PHI MU SLATES INDUCTION

This Saturday, official induction of the members of Nu Omocron Chapter, Phi Mu Delta, will be conducted at the Keene State Dining Commons. A team of Phi Mu Delta brothers from the University of New Hampshire and Gorham State College will attend the banquet and preside at induction ceremonies.

Plans are in the works for a trip to Cedarcrest in the near future. Cedarcrest is a home for mentally retarded children in Westmoreland. A benefit show will be put on by the brothers, followed by refreshments.

This past Saturday saw the Keene State Soccer Team trounce Windham College in a practice game. Five Phi Mu Delta brothers started the contest, and fraters Bill Russell and Shaver Stone each contributed assists. Steve Parker also added two assists.

The annual Phi Mu Delta raffle drawing is slated for October 16. A 1971 Panasonic Component System with a retail value of $160.00, will be given away. Chances are $50 each and three for $1.00 and are available from all Phi Mu Delta brothers.

IT'S THE STUDENTS' UNION

The Student Union belongs to, and is operated by, the students under the direction of the Director of the Student Union, Mr. Douglas Mayer. The funds for the operation of the Union are provided by the students in the form of a student union fee.

The governing body of the student union is the Student Union Board of Control (S.U.B.) whose purpose it is to promote student activities and to regulate the use of the student union building. The building houses the bookstore, snack bar, lounges, meeting rooms, a recreation room, and the large Mabel Brown multi-

Kappa Marks 50th Year

This year is special for Kappa Delta Phi for more than one reason. On April 9, 1971, Kappa Delta Phi will have been on this campus for 50 years. In addition, a charter member of Kappa will also celebrate his 50th anniversary as a brother; Sheldon Barker Sr. also the oldest living male graduate of Keene State College. Many festivities are in the making for this occasion.

After several years of work and planning, Kappa finally bought its own house. Papers were signed in mid-August making the brothers owners of a large house on Water St. Although the house needed many improvements, the brotherhood all pitched in to work and in less than 3 weeks they had the house approved by the city of Keene. Plans are now being laid for a fully insulated and paneled barn for our numerous social events.

The Kappa "A" team will be all set for the first intramural football game of the season.

Kappa would like to welcome a new brother into the house this year—Frank Henderson has transferred from Chi Chapter in Manchester to KSC.

purpose room as well as the offices of the student senate, college newspaper, and the director of the student union.

Some changes have occurred in the operation of the student union. One is the change in the management of the snack bar, which is now being operated by Lindy Chakalos. This year, due to the purchase and installation of projection and lighting equipment for the Brown multipurpose room, an expanded series of movies is being shown there. The Coffee House Circuit, initiated last year, is also being expanded for the 1970-71 year.

To repeat, the Student Union belongs to the students and through the efforts and cooperation of all the students it can be an efficient and enjoyable enterprise.

Elections for the Council of '73' will be held next Monday, Sept. 28. Candidates are requested to submit their names to Class of '73' officers, or to deposit them in the sophomore class mailbox at the student union desk. There are 16 positions open on the council, and interested persons are urged to run. On Monday, election booths will alternate between the Commons and the Student Union from 10AM to 6:15PM. If there are any questions, contact David Rosen, Class President, or any other sophomore class officer.

BASEBALL

KSC's baseball team proved to have a very successful season last year, posting an overall record of 9 wins-9 losses, which won them the conference championship.

The Northeastern Conference is divided into 4 divisions. The Northwest champ was Lyndon State, NE Champ was Keene, and the SE and SW division championships were taken by Boston State and Eastern Conn., Conn. having the best overall record of 20 wins - 2 losses.

Keene was 5 and 1 in its own division and then went on to defeat Lyndon State in the first playoff game in Keene. Baker pitched for the Owls, giving up 6 hits, 1 run, and had 11 strike outs. Leading the hitting for Keene was Mike Aumond with 3 for 4, while D. Graves and E. Silk were both 2 for 4 at the plate. Aumond also turned in a fine defense in right field. The final score was 5 - 1, while E. Conn. defeated Boston State 13 - 1.

The Owls went on to win the conference by defeating E. Conn. by a score of 3 - 1. D. Basingwaite pitched, giving up 4 hits, 1 run and striking out 10. KSC had a total of 6 hits and 3 runs, with M. Aumond hitting 2 - 4 and batting in 3 runs. He also did another outstanding job defensively. Also adding to the fine defense was D. Graves, catcher, shortstop H. Beecher, 2nd baseman S. Sheridan, left fielder E. Silk, centerfielder R. Vallee, 3rd baseman Blake Richard and 1st baseman C. Fiske.

Coach Theulen is looking forward to an even better season this year. Says Theulen, "We should have a much stronger team this year because we will have our entire squad back with a lot of good kids coming out. There will be tough competition for positions which makes a ball club what it is."

SOCCER

Coach Butcher's emphasis on a short passing game certainly paid dividends on Saturday as KSC's Owl's swept past Windom in the season's first scrimmage by a score of 5 to 1.

Rit Swain and Chip Conlan put the Owls ahead in the first quarter scoring the team's first three goals. Then Swain came back to complete his foursome with two more goals to lead the Owls onto victory.

This was a good win for the Owls and certainly a moral booster for the opening game at Farmington this coming Saturday. However, it was only the first game and faults in Keene's defense should have been capitalized on by Windom and would have been by a sharpened offense.

There is still a long way to go for the Owls - the potential for a good season is there and enthusiasm is running high. Campus support of the Owls would go along toward Coach Butcher's attempt to put Keene on the soccer map a reality.

Cumbres Announces New Program

Cumbres, a growth center community in Dublin, N.H., has announced a new program in experiential learning for college students. The workshops are offered once each week, with a choice of Tuesday or Thursday nights, starting September 22nd. The commitment is $50.

With students from many colleges, they will attempt to explore the sharing of genuine emotions, pluralistic levels of awareness, the balance and coordination of the intellect, emotions, physical being and spiritual nature into an integrated whole.

Cumbres had been variously described in such places as the New York Times and the Boston Globe as a College, a Monastery, a growth center, a commune, a center for conscious living. It is the home of 17 staff members of varied backgrounds and experiences: Students, Artists, Professionals with advanced degrees, Businessmen. The founder and director is Cesareo Pelaez, a close associate of the late humanistic psychologist Abraham Maslow.

Activities at Cumbres include the daily practice of Tai chi Ch'uan, an ancient Chinese art of meditation in movement. There are weekend programs for guests who wish a balanced experience in group sessions. Longer term residential programs are for individuals who wish to come and immerse themselves in the life and work.

Cumbres is based on the innate conviction that each of us is capable of becoming more than he already is. This growth is encouraged by building on people's strengths rather than focusing on weaknesses.

Campus-Community Relations Discussed

Students, faculty and administrators of Keene State College met with city representatives yesterday (Wed. Sept. 30) to map plans for furthering improved relationships between the college and the community.

The two-hour meeting was hosted by Dr. Leo F. Redfern, KSC president. Present were James Hobart, City manager; Don W. Cook, a member of the Keene City Council; David Barrett, a member of the Keene Police Commission; Police Chief Albion E. Metcalf; Dr. Thomas D. Aceto, dean of students at KSC; Cornelius R. Lyle II, faculty advisor to the student weekly newspaper, The Monadnock; Ray Miller, editor-in-chief of The Monadnock; Ronald Boisvert, Monadnock news editor; Neil Gallagher, president of the Student Senate; and Paul LeVine Mellon, a KSC junior.

It was generally agreed that relationships between the colleges and the community are excellent but various programs and steps might be taken to further improve them.

City representatives expressed concern that Keene State students know the state laws and city ordinances and the structure and operation of city government. Student representatives asked for information and guidelines on their responsibilities and rights.

It was suggested that students, either individually or as delegates from the Student Senate, might attend City Council or Police Commission meetings. A campus "gripe committee," which would relay problems to these bodies, also was advanced as a possibility.

Other ideas included a "College Youth Council," a "hot line" to which students might refer, a newsletter to freshmen de-tailoring relevant city ordinances, and their inclusion in the student handbook.

"Coffee house" sessions between students and city officials were suggested as another way of continuing to improve relationships.

General areas of concern between the police department and the student body were mentioned: alcohol, drugs, the advisable student behavior when questioned by police, the use of restraint, parking violations, and bicycle registration.

The group recalled that the use of alcohol by persons under the age of 21 is illegal according to state law.

The use or possession of illegal drugs will be investigated and prosecuted, although authorities are more interested in determining the source than in the individual infractions. Police, however, will not overreact to problems which might arise at Keene State, but investigations of suspected crimes will continue.

On a question about the chemical "Curb 60", it was explained that its use is limited to affecting an arrest, preventing an escape, or protecting the arresting officer. The chemical, it is said, usually causes no reaction other than a burning sensation in the eyes and leaves no permanent effect. Its use is guided by state law which says that the use of force necessary to affect an arrest, and no more, may be employed.

It was further explained that police may enter state property, such as a college campus, if they suspect the commission of a crime. However, due caution will be employed and the individual rights of a student will be respected.

All bicycles on campus, as in the rest of the city, must be registered, and a light must be attached to the bicycle if it is used at night.

The participants agreed that some problems always will exist between the college community and the city community but students' right should never be abused. Students were reminded they have definite sources of appeal if they feel wronged. They were urged to use these appeal procedures—such as the police commission, city council, or other municipal groups. The city is interested in the students' welfare and desires, one speaker said, and headed that the city would be delighted to help in any way, at any meeting, at any time, in the interest of furthering better relationships.

Students should realize, however, that city ordinances are reasonable. They are passed to protect the majority of citizens, both city and college. So it is essential that students understand and cooperate with them.

Women's Council To Be Elected

The Council for Women Students will begin to function as soon as its members are elected. The primary purpose of the Council is to promote better relationships and communications among the women students of the college. It also provides a channel of expression and action on all matters of concern pertaining to the general welfare of the women students.

The membership of the council includes the elected president, the president and vice president of each residence hall, four women elected at large from each residence hall (both sections of Randall Hall have four representatives), eight women elected at large from the non-residence population, and two women elected at large from each class.

Elections for positions on the council will be held in the Student Union Hallway October 6th and 7th from 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM.

For further information, contact Mary Lu Miles, President of the Council for Women Students, 309 A Randall Hall.

Freshman class elections for Class President and 2 Student Senate Representatives will be held Friday Oct. 2, 1970. Voting will be held from 11 to 1 in the Commons and from 1 to 4 in the Student Union.

Fuel Pollutant Condemned By Student Senate

A resolution condemning the use of pollutant fuel on the Keene campus was passed unanimously by the Student Senate here Monday night.

The state has granted the University system a waiver enabling them to burn Bunker C No. 6 fuel oil which has a sulphur content 2% above the legal limit. The main reason for use of this fuel is its comparative cheapness.

Letters explaining the Senate's stand will be sent to the student senates at Plymouth and UNH with the hope that they will take similar action.

Ray Miller, editor of The Monadnock, discussed his policy concerning material printed in The Monadnock regarding fraternity news. An agreement was reached that only news relevant to the rest of the campus would be published in The Monadnock.

Other business included the Lettermen Club's request for a budget of $708. They intend to use the money to sponsor cheerleaders at KSC sporting events. Some senators were dismayed by the fact that the budget included a salary for the cheerleader's coach. The request was referred to the financial committee.

Charges Dropped

The charges against Marcia Hall and Donald Grissom for riding unregistered bicycles and having no lights or bells were dropped late last week. Two other KSC students involved in similar violations had their charges dropped also.

CONCEPT ENJOYS TOUR

The Keene State College singing group, the Random Concept, are being met with standing ovations by audiences of U.S. servicemen in Europe.

The group's tour of military bases, which is being made under the auspices of the National Music Council, the U.S.O., and the U.S. Dept. of Defense, began on Aug. 20 in Frankfurt, Germany. The first part of their itinerary includes a total of 8 stops in Germany, 3 performances in Spain and 1 in Holland.

The director of the group, Mr. Hubert C. Bird, has informed THE MONADNOCK that the Concept is enjoying much sight-seeing between scheduled performances.

The audiences of U.S. servicemen have been very receptive and in one place the girls of the group were presented with bouquets of flowers following the performance.

In Barcelona, Spain, the group amended their itinerary slightly to represent the U.S. in the 6th Annual International Festival of Choral Song, which was featured by Keene State College's Fine Arts Department.

Further reports from KSC's singing ambassadors will appear in future issues.

Film Society Sponsors Flicks

Six of the most important films made in Hollywood from the beginnings of motion picture making to 1940 will be featured by Keene State College's Fine Arts Department.

They include a relatively little known film, "Intolerance," a silent made in 1916 by D.W. Griffith, a trilogy of Charlie Chaplin's films, "Three by Chaplin," and two epic gangster films, "Public Enemy" starring Jimmy Cagney, and "High Sierra" starring Humphrey Bogart. The other films will be "All Quiet on the Western Front" often termed the finest war movie ever made, and "Gold Diggers of 1935" an early musical production number.

The films will be shown in the Waltz Lecture Hall of the Science and Arts building at 7 p.m. Following each film, an open discussion led by English Professor Benagust, founder of the Fine Arts Society, will be held in the Randall Hall lounge, with refreshments to be served.

Center To Study Harassment

Police harassment in Keene and the surrounding areas will be the topic of discussion at a meeting to be held by the Center of Human Concerns. The meeting will take place Thurs., Oct. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Center's headquarters 9 Center Street, Keene.

The center plans on keeping track of police harassments and speaking to parents of students who have been harassed. Mrs. Michael Franklin of the Center for Human Concerns said that the Keene Evening Sentinel has been contacted and a newsletter is to be circulated throughout Keene this week.

Mrs. Franklin urged students to attend this meeting and said that the organization intends to back up THE MONADNOCK and its views of police harassment.

Representatives from Keene State College met with high city officials of Keene yesterday in what should be the first step towards meaningful communication between the campus and the city, regarding police action.

This newspaper has raised certain issues pertaining to the student's rights as a citizen and the law officer's intentions and methods in enforcing the law.

Students should be aware, of course, that the college is part of the surrounding community and all of us are subject to obeying the laws and regulations of the city of Keene. In an increasing effort to gradually inform the student of these regulations, we have reprinted on this page a copy of excerpts from the Keene Bicycle Ordinance.

Keene police will come to this campus if they are called, if there is a large gathering [at a concert, for example] and if they have reason to believe that a crime is being committed.

Students should also be aware of their rights as citizens of the United State. If questioned by police, one is required only to produce sufficient identification. One is not required, for instance, to empty his pockets if the officer request him to do so. If this happens, it is advisable to inform the officer that you do not agree to any search, but do what he says. There are mechanisms for filing complaints against police, but none of them are open if you resist the officer. If you feel you have been mistreated, visit The Office Of The Dean Of Students.

The Monadnock will continue to publish information pertaining to a citizen's rights before the law.

The validity of the facts of the news stories that appeared in last week's issue of THE MONADNOCK has never been in doubt. THE MONADNOCK will continue to print the truth regarding issues which the editorial board feels is relevant to this college and to the students' education.

More communication between the city of Keene and the college community will lead to a better understanding of all parties. We are confident that because of this increased awareness, few such questionable incidents of this nature will occur in the future. The college community has shown its concern over these matters and the city is aware of this concern.

LETTERS To The EDITOR

To the Editor:

Please accept my hearty congratulations for the courage and determination that went into your last issue.

I was dismayed, however, at the conclusions drawn by Dean Aceto which were reported in Saturday's issue of the Keene Sentinel.

Certainly, as Dean Aceto points out, policemen do many good things for us. And they also have been known to do many bad things - things which indicate that they too are human, with human errors and human prejudices. But to question the validity for a college press to be concerned with high school students - and to conclude that the last issue of the MONADNOCK was a product of "poor judgement" clearly indicates that Dean Aceto (if the Sentinel was accurate) does not understand the most basic of the issues.

Contrary to his implication, Keene State is indeed very intimately tied to the local high school. Many faculty members have children attending the public schools in Keene. Many KSC students were themselves Keene High students. Many of our students are or will be students teaching at Keene High, some of them to eventually teach there. Certainly the vast majority of our students will eventually teach at a school not unlike Keene High with its all-American problems. How much more relevant could an issue be to qualify for college press coverage? Or will we continue to manufacture teachers with virgin ears?

Further, Dean Aceto reportedly asserted that Keene State enjoys "tremendous town-gown rapport" with the city which houses its campus. Many will agree that this is clearly not the case. Yes, we co-exist amicably in an atmosphere of non-involvement. But the fact is that we share very little with the city of Keene on levels other than administrative courtesies and the placement of student teachers. Other-

Sewage Pollutes Ashuelot

(Reprinted from the KEENE SHOPPER NEWS, Sept. 23, 1970)

The city of Keene is dumping raw sewage into the Ashuelot River and will keep on doing it for years.

City Public Works Supt. Robert G. Shaw calls the sewage flow "A major pollution problem."

The City Health Department knows about it. The New Hampshire Pollution Control Commission knows about it. The federal government knows about it.

But no one is going to stop it until after the Vietnam War ends.

There are five million reasons why, and every one has a dollar sign.

The cure for the problem is a new sewage treatment plant that would cost $5,000,000.

The sewage from the entire city system flows into the pumping station on Martel Court. It is pumped to two Imhoff treatment tanks on the other side of Main Street.

These tanks, 60 feet in diameter and 35 feet deep, are like huge septic tanks. The sewage flows in, is retained by a baffle system so that the sludge settles. Bacterial action makes it inert; it is siphoned off, dried in filter beds and buried. The remaining liquids are leached into the ground.

The system was built in 1936 and for more than a dozen years now there has been more sewage flowing into the tanks than they can handle. Thirteen years ago the city became aware of the problem and since 1957 has been chlorinating the overflow.

Here is what happens:

Because of the heavy flow of sewage into the tanks, the solids don't have time to settle before more sewage flows in. They float and are carried through an overflow pipe into the Ashuelot River just below the pumping station off Martel Court.

The overflow is chlorinated up to the maximum amounts it will take, but according to Shaw: "This partially sterilizes it, but it's still a major source of pollution."

The treatment system, overloaded since 1957, has become so super-overloaded since then that no one knows how much good it does for it even to flow through the tanks now.

Why isn't something done? It costs money.

The latest estimate of the cost of a treatment plant that would be adequate for today and the next 20 years is $5 million. No one in city government wants to put that much burden on Keene taxpayers.

State and federal legislation provide for 95 percent assistance if a regional plant is built and 90 percent assistance if Keene goes it alone.

Right now Keene and the surrounding towns in the Ashuelot Valley Regional Planning Commission are trying to get funds to enable the Ashuelot Valley Regional Sewage Agency to build a plant.

The state's share would be 40 percent, which would be applied against annual debt installments. The federal share of 50 percent if local or 55 percent if regional would come at the outset, in a lump sum.

The problem is that the federal funds allotted to the states, in New Hampshire's case, at least don't begin to cover the need.

There are cities along the Merrimack River that do less than Keene does in fact they dump raw sewage, untouched, into the river. The Water Pollution Control Commission would use funds there before channelling money to Keene.

And as long as the Vietnam War goes on, there is not going to be enough federal money to appropriate for local domestic sewage problems like Keene's.

So until the war ends or until Keene is ready to put up $5 million, alone, raw sewage from Keene homes will continue to pollute the Ashuelot.

wise, we all keep our respective hands clean.

Only since Dr. Redfern's arrival has there developed a surge of interest in more than co-existence. And it appears to me that the last issue of THE MONADNOCK was clearly in the spirit of community involvement - especially considering the tragic fact that the story would never have become public information unless THE MONADNOCK had ventured into it. The fact is a blight which the Sentinel will have to live with. But it hardly calls for anything but total admiration for our own newspaper.

Dean Aceto is quoted as saying: "I wouldn't predict what will happen to Ray"

Michael Franklin, Instructor
Education Dept.

We have organized a nation-wide student organization called PEACE VOTES. The purpose of the organization is to raise money on campuses for ten Senatorial candidates who favor a peace-oriented foreign policy; Hart in Michigan, Burdick in North Dakota, Hartke in Indiana, Hoff in Vermont, Duffey in Connecticut, Metzbaum in Ohio, Tunney in California, Moss in Utah, Stevenson in Illinois, and Williams in New Jersey. PEACE VOTES has been successful in reaching a number of campuses, but so far we have no representatives on your campus.

These peace candidates are badly in need of funds. Nixon and Agnew are raising millions of dollars to buy saturation television and Madison Avenue campaigns for their war-oriented candidates. We must act quickly to counter this flood of conservative dollars. Nixon is buying war votes; we must buy peace votes. Students who would like to help these candidates by distributing material and canvassing on your campus should write us today.

$5 or less from a fraction of the 7.2 million students in America can help elect Peace Senators. Contributions should be made payable to PEACE VOTES, P.O. Box 2700, Washington, D.C. 20013.

We would appreciate your printing this letter and giving students on your campus the chance to participate.

To the Editor, and to KSC:
(Is there still a "letter to the Editor" column? If so, where are all the letters?)

I would like to express my surprise at the response to the "CIRCUIT."

I know what the general attitude to "new" ideas is. After all, this entire area (not just the college) is full of apathetic and cynical attitudes.

Therefore, I never expected to see "standing room only" for three nights at the "CIRCUIT". Besides, after hearing the socio-political remarks of the performers, I had expected mass "walking out" or riot from the audience.

Not true...I apologize for my cynical attitude.

So, let's say the "CIRCUIT" went over big. This brings to mind a question: Will this turn the way many campus activities turn? Will the "townies" drop in, create disturbances (as has been known to happen) and thereby cause college students to loose interest?

I am not saying townies cause trouble, but we all know that some do.

Therefore, should we discriminate entirely against "townies" (i.e. college ID requirement for admission), or maybe partially (i.e. Guest tickets)? Would this eliminate the problem?

I have taken the liberty of calling the "CIRCUIT" a success.

I would like to see some way to maintain this success.

Donna Thurston

To the Editor:

The Senate passed the Profit Retention Bill and now the student will be assessed automatically and get nothing in return except "now" entertainment with an admission fee.

I went to school here for 2 [1965-67] years seeing such groups as Dave Brubeck, Cyrille, Peter and Gordon, The Happenings, Tom Rush - all paid for by the activity fee of $40. Now it is $50 and we will be charged admission to concerts as well.

The senators did not represent the majority of the students! At the Student Senate meeting I attended there was little debate of this issue except those dissenting views voiced by two spectators. The original motion was moved into committee for study. Some Study! The student who moved the bill into committee wasn't even on the committee and the Senators who were on the committee wanted the bill to go through anyway. Certainly both sides of the question were not examined - merely the method of implementation.

A college referendum to decide the payment of a "concert fee" at the start of the year would have been the only fair way to find out what the students want. Then support or non-support of the assessment would be obvious and the Social Council and Senate would follow the will of the majority.

The activist minority is taking the school away from the apathetic majority. While I do not agree with their taste in entertainment [e.g., the 3 rock concerts during the first week in school] or unfair expedient methods to obtain funds for [ugh] "now" groups, some kind of push is better than nothing.

To the Editor:

A Note to Freshmen

Hey freshmen, freshmen Elections are coming. Wake up!!! Don't just sit on your contented duff and say-"Oh well how nice"; stop being so apathetic. Become alive. This is not just a high school election-it is an important college election. The people that become the class of '74 officers; our representatives, are important to us as a progressive, concerned, thinking class. They will represent us to the administration, the college, the state, and the nation. These people can either make us look like competent adults, or a bunch of blithering idiots.

What I am saying to you as a fellow, empathetic freshman is-"be careful with your vote." Choose someone/whom you think to be up to your standards, and your class standards. Don't vote for someone just because of their baby blue eyes. Vote for someone because they have a reasoning, functioning, living brain behind their baby-blue eyes.

With the passage of the bill to legalize abortion in New York many hospitals and doctors feared that administrative problems involving both local and out-of-state patients would provide an unbearable strain on their limited facilities. The Women's Pavilion was established to provide centralized administration and coordination to hospitals and doctors.

HAPPINESS IS: CHARLIE BROWN

A Review

By PAUL LEMIRE

Human foibles are brought out in every aspect of the cinema today; on stage there is a dire need for tongue-in-cheek seriousness. Director Joseph Harvey was especially successful Monday night, in his rendition of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown." He inspired Schultzean characters right from the "Peanuts" comic strips most secret frustrations, our most irrational fears, our wildest dreams and our most illogical thoughts.

Sight-Sound Drama Here

EARTH-TOIL & SESAME, a bold excursion into multi-media techniques, will be presented at Keene State College October 2 at 8 p.m.

Written by playwright and poet Michael Kressy and filmed by his brother Christopher Kressy, a widely exhibited painter, the experimental sight-sound drama utilizes a variety of audio and visual techniques to vividly portray the disunity of modern life and the effects of this disunity on a young woman. The dreamlike miasma of impressions that complements an uninterrupted flow of intertwining dialogues is created by a unique combination of 35mm slide projections, 16mm and 8mm film, overhead projectors and stereophonic sound tape.

Under the auspices of the Keene State College Concert & Lecture Series, the collaborative media play features the voice of Deborah Coulter, a poet and experienced actress, as Sesame and the voice of the author, Mr. Kressy, as Earth-Toil. "Our aim," says the author, "has been to piece together a nebular arrangement of particulars, not for the sake of chaos alone, but for the sake of presenting as unforgettably as possible the tragedy of a single consciousness."

I was struck by Charlie Brown's (Richard Whelan) disarming simplicity amidst what has to be termed Lady Fate's Face Slaps. Cathy Wallace, who was Lucy, sent her lines of greatest crabbiness to the pinnacle of Mt. Monadnock with a sandpaper screech that would wear down a Sphinx. With blanket forever in hand, Linus (Vic Vail) emerged as the practical thinker, the wise observer: "I like a newspaper because you don't have to dial it." Patty (Marylu Moyer) skipped about with all of childhood's innocence quickly following her jump rope; Schroeder (Dennis Phillips) tried very hard to get the gang in harmony for chorus practice.

Snoopy's (Grant Cowan) animated mammy-song routing over his much awaited "Supper time" drove the audience to a frenzied state of hilarity. As in the comics, Snoopy stole the show.

Although there seemed to be no true plot, no perfectly woven pattern, the fine thread of philosophy attached each separate comedy together. All the elements of personal identification were there: the best of our human hang-ups, the most frustrating, and the most childish. The "Book Report" scenario carried me back to high school days, and the kids who, in one way or another, were a Linus, Lucy, Charlie or Schroeder-Lucy doing just what was required, stretching the report out very, very, very much: Charlie Brown with his petty justifications and his obvious putting-off-till-tomorrow; Linus rambling on with the dictionary half spilled on his page; Schroeder jotting down with a supercilious Robin Hood story, wildly relating that with the topic: Peter Rabbit.

The "Peanuts" characters were quite real; Charlie Brown's eyes were fifty cent pieces; wide and rare; Lucy's hands were as quick and as darting as her speech; his mane combed way back, Snoopy was the dare-devil pilot, the nimble-pawed dancer and the loving pup. In the actors' facial expressions and gestures we saw the entire play; and with but six colored blocks, their whole environment.

The play and its guileless music speak of simplicity, of child-likeness in adult life. It celebrates in friendly laughter all our frustrations at not being something bigger; better and more glamorous than our real selves. "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" is more than entertaining; it is a lesson in human behavior.

PHI MU IS INDUCTED AS NATIONAL CHAPTER

Thirty members of Keene State College's Phi Mu Delta Colony were initiated into full chapter status on Saturday, Sept. 26, in ceremonies at the Brown Room, Student Union Building.

National officers of Phi Mu Delta as well as college officials were on hand during both the initiation ceremonies and the installation banquet which followed. On hand were College President Leo F. Redfern, Dean of Men Ernest O. Gendron, National Executive Secretary George E. LaTour, National Vice President Rev. Owen J. Sanderson, Raymond H. Christopher, national secretary, and Shaun Fitzgerald, national undergraduate member of the fraternity's National Council.

President Redfern's main address stressed that he expected the name of Phi Mu Delta "to carry a great deal of esteem and respect." Dean Gendron then welcomed the new chapter to the campus. Following this, chapter president Philip J. Soares and former chapter president John A. Griffin were presented the chapter charter by the Rev. Sanderson.

A party followed the installation banquet. More than one hundred members and guests were on hand at the party held in the house cellar. President Redfern showed remarkable talent on the foosball table and Rev. Sanderson's jokes were enjoyed by all.

As many may have observed, on Wednesday night, a campus wide march was conducted by the brothers. This march was conducted as a preliminary to the weekend's activities. The march resulted in the generation of a great deal of spirit as well as a few sore throats.

Field Hockey Team Loses

By EILEEN VIEWEGER

After only 4 practices, KSC's field hockey team took on Springfield College last week in its first scrimmage. Goalie Sue Koeber proved to have an outstanding game, shutting out 14 goals of the 18 attempted. On the offense, Jean Andrew, Cathy Savoie and Peggy Bingham Gay teamed up to keep the ball in Keene's possession. Linda Schrempf, playing center halfback and Karen Sietke, the wing half demonstrated great ability to maneuver the ball into the net once, making the final score Keene 1, Springfield 4.

On Thursday the team played another scrimmage against New England College. KSC shut out NEC by a score of 9-0. Nancy Balla, Linda Maree and Karen Miller each scored three goals.

Coach Herndon feels the potential is definitely there for a very successful season because "we all play hard and stick in there."

KSC Harriers Post First Win

By MIKE TARDIF

A very hilly course on a sunny, hot and humid day was the setting for the Owls first cross country meet of the season. The meet, held at the 4.5 mile course at Johnson State was won by KSC with Captain Denny Anderson crossing the finish line first with a time of 22:48. Mark Malkoski finished second in 23:10.

Coach Taft, who was pleased with his team's early showing, praised the efforts of the players. Tom Keegan finished fourth, and Pete Hanrahan, Al Preston and Mark St. Saviour all placed within the top 10.

The next meet will be at St. Anselm's against Boston State and Bates on Thurs. Oct. 1. The Owls first home meet will be Saturday at Robin Hood Park on the new 4.8 mile course. Coach Taft describes the new course as one in which a spectator can see the runners six times throughout

OWLS WIN OPENER

By MIKE TARDIF

Keene State College opened the 1970 season with a convincing 6-0 win over Farmington State College. The Owls completely dominated their first NESCAC match of the season, while being coached by Ron Butcher.

KSC goalie Brian Richardson posted a shutout in his first game while Farmington goalie Don Datis was called upon to make 21 saves, four in spectacular fashion.

Wally Dwinells opened the scoring at 2:20 of the first quarter with a 6 yard rebound shot. Rit Swain followed at 8:02 assisted by Steve Parker and then again at 18:16 assisted by Dwinells. Dwinells then added his second goal 8 seconds before the end of the first half. Rit Swain completed his hat trick, scoring on a penalty kick at 4:55. Freshman Chip Conran rounded out the scoring in the third quarter on an assist from Steve Parker.

Monday, against North Adams, the Owls posted their second victory of the young season. Coach Butcher, not as pleased with his team's performance as on Saturday cited "over confidence and improper execution of basic fundamentals" as the reason.

North Adams and KSC traded goals in the first quarter. Rit Swain scored for the Owls, after picking up a loose ball and, firing a perfect shot between the legs of Adam's goalie Don Ruel. The first half ended with KSC being beaten to the ball, deviating from the game plan planned by Butcher.

The second half, however, was dominated by Keene. Steve Parker and Rit Swain?

Swain made no mistakes on their penalty kicks during the third quarter, resulting in the 4-1 score. Brian Richardson had 13 saves and freshman goalie George Allen had 2 while playing in the 4th quarter.

The Owls will play their first home game at the Athletic field against Johnson State Wed., Sept. 30. Coach Butcher expects a tough game from Johnson, a "strong team with good coaching." This should be a real test for the Owls. Game time is 3 p.m.

the entire race. The Owls will face New England College and Gorham State at 2:30 p.m.

Campuses Face Crisis

COMMISSION FILES REPORT

The President's Commission on Campus Unrest established by President Nixon has finished a report which examines the "crisis of violence" at the nation's colleges and universities. The panel was started last June 13 in the aftermath of disorders at one-third of the nation's 2,500 colleges and universities in the month following the President's announcement (April 30) that U.S. troops would intervene in Cambodia.

The basic theme of the report is that American campuses face a crisis without parallel in the nation's history. The roots of it, the commission said, lie in divisions within the society that go beyond such issues as the war in Vietnam or racial injustice.

The panel's major conclusions:—Most students are neither violent nor extremist. But "a small minority" of extremist students and faculty members are bent on university destruction.

Peaceful protest and dissent must be protected both on campus and off, but perpetrators of violence and disruption must be identified, removed from the campus, and vigorously prosecuted.

—The roots of student activism lie in "the unresolved conflicts in our national life," but the "major defects of the universities" also play a part.

—Most universities have not adequately prepared themselves to cope with possible disorder. Many do not have adequate communications channels and grievance procedures to settle student problems.

—The nation's failure to resolve issues of war and racial injustice have contributed to the escalation of student protest and disorder by exacerbating the divisions in society.

—Government action and inaction at all levels has contributed to campus unrest. "The words of some political leaders"

Senate Agenda Suffers Setback

WKSC Begins Broadcasting

By MARTIN GINGRAS

WKSC began regular broadcasting on Monday night from the old projection booth in the rear of the Student Union. Disc jockeying for the station, which was on from 6 p.m. to midnight, were Gary Kenny, Steve Stefanik, and Peter Pickett. The station's frequency is 1360.

Dick Todd, general manager, told The Monadnock that the station is still in the programming stage and there are no set disc jockeys, programs, or regular hours. The station has sold some ads but they will not be aired until the staff is sure everything is going right.

The music WKSC is now playing can be labeled "contemporary-progressive" but this programming can be changed to suit the college audience. Students are urged to leave any opinions or music preferences in the WKSC Mailbox in the student union.

IN CORRECTION

In correction of the announcement made in last week's issue of The Monadnock, the Center for Human Concerns' meeting at 8 p.m. on Oct. 8 will be to discuss and plan many activities for the coming year, and to elect new officers. The Center has not yet committed itself to one specific issue, but rather encourages all students and faculty to attend the meeting and express their views.
