's committee.

NOTES

Sprague W. Drenan and Harry B. Preston, of the English department represented the school at the fall meeting of the New England Association of Teachers of English at Hotel Bond, Hartford, Conn. The theme of the conference was "The Teaching of Composition in School and College."

On Friday, Jan. 25 the Home Economics classes attended the Woman's club meeting which was held at Masonic hall. There were three speakers and a marvelous exhibit of handwork.

MID-YEAR BALL

Thomas McCullough, Manchester; Miss Dorothy Smith, East Andover.

Attractive souvenir dance orders with the names of the committees and the patrons and patronesses were presented the dancers.

Tea Dance

On Saturday afternoon the usual tea dance was held in the gymnasium. This was in charge of committees from the Alpha Pi Tau fraternity, and the Nu Beta Upsilon, home economics club. Dancing was enjoyed with the same orchestra as on the previous evening, and dainty refreshments were served.

The patrons and patronesses of the tea dance included Deans Esten and Fernald, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cutts, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Morrison.

CLUBS

The Nature Club

The Nature club, which held its regular meeting Jan. 10 was favored by a talk by Miss Ruth Dieffenbach on "European Adventures in Nature." She related some of the outstanding features of her trip to Europe last summer. She stressed the intense nationalism throughout Germany, but brought out that even so, the visitor had no reason to be afraid.

BOYS' BASKETBALL NOTES

On Monday, Jan. 14, the Trojans won from the Sophomores in an exciting game which ended only after an overtime period had been played. At the end of the fourth quarter the score was 18-18. In the overtime period the Trojans scored 6 points while the Sophomores scored only 3, leaving the final score, 24-21, with the Trojans the victors.

On Wednesday, Jan. 16, the Steam Rollers proved to be too much for the Seniors whom they beat 35-33. The Seniors led until the last quarter, when the Steam Rollers in a great and glorious rally forged ahead and came out victorious.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS ONE-ACT PLAY

The Normal school dramatic club presented Stanley Houghton's one-act play, "The Dear Departed," in Parker hall, Jan. 29, before a specially invited audience.

The cast was as follows: "Mrs. Slater," Miss Mae Youngquist, Manchester; "Victoria Slater," Miss Mary Bemis, Chesham; "Henry Slater," Lawrence Goss, Portsmouth; "Mrs. Jordan," Miss Lucille Plante, Fitzwilliam; "Ben Jordan," David Armstrong, Manchester; "Abel Merryweather," Robert F. Edmunds, London.

The technical staff included: Miss Barbara Severance, Hillsboro, director; Miss Claudia Croteau, Marlboro, stage manager; Miss Ruth Mary Doe, Northwood, assistant stage manager; Miss Edwina C. Luneau, Tilton, property manager; Miss Waltina Chrostowski and Miss Frances Grindstaff, Keene, make-up committee; and Ira Stopford, Portsmouth, scenery and electrician.

Keene "Y" Club 49, K.N.S. 35

The Keene "Y" club basketball team triumphed over the Normal school quintet in Spaulding gymnasium on Feb. 4 in a fast contest in which many fouls were called. The score was 49 to 35.

The keen rivalry between the teams resulted in hard play rather than any roughness.

Laurent and Martin of the "Y" club and Giovannangeli of the Normal school each had 14 points to their credit and Putney of the "Y" club had 12.

The passing of the "Y" club was the best displayed this season. The score at half time was 23 to 15, with the "Y" club leading.

The line-up: KEENE "Y" KEENE NORMAL Putney, Perry r Nordman, Noucas Martin lf Zoulias, Johnson Laurent, Park c Sullivan Mason, Severance rb Giovannangeli Winn, Kenney lb St. Jacques Referees, Drew and Fiske, timer, Stanford.

EX-GOV. SPAULDING GIVES A $10,000 LOAN FUND TO NORMAL SCHOOLS

BENEFACTOR

FORMER GOV. HUNTLEY N. SPAULDING

Former Gov. Huntley N. Spaulding of Rochester, donor to Keene of the fine Spaulding Gymnasium in 1927-28, has again proved himself a true friend to the two teacher training institutions of New Hampshire by his gift of $10,000, as a loan fund to aid worthy students of Keene and Plymouth Normal schools.

A check for this amount was recently deposited in a bank and the gift was accepted at a recent meeting of the State board and a

CONCORD SENIOR WINS HIGH GIRL SCOUT HONOR

Mrs. Elkins of State Board Presents Pin to Madeline Dearborn

Miss Madeline C. Dearborn, a member of the class of 1935, of the elementary curriculum was honored at her home, Concord, on Feb. 20 by being awarded a golden eaglet pin, the highest award which can be given a girl Scout.

To receive this honor which is given by the national organization, a girl must meet certain requirements as to personal development and service to the community in which she lived. Miss Dearborn has been a scout since 1927, has assisted in scout work in Keene, and has had experience in leadership at Camps Weetamoe and Winsunvale at Ossipee Lake, and Pittsfield respectively, where she has been camp bugler and has had charge of hiking.

At the ceremony Mrs. Elisabeth R. Elkins, member of the State Board of Education, and former Girl Scout commissioner of Concord, gave an address explaining the meaning of the golden emblem.

committee was appointed to draft details for using the fund.

Pres. Wallace E. Mason announced this contribution at a school assembly. Mr. Mason paid tribute to the interest of Mr. Spaulding in education as manifested in his service for several years as a member of the state board and as chairman during the greater part of that time. He has also always had a particularly warm spot in his heart for Keene, and in the development
