

Saturday P.M.

Dear George:

This is going to be a shorty, primarily to let you know Florence's plans, which she undoubtedly will tell you about when you call tomorrow.

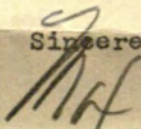

She leaves on the 12:01 P.M. (Noon) NYC on Monday, June 19th, and gets into Chicago at 7:45 A.M. the following day. I could only get her reservations to Chicago, it being impossible beyond that point. And to get them to Chicago was nothing but good luck.

If her train gets in in time, she will make the Butlington Zephyr which leaves Chicago at 9:00 A.M. and gets into St. Paul at 3:15 P.M. If she misses the Zephyr, then she will make the Milwaukee which leaves at 10:30 A.M. and gets into St. Paul (Union Station) at 6:15 P.M. I don't think she'll have any trouble getting a parlor car seat out of Chicago. She is coming over to my house this p.m. to get the tickets. She will also leave me your certificates, in case I should do anything on them while you ~~you~~ keep her with you. So far I haven't reached the stage of disposing of anything...It..18...IS...201/8..MCK..23 1/4. May let go of something the coming week.

Richard is getting his wish. He is being busted to a private, they having decided he won't make a good field soldier, but might be a good non-com in a non-combat unit. He is complaining of his eyes, and from there on I don't know what's what.

Hope to write you at more length early the coming week. My best and loads of GOOD LUCK.

Sincerely,

Saturday P.M.

Dear George:

This is going to be a short, friendly letter from Illinois to Illinois, which she undoubtedly will tell you about when you call.

Tomorrow,

She leaves on the 12:01 P.M. (noon) train for Monday, June 13th, and gets into Chicago at 7:40 A.M. the following day. I could only get her reservations to Chicago, it being impossible beyond that point, and to get them to Chicago was a real job.

If her train gets in late, she will take the Pullman which leaves Chicago at 9:00 A.M. and gets into St. Paul at 8:15 P.M. If the train is late, then she will take the Pullman which leaves at 10:30 A.M. and gets into St. Paul (Union Station) at 8:15 P.M. I don't think she'll have any trouble getting a room on that side of Chicago. She is coming over to your celebration, in case I should be anything or then with you for help with you. I haven't reached the stage of disposal of anything... I'll be... I'll be... I'll be... I'll be... to do something the coming week.

Richard is getting married. He is being married to a private, they having decided he won't take a good field soldier, but might be a good non-com in a non-combat unit. He is coming out of his eyes, and now there on I don't know what's what.

Hope to write you a more lengthy letter the coming week. By best and

Love to 6000 lbs.
