Saturday eve

Dearest,

We've been indoors again as the weather is quite nasty all day. It's now snowing again and I guess that means Sunday will be spent indoors too, but we really don't mind. If you call to-morrow, that will make the day perfect. At least that's a little happiness we get in this present conflict. Baby and I are well but miss our Grand Daddy so much! I love you, darling, and that's from the heart and the rest of me! Tempus fugit so fatigant we'll be until that wonderful reunion in the near future.

No mail from you to-day or anyone else. Mom called, all's well and they'll be here to-morrow to see Jimmie and me. My mother came early this afternoon, stayed most of the day and had a grand time with baby. She sends her best wishes to you. Eleanor stayed overnight with me, helped me in the morning and left early for the beauty parlor. She'll write to you about the events that happen in the store. Did you hear from Bob yet? I hope he doesn't have to go too far out west. Mom and Pop are eagerly awaiting news from him.

Baby and I listened to all the radio programs to day and also the opera "La Boheme". He likes good music, Buddy and who knows, maybe he's got a voice. He jammers quite a bit but I can't understand his lingo. He hardly wets and as soon as he's thoroughly trained I'll pay that visit to your office.

Denny and Max Pincus called this evening to inquire about all of us. Max is writing to you to-morrow and is feeling lots better.
He'll be home for another week and his son will be in on Tues.
Betty and Winnie visited us and both send their regards.

My mother made a deep green sweater for Baby and it fits fine and is quite warm. I'm knitting a white one at present.

Good night, sweetheart, pleasant dreams and all my love and devotion to the sweetest guy on earth. A kiss and hugs from Jimmie.

As always,
Florence
