

Special Club and Organization Issue

The What and the Why

Early this year the Student Council foresaw the fact that many students of the college were unacquainted with the purposes, activities, and members of many of our clubs and organizations. In an endeavor to help solve this problem, and also to introduce our new students to club life, a special meeting was held in which all organizations gave a short verbal expose of their group. To continue the flow of information we of the Monadnock are inserting an extra page dedicated to our clubs and organizations. Through the theme of this issue we sincerely hope to help the movement to activate the life of our clubs and organizations. In the pages that follow you will find a concise analysis of practically every club at college. Read them thoroughly, for you may be exposed to information that you were not aware of before. After reading this paper, we certainly hope that your enlightenment will be just a stepping stone to action.

Miss Brown Soon to End College Duties

At the end of this month Keene Teachers College will bid farewell to Miss Mabel Brown, the administration assistant and registrar of Keene Teachers College. The college realizes that it is losing a very valuable member of its staff, because she has been here five years longer than any other faculty member and is very closely connected with the function of the college. She is very familiar with the traditions and history of Keene Teachers College, since she has been here since 1917.

Miss Brown has been very active in many different ways. She has taken part in numerous activities in the community; she has been especially active in church work, as a member of the Woman's Club and the Soroptimist Club.

In former years she has also been very interested in outdoor sports such as tennis and bicycling. Reading is also among her interests.

Miss Brown graduated from Smith College. She then succeeded her sister, Miss Julia Brown, as secretary to former President Mason at Keene Normal School.

Those who are well acquainted with Miss Brown enjoy her sense of humor.

Miss Brown will now return to her home in Deerfield, Mass. She plans to travel with her sister and from time to time the college hopes to have her return to KTC.

The student body and faculty of the college would like to express their sincere appreciation to Miss Brown for her years of generous service to the college and also want to wish her the very best for the future.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is a real privilege, personally as well as officially, to extend greetings to all the members and friends of Keene Teachers College at the beginning of the college year 1952-53. The total enrollment is about 450 students, which includes 150 new students, and 21 student nurses from the Eliot Community Hospital. We regret losing seven faculty members through retirements and resignations, but welcome eight new members to replace them.

Our ambition for 1952-53 is to provide good teaching-learning situations for each one of us. The college, through the physical facilities, faculty, curricula, and activities tries to provide good teaching situations. What the student gets out of these depends upon what he learns. Learning is an active process on the part of each individual; no one else can learn for you. You can be required to take a particular course and attend classes, but you can't be required to learn.

Working and playing together constructively, I am confident that we can accomplish almost anything that we really want. I like to think that "ideas are like stars, you will not succeed in touching them with your hands; but like sea-faring men, you choose them as your guides, and following them, you will reach your destination."

58 Practice Teachers Begin Assignments

Every September at Keene Teachers College there is the presence of new faces on the campus. The air resounds with the excitement of green freshmen beginning their first year of college. One sees these freshmen everywhere he goes, yet an upperclassman instinctively scanning the sea of new faces, hopes to see the familiar faces of former classmates and upon finding them missing, wonders where they are.

These missing faces belong to our senior students who are now out practice teaching in the schools of New Hampshire.

Keene Teachers College feels the loss of their former students who helped to make the past years at KTC successful and entertaining. Each and everyone of these students played an important part in college life.

Now, as they continue on their way, shepherding the conditioning of the minds of the youth in America, we wish them the best of luck and success everyone knows they deserve.

The students out teaching in Distributive Education are: Paul R. Nunn, Keene High School.

Those in Home Economics are: Nancy M. Cross, Wilton High School; Alstead, Stevens High School; Claremont; Priscilla A. Osborne, Central Junior High School, Keene; Nashua High School; Claire A. Truchon, Laconia High School, Central Junior High School, Claremont; Betsy J. Wiggins, Stevens High School, Claremont; Appleton Academy, New Ipswich; Marguerite H. Worth, Appleton Academy, New Ipswich; Laconia High School.

Those in Industrial Education are: Floyd P. Bailey, Central Junior High School, Keene; James Diamantis, Central High School, Manchester; Joseph A. DiMeco, Franklin Junior High School, Keene; Sheldon Holmes, Central Junior High School, Keene; John K. Kontinos, Davis Vocational School, Dover; Raymond J. Miner, Laconia High School; Ernest E. Morin, Nashua Junior H. S.; William Y. Morrison, Keene H. S.; Alton Perham, Keene H. S.

155 STUDENTS ARE ADDED TO PRESENT YEAR'S ENROLLMENT

Convocation Assembly

The first assembly opened at Keene Teachers College with Donald Emmett as chairman. He then introduced Mr. Kiley, the new music instructor, who led the assembly in group singing. Dr. Young, President of the College, included a poem about New Hampshire. Dr. Young was followed by a welcoming speech from Lawrence A. Pickett, Mayor of Keene. He welcomed the upperclassmen back to Keene again and the freshmen and new students for the first time.

An announcement was made that assemblies would be held every two weeks instead of every week. Dean Carle concluded the assembly with announcements concerning classes, schedules, and campus regulations.

Freshmen Orientation Program Begins This Year's Events; Organizations Assisting

FRANCES WARD

As the KTC school year opened on September 8, 1952, there were 155 new faces on campus. This enrollment increase over that of last year's class includes 21 transfer students, 9 special students and 134 regular freshman students. The elementary division claims 68 of this number, home economics 13, secondary 36, and trades and industry, 17.

Incoming students met at Parker Hall on Monday for the convocation and address of welcome delivered by Dr. Young. During the latter part of the afternoon Mrs. Randall and Dean Carle held meetings with women and men students respectively. A freshman mixer sponsored by W. A. A. and held in Spaulding gym highlighted the evening entertainment.

Throughout the week a battery of tests was given, including English Placement, Competence in Math, Reading and Psychological exams. On Tuesday, each student met with his advisor to plan his program and to register for the forthcoming year. Following registration, supper in the form of a cook-out was held at Wilson Pond. F.T.A. arranged the recreational program for the evening.

During the remaining days of Orientation Week, both freshmen and upperclassmen were guests at open house in Spaulding Gym, an S.C.A. social, and a coffee hour sponsored by the Student Council. The week's activities culminated in the annual President's Reception and Dance on Saturday, September 13, at the gym. The junior class was in charge of arrangements. Other events which took place during this week were the Kappa Delta-Phi reception, College mixer, a movie, "Dancing in the Dark," and the Canterbury Club Supper Hour at the College Camp. The Convocation for all college students held on Monday, September 8.

Suggests Education Is In Need Of Change

New York, N. Y. (I.P.)—The education provided in the colleges needs revamping to take us out of the present "age of confusion," according to Dr. Robert A. Love, director of the Evening Division of the City College School of Business.

The colleges, he said, instead of fighting to hold education into its traditional departmentalized forms and concerning themselves with implanting the limited knowledge of the past, must reorient their methods, approaches and objectives if they are to meet modern needs. This reorientation, he added, is being speeded up by the evening divisions, which, under the necessity of satisfying the demands of adult students, are pushing ahead with changes geared to these current needs. Specifically, Dr. Love called for:

1. College recognition of the hundreds of new professions, such as business management, personnel management, credit management, purchasing, marketing analysis, and the like, each of which today has the breadth and complications of medicine, engineering or law.

Six Changes in College Faculty Announced by Administration

New Rules For Frosh; Look To Field Day

For the first time on the Keene Teachers College campus, freshmen are undergoing an initiation period under the supervision of the sophomores. To aid the entire campus in knowing the freshmen, the freshmen had to wear tags bearing their names and home towns for two weeks. At the end of this period, the tags were replaced by "beanies." Any freshman caught by an upper-classman without the name tag was taken to court, which was held in the gym, where their cases were heard and punishments were given out. They were tried by a secret jury and miscreants were sentenced to perform some ridiculous act in the Campus Club.

Freshmen must speak to all upper-classmen, and if they see an upper-classman on the campus, wearing a Keene letter for athletics, they must tip their "beanie" and greet them cheerily. No

READ

An epidemic of lethargy, the everpresent, creeping menace, has spread itself over our campus, until practically every phase of our college life has been stricken in some degree by this invisible disease.

Awareness of the problem is at least a beginning, but a diagnosis is never a cure in itself. A sincere cooperative effort to revitalize and nurse back to health one of the most important aspects of our college program is the next and by far the most difficult and important part of the undertaking.

Let us pause and ask ourselves how much we are doing for our respective clubs and how much we plan to do in the future. How many of us haven't even bothered to join a club or two? — perhaps being motivated by the distorted, but popular question, "what's in it for me?"

No matter which way you prefer to spend your spare time, or how many A's you intend to accumulate, there will be something decidedly lacking in your collegiate diet if you don't ally yourself with at least one or two groups with similar interests to your own.

Please do not construe these words to mean that you should throw down this paper and immediately embark on a mass joining spree. On the contrary, if you seek advice, let us urge you to select with discretion the organizations to which you can contribute the most and from which you can gain the most recreational, cultural, educational, and social benefits.

The disease of lethargy, like most diseases, is not without a cure. You the students are healing panacea, the activating serum that our clubs and organizations need poured into them for a new and virile life.

Fifteen Candidates Report for Soccer; First Game With Fitchburg Thursday

Joyce men at Fitchburg As the fifth season of soccer rolls around at KTC, we figure it is time to let you in on the shape of things.

Lost in graduation were Russ McLaughlin, Bill Lafferandre, Al Stevens, Gene Sedewicz, Phil Eyde, who was captain, and Frank Sarger.

On December 7, 1952, Dr. Young was born in Roberts, Ill. He became interested in education early and he has made rapid progress in the past few years.

He attended Kansas State Teachers College and received his B.S. from this school in 1922. In the following three years he held the position of instructor and principal of the Elm Dale, Kansas, high school; and in 1925 he was advanced to the office of superintendent of schools.

Dr. Young is a member of numerous organizations concerning education, the N. H. Educational Council, the N. E. A., the Association of School Administrators, the Eastern States Teacher Training Association, and the New England Superintendents Association.

The trouble with a student who thinks he can read a woman like a book is that he is always forgetting his place.

Intramural Football

The intramural football scene seems to be another two team race between the perennial rivals, Alpha and Kappa, as both started off in high gear.

With Eddie Willis firing the passes, Alpha rolled to a 26 to 0 win over Sigma. Alpha has a dangerous passing offensive, but may be handicapped by their small line.

Rock-Hills suffered its second straight defeat when Kappa romped over them, 44 to 0. The game wasn't even a contest as the Kappa men had too much power, experience, and poise for the Freshmen team.

Girls' Sports

With the year just getting under way, there hasn't been too much activity as yet in the women's sport program. The major interest this year seems to be in the individual sports.

FALL The initial soccer practice at KTC found only three veterans reporting among a slim turnout of fifteen. Coach Joyce has first teamers Herby Derby and Carroll Warren, plus reserve ack Tierney to build an inexperienced squad around. It is hoped by Coach Joyce that other members from last year's squad will be able to break away from their work and report for action soon.

Winter On the basketball scene the outlook appears to be considerably brighter. This year's edition of the Owls should be paced by last year's high scorers, Wally Russell and Lindy Chakalos, who will be ably assisted by Herb Silander and big Jesse Evangelou. The squad is also expected to be bolstered by the return of Bruce Kibbe, who was the Owls second highest scorer of two seasons ago.

The status of baseball is very indefinite at the moment. Last year proved to be a disastrous one for the Owl nine which failed to finish out the regular season. That was due in particular to lack of spirit and material. With reinforcements from the Freshmen body it is hoped that KTC can, once again, become a diamond power.

Working on THE MONADNOCK will offer you 1. A chance to gain valuable experience in newspaper work that will be of direct service in your teaching career. 2. An opportunity to make connections with other newspapers and become home town correspondent, or do journalistic work during the summer. 3. A genuine chance for promotion based on interest and jobs well done.

Junior Class Sponsors President's Reception

On September 13, as a climax to Freshman Orientation Week, the annual President's Reception and Dance was held in Spaulding Gym. This is a dance looked forward to by all who have been once to the opening of the college social year. If this dance can be taken as an indication of the caliber of KTC's social activities for the coming year, the term we are now commencing seems to be bright with the promise of being socially successful.

The arrangements for the President's Reception and Dance are the responsibility of the Junior class. This year, with the Junior class president Ted Barker at the helm, they really outdid themselves to make the evening an enjoyable event for all concerned.

The gym was most attractively decorated in the school colors, red and white, and the stage was made up with flowers. In this environment the waiters and waitresses of Herm Reed's orchestra were most appropriate.

Headed by Dr. Lloyd P. Young, the receiving line included also Mr. Young, Mrs. Dorothy Randall, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dwight Carle and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barry. The ushers were chosen from the Junior class, and refreshments were served by the Juniors.

The attendance of faculty and students was very rewarding, and the Juniors are to be complimented on making possible an evening which was, certainly, "enjoyed by all."

Student Council Has First Meeting of Year

The Student Council held its first meeting of the year, Tuesday, September 23. Howard Mortenson, president, presided at the meeting. After a discussion, the Student Council then created the office of second vice president. The action was necessary because the first vice president is practicing teaching this semester outside of Keene, and next semester the president will be practicing teaching; thus leaving the Council without a vice president for the entire year. Arden Beaudoin was elected to the office of second vice president.

The Council then proceeded to set up the standing committees for the year. Committees are: Student Affairs, Activities, Public Relations, Athletics, and Finance. All the members of these committees were not selected as the Council elect their members.

Alumni Association in Drive for Members, Gala Pageant is Planned
One of the most important organizations connected with any school is its Alumni Association, and Keene Teachers College has been working for the past few years to make its Alumni Association more active.
During the last two years the Alumni Association has started a drive to get in touch with more alumni. To do this a program has been carried on to locate the past graduates of KTC. With hard work, 5000 records, and the help of Dr. Young, the directors of the Association have been able to reach approximately half of the alumni at the present time. The drive is being carried on by appeals to alumni groups to send in addresses, and by continuing the policy of the Alumni Association in publishing bulletins which keep the graduates in touch with KTC.
The results of all this work was obvious in the number of past graduates who returned to the Keene Campus last May. The address by Huntley Spaulding in the Spaulding Gymnasium was the high point of the week-end.
Since the City of Keene will be celebrating its bi-centennial in 1958, present plans of the Alumni Association call for a particularly fine reunion next May. With the assistance of Alumni and undergraduates, a pageant is planned to represent the events of education in the early days of Keene and especially the history of the College. Scenes representing Indian attacks on the present site of KTC, the early days of Miss Fiske's School, and events in the development from the one-year Normal School with a single course to the present four-year College with many departments will be depicted. A look into the future is also planned.

K.T.C. Delegation at Conference at Durham

Saturday, October 11, Mrs. Mary Donald Deans and three students from our campus attended a Conference of the World Student Service Fund, which was held in Hampshire Hall at the University of New Hampshire. Representing the Student Christian Association, the Newman Club, and the International Relations Club of Keene Teachers College were Barbara Harris, Fricella Osborne and Gordon Jacques. This conference was designed as an orientation and information meeting for all faculty and students interested in international affairs, and in the work of the World Student Service Fund both on the American campus and throughout the world.

SCA Sponsors Mount Monadnock Climb

Mount Monadnock Day has come at last and passed. The fateful day that had to depend so much upon the weather is over. The Student Christian Association planned the drive to fall on October 11, in the traditional manner that it might be as near as possible to Columbus Day.
The committee consisting of Carol Cable, Bob Pearson and Harold Hapgood carefully took care of every arrangement except the weather.
Over fifty students indicated their willingness to test their ability as mountain climbers by signing up in advance for the trip. The report of the committee selling tickets, which included Ruth Brainard, Ken McCormick, Harold Hapgood, Bob Pearson, Bob Sudak, and Betty Sweet was that the main obstacle was again the uncertainty of weather.
The route for this annual expedition is by bus from Hale Building to the foot of the mountain in Marlboro, and then by hiking up the mountain by way of the Marlboro Trail.
The time schedule for the start of the climb was 9 a. m. so that all could eat the lunch supplied by the college dining room on the summit at noon. The trail has many picturesque views which make it particularly beautiful with the color of the autumn foliage.
The chaperons for the trip were Miss Bruce and Dr. Ferrodin.
The day was successful because the weather decided to favor the climbers.

Mayorality Campaign Will Move Into Full Swing Next Week

Get set for the biggest, most active, noisiest week of the year — the politicians have hit the campus! All next week, October 20-26, you will hear fellow students campaign for the office of mayor of KTC. Parades, political rallies and strange costumes will highlight the week.
Campaign week and the office that eventually goes to your choice is not all hot air — the spirit you directed toward helping you, the student body. The mayor's aim is to create a working, active interest in the life of every student. Sure, by your all agree that we need a keener participation in our clubs. The mayor's purpose is to stimulate interest. The past mayors have sponsored trips to basketball games which were played away from home — thus giving our team the support they so badly needed; they have presented skits, soccer rallies. Again, the unwritten duty of the mayor is to give the welcome address on Parents' Day.
Supporting the mayor is the Mayor's Council, a body of student representatives, made up of the house, three from each dormitory, one girl commuter, and one boy commuter. These representatives are chosen either by the mayor or by the members of various groups. The Mayor's Council could (Continued on Page 2)

W.S.C. Sponsors Novel Shoeless Stag Social

On October 4 at eight o'clock in Hennes Hall, the autumn spirit reignited. The Women's Service Club sponsored a unique social dubbed the "Shoeless Stag." The decorations were particularly appropriate with autumn cornucopias, pumpkins and pumpkins surrounding each post. Around the room on an easel various sizes of socks of different sizes, colors and shapes added more color to the scene.
As the guests arrived, they found the checking their shoes at the door and dancing in stocking feet was the order of the evening. Dancing to a variety assortment of records was made possible by several students who loaned their records for the occasion. During the course of the evening, refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served.
The Women's Service Club deserves a bouquet for a very enjoyable evening.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION AT MANCHESTER OCT. 17th

Manion of Notre Dame to Give Principal Address; Sillari and Stinnett Also to Speak
By Frances Ward

October 17 marks the date of the 98th Annual State Teachers Convention in New Hampshire, this year being held at the State Armory in Manchester. In accordance with wishes of the members of the association, the convention will consist of one day of General Sessions and luncheon meetings rather than the customary two-days. The program, designed and planned around the theme, "Teacher Certification and Professional Standards", will include three prominent speakers: Mr. Edward Sillari, Principal of Keene High School and President of the State Teachers Association, Mr. T. M. Stinnett, executive secretary of the National Committee on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, and Dr. Clarence E. Manion, Dean of Law School at the University of Notre Dame.

Education Meetings Attended by Dr. Young

Dr. Young attended a committee meeting of members of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in Springfield, Mass., on Friday, October 3. Keene Teachers College is accredited by both of these associations. Plans are being made for a committee visitation to New Haven, Conn., which wishes to be accredited. Dr. Young will be a member (Continued on Page 4)

College Qualification Tests Given Soon

WASHINGTON, D. C. Number of students taking the Selective Service College Qualification Test will swell to approximately half a million with completion of the third series of tests to be given December 4, 1952 and April 23, 1953 at 1000 testing centers throughout the country.
In announcing dates of the third series, Major General Lewis B. Hershey said that 413,395 students have already taken the test. He reported that the Educational Test Service of Princeton, New Jersey, has again been designated to prepare and administer the test on the basis of submitted bids and to send each examinee's score to selective local boards.

Students currently deferred on the basis of test scores or class standards number about 100,000. General Hershey emphasized that increasing manpower demands (Continued on Page 2)

Local F.T.A. Chapter to Participate in Convention; Other Activities

At the Teachers Convention on Friday, October 17, the Frederick J. Simmons Chapter of Future Teachers of America from Keene Teachers College and the Guy L. Spear Future Teachers of America Chapter from Plymouth Teachers College will hold a joint meeting. The representatives of the two schools will discuss educational issues which include Student Aid in College, Recruitment, Teachers' Curriculum, and a discussion on ways each club can assist the other in planning F.T.A. projects on and off their respective campuses. The meeting will be included as part of the convention program and students and faculty members who are interested in F.T.A. are welcome to attend this meeting. After the meeting the Future Teachers will participate in the other scheduled activities of the convention.
This will be the first of several joint meetings that are planned for the two F.T.A. chapters this year. It is only one of the projects included in the program of the (Continued on Page 3)

THE PROSPECTIVE OF PERSPECTIVE

We've now survived five weeks and two days of this college year. The rusty minds, the physical plant dormant for the summer, and the faculty back from fresh experiences, are all gradually becoming integrated and the machinery that is KTC is clicking its way into a reasonable smooth routine.

The students are all here and entrenched in the schedules and the lives that they have chosen for themselves. The Freshmen snugly secured in their slightly delapidated beanies are alert and eager, perhaps shuddering a little at the thought of the three years and thirty-one weeks remaining. The Sophomores are here, characteristically bold, but still a little unsure inside. Present also are the Juniors knowing where they're going and the Seniors, some worrying about where they're going.

You've no doubt have your year just about planned to a T. That last book has finally arrived after three weeks of waiting; you've chosen the extra-curricular activities which will prosper with your presence; you've promised yourself at least once that this is the year you'll study like never before; and perhaps you've been generous and even allotted yourself a couple of nights for dates. Yes, the 1952 school year has begun in earnest and to borrow one instructor's punch line, "The honeymoon is over."

1952 promises to be quite an orderly and well planned year in our little campus world. But if we stop to consider for a moment, is it right that we should think of ourselves in a world within a world? Can cramming for exams, dates and personal advancements continue to be the only concerns of the citizens in our little community? Is it really possible to run to your banner covered little abode and slam the door to all that is a bigger, uglier, and stranger world?

Unfortunately, Keene Teachers College is not a citadel of isolation. Sure we can try, but it's a futile fight. The funnies are good, but there's only one page of them and the headlines are so large and spectacular. Then radio, television, and personal accounts keep thrusting reality before our eyes. We might just as well face it, this definitely isn't a day of the jazz age, tinsel, flappers; this is now - 1952.

Korea is still with us with its Old Baldy, Heartbreak Ridge, and the bloody rest. With us too is a person somewhere whom you've never seen and whose place you might occupy this minute except for reasons we can't identify. In all probability he has the same mentality, the same ideals, and the same desires that you do. The only difference is that he's been given the role of an animal by someone with machine guns, might, and the distorted idea that most people are meant to be animals. You may have guessed that there's a presidential election going on. A lot of wasted words - maybe so - what with communism, corruption, and captive being used and reused. Anyway you can always tell yourself, provided you're an adept rationalizer, that the President will take care of you no matter who he turns out to be. Peiping, Moscow, even Washington, they're a long way from you and their's true, but there's the little matter of jet planes, and your 600 miles an hour cruising speeds that keeps shrinking distances.

We don't mean to get overly pessimistic, but the facts are rather obvious. We're a part of a very large and mixed up world and because we are a part, we have to open our eyes occasionally and take a look at it no matter how rotten and unattractive the image may be.

BUREAU OF NON-VITAL STATISTICS Concord, N. H.

13 October 1952

Dear Editor: Word has been received by the bureau that there is an alarmingly large number of students on your campus suffering from Bacteriophobla. We, after a great deal of difficulty (getting to the 3rd floor of Huttons for example) succeeded in computing the following report:

- Section one
1. Average human inhalation: 0.5284 quarts or 500 cc.
2. Average number of inhalations sitting (except in the puckerbrush): 19.64398
3. Average number of inhalations per minute lying down (no comment): 13.31319
4. Since we sleep 8 hrs. (?) and are active the other 16, we shall call the average inhalation as that of sitting. Amount of air inhaled in one minute then is 10.379689032 qts. per min. or 2.594972233 gallons per minute.

- Section two
a. Using the sieve head-bubbler device (I don't know what it is any more than you do, so don't ask!), we took representative samples of air on campus from the ground (including the puckerbrush) to the top of the school buildings (3rd floor of Huttons) and found the average bacteria count to be: a. 39856.4319 bacteria per 298 cu. in. of air. b. This means that there are 23076837.0701 bacteria per cubic foot (found by multiplying any previous number given by 5). c. By multiplying 23076837.0701 by 498.1872 (Not tonight Nellie, the grass is too wet and besides, our adding machine only works up to 99 digits and I'll be darned if I'm going to do it by hand!) we find the number of bacteria inhaled every twenty four hours. (Astounding isn't it?) d. Assuming ten percent of the bacteria are pathogenic (past tense of pathetic) you can readily see how dangerous your environment you are living in.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BUREAU: Plan A. Avoid, whenever possible, crowds, mobs, groups and small gatherings (classes?) By talking to any person (no matter how sterile) closer than 4 feet. If necessary to do any of the above, cover the mouth and nose with, handkerchief, bonnet or skirt (in case of boys, trousers).

Wallace Russell

Wally Russell, Class of '53, was born on February 13, 1932. He attended Bellows Falls high school where he was an active member of the student council and a co-captain of his basketball team.

Since Wally's arrival at Keene Teachers College, he has been a well-liked leader who can rightfully take his place on our list of campus wheels. As he has been a hard working brother of his fraternity, Kappa Delta Phi, for four years, this year he holds the honored title of president. Wally has always been interested in sports, especially basketball, as his high school years indicate. Possessing natural ability, he is a star athlete. Last season he was high scorer for the KTC owls. In intramural sports, Wally has been a great asset to the Kappa team. The Monadnock staff also has benefited from Wally's efforts. He held the position of Managing Editor for one year, and before that he was also on the staff.

Wally is a dependable and active member of all the clubs and organizations to which he belongs. He has held the offices of vice president of his class for three years and alumni secretary of Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity. As a member of the Inter-Fraternity Council for two years, he helped to sponsor the majority campaign and dances and worked to promote better college spirit at KTC. Last spring he was a marshal for the senior class. Today Wally left for a curriculum revision conference at Swampscott, Mass., as an official representative of KTC.

Wally will be practicing teaching in Claremont at Stevens high school the second semester. In the District Education course in which he majored at KTC.

Mayorality (Continued from Page 1) be a very effective body here on campus if they would show more interest and a willingness to work. After all there must be someone to lead, and the council is that body. The week of campaigning is climaxed by a gala dance on Saturday, October 26. Here the mayor of KTC is formally inaugurated by the mayor of Keene, Don Johnson, better known as "Mung, the man from Mars," is the present mayor of KTC. Will he find himself lost out in space? You're forwarned - batten down the hatches, the politicians have landed at KTC.

It authorized the President to provide for the deferment of any or all categories of persons whose activity in study is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest. The intent of Congress was that these students should be deferred only until they completed their education. (Continued on Page 5.)

Second Generation is Represented at Keene

Approximately 7 1/2 per cent of the present enrollment of students at KTC have parents whose names are included in the roll of former graduates. By far the greater majority of these are the mothers, for of the total number with daughters and sons enrolled here today, only three have fathers as alumni. It is interesting to note that this ratio still swings heavily toward the enrollment of women; however with the expansion of manual and shop curriculum, with greater accent on scientific courses, and with other courses of specialized training for boys in high schools more and more young men are filling a definite need in the teaching profession, and with the tendency toward higher salaries are finding it more attractive.

KTC can feel proud that so many of these parents in appreciation of what our school has afforded them in the past, now send their children to KTC for preparation, guidance, and training in which many of them have been and continue to be inspired teachers.

Most surely the progressive spirit of our college is greatly maintained and augmented by the continued interest of our alumni. It is sincerely hoped that the students today become the alumni of tomorrow, they in turn will send their sons and daughters to KTC in ever increasing numbers, so that our school may grow and continue to produce good teachers to fill the dearth now so acutely felt in our state.

Frederick J. Simmons Chapter. Some of the other projects planned for this year are as follows: 1. Improve Student Counseling Program. 2. Work with local P.T.A.s. 3. Acquint future teachers with Local Teachers Association. 4. Plan American Education Week Program. 5. Have a Student Teaching Panel. 6. Have a Cooperative Teacher Panel. 7. Hear reports of Conferences attended by KTC delegates. 8. Have panels using all human resources in Keene. 9. Help to arrange F.T.A. clubs in high schools. 10. Use the facilities of the Local, State, and National Education Association for a better understanding of the teaching profession while still in college.

Members of the Frederick J. Simmons Chapter believe that Future Teachers of America is one of the most significant educational movements ever known. They believe that everyone who understands the power for good that teachers have in local, state and national education associations will work to further its growth. The members of F.T.A. pay $1.00 dues to both state and national education associations and in return receive: 1. The state education association journal for one year. 2. Other publications and reports of the state association. 3. Privilege of attendance at conventions. 4. Special information service from headquarters. 5. The NEA journal for one year. 6. Ten Personal Growth Leaflets for personal libraries. 7. A copy of the F.T.A. yearbook. 8. A library of professional books and leaflets with additions each year. 9. Special services in planning programs and subjects. 10. The privilege of calling upon officers and staff of the state education association and the national education association to meet with chapters.

The members of Frederick J. Simmons Chapter feel that the F.T.A. Chapter is not just another club. It brings to the student the motivating power of a lifelong purpose and a nationwide outlook. It is designed to develop ideals in the lives of its members; to enrich the spirit of college life; to advance the interests of the teaching profession; to promote the welfare of children; and to foster the education of all people.

Danger to Democracy

By R. Pearson

It is hard to believe that today in our world there should be anything but freedom and democracy. Our parents, and perhaps some of us, have come from the mother country to live lives of our own and to think and act as we please. We feel that democracy is essential in this country. The very atmosphere of these hills and plains breathes freedom for all men. No other type of government should be able to flourish under the conditions set up by nature in this, our new home.

Yet in this very country, in this very region, lies a force alien to our way of life and to our country - a force which is quiet now, but ever lying in wait. If seriously aroused, this may prove more dangerous than our past life ever was. It is up to us to keep an ever-watchful eye upon the evil which surrounds us. This dangerous factor in our midst is the Massachusetts Bay Colony and all it stands for. Ever since they first came here, these so-called "Puritans" have been spreading their sedition seeds among us. We must stop them. They are an enemy to democracy and to our way of life. These middle-class villains have on their hands an authoritarian government and under their thumbs the trembling and terror-stricken commoners. But it is not their hands alone that hold the reins.

As I approached Scarlet Wharf, I heard from a local drinking place, sounds of profanity as well as the hysterical laughter of women, the bodies and souls of their unfortunate victims. They who hide behind stiff clerical collars and black vests are those who control the colony. It is they who, claiming Divine wisdom, have corrupted their trust and their office. In many cases, the ministers and the ruling officials are one and the same.

Our own political ideas come into direct contrast with those of this ruling class on many points. One of the strongest is the idea of separation of Church and State. It is our belief that the Church, with all-important in our lives, should not dictate as to the political policies of our community. The spiritual and the political lives in our colony have no direct relationship and should not be brought together, as is the case with our surreptitious neighbors. This group of willful men has created a theocracy in our land - a ruling by religion.

These grasping politicians, these lovers of hypocrisy, are the danger to democracy as we know it. They are intent upon destroying every breath of freedom that is within Man. It is up to us, the watchful, to be ever alert to their threats. We must be constantly on guard to protect our own liberties for the world of tomorrow.

Selective Service

(Continued from Page 1) made it important that each draft-eligible student who has not taken the test do so as soon as possible.

Students whose academic year will end in January 1953 have been urged to take the December 4, 1952 test so they will have a test score in their cover sheets before the end of their academic year, at which time their boards will reopen and reconsider their cases to determine whether they should be deferred as students.

To be eligible to apply for the college deferment test a student must (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) must not previously have taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test.

Applicants for the test will mail application blanks for the December 4, 1952 and April 23, 1953 administrations to Educational Testing Service in self-addressed envelopes, which will be given to registrars by local boards. All these cards have not yet been

KTC Physical Plant Undergoes Many Improvements Over Summer Months

New Lights, Laundry And Paint Brighten The Campus at Keene

Perhaps you have noticed or heard of all the new improvements that have been made during the past vacation in order to make KTC a nicer place for everyone. Hale administration building has a new coat of white paint. The old coat of sand and paint had to be sand blasted off. It must have been quite a job because they are still finding sand in unexpected places!

Everyone has noticed the new fluorescent lights in Parker, Huntress, and the library, and to some extent in Blake House. The "new" path you saw running across the campus wasn't a path at all, but a trench that had been dug to run a 2,300 volt wire from the heating plant to the library side of Main street. Through the years the main circuit had become overloaded or so now the library, Rockingham House and Sigma House are on their own to relieve this load.

There have been some laundry changes, too. The school laundry in Fiske has discarded the two wooden washers after twenty years of service and replaced them with stainless steel ones. The old extractor has been replaced, too. For the women students a new laundromat and dryer have been put into Huntress. This will make it easier for the girls with the town laundromat so far away.

New electric water coolers have been installed in Parker and the library. These coolers have foot levers so that students can get a drink and hold on to their books at the same time.

The chemistry room has a new demonstration table which is connected to gas and water.

A pastel note has invaded sections of the college. One side of Fiske and several rooms in Huntress have been painted in varying shades of pastels. The institutional yellow is losing its foothold.

The gym floor has been re-sanded and had a thorough going over. This will make for better basketball and, of course, dancing.

The old saying, a new broom sweeps clean, is proving itself to be true. Mr. Tidale, a new addition to the faculty at Butterfield Voc. building has initiated a face lifting detail over there. He is seeing that the inside is having a paint job.

All these improvements have added a fresh note on campus and we sincerely hope they will induce the alumni to return for home coming next May.

This national commission was formed this summer to study the problems of what economic courses are being included in the teacher educational programs in this country. An executive committee has been elected on which Dr. Young has been asked to serve. Dr. Young is chairman of a committee to draft a questionnaire to be sent to all colleges with teacher educational programs to find out what courses are being offered in economics, the names of the teachers, and to find out how promising the courses were being developed in all parts of the country.

New Insurance Plan is Subscribed to Poorly

Last year the Student Council here at KTC was offered a new type of insurance program at a considerably reduced rate from the old plan. After much discussion with the representatives of both the companies, and investigation of students' opinion, the Council decided to accept the new insurance offer. The plan was initiated this year when forms were sent out to all students, making the plan available to them. Up to date, unfortunately, a very small number of students have taken advantage of the plan. Under this new policy all students are automatically insured, when they pay their activity fee for injuries incurred while engaging in intra-mural, intercollegiate, or any organized sport program.

Also, there is a new Plan A which includes coverage for any accident sustained while the student is enrolled at this college, whether the accident occurs on campus or off campus. Each F.T.A. member will be assigned to work in the high schools from which he came, in some cases adding other nearby high schools as desired. Third step—Let each member become familiar with the F.T.A. plan in high schools and send materials to students and teachers in various high schools instructing them on F.T.A. plan. Fourth step—Write letters or visit personally each of the high schools on the list to see if a group of promising teachers who are careening to teaching as a career can be brought together in an F.T.A. club. Try to interest classroom teachers, in the various schools, to aid the students in setting up the club and acting as an adviser to it. Fifth step—Arrange in the spring of the year for all F.T.A. club members to visit Keene Teachers College as guests of a Future Teachers of America Chapter.

The success of the F.T.A. High School Club plan depends on the interest high school teachers show in their profession. The members (Continued on Page 6)

Highlighting the day's program were speakers from includes Indonesia and Pakistan, who are members of the National Committee of the World University Service (WSSU). During the afternoon a movie which dealt with student conditions in Europe and Asia was shown.

At this conference our delegates mingled with other students from every junior college and college of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. The students who took part in this conference feel that it was a worthwhile, as well as enjoyable experience.

Parents Are Problems, Is Theme of Assembly

On Monday morning, September 29, the student body had the pleasure of being addressed by Rev. Mark Strickland of Manchester. The subject for Mr. Strickland's talk was "Parents Are Problems Too." Rev. Strickland, an astute orator, handled the subject very skillfully and kept the interest of the audience throughout the hour period.

Rev. Strickland organized his speech to strike home seven major points; each one being amply illustrated and interspersed with his own variety of humor. The first phase of the address was that parents should possess a certain amount of maturity in their dealings with children. Rev. Strickland's second point revolved around the fact that parents are human beings and as such should be natural and sincere in their personality. The establishment of family standards was another subject dealt with. Rev. Strickland also stated that consideration of health and development of child culture were essential to family happiness. Particularly emphasized was the belief that complete cooperation is essential on the basic building block of our society. Special emphasis was placed on the parents' eagerness to imitate and the way in which this tendency may be put to use.

FTA Initiates Plans for Helping Establish High School FTA Clubs

Every young person who takes up teaching as a career is interested in seeing that his comrades in the profession shall be men and women of character, intelligence, purpose and promise. This can be accomplished only by bringing to the attention of the teaching profession to young people in the high schools at a time when they are making their vocational choices.

With this in mind the Frederick J. Simmons Chapter of Future Teachers of America at Keene Teachers College is trying to interest young people in high schools in teaching as a career. A plan is now being formulated to start F.T.A. clubs in high schools throughout New Hampshire. The following steps will be taken. First step—a card catalogue will be made of all students in the F.T.A. chapter showing the high schools from which they came. Second step—Each F.T.A. member will be assigned to work in the high schools from which he came, in some cases adding other nearby high schools as desired. Third step—Let each member become familiar with the F.T.A. plan in high schools and send materials to students and teachers in various high schools instructing them on F.T.A. plan. Fourth step—Write letters or visit personally each of the high schools on the list to see if a group of promising teachers who are careening to teaching as a career can be brought together in an F.T.A. club. Try to interest classroom teachers, in the various schools, to aid the students in setting up the club and acting as an adviser to it. ARK OF EMPIRE

By Idwal Jones

Published by Doubleday & Co., Inc., Garden City, N. Y.

Reviewed by Mrs. Mary Donald Deans

Reading the Ark of Empire transported me to the years when I lived in the Bay Region of California. It is the story of San Francisco's famous Montgomery Block, interwoven with countless dramatic events which make the recital seem fantastic even in an area where the fantastic is not incredible.

The great earthquake of 1906, the gold rush, the birth of the Chinese Republic—all had repercussions in the fabulous Block, the brain child of young Captain Halleck, upon whom President Lincoln later relied in the war, miles from San Francisco's shores.

Halleck was nominated for the first governor of California when the Convention met in Monterey, September, 1849. But he was destined for other work—this soldierly ex-secretary of state, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts. He had arranged to establish a law practice in San Francisco and an office on Montgomery street would be advantageous.

With his partners he bought land at auction sales and the documents, precious and unique, were kept safe behind brick in the Halleck Library. The conflagration of June 1851 turned Montgomery street into a hell, but Halleck's records were intact. More land was bought at fire sale prices.

And now Halleck's dream was all down on paper. His building was to be fire-proof, earthquake-proof and yet of real grandeur. The cost would be—three million dollars!!!

The story of the construction of the Block is told as a play—scene by scene, present of the class of age old Redwoods served as the foundation, twenty-two feet deep. Three hundred Chinese worked on "the floating fortress," others called "Halleck's Folly."

Halleck, an uninteresting young man, actually beamed when the house warming was held two days before Christmas, 1853. He was gratified with the materialization of his plan. Halleck's Block on Montgomery street was a superb jewel of architecture.

And so the story continues in fascinating manner to recount the activities in this clearing house which brought plutocrat and proletariat from distant shores to tarry in the offices or Bank Exchange of the Block.

Montgomery street was set for another drama—with Halleck gone the chief personality of the Block was Adolph Suetro. Then others came, the Block had never been quieter. A few artists, a few lawyers, the Adams Express Company, and then the Occidental kitchen took over.

April 18, 1906—read the graphic account yourself as Idwal Jones, a native of Wales, but citizen of NO 23 Laguna, California, tells it in the language of an unforgettable moving picture. His closing sentence, "Halleck's Folly was still there, bearing no more scars than a cliff that had been brushed by a century of storm clouds. The Block, too, was a manifestation of faith."

OWLS NIPPED BY FITCHBURG 1-0

On Thursday, October 2, the Joycemen played their first soccer encounter of the season at Fitchburg. They left here by bus. When they arrived at Fitchburg they were met by a rain which fell throughout the game.

During the first half, the sphere was kept moving back and forth with neither team making any great gain or any goals. The Owls were holding their own on defense, but they were not able to sink one into the net. This was in all probability due to the fact that the Owls were playing on (Continued in Column 4)

New England Crushed By Owl Team 3 to 1

Although losing their initial game, the Joycemen struck back Tuesday to overthrow a tough New England 11 in a hard fought game that left plenty of bumps. Ray Richard '56 scored two goals in the first half to set the Owls ahead 2-0. New England failed to score, but that didn't dampen their spirits. Richard was K.O.'d in the first half and "T" Wilkinson was knocked out which started off a string of hard luck for him. Gordon Jacques made two great stops in the first half to prevent New England from scoring.

During the half many of the fans left because of the cold weather. However, this coldness seemed to keep the boys peppy. The wind was blowing upfield and gave one team the advantage over the other. It was difficult to kick the ball any length while on the upper end of the field.

In the third quarter the ball was moving up and down the field with no scoring on the part of either team, until near the end of the quarter when N. E. slipped one into the net. At the end of the third quarter the score was 2-1 in favor of the Joycemen.

In the last quarter play was still up and down the field. "J" Wilkinson was smashed in the head by a ball and had to be taken out of the game. He was taken to the hospital for observation.

With the end of the game drawing near, Crockett of KTC tallied a goal which proved to be the last one in the game. When the final whistle blew the Owls led the field in victory. They also left the field much more experienced, and from the looks of things they will give any team a run for their money.

Alpha tied it up on a pass from Jake Burnham to Kibbee. Another 12-5 at halftime. Dick Buckman and "Red" Hewitt were injured in this fray, but not seriously. Boston took over the passing duties in the second half and Alpha poured it on. Burnham was caught behind the goal line to give Rock Hills its final two points. Kappa won a squeaker over Sigma 13-8 to keep its hold on first place, and this defeat left Sigma and Rock Hills imbedded in the cellar. Brezniski again led the Kappa attack.

Rock Hills and Sigma battled it out to see who could get out of the cellar but both teams stayed there as they fought to a 0-0 standstill.

Alpha defeated Blue Spruce 26-7; the Spruce men led at half-time 7-6. In the last half three of the Blue Spruce men left because of Glee Club rehearsal and therefore Alpha outnumbered them and scored easily.

Alpha started off slowly against Rock Hills but then really poured it on and won easily 38-9. Rock Hills hit pay dirt on a pass from Pat Baldassar to Dave Costen. Hewitt's pass interception set it up.

Tension of the game is reflected in the faces of the soccer players as Owls close in on New England's goal. This scoring attempt failed.

Undeclared Kappa Club Leads League in Intramural Football

The intramural football season went into the second round and some great games were played. The big game was between the perennial rivals, Alpha and Kappa. The men from Kappa took the league with a 20-13 victory. Big Jim Brezniski led the Kappa offensive with passing that had pin point accuracy. Wally Russell and Howard Smith were the receivers of most of these passes. Russell also played a great defensive game as he intercepted three Willis passes to stall the Alpha attack.

Speaking of Willis, he led the Alpha team as usual, but in this game Jim Brezniski was the hero. Kappa hit pay dirt first on a Brezniski pass to Russell and added the seventh point on an aerial from Brezniski to Smith. Later in the half Bruce Kibbee intercepted a Brezniski aerial and raced for an Al-nick to make it 7-6. Big Jim Brezniski then began mixing up his plays beautifully and Kappa scored again on a Brezniski to Russell pass to make it 13-6 at half-time. In the second half Big Jim tossed a pass to Russell and Wally galloped down the sidelines for the score. The extra point was again added on a Brezniski to Smith aerial. The final score again, 20-12 in favor of Kappa. We may have a new football king this year. Blue Spruce, one of the most improved teams in the league, defeated Sigma 12-6. Joe Hall scored both T.D.'s, one on a pass from Busten and the other on a run. The Sigma team led until the final minutes and then Blue Spruce scored. On the next kick off the men from Blue Spruce used their heads and pulled off an outside kick and then rolled to the winning score on a combination of running and passing plays. Jake Tierney led the Sigma offensive.

Alpha started off slowly against Rock Hills but then really poured it on and won easily 38-9. Rock Hills hit pay dirt on a pass from Pat Baldassar to Dave Costen. Hewitt's pass interception set it up.

The soccer team to date shows only a mediocre record of 1 win and 1 loss, but with more practice, and barring injuries, we think that the Joycemen will end the season on the winning side of the ledger. We also think that soccer at KTC will be on the upgrade for the next few years. This year's crop of freshmen is by far one of the best that coach Joyce has ever had to work with. Also on this year's team are four sophomores and three juniors. If everything goes well, KTC will be able to field a completely veteran team next year.

The play and spirit that has been featured in the intramural football league this year has been very good. As yet none of the teams have admitted defeat. The three cellar teams have been giving the league leaders plenty of trouble as is evidenced by some of the scores. The Kappa powerhouse had to score two fast touchdowns in the final period to defeat a dogged Sigma team, 13-6. Sigma had led the Kappamen for three periods by the score of 6-0. Alpha, the perennial powerhouse, was losing at halftime to an inspired Blue Spruce team, 7-6. But in the second half, being out-manned, the boys from Blue Spruce finally yielded to a 26-7 count.

In order to extend our program even further, student leaders are chosen to work under the Heads. In this way we are able to offer different team sports plus three or four individual sports each quarter. The team sports are field hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball; the individual sports are archery, bowling, tennis, swimming, badminton, and table tennis.

Being located where we are we do not have the opportunity to play other colleges. Here at KTC, however, we have formed two teams, the Reds and the Whites. These teams play each other in the team sports, and every fall we have a sports day when they compete in the individual sports as well. Team spirit is high, and the rivalry is very strong. In addition to the Reds and Whites we have interclass competition as well. At the end of each season an All Star team is chosen. These girls are awarded the school letter.

News in Brief
The S. C. A. is also busy laying plans for its annual rummage sale which will be held at the Baptist Church on November first. The proceeds from the sale will be turned over to the World Students Service Fund.

EDITORIAL

Recently, five of us had the opportunity to attend the New England Teacher preparation conference which had as its theme "Moral and Spiritual Values in Teacher Education."

There seems to be an apparent misconception that education does not make much difference in the lives of those who come under its influence.

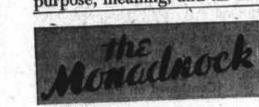

Many educators lean on the popular excuse that legal barriers prohibit the use of religion in the classroom, but facts are easily gathered to show how erroneous this premise is.

Naturally the leaders of the conference did not advocate in any way the indoctrination of pupils into a particular religious faith.

Spiritual and moral values will remain superficial and unheeded if the present practice of saying in effect, "you've learned everything in the book, now go out and use it to the best advantage," continues.

No subject can be apart from Religious meaning. All learning must be directed toward the final purpose of a more spiritual and moral society or else why learn at all?

BUREAU OF NON-VITAL STATISTICS Concord, N. H. 21 October 1952

Dear Editor: This news item has come to the attention of the Bureau: "College students should study at home two hours for every hour they have in class."

Table with 5 columns: Day, Hours class, Must study, Hours of sleep, Hrs. slp. Rows for Monday through Friday.

Notes: (Student works afternoons) (Case study based on actual schedule) Thus in five days we would get 17 1/2 hours sleep.

The previous table was made out putting the emphasis on study and making sleep expendable. If we reverse the emphasis and make study expendable (which is the most common thing done in colleges anyway) then the whole theory would be impossible.

Recommendations of the Bureau: If your teachers can stand the same amount of strain as would be required under this idea, you should be able to also.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT I started out at the beginning of this election year as open minded as I could. I tried to take into consideration the elements of corruption that are bound to sneak into any government when one party stays in power any length of time.

Manion (Continued from Page 1) said we are in danger of the Communist undermining our government unless we return the government to the people.

Getting back to the subject, I looked forward with a great deal of anticipation to what the new G.O.P. liberals had to offer, realizing that the liberal element was still standing when the convention dust cleared away.

Now the dust has cleared from my mind and my selection and the reasons for this selection are as clear to me as the two trying years that I have spent in the Army.

Book Review

By Harold R. Isaacs, Stanford, Cal; Stanford University Press, 1938. Revised Edition 1951. 382 p. $5.00. Book reviewed by J. Wade Caruthers

Those Americans who should favor continued support of the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek, will find scant support for their views in Isaacs' story.

Mr. Isaacs laid bare the nature of the tragedy of the Chinese revolution. The real tragedy lay in the fact that by 1925 Russia, led by Stalin, had repudiated world revolution and turned "within itself."

H. Dwight Carle Mr. Carle was born in Hyde Park, Mass., February 12, 1895. He attended schools there and graduated from Hyde Park High School.

College Participation Urged in Coming Community Chest Drive

The students at KTC, along with those from Keene High School, have been asked by the leaders of the Community Chest Drive in Keene to help in their attempt to make this first Community Chest Drive a success.

Twenty members were initiated into the Student Christian Association at the college camp October 23. The ceremony was a candle-light service. The challenges given in this ceremony were by Ruth Brannard and Kendall McCormick.

Higher Learning Has Lost Meaning, According to a Famous Educator

New York, N. Y. (I.P.)—Higher learning in the United States has "largely lost its meaning," and as a result, "some of the basic values of liberal education have thereby been sacrificed," according to Oliver C. Carmichael, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Declaring that "quantity has been substituted for quality" and the "quantitative conception of a liberal education" has vitiated the entire process by a wrong emphasis in the teaching of cultural subjects," Mr. Carmichael pointed out that the main problem in higher education has been the gradual acceptance of certain basic fallacies.

The first of these fallacies, he said, is the idea that if a student acquires a certain number of credit hours, it all adds up to a liberal education. "This philosophy is a legacy of the free elective system."

Club Constitutions are Submitted For Approval by Student Council

At the last regular meeting of the Student Council held in Parker Hall on October 21, the Activities Committee, under the chairmanship of Norman V. Valter, reported that they had received constitutions and questionnaires from 17 different clubs and organizations. These forms were submitted by: Alpha Phi Omega, Student Christian Association, Canterbury Club, Dramatic Club, Sigma Pi Epsilon, Alpha Pi Tau, Sigma Tau Gamma, Kappa Delta Phi, College Social Committee, Nu Beta Upsilon, KTC Glee Club, Newman Club, Intramural Council, Women's Athletic Association, Elementary Club, Manchester Club, Women's Athletic Association Honor Society, and Kappa Delta Pi.

The Activities Committee will take all these groups into consideration in allocating funds, and in determining whether or not the times of meetings should be changed in order to avoid conflict with other organizations. Any club which did not submit the necessary information to the Student Council will not be considered by the committee.

Michael Karnaciewicz, chairman of the Athletic Committee, reported that student members of the Intramural Council have been elected. They are: William Derby, commissioner; Jesse Evangelou, secretary-treasurer. The council will meet the first Wednesday of each month.

The Student Council then elected Harold Haggood as representative to the Social Committee, with Peggy Michael as alternate. Elizabeth Mary McGuirk then gave a report on the new members of the Public Relations Committee. They are: Ruth Branard, Joanne Riedel, Herman Oberle, and Eastman Steere. The chairman said that the Inter-visitations Committee will be selected at a later date. Mary then gave a report on the minutes of the meeting of the Eastern States Conference which she attended in New York City. They made plans for the conference to be held on the 28th, 27th and 28th of March.

The Student Council is now in full swing and all the committees are working the minutes of each meeting will be put on the bulletin board along with the attendance record. Read the minutes and also look to see if you are being represented.

Letter

tion has guaranteed him this right ever since its existence.

The three big disappointments that he gave me were the following: his failure to make a decision on the Nixon affair, his complete acceptance of Taft's policies over the breakfast table, and last, his acceptance of McCarthy, Jenner and all others regardless of policies in his all out efforts to gain votes.

At a time when the General had an opportunity to make one of his first major decisions, the Nixon case, he confused the issues and threw it like a hot ball of fire back in the direction from whence it came. Mr. Nixon in return very cleverly disguised this moral mistake that he had made and came up with a speech so packed with emotion that it made each soap box opera as "Hill Top House" appear like a good high school try.

Many people are trying to confuse the issue, justify the Nixon move by comparing it with the precedent that Stevenson used to supplement the salaries of his state administrators. Nixon's fund was paid directly to him to be used for campaign purposes. Is the senator that new to politics that he does not know the unwritten rules of this profession stating that party headquarters will register and direct the handling of all funds? It takes very little common sense to realize the dangers that our political system could encounter if our individual politicians had to solicit their funds from private and special interest.

Yet many Americans voiced their approval to Nixon. I had to ask myself, are these the people who are going to stop corruption in government?

The second move was when Taft walked into Ike's rooms in New York, sat down at the breakfast table with him and handing him a group of papers said, "If you agree with me on these points, I will campaign for you." Even the press correspondents who support Ike like to bow their heads when they spoke about this one. Taft knows where he stands and he definitely does not have to run and jump on the General's Bandwagon. It is quite evident that he has his own bandwagon. If Ike does get into the White House, he may run the White House, but Taft will rule the senate. For everything Ike wants passed he will have to bargain with Mr. Taft, whose voting record speaks for itself.

Ike has abandoned the foundation of any platform in favor of leading what he calls a Crusade. Richard the Lion Hearted is going to lead a crusade on Washington to clean up corruption and clear out the Reds. Regardless of his intentions, good or otherwise, can he carry them out with the men that he has surrounding him? In his favor, he has Lodge and the younger liberals in the Republican party who will probably do their best. I do not hear very much from these people as of late. However, let us look at some of the others. Is Tom Dewey going to achieve this for us? How often do we read of corruption in New York State? Are we going to give the job of digging out the Reds to the White House, he may run the White House, but Taft will rule the senate. For everything Ike wants passed he will have to bargain with Mr. Taft, whose voting record speaks for itself.

Princeton, N. J. (I.P.)—The course of study which a student decides upon in high school may well determine his future vocational possibilities, according to Henry Chauncey, president of the Educational Testing Service. If the course has led him to college, he adds, there again a further choice will confront him, the choice of major field.

"The goal of one of the four planned research programs of the ETS is to produce a battery (or batteries) of tests for use in guidance at the high school and college level. This battery is aimed at providing valid prediction of success in a variety of educational and post-educational programs. It will cover aptitudes, interests, and personality in proportions corresponding to our knowledge of these fields.

"To avoid wasteful overlap, the factor analysis approach will be used. It is believed possible to obtain some 15 scores, essentially uncorrelated with each other, which will provide the clearest possible differentiation between predicted success in the various courses of study and vocational fields.

"Since it appears that a pilot study may serve as the best means of demonstrating whether the battery can accomplish its objectives, a preliminary battery of tests measuring about a dozen independent aptitudes and six types of interest has been constructed. A degree of proficiency in a number of fields is considered essential for intelligent citizenship and is required of all candidates for a bachelor of arts or science degree.

"Exceptional students, whether by reason of superior secondary school training, or because of wide reading, are excused from any of the required courses in which they successfully pass a proficiency examination. Students may also substitute introductory courses in the departments related to their area of concentration for the general requirement in this area.

"Three of the required courses are designed primarily to improve the student's facility in communicating ideas—written composition, oral communication, and the ability to think straight (studied in either mathematics or logic). The other courses aim to supply fundamental insights and appreciations in the chief areas of modern knowledge."

Tests Provide Valuable Guide in Choosing High School Subjects

"Plans have been made to develop and to try out measures in these areas. Each study will involve the preparation of a test battery including several tests in the area under investigation and two or three tests of each of a number of related factors that are already well established. Such studies will be made at a variety of types of institutions, and validity data will be obtained in each case.

Freshman Elections to Be Held Next Week

The freshmen have shown a tremendous amount of spirit up to now and these elections are the most important organized effort they have met so far. Any freshman interested in running for not only may make a petition, stating his name and the office for which he is running. These petitions must be signed by twenty freshmen. Each person may sign one petition for each office. The offices which they may seek are President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Student Council.

The final elections, they will elect two boys and two girls. All petitions must be turned in to the Student Council by November 3. Campaigning will be on the 14th and 15th of November, and elections will be held on the 6th in Parker Hall.

"The student who concentrates in a single field is encouraged and sometimes required to study closely related fields in other departments. These all have a bearing upon his field of concentration which is frankly designed to be useful in preparation for his career.

"From a third to almost half of a student's time is spent on studies of fundamental interest. A degree of proficiency in a number of fields is considered essential for intelligent citizenship and is required of all candidates for a bachelor of arts or science degree.

"Plans have been made to develop and to try out measures in these areas. ### Campus Club Workers Hold Outing at Camp

On Tuesday, October 4, a welter roast and social entertainment were enjoyed by the men's service fraternity, A.P.O., and its auxiliary, the Women's Service Club. The group met at the college camp, chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Caruthers, Miss Taylor, Dr. Early and Mr. Kiely. The festivities started at five o'clock and lasted until around seven.

After partaking of a really delicious picnic meal, prepared by the college kitchen, the group went inside and everyone joined in some excellent activities, mainly taking the form of dancing games. In charge of the entertainment was a committee headed by Peter Kouletis and including Ralph Werniger, Walter West, Carol Allen, Jan Kingsbury and Janet Forest. The always successful "Broom Dance" was among the games outlined for the group to enjoy.

Largely because of the cooperative spirit of the participants, and also due to the careful planning that had gone into it, the social was a successful and enjoyable affair.

Owl Booters Edge New England 3-2, Lose in Final Minutes to RICE 1-0

Tuesday, the 14th, the KTC soccer team traveled to Henniker to post their second victory in three starts from New England College. Two freshmen, "Skip" Reagan and Ed Croteau, are to be given the credit for scoring. Reagan put the Jockeymen out front 1-0 in the first quarter, but in the second period NEC's Balton tied it up, until Reagan came back once again to put the Owls out front.

The third quarter was scoreless. In the fourth quarter, New England's Chapin knotted the count. With two minutes to go in the game, Croteau slammed in a point to place KTC ahead 3-2. A tense moment arose seconds afterwards when New England got the ball only a yard away from Keene's goal. In a frantic scramble the Owl's managed to move the ball out.

Paul Wilkinson, who was knocked out in the first game with NEC has been ordered to give up soccer. This leaves the Jockeymen even more short-handed. For this game Coach Joyce used only two subs.

The KTC booters lost their second game of the season to a spirited eleven from R. I. C. E. by the score of 1-0. The game was a hard-fought scoreless duel for three periods, but in the fourth quarter a loose ball bounced off the top of the goal and into the net for what proved to be the winning marker.

The loss evened the Owl's record at 2-2 for the season. The inexperienced Owl booters showed vast improvement in their play and with more game experience should prove to be a formidable foe. The defensive play of the team has been really outstanding. If their offensive punch can be developed a little more, the KTC soccer team should post a winning record for the season.

The student attendance at the home games has been splendid. Let's all go out to the "A" field on October 30 and watch the team play its last home game of the year with Fitchburg Teachers College.

Have you seen the gleam in Coach Joyce's eye recently? We attribute it to the several fine performances turned in by the Freshmen-Sophomore hoopers in their recent interclass struggle. It appears as though the big man that has been missing in KTC basketball has finally arrived in the person of Sophomore Fred Hale. Not only did Fred control rebounds off both backboards, but he displayed a deadly hookshot and made several difficult tap-ins. John Burnham, a jayvee performer last year, appeared vastly improved, as he hit frequently with his patented one-handed push shot from the sides. The freshmen five showed a high geared scoring attack that was paced by lanky Dick Buckman, Dick Sargent, and "Crow" Anderson. Paul Bushey, former Groveton all-stater, turned in a yeoman's job on defense. Adding to the brightness of the gleam in the Coach's eye was the fine all around floor work of Marlboro's Eddie Cretau.

On the intramural scene, the powerhouse Kappa football squad has ended Alpha's three year reign on the gridiron. In their winning of seven straight games, the men from Kappa Delta Phi have racked up 209 points while holding their opponents to a meager 25. A 190-pound forward wall afforded passer Jim Brezinski ample protection as he threw strikes consistently to his favorite receivers Wally Russell and Rod Boivin. By winning the football crown, Kappa momentarily takes the lead in the race for the prized trophy that is awarded at the end of each year to the team that has collected the highest total of points in all the intramural sports combined. This trophy symbolized intramural supremacy at KTC.

Sophomores Outpoint Freshmen In Freshmen-Sophomore Week

During this past week our campus was alive with activities of all kinds. Vying with the noisy mayoralty campaign was our annual sports week. Participants from the freshman and sophomore classes showed excellent athletic abilities, as well as wonderful sportsmanship. All of the major sports were included — football, basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, swimming, bowling, ping-pong, pool, and shuffleboard.

At each event a large cheering section was present to root for its team. A good example of this was shown especially at the basketball game Tuesday night. Throughout the game, a hard-fought one, the Blue Spruce and team that is good in one game and poor in the next, dropped two games. They lost to Rock-Hills via the forfeit route when they failed to make an appearance. In the other game, Sigma whipped them 25-0. The men from Blue Spruce were outnumbered as some were participating in Sophomore-Freshmen events. The Spruce men couldn't hold the passes that Joe Hall fired to them and the Sigma line was really charging through and rushing the passer.

A patched up group of alumni demonstrated to the present edition of the Owl soccer team that they haven't forgotten how to play the game. Paced by former Owl captain Phil Hyde, who scored three goals, the old boys outscored the youngsters in a closely contested battle, 4-3.

A large turnout of newcomers greeted coach Joyce on the opening day of basketball practice.

supervision of their schools. This resulted in better financial distribution and administration of their schools. The next move and a very natural state supervision, was one that came about only after bitter battles that lasted many years. The cry of socialism was not at all uncommon. We only have to look around us to see the advantages of equal schooling opportunities for all in the state. Is the Federal government wrong in asking for these same opportunities for all of our states?

Our states have also tried to build and support state universities. Usually the state universities in our wealthier states are vastly superior to those in other states. Is this equality? Some universities have excellent scholarship programs, others have high tuition rates and practically no scholarship programs. Is this equality? At the present time our cities and states are at the breaking point trying to keep pace with educational expansion. There is no indication of relief in the near future.

Our states need help if present standards are to be maintained. Already schools are beginning to run two shifts, giving the teacher a double load of teaching, and the students only spend half as much time in school. Is that the best we can do for our younger generation? Do we prefer the city political boss?

In closing, I would like to quote from Stevenson his few, simple but vivid remarks on "Our Destiny." "Destiny has given to this generation another long, hard and bloody struggle to save what our forefathers have wrought and to forge a structure for peace which will blot out the evil shadow of tyranny creeping across the earth and set us live in a world where no one drags a chain."

Upon finishing this letter, if I should still call it one, I now realize that the enjoyment was mine in writing and not yours in reading. My apologies if need be for something heavy with words, but deep in my heart I hope it may be of some use to you. If I am using Federal funds for the above purposes as socialism, then I am for socialism. If providing a hospital bed and expensive surgery for a person who could not even think of beginning to pay the bill is socialism, then I am for socialism. What happens today when sickness hits the average family budget?

What the Democrats want and the Republicans call socialism is equal opportunity for us. I would like to repeat that, equal opportunity for all.

As I pointed out earlier, we may have those rights on paper, but they are not in application. As sociology tells us, in any society, education, health, standards of living, etc., determine opportunity for us. Here are the issues where there must be equality.

I have saved Adlai Stevenson for last because he has been my really big enlightenment. Four months ago when Stevenson left Chicago as the Democratic candidate for President all the name meant to me was that he was the Governor of Illinois. I made an effort to do two things, read into his background, and listen to and read his speeches.

Both his history and his speeches tell us that he is a well educated man. Although not entering into the political world until 1948, his governmental experiences started in 1933 under Franklin Roosevelt. From that time on he was in and out of Washington. He served as an assistant to Frank Knox when he was Secretary of the Navy. When leaving this post in 1946, he went to the State Department, working with this department in setting up the U.N. in San Francisco, and for the following two years was a special consultant in the U.N.

What has he done since becoming governor? For those who want a man in Washington to clean up corruption look up this man's record in Illinois. How many Republicans mention this administration in their speeches? For those who have the ambition, check this man's record on roads, mental hospitals, schools, civil service personnel, economy, and administrative methods in the state of Illinois. His success must be accredited to his present knowledge of government and his capable selection of able leaders. As governor of Illinois, he was accused of being surrounded with a lot of well timed college boys. And what may I ask is so wrong with this? Do we prefer the city political boss?

Survey Shows the Things Students Think About During Time in Class

Chicago, Ill.—A survey of what students actually think about in class, conducted by Benjamin S. Bloom, associate professor of education and examiner in the College of the University of Chicago, reveals wide variations in thinking that takes place.

The survey taken of students in five lecture classes and in thirty discussion groups showed that students spent almost two-thirds of their time thinking about the topic discussed or being lectured on. In the remaining third of the time their thoughts were irrelevant to the classwork.

In discussion classes, one-third of the thinking is made up of trying to solve problems that come out in the discussion. About a quarter of the time is spent in thinking about people, including oneself and the danger of being called upon. In lectures, students spend forty per cent of the time merely following the lecture, a different kind of thinking from the problem solving involved in discussion classes.

Various psychological tests were applied to students reporting on what they thought in class. Those who scored negatively had two different kinds of thoughts. The bright students with negative thinking criticized what was being said in class. Less bright students mentally criticized other people in class, including their clothes, appearance, and conduct.

Persons suffering from anxiety, according to the tests, tended to think more about themselves than about what was going on in class. Because of a new technique called stimulated recall, developed at the university within the last two years. By playing tape recordings of classroom events within two days after class, students were able to recall 95 per cent of what went on. The recordings served as a stimulant to recalling their thoughts as well.

Tips for instructors also come from the study. One suggests that the wisecrack or the telling phrase attracts too much attention itself, distracts the student from the remainder of the lecture.

Members of the senior class are urged to compete for the $5,000 in cash prizes offered by the National Council of Jewish Women for the best essays by fourth year college students on the timely subject, "The Meaning of Academic Freedom." The contest opened on September 15.

While entries will be accepted until December 31, 1952, contestants are requested to submit their efforts as early as possible. Essays of 2,500 words maximum should be mailed to Essay Contest, National Council of Jewish Women, 1 West 47th Street, New York 36, N. Y. First prize will be $2,500; second, $1,000; and third, fourth and fifth, $500 each.

The Committee of Judges is headed by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and includes Dr. Ralph Bunche, winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize; Thurman W. Arnold, former Associate Justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals; Dr. Abram L. Sachar, President of Brandeis University; and Mrs. Douglas Horton, former President of Wellesley College and former head of the U. S. Navy Waves.

Interested seniors are asked to obtain the rules of the contest, as well as printed certificates of authorship which must accompany essays, from the National Council of Jewish Women's contest headquarters in New York.

Large Crowd Fills City Hall for Gala Red Feather Review and Dance

Community Chest Drive Given Tremendous Start; Talent from the Whole City Appears

The Red Feather Revue and Dance was a big success. The people of Keene showed their eager support of a very worthy cause—the 1952 Keene Community Chest—by filling up the City Hall Auditorium to capacity. Producing a night-club effect with the dancing floor surrounded by tables and chairs, the sponsors then introduced thirteen dancing, singing, and comedy acts in their two floor shows. The master of ceremonies was our popular WKNE announcer and disc jockey, Don Roberts, who enlivened the show with his witty remarks.

Participating in the floor show were: Michael Vitale, the Cantlin sisters, Roger Le Tourneau, Eddie Bourassa, the Bisan sisters, Phil and son twins, Buddy Boyd, Bob Gordon Gene Francoeur, Ralph Carroll and Ginger Mannion. These artists gave an inspiring performance and should be roundly thanked for their efforts.

The dance, which was held Friday night, November 8, was the first of our young people of Keene—mostly Keene High School and Keene Teachers College students who collaborated together. The younger generation, are fully aware of our responsibilities and plan to do them as well as we know how. The students themselves instigated the idea and were eagerly commended by the local Community Chest. This dance unified the efforts of twelve organizations to one successful end.

Perhaps Keene's most popular orchestra leader and his men—Allen Kendall—volunteered their time and ability to provide the dreamy music that you danced to between floor shows. The two floor shows began at 9:15 and 10:30 p. m. and were eagerly awaited by the attending crowd. Many of Keene's outstanding young artists performed outstandingly. Among them were two KTC students—Eddie Bourassa and Ginger Mannion. We here at the college know how excellent each is in his field and we were very pleased to find out that the people of Keene share the same opinion.

At intermission time, refreshments of cider, 27 through and men put on a series of five acts, with alumnus Charlie Mitchell as Master of Ceremonies. The acts included a hilarious skit called "Kappa Boys in the Future," two vocal numbers and a soft shoe dance by Dean Corrigan, Rod Bourassa, and Carolyn Putnam. Many more students helped on the program but prefer to remain incognito. Thanks for a job well done, kids! Keene is proud of you.

Anna Bird Stewart Visits K. T. C.; Whole School is Host to Author

By Frances Ward
From October 27 through November 1, the English Club, Sigma Pi Epsilon, sponsored the well known author of children's literature, Miss Anna Bird Stewart. Miss Stewart, a native of Cincinnati, had just returned from her birthplace where she received the Ohioana Library Association award for her latest accomplishment, "Enter David Garrick." This is the second time that Miss Stewart has won this particular award. During the spring and winter months, the author travels throughout this country and Europe where she is known personally to thousands of librarians, teachers and students.

Miss Stewart began her active week on campus with her assembly talk, "Adventures in Research," on Monday morning. Her interest in the 18th Century was brought out as she discussed, among other things, her favorite subject, David Garrick, about whom she has been studying and writing since childhood. In the course of her speech, she explained how many of her stories came to be written, and related some amusing incidents which led to ideas for her work. Her many trips abroad, as she mentioned, provided her with a

Campus Calendar

Nov. 13—Thursday: "By the Spirit," a three-act play presented by the Dramatic Club in Parker Hall.
Nov. 15—Saturday: Sigma Tau Gamma's "White Rose Ball" at Spaulding Gym.
Nov. 22—Saturday: Nu Beta Beta.

Dr. Wolffer, with Elementary Juniors and Many Faculty Take Part in the Activities

Dr. Wolffer, assisted by other faculty members and a group of Junior elementary students, was the organizer behind the successful conference for elementary graduates of the Class of '52 held here on Saturday, November 8, 1952.

Registration took place in Parker Hall at 9:00 a. m., followed by greetings from Dr. Young and Miss Madeline Bartelle, Director of Elementary School Services in N. H., introduced by Caroline Lees.

Kappa Fraternity Has Annual Square Dance

The annual square dance, sponsored by the Kappa fraternity, was held on Saturday, November 8. This year Kappa secured the services of Ralph Page and his orchestra. Mr. Page is the leading authority on the contra dances in the country, and undoubtedly the best done in the gym, which was decorated with wagon wheels, ox yokes, corn stalks, etc., to look like a country barn. Probably the most of the dance receiving the most attention was Tar Baby, an unbelievably small horse, who stood in the corner by the door and gave real authenticity to the scene.

Two-Thirds of Class Cast Votes On Thursday for Frosh Officers

Thursday, November 6, was a big day for the Freshman Class. It was election day! The day was ushered in by two days of vigorous campaigning by the candidates for office. The Student Council received petitions from 13 students and validated them. Petitions were received from Paul J. Wilkinson, president, Margaret Martin and Mae Allen for vice-president, Alice Lewis and Margaret Griswold for secretary, James Smith for treasurer, Ted Johansson, Arthur Mitchell, Richard Sargent and Minot Parker for Student Council, and Margaret Russell, Gladys Plozdzik and Joan Grimes for Student Council.

Of these 13 candidates, eight ran under the Co-op party ticket. The people chosen to run on this party ticket represented all sections of the Freshman Class. They were: Paul Wilkinson, president; Mae Allen, vice-president; Alice Lewis, secretary; James Smith, treasurer; Margaret Russell and Gladys Plozdzik for Student Council for the girls; and Richard Sargent and Ted Johansson for the boys. The Co-op party campaigned for the two nights, in front of Fiske Hall, using the Public Address System for their speeches and music. The main idea of the party was unity, and its platform was Cooperation, Organization, Opportunity and Participation. The class showed a tremendous amount of spirit, inasmuch as more than 90 freshmen students appeared in Parker Hall, Thursday, to cast their ballot.

Marine Officer Tells About OCS Program

The Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class is an officer candidate program designed to train high-caliber men who can assume responsibility as commissioned officers.

Training periods for PLC's are limited to two summer periods of six weeks each, at the completion of which the PLC is eligible for commission as a second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. No training or other work is required of the PLC during his academic year.

The first summer (junior) course is held either at Paris Island, S. C., or San Diego, Calif. Included in the first six-week summer training period is practical and theoretical basic military instruction. Weapons instruction and firing constitute an important part of the course.

The second summer (senior) course is held at the Marine Corps School at Quantico, Va., for all junior course graduates. Included in the course is instruction in crew served weapons, with emphasis on the tactics and techniques of the platoon and company. Instructors for both courses are experienced officers and non-commissioned officers.

During the first six-week training period of the junior course, PLC members receive the pay of a corporal, about $150. In the senior course, members of the PLC are promoted and receive a sergeant's rank and pay, about $185. There are no allowances for dependents.

In addition to the pay and transportation to and from the training base, PLC's are furnished living quarters, uniforms, and medical and dental care. During off-hours they have full privileges at the library, post exchange, theater, swimming pool, and athletic fields.

Included in the PLC training program are religious services especially scheduled for members of the class.

Approximately 800 PLC candidates were eligible for commission as second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve upon completion of the senior course. The remainder of those who succeeded

Nation Observes 32nd Nat'l Education Week

This week, November 8th to 15, the nation observes and evaluates our American schools, their teachers and modern education. It is the thirty-second annual observance of American Education Week which is sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the United States Office of Education, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. These organizations aim to bring the citizen and the school closer together.

Theme of this year's observance is "Children in Today's World." Certainly with the increased enrollment in our schools and the number of problems facing education, the topic chosen is a commendable one. Each day during the week will be set up to discuss one phase of the main theme:

Sunday: Child and Church;
Monday: Child and Home;
Tuesday: Child and Heritage;
Wednesday: Child and School;
Thursday: Child and Country;
Friday: Child and Opportunities;
Saturday: Child and the Future.

There is no doubt that the par-

EDITORIAL

There's an old story about the man who seeing a building being erected ventured nearer to learn more of the proceedings.

The first man he encountered was asked what he was doing and the man replied, "I'm building a brick wall for ten dollars a day."

The curious stranger then asked a second man, more elaborately dressed, what he was doing and the reply came, "I expect to make ten thousand dollars on this building."

A third man was approached and asked the same question, "what are you doing?" But this time the answer came back, "I'm building a Cathedral."

To state that we all ought to be building a cathedral of experience is belaboring a point somewhat, but the underlying truth is undeniable despite the story's classical construction. Despite the known value of the experience we can gather in college, there are many who seem perfectly content to "build brick walls."

Looking at the college program which is carried on outside the confine of classes and administration reveals a consistently regular pattern of procedure. Each time that initiative is needed, it seems to be furnished by the same familiar faces. Again and again these same few people provide the impetus, assume most of the responsibilities, attempt to recruit assistance, and usually end up doing most of the work themselves to receive a reward of criticism for their efforts.

Leadership, and the broadening experience which goes with it, is available everywhere at the standard price of responsibility. It is much easier to cynically ignore the knock of opportunity than to heed it, nevertheless opportunity is present all around us.

Trying out for plays, applying for visitations and conferences, singing in the Glee Club, playing in the band, or membership in most any club is open to anyone that takes time to review the bulletin board once in a while. Besides this medium of information, announcements in the dining hall continually plea for assistance to countless undermanned committees and urge campaigning for the many offices which are voted on.

There is quite a widespread belief that most areas of leadership are the impregnable possessions of a few cliques, but of these believers how many have volunteered their services and been refused? Work has to be carried on, and because largely the same group happens to be perpetually at the helm in no way means that they would not gratefully accept help and step into the background.

Virtually every undertaking is conducted on a volunteer basis. One can do as much or as little as he desired and those who chose only to sneer and condemn are robbing themselves of an integral ingredient in the art of teaching. Inspirers of children should first be inspired to work with and lead their own peers. Teachers cannot teach what they are not.

New Educational Study Program Announced

Fayetteville, Ark. (I.P.)—A new program of study in the field of education above the master's level, leading to a "Diploma of Advanced Study," has been announced here by Dr. Virgil Adkisson, dean of the Graduate School, and Dr. Henry Kronenberg, dean of the College of Education, University of Arkansas.

The program, which will require one year of study beyond the master's degree, will require a student to pass an objective written examination under supervision of the Committee on Graduate Study of the College of Education. In order to qualify for the diploma, a student must complete at least 30 semester hours of work above the master's degree in education, with a grade average of at least four points, and pass satisfactorily oral and written comprehensive examinations.

In addition to the formal study of education, the candidate must have had at least three years of experience in educational work. It was also announced that the University will change the designation of the master's degree granted for work done in the field of education from Master of Science to Master of Education. Letters to our Editor

BUREAU OF NON-VITAL STATISTICS Concord, N. H. 11 November 1952

Dear Editor: Several requests have come in to the Bureau asking for some of the more famous recipes that would be rather appropos at this time in your college. Forthwith are several of the more enticing dishes:

- KEEN TANGY CATHARTIC
6 lbs. fresh oak sawdust 1 1/2 cups finely ground marble
(may be used) 1 pint LePage's liquid glue
2 cups of slaked lime 6 bars Grandma's lye-soap or
2 tblsn. Snuffer's bitters 2 lbs. pgs. soap flakes

Percolator drip grind the slaked lime and add to the sawdust mixing thoroughly. Add bitters while stirring. Mix by beating lightly the ground marble and glue, then grind to a powder, with a meat grinder, Grandma's lye-soap or reasonable facsimile. Mix all together and continue for 4 1/2 minutes, stirring rapidly over stove to prevent premature "setting." Then pour into large square pan and bake in 395 degree oven for 9 hours or until a hard outer crust forms. Remove from oven and serve when loaf "sets."

INCOMPLETE HUILLEUX POISSON
A Famous Parisian Dish
1 medium cloaque trout 3 lbs. fine beach sand
2 gals. SAE rear end lube 8 lbs. dead leaves
(preferable used) 1 cup mineral oil
1 lb. Plastr la Paree

Find a medium trout with as many bones as possible and dress neat. Grind together in a mortar, the sand and leaves until an even paste is obtained. Soak la Paree in mineral oil for a few hours. remove and roll in ground mixtures, sprinkle with Plastr la Paree and deep fry in the lube for about 90 minutes. Allow to cool and garnish with copper sulfate before serving. Ooh la la. Dans la perfection!

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BUREAU:
If you wish to establish effective unnatural irregularity, we highly recommend these recipes. Surprisingly enough they make for a very fluid society.

WARNING: May be habit forming.
Antidote: For lethal doses, administer paregoric.

Sincerely,
I M NUMBERLESS,
Chief of Bureau

P. S.: Any similarity to recipes, past or present is purely coincidental

Dear Editor, With the approach of the winter season, my thoughts, as did the thoughts of the majority of students here at KTC, turned toward winter sports—skiing trips, skating parties, etc., and I became suddenly conscious of the fact that this year no Outing Club exists on campus. Despite the Monadnock's policy of protesting the plurality of organizations now operating on the KTC campus, I'm sure that you will agree with me that the Outing Club contributes a valuable and necessary factor to our college life. At Dartmouth College, the most popular social week-end of the year is the Winter Carnival week-end. With an Outing Club to sponsor such a program, we could as easily have snow sculptures, a carnival dance, and all the activity and fun that goes with a Winter Carnival.

What do you say, all you students who complain about the lack of college social life? Let's get behind an effort to have a KTC Outing Club!

MARILYN MacMAHON

Dear Editor: For the benefit of those students who are not acquainted with the policy that was in effect the latter part of last year concerning the use of the Fiske Hall social room, I would like to relate a little in formation. After a period of time totaling over two months, in which the forces of the Student Council, Fiske girls, and other interested students virtually battled to obtain the right or permission to use the popular Fiske social room one extra week night in addition to the already granted week-end use, those in authority finally granted the much sought privilege.

The same thing happened the previous year, as student factions sought the right to use the social room one night a week until time for the girls to be in. Why is it that as soon as a new group of my knowledge, however, then I noticed that several pairs of eyes, whom I later found to be newcomers to the school, were eagerly awaiting my decision so that they could duplicate my choices. It was the first time that I had ever been in a position of such influence with voters, but my word was as good as anyone else's to the nurses who were unfamiliar with practically everyone on the list and to the freshmen who knew a few of the candidates strictly on a "hi there" basis, and besides this all of us were on the verge of being late for class. It was easily noticeable that the freshman class was the most predominant body at the assembly, and therefore they had the power to elect almost anyone they desired. With this thought in mind, I took sort of an impartial poll among some of our first year students immediately after the assembly to determine their knowledge of those for whom they were voting. As I had suspected, a few of the candidates who were out practicing teaching were completely unheard of. I also tried to determine the method in which the students had

Campus WHEELS

From a little town on the Maine border comes the class of Wheelie Tanner. Lola has lived all of her life prior to coming to KTC in Milton, N. H. As a student in Nute High School, Milton, Lola's main extra-curricular interests centered around athletics. She participated in basketball, volleyball, softball, and similar team sports. In addition to this, Lola held a class office all four of her high school years, and was secretary of her graduating class.

Here at KTC, as one of the outstanding members of the class of '54, she is continuing her interest in athletics, and is active in all campus sports. This year she is head of basketball, president of the Woman's Athletic Association, a member of the W.A.A. Honor Society, and a member of the Intramural Council. She belongs to several non-athletic clubs and organizations as well. She is a member of the Intravivitation Council, treasurer of F.T.A., treasurer of the Junior class, and has attended several Teachers' Conventions. This fall, Lola was one of the students fortunate enough to attend the Swampscott Conference where they discussed the "Moral and Spiritual Values of Teacher Education." Everyone remembers, I'm sure, the hula dance that Lola performed so well in the Sigma sponsored Club White Rose Show, last year. This is a characteristic exhibition of Lola's willingness to do what she can to make any school function a success.

As might be expected, her favorite activity is skiing. Very interested in education, Lola's future plans include teaching in New Hampshire elementary schools. She will be a definite asset to any faculty, with her sparkling personality and athletic ability.

Monday morning I had the good fortune to attend the assembly at which we all enjoyed ourselves in a very successful community sing. Rather, I should say that I enjoyed myself until the last item of procedure on the program. In that brief ten-minute period was attempted a vote on one of the most important decisions that we have the privilege to make. If perchance there is any doubt as to the subject of my dismay, it is the manner in which the candidates to appear in Who's Who were selected.

Without any explanation concerning the honor or just why and what we were voting on, people suddenly appeared with armfuls of papers and began passing them out. Closer scrutiny revealed that a list of names placed in alphabetical order were listed on the paper. To many a list of names was the only significance of the ballot.

Being somewhat aware of the honor of being chosen to appear in "Who's Who," I attempted to study with care the names and vote upon them to the best of my knowledge. However, then I noticed that several pairs of eyes, whom I later found to be newcomers to the school, were eagerly awaiting my decision so that they could duplicate my choices. It was the first time that I had ever been in a position of such influence with voters, but my word was as good as anyone else's to the nurses who were unfamiliar with practically everyone on the list and to the freshmen who knew a few of the candidates strictly on a "hi there" basis, and besides this all of us were on the verge of being late for class. With this thought in mind, I took sort of an impartial poll among some of our first year students immediately after the assembly to determine their knowledge of those for whom they were voting. As I had suspected, a few of the candidates who were out practicing teaching were completely unheard of. I also tried to determine the method in which the students had attended the evening. The House of Horrors, and the Fortune Teller, who was Mrs. Page of the Page Homestead Farms, added to the atmosphere of Halloween. Pumpkins and corn stalks were the decorations. Cider and doughnuts were served as refreshments. Molly Fellows won the prize for having the prettiest costume. She was dressed as a Southern belle. The prize for the funniest outfit went to Cliff Bovin, dressed as a G.I. laundry bag. Paul Wilkinson and Alice Lewis were judged the best dressed couple. They were dressed as an Indian warrior and a Native American. Moe Belanger, Barbara Testa, Jean Waterhouse, Ginny McLavay, and Pat Sullivan, Moe and Ginny were dressed as cigarette packs with the other girls acting as cigarette salesmen.

Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Keddy, Mr. and Mrs. Woffler, Mrs. Deans and Mr. and Mrs. Carle. Co-chairmen of the dance were Pat Jones and Bette Baston. Serving on the refreshment committee were: Patricia Gormley, chairman; Joy Johnson, Jane Kingsbury, and Janet Forrest. On the decorating committee were: Lois Plimpton, chairwoman; Carolyn Hoben, Peggy Stewart expressed her appreciation to everyone who had made her welcome here, and hoped that she might return again at some future time to see us.

$250 Offered Winner Of Oil Essay Contest

Washington, D. C.—A chance to win $500.00 in prizes is offered to undergraduate students throughout the country by the Association of Petroleum Re-Refiners, Washington, D. C. Contestants are invited to submit papers on the subject, "The Advantages of Refined Oil," Verne T. Worthington, president of the Association, announced last week.

Purpose of the contest, according to Worthington, is to further research on the re-cycling of another of the purposes of the contest is to stimulate original research on the subject of the re-cycling of once-used lubricating oil.

Students desiring to enter the contest may secure a list of companies engaging in re-refining of used oil and a summary of available data by writing to: The Association of Petroleum Re-Refiners, 1917 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Manuscripts must be no shorter than 1000 words and no longer than 2000 words in length and be submitted to the Association's Contest Committee postmarked no later than December 31, 1952.

First prize will be $250.00, second prize $100.00, with three other prizes of $50.00 each.

Elementary Club Has Halloween Supper

Thursday, October 30, marked the date of the Elementary Club's Halloween supper.

The transportation committee had arranged for a bus to transport the club members to the College Camp, where the supper was held. Upon arriving at the camp everyone enjoyed the picnic meal which had been prepared by the KTC kitchen.

The meal was followed by a program of Halloween games, including Bob-for-the-Apple, Doughnut-on-a-String, and similar stunts. The committees in charge of the supper were: food committee, Mabel Granger, Ruth Bradish and Muriel Britton; transportation committee, Glenn Burney and Lillian Wirklia; program committee, Margery Stevens, Alfrida Crosby and Betty Fields. The chaperons were: Miss Etta Merrill and Miss Evelyn Bruce.

Honesty Is Learned By Doing, at Stephens

Columbia, Mo. (I.P.)—Like anything else, honesty is learned through practicing honesty. A report on the progress of the Students' Honor Code Council at Stephens College by Vera Washburne, faculty sponsor, points out that starting with this simple concept students on this campus some six years ago requested the aid of the faculty in developing a program which would encourage honesty in certain specific situations, such as the taking of tests, writing of papers, and the like.

"As in other institutions of learning, honesty is being dealt with at Stephens in such a way as to explain the program, the Ten Ideals, and in the classrooms. But the students felt that all of these dealt with the ideal of honesty in a general way, and what they wanted was a program which would deal with honesty at the operational level.

"As a start, the students instituted a program to discourage cheating on exams. Instead of the vague assumption of honesty in the classroom, faculty denied by the presence of a proctor, the students specifically pledged their intention to be honest, and the faculty indicated acceptance of the pledge by absenting themselves from the classroom during examinations.

"At its inception, the effectiveness of the pledge was doubted by some members of both the faculty and the student body; but doubted or not, the pledge seems now to be generally accepted as effective.

"Last year the students asked the faculty to extend the honor code principles to the recording of attendance class. They wanted records which were not to be checked but simply to be reported by the teachers.

"This request was put into practice but its continuation is of necessity subject to close scrutiny so far by both the students and faculty. The results of this scrutiny indicate that the students are able to be honest in this respect.

NEWS IN BRIEF
It was announced recently by Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity that Don Roberts, well known local radio announcer and disc jockey, has accepted a bid to become an honorary member of the fraternity. Initiation ceremonies will take place in the near future at the home of Dr. Lloyd P. Young. At this time the newly elected faculty advisers will also be formally initiated.

Students Participate in Musical Assembly

On Monday, November 10, the students and faculty were fortunate to have Mr. Edward Bouvier of nearby Swanzey, N. H., at the assembly to lead in group singing. Mr. Bouvier has had wide experience in musical work and choral singing, being the only man to direct a singing group of as many as 25,000 voices, which he did in Washington, D. C. In addition, the dynamic music leader has participated in numerous war bond drives before thousands at Times Square, and has been associated with several prominent colleges in the capacity of music director.

Displaying an energetic enthusiasm that caught up the students, Mr. Bouvier led the assembly in singing several of the old time, popular favorites.

The program commenced with the invocation by Rev. Father Quinn of St. Bernard's in Keene. This was followed by a brief talk by F. T. A. member Don Emmett on the local organization plans for a meeting on Thursday. He also outlined the implications of National Education Week as set forth by the head of NEA.

Also on the program was the presentation of soccer awards by Coach Sumner Joyce. Those receiving stars signifying a letter already won, were Carroll Tousignant, Paul Saladino, Mike Tierney, Fred Hae, Ray Richard, Ed Crouteau, Minot Parker, and manager, Al Hoyt.

The assembly concluded as Dr. Young thanked all those who contributed to the success of the Red Feather Revue at City Hall on Friday night. Voting for candidates from KTC to represent the college in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" was also conducted. Those from whom eight are to be selected are Patricia Bonardi, Dean Corrigan, Donald Emmett, Janet Falcetti, Gloria C. Jackson, Gordon Jacques, Donald Johnson, Howard Mortenson, Priscilla Osborne, Gloria Richardson, Wallace Russell, Irene Terrill, Mildred Turner, Normand Valliere, and Robert Witham. This year the nominating committee decided to limit the candidates to seniors.

Book Review

Cameron, Meribeth E. Mahoney, Thomas, H. D. McKeon, George E. CHINA, JAPAN and the POWERS Ronald Press, New York, 1952 682 pp.

"China, Japan and the Powers" is a competent historical contribution to the growing body of knowledge concerning the Pacific area. It is a text designed for the college student and the general reader. The historical antecedents and geographic setting of Japan and China are traced in a comprehensive manner. It covers the entire period of recorded history. Interaction between the two oriental powers and the western nations is shown as it operated during the various eras of time.

The authors have achieved the difficult task of bringing together many parallel events. To do this, the book is constructed on the basis of chronological units. Each chapter stands alone and can be used as a reference on any particular aspect of the topic. Useful references for further reading are listed at the end of each chapter and there are enough maps to support the written material.

Style and selection of facts are excellent for a concise distillation of many centuries of history. There are frequent allusions to Chinese and Japanese institutions and to relations between the powers that enlighten the reader on the present day situations in the Pacific. Examples of this are the discussions of the Chinese law and its conflict with Anglo-Saxon law, the place of revolution in the Chinese tradition, oriental eclecticism, the rejection of the theory of revolution in the Japanese tradition, and the bitter lessons of history which show that the Western nations in the Pacific have gotten by war with the Russians have been sure to obtain by opportunism and skillful diplomacy. Most significant of all are the weighed statements concerning the reasons why we lost China and have a war in Korea. In the historical judgment of the authors the recent setbacks in the Pacific, stem from social trends operating for many years which have created problems too large for solution by the foreign policy of any one country. This interpretation gives little comfort to those Americans on the scene today who are looking for scapegoats to receive personal blame.

The main weakness is one common to all texts. There is much historical and geographic detail that has no direct bearing on the modern scene. In the opinion of this reviewer, much of the narration of dynasties and dates in Japanese and Chinese history could well have been omitted without impairing the book as an instrument for understanding the present. It might be added that the interpretation of American policy toward China and Japan coincides with that of the State Department. Official documents are used which necessarily give chapters dealing with this aspect a national bias. The alert reader will be aware of this bias and will also be able to skim the irrelevant portions. In spite of these criticisms this work fills a real need for modern Americans who must have more than a superficial knowledge of Far Eastern affairs and American relations to them.

Soccer Team Ends Season With a Tie; Sports Scene Now Shifts to Basketball

The KTC soccer team ended its season's play by fighting a scoreless dual with Fitchburg Teachers College down at the College "A" Field. This brought the Owl hoopers record for the season to a two won, two lost, and one tie reading. In the two teams' previous encounter at Fitchburg, the Owls were edged out in the waning seconds of play by a 1-0 score. Last Thursday's game appeared as though it was going to end in the same manner. In the closing minutes of play, Fitchburg worked the ball down to directly in front of the KTC goal. A high fast kick seemed destined to head the ball into the net for a score, but alert goal keeper Gordie Jacques leaped high and grabbed the ball to preserve the Owl's tie. The Joyemen then pressed the battle trying desperately to score, but the best they could do was to come close.

The two teams then decided to play two five minute overtime periods. Neither team could score in the extra minutes, and with darkness fast approaching, both teams agreed to settle for a tie.

The intramural football season ended last week and Kappa rolled out Alpha's three year reign on the gridiron. The Kappa men had a large front line averaging about 180 pounds. Jim Brezniski was given plenty of protection as he tossed aerials to Wally Russell and Rod Bolven.

Everyone on the Kappa team played fine ball, but at least two men deserve special recognition. They are Jim Brezniski and Wally Russell. Big Jim Brezniski did all the quarter-backing for the Kappa Delta Phi team and did a marvelous job. He mixed up his running and passing plays well and when he did pass, he usually hit his receivers.

Wally Russell, the glue-fingered man of the team, did a splendid job of picking Brezniski's passes out of the air and defensively he intercepted many of the opposition's aerials.

Red and White Teams Clash for Honors at the Annual Sports Day

A Halloween masquerade at Spaulding Gymnasium on Saturday night, November 1, completed this year's activities in the annual Fall Sports Day for the women students of Keene Teachers College. Competition in individual and team sports was keen between the traditional Red and White teams and at the close of the day's schedule it was announced that the Red Team, co-captained by Lola Tanner of Milton, N. H., and Ann Bassett of Francess town, N. H., was the winner with a total of 291 points, while the White Team, captained by Patricia Gormley of Lancaster, N. H., had collected 77 points.

The individual sports winners for their teams were:
Tennis: First place, Carol Luscombe, Manchester, N. H. (Red Team); second place, Marci Croto, Alstead, N. H. (White Team).
Badminton: First place, Jane Maret, Dover, N. H. (White Team); second place, Carolyn Thompson, East Andover, N. H. (Red Team).
Archery: First place, Louise Ludgate, Bartlett, N. H. (Red Team); second place, Ann Bassett, Francess town, N. H. (Red Team).
Bowling: First place, June Hesse, Pittsfield, N. H. (Red Team); second place, Estelle Greenwood, Bristol, N. H. (Red Team).

In the team sports the Red Team won the volleyball game and the field hockey game. The swimming events were taken by the Red Team by one point.
The students who planned the Sports Day were:
Red Team: General chairman, June Hesse, Pittsfield, N. H.; program chairman, Margaret Raymond, Keene; master scorer, Virginia McLavey, Hudson, N. H.; publicity chairman, Carolyn Ramsay, Conway, N. H.

On November 3, the intramural basketball program started off at KTC in full swing. The fast moving Kappa entry downed the Commuters 49-20. The boys from Kappa presented a well balanced scoring attack as every member on the squad scored at least once. The Commuters were led in the scoring column by the left-hand shooting Coogan who contributed seven points to the losing cause.

Kappa made it two wins in a row as they ran roughshod over a taller Sigma team, 67-27. The high geared Kappa machine was powered by Durnford's fifteen points, closely followed by Nims and Davis who netted fourteen points apiece.

Alpha kept its winning streak from last year intact as they also chalked up two victories during the past week. Their first victory was chalked up at the expense of an inexperienced, but game Hills-boro team.

In the championship game, the Red Team won by a 13-0 margin. Both teams employed a passing attack, but the Juniors were much more effective. Jiggs Waugh did the passing for the Seniors, but many were intercepted. Neal Gadwah starred on defense for the Juniors. All of the scoring was done in the first half and the Class of '54 had other scoring opportunities, but failed to cash in on them.

Interclass Football Title to Freshmen

The Freshmen upset the Juniors on Thursday afternoon to capture the class football crown.

The Class of '56 started on their way to victory by defeating the Sophomores 31-0. Dave Costin was the big man for the Freshman team as he scored four touchdowns. Alex Bantis scored the other. Mike Tierney and Dick Sargent shared the signal calling. This victory gave them the right to meet the winner of the Junior-Senior contest.

The Juniors paced by the passing of Jim Brezniski defeated the Seniors by a 13-0 margin. Both teams employed a passing attack, but the Juniors were much more effective. Education Week (Continued from Page 1)
The problems are many: overcrowded classrooms, inadequate school supplies, shortage of qualified teachers and insufficient school buildings.

The citizens who go to our schools should realize by viewing their educational systems that improvements can only come if the public takes an interest in the schools and makes plans of action to effect to improve the education of their children.

Dr. William G. Carr of the NEA says that improvement of education will depend on the following:
1. Adjustment of teachers' salaries to catch up with higher prices and high standards of service.

4. By applying to teaching and administering the best knowledge we already possess to bridge the gap between research and practice.

5. Protection of the ideals of freedom of education against all efforts to undermine them in this period of international tension.

6. Reorganization and streamlining of professional organization in education.

Students of Keene Teachers College, the problems that face education in our country directly concern you. How far education progresses in our country and in New Hampshire will depend on the part you play in the improvement of our state and national educational system. It is your duty to be concerned with the thirty-second annual observance of American Education Week. This week is to all you to further the understanding of our educational problems by following the theme "Children in Today's World."

SCA Donates Proceeds of Its Sale To World Students Service Fund

The Student Christian Association cleared $34.65 in the rummage sale for the benefit of the World University Service, November 1. All the proceeds go to help further the education of students in other lands.

The sale was held at the Baptist Church Saturday morning and was open to the public. The rummage sale serves two purposes. The receipts go to help needy students all over the world and the sale provides an opportunity to the people of Keene to buy inexpensive clothing. It was decided to have the sale now, as cold weather is approaching.

The committee chairman was Ruth Brainard and with her many members of the S. C. A. worked Friday night pricing the items and Saturday morning as sales clerks.

The variety of merchandise was contributed by students and faculty. The advisor of the association, Mrs. Deans, did much to promote the success of the sale.

This rummage sale is held annually for the purpose of raising money for the World University Service Fund. Next spring the S. C. A. will hold another sale.

This was the first fund raising activity of the association this year and also the first chance for new and old members to work together. The results were most successful.

The S. C. A. held a regular meeting November 6, at which time plans were discussed for the Christmas activities to be sponsored by the association. A new constitution was also adopted.

At present there are three colleges in New England which are accredited by both the American Association of Colleges for Teachers Education and the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. They are New Britain (Connecticut), Teachers College, Framingham (Mass.), Teachers College, and our own KTC. We can all be proud of the standard of our college, and do our utmost to preserve its rating.

Next week, Dr. Young, taking Dr. Ferrodin and Dr. Wolfer with him, will visit Wheelock College in Boston, as a member of the accrediting committee from the New England Association of Colleges for Teachers Education. Three weeks from now, Dr. Young, representing the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, will visit Lesley College in Cambridge, Mass.

steps in graduate work in education are in line with changes being made in a number of the graduate schools in the country, it was pointed out.

Preliminary requirements for admission to this program are different from the preliminary requirements which must be met by students who plan to work toward the doctor's degree in education. Students who pursue the work leading to the Diploma of Advanced Study will not be permitted to apply that work as credit toward the meeting the requirements for the doctor's degree in education, unless they also complete the preliminary requirements in the doctoral program while they are working toward the diploma.

Student Council

A regular meeting of the Student Council was held in Parker Hall on November 4, 1952 at 4 o'clock. Ted Barker, treasurer of the Student Council, reported that there was a balance of $242.76.

Howard Mortenson reported that the Student Affairs committee has received house regulations from Huntress Hall and will meet with both Huntress and Pike councils to discuss the possibility of combining house regulations. President Mortenson also reported that a student-faculty committee will be formed to set up drinking regulations for the College.

The Activities Committee reported that the meeting times of all clubs and organizations had been received from the presidents and that they are now working on a schedule so that the meeting times of the clubs and organizations on campus would not conflict with one another. It was agreed to extend the deadline for submitting the forms for allocation of money to Friday, November 7. The time schedule for all the clubs will be published in the next issue of the Monadnock.

EIGHT STUDENTS ARE TO APPEAR IN "WHOS WHO"

Students Selected from KTC To Be Notified Soon If Elected to Appear in New Edition

Fifteen students were recently given a great honor by being chosen as nominees for the annual publication of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. They are: Patricia Bonardi, Dean Corrigan, Donald Emmet, Janet Falcetti, Gloria Jackson, Gordon Jaques, Donald Johnson, Howard Mortenson, Priscilla Osborne, Gloria Richardson, Wallace Russell, Irene Terrill, Mildred Turner, Normand Valiere, and Robert Witham.

Prof's Attend Two Industrial Meetings

On November 7 and 8, Mr. Spencer Eaton and Mr. Frank Tisdale attended a meeting of the New England Industrial Arts Association in Portland, Me. This was attended by about 400 teachers and directors of Industrial Arts from all of the New England states.

The newly elected freshman representatives are Gladys Plodzik, Margaret Russell, Jay Wilkinson, Richard Sargent, and Art Mitchell. The alternates are: Amy Taylor, Margaret Griswold, Nelson Evans and James Regan.

Two newly-formed clubs on campus submitted their constitutions to the Council for recognition and allocation of funds. These two clubs are "The Fish and Game Club" and "The Women's Computer Club," and both will be recognized by the Student Council as active, functioning clubs on campus.

President Mortenson announced that no further action had been taken on the setting up of drinking regulations for KTC.

The problem of commuters was discussed by the Council on November 7 and 8. Mr. Spencer Eaton and Mr. Frank Tisdale attended a meeting of the New England Industrial Arts Association in Portland, Me. This was attended by about 400 teachers and directors of Industrial Arts from all of the New England states.

The N. H. Technical Institute in Manchester was the seat for a conference on November 20, which purpose was to organize an Association of Industrial Educational Teachers in N. H. Mr. Adams, Mr. Tisdale, and Mr. Eaton attended this conference. Mr. Tisdale was the chairman of a committee to bring in a proposed constitution for the association. A banquet preceded the business meeting. At the business meeting the constitution was ratified and the following officers were elected: president, Bernard Smith of the Davis Vocational School in Dover; vice-president, Edgar Royce of Laconia; and secretary-treasurer, Paul Perkins.

Regional IRC Conference to Be Held on Campus December 12-13

Keene Teachers College will be host to 60 eastern colleges and universities on December 12 and 13, when the New England Regional Conference of International Relations Clubs convenes here on our campus. The I.R.C. Club at KTC is sponsoring the conference, which has as its theme, "Containment or Liberation." It will be built around United States foreign policy and its effect on Europe, the Near East and Asia.

The seminar topics which were announced by the Keene I.R.C. Club are as follows: The European Question: "What is the impact of NATO and European Unity on the containment or liberation policy?" The Near East Problem: "To what extent is American policy in the Near East supporting our stand in relation to Russia?" The Asia Question: "In Asia does containment or liberation seem to be the most realistic policy?"

The keynote speaker will be Morris Mitchell of the Putney Graduate School, Putney, Vt., who will speak on "Education For World Crisis." Dr. I. L. Claude, Jr., of the Harvard University faculty will give the closing address on Saturday evening. Dr. Claude, a graduate of Hendry College, is a professor of government, Law and International Organization.

A County Fair is Theme of Bazaar Held by the Nu Beta Upsilon Girls

As the theme for their annual bazaar, the Nu Beta girls presented "A Country Fair" on Saturday, November 22, in Spaulding Gymnasium. Several booths were arranged around the hall offering hot dogs, candied apples, popcorn balls and cookies in real country fair fashion. The Grab Bag and Parcel Post booths also attracted many who wanted to try their luck. Several games of Beano were played during the course of the evening and in the final game Peggy Raymond won the grand prize which was a box of candy. Dancing to records also was one of the many activities.

At 9:30 the girls gave a little vaudeville show including chorus numbers and a barbershop quartet. The big feature of the evening was Marie Corriveau as "Marie the Mystic," who foretold the future with cards to the immense delight of all.

In the afternoon the children of Keene went to the fair. There were several rides for the kiddies as well as a floor show.

Much praise is due the Nu Beta girls whose efforts helped to make the whole day a success. Elois Taylor and Jackie Flagg as general chairman deserve a bouquet for their fine leadership. Joan Grimes and Pat Benoit as publicity agents displayed many colorful posters. Others who served on various committees were Pauline Barton, Janice McNamara, Nancy Philbrick, Mary Burbank, Dorothy McCorn, Hazel Brainard, Carolyn Greene, Joan Sheldon, Bette Baston, Ann Rogers, Ruth Karnis, Carolyn Thompson Barbara Rogers and Marlene Farrow.

KTC Scene of State FHA Fall Conference

The New Hampshire Association of the Future Homemakers of America held its fall meeting on campus, November 20 and 21.

Thursday was the meeting of the executive council in Hale Building; and these fifteen council members were guests at the college for the night. On Friday, the main day of the conference, approximately 175 members of the F.H.A., and advisers, held their meeting in Parker Hall.

The morning business session was preceded by registration, and greetings from Marlene Farrow, president of Nu Beta Upsilon; and Miss Vivian V. Beckwith, head of the Home Economics Department of KTC. Sylvia Bans, president of F.H.A., conducted the business meeting.

Speaking at the afternoon session was Miss Marguerite Scruggs, the National Adviser of F.H.A., who was influenced by the chief economist of the United States Department of Commerce, Mr. Charles E. Jones, president of The Garland School in Boston, Mass.; the Rev. Mrs. June Lester is the State F.H.A. adviser.

Student Council

The regular meeting of the Student Council was held on November 18, at 4:00, in Parker Hall. The first thing on the agenda was the welcoming of the new freshman members. The four members and their alternates were present and we sincerely hope that they will continue to attend all meetings.

The Reverend Meury of the First Congregational Church was the guest speaker on the panel, and, in addition to the points he stressed, our representatives to the Swampscott Conference reported on the topic, "To What Extent are Schools Responsible for Moral and Spiritual Values in Education?"

Colby Junior College Sponsors Conference

Keene Teachers College was one of 15 New England colleges and junior colleges which sent student and faculty delegates to the Marriage and Family Conference sponsored by the town of New London, N. H. and Colby Junior College the week of November 17 through 21. The representatives sent from KTC were Mrs. Lillian Morrison and Marie Corriveau. The five day conference was financed by a grant from the W. T. Grant Foundation, Inc., which is a well-known warm relationship which has always existed between New London and Colby Junior.

Four prominent men and women in the field of family life spoke during the week and were available for personal counselling. Dr. Grace Sloan Overton, the chief counselor on family life problems, and maintains a program service for many educational, religious and civic organizations. Other speakers were Mrs. Gladys Beckett-Jones, president of The Garland School in Boston, Mass.; the Rev. Mrs. June Lester is the State F.H.A. adviser.

Alice Lewis is Crowned Queen at Sigma's Annual White Rose Ball

The first formal on the year's social calendar was held in Spaulding Gym on November 13th. The gala White Rose Ball, sponsored by Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, featured the music of Ted Hartner's orchestra and WKNE's Don Roberts as Master of Ceremonies. The climax of the evening came with the announcement and crowning of the new White Rose Queen. From the six attractive finalists in the White Rose Queen contest, the judges selected for novelty Alice Lewis of East Jeffery, to reign. Alice was crowned by last year's Queen, Jean Waterhouse. The queen's court was made up of the following girls: Virginia McLavey, of Hudson; Mae Allen, of Epping; Jane Kingsbury, of Lebanon; Carol Lou Luscombe, of Manchester; and Carolyn Thompson, of East Andover.

Chosen to judge the contest were a group of Keene merchants and their wives. Included on the Board of Judges were: Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich Michel, of (Continued on Page 4)

Exhibit at Library Features Book Week

For Book Week, November 16-22, the library of Keene Teachers College presented as its main feature in the reading room, "Reading is Fun," starring new books. The new books were displayed on the "new book shelf" under the billboard which featured the books as if they were an advertisement for a movie.

Another display of books for the occasion was the one for children in the front hallway. The posters for the theme of this year's reading is fun, pictured a small boy, who was surrounded by shelves of books, sitting on a ladder reading a book.

The new books which were presented were: Fiction: Brooks, "The Shining Trades"; Buck, "The Hidden Flower"; Buckmaster, "Bread (Continued on Page 2)

EDITORIAL

In all probability we are all now somewhat acquainted with the long range building plans which were recently made public by the State Board of Education. The five point million dollar plus building program as announced by Dr. Young is quite ideal in theory and will undoubtedly give Keene Teachers College the greatly needed physical facilities to insure everyone an equal and well rounded opportunity to absorb the most from college. The request for a twenty-five thousand dollar allocation for a scholarship fund is also something long overdue and if granted will help greatly in diminishing the financial discrimination which has long been a problem in education.

The entire program is undeniably one of foresight, careful planning and one against which no one connected with our educational system can honestly argue against. The only possible shortcoming connected with the whole program is that it is still in the infant stage of planning and will require a little matter of an affirmative vote by the state legislature and in all probability approval by our governor before the first brick can be laid.

This matter of legislative approval may seem only one of the logical steps to the fulfillment of our campus expansion, but this step could well be the largest single obstacle in the realization of our goal. A look at past legislative action in our state would seem to indicate that state aid to education is definitely not the paramount interest of our New Hampshire solons. In 1952, the aid to education under the administration of our incumbent governor was sufficient to rank us as forty-seventh state in the union. In fact the 1952 allotment was greatly surpassed even as far back as 1926. The governor-elect of New Hampshire, from past records and public statements, definitely is equally, if not more, opposed to state aid.

As can readily be seen, a great transformation of opinion is necessary in our policy makers if the proposals of the state board asking for nearly double last year's amount of state aid are to be favorably acted upon. Changes of views, unfortunately, rarely emanate suddenly from within a person and cause him to see the light. Therefore, reasoning that a political about face is necessary, a very influencing force is going to be the first step in achieving this new willingness by our legislators for educational appropriations.

In case the implication is still a little vague, this is it—there are well over four hundred people available on our campus to form the nucleus of a very effective unofficial lobby. Our state legislature is composed of representative from nearly every metropolis and hamlet in New Hampshire. Paralleling this, Keene Teachers College contains students equally as well dispersed throughout the state. A little effort from everyone here might well have its effect. A few words to the representatives from your town or even a letter to our new governor could certainly do no harm. Every opportunity should be taken advantage of to help this proposed progress in education. Effort is sometimes a very economical gift and usually much more satisfying and it isn't often we're in a position to add our contribution to the shaping of the future.

D. J. J.

There have been several items of general interest reported in the past two weeks. Heading the list is the coronation of the White Rose Queen. Congratulations are due the winner and her court. The Sigma boys made one mistake, however, in making a centerpiece that detracted attention from the Queen to the fish bowl. I have it from reliable sources that several interested and influential personages were surveying the "dance floor" early on Sunday morning trying to find the hole in the floor where the running water came from. I understand that they weren't very successful.

Probably second in importance is the on-rushing Thanksgiving recess. This is arbitrarily placed second as a compromise between student and faculty viewpoints. A small warning for the new students—don't be fooled! Never judge a book by its cover. Vacation sounds good, but—don't let the faculty seem to have picked up the impression that students forget whatever they did know while they are gone and to compensate for this, a frenzied program is carried on during the three days prior to your leaving.

Some observing student said he thought it had been snowing in his dorm the other day. It wasn't snow, but it was an indication of foul weather ahead—warnings are out. How's your allowance holding out? You can always check the Classified section if you're having difficulties. I realize that most of the work offered is for men, and the girls still have a very difficult problem. Some of the girls have friends of the opposite sex who can finance movies, etc., and I imagine that the rest are working on this and trying to enter this same category—that of being supported. I realize that the manpower shortage limits the possibilities and I am sorry to have to report that I have no satisfactory solution on hand. Of course you can always try to bring your grades up.

It is only because I feel that it is my duty to be unbiased that I make this last announcement. Girls there are only 36 more shopping days until the end of Leap Year. See you in the funny papers.

Recently an exhibit of baby pictures poking fun at both the librarians and patrons was on the bulletin boards. The new glass case, which is available for anyone having a suitable exhibit to make, recently contained specimens representing different successive cultural periods in prehistoric New Hampshire. These specimens were excavated by the New Hampshire Archeological Society from a village site in Tilton, N. H.

Another new feature in the library this year is the drinking fountain found on the way to the annex.

Owls Open the Basketball Season Away; Home Opener with Curry December 6

With a month of practice under their belts, including three game scrimmages with the local high school quintet, the hoop charges of Coach Summer Joyce are ready to meet Worcester Teachers College in the season's opener, December 3, at Worcester, Mass. Even though Joyce has not had all of his operatives together in any one of the game scrimmages, the Owls were able to shade the schoolboys in each practice. Now Joyce is faced with the happy dilemma of trying to pick out a starting unit from a group of big, experienced players.

The Owls have a fine array of veteran material bolstered by the presence of several promising newcomers. The leftmen back for another season are Wally Russell, last year's leading scorer; Lindy Chakalos, stellar backcourt ace; Bruce Kibbee, absent from play last year, but top point getter two years ago; Jesse Evangelou, rugged rebounder; Herb Silander, and Nap Benoit. Jay-Vee performers back for another year are Joe Hall, John Burnham, and Ken Keough.

The Joycemen have available from the ranks of the newcomers a fine prospect in lanky Fred Hale, former UNH varsity performer. This big 6'4", 195 pounder from Conway, N. H., should develop into one of the best centers in the Teachers College Conference. Hale showed up well in later practices after being off stride in early season drills. Now, though, the big boy has a bruised knee and may be handicapped in early season games. Also playing very well in pre-season practices has been slater Paul Bushey, freshman from Groveton, N. H. Other first year men slated for plenty of action are Bob Anderson, Dick Buckman, Ed Croustean, Dick Sargeant, Skip Regan, Ray Richard, and Jordan Waugh.

This will be perhaps the tallest team to represent KTC in many years. Nine of the 18 men on the squad scale over six feet in height. The likely starters look like Russell, Kibbee, Hale, Chakalos, and Bushey. This outfit would present

A well-balanced scoring punch with plenty of height and savvy. Whatever the case, this year's edition of the hoop Owls should give us plenty of thrills and action in the home games which begin on Saturday, December 6, with Curry College.

Have you noticed the increasingly large number of men students walking around the college campus with puffed lips, swollen eyes, and an unnatural walk? At a quick glance it would seem that the male enrollment was waging a war of its own. However, this is not the case as the majority of the injuries can be traced to the rough and tumble type of play that is featured in the intramural basketball league. The participants seem to have forgotten that the football season has ended as they insist on employing tactics that were meant only for the gridiron. Thus far, roughness has been more of a prime requisite for emerging the victor than has actual skill.

One reason for this increasing roughness of play has been the unwillingness or the inability of the officials to toot their whistles. We realize and appreciate the fact that the officials are donating their free time to this cause, but if clean and interesting play is going to predominate, the game must be kept under control at all times by the referees.

Many of those persons who are capable referees do not care to give their services because the players and fans show absolutely no respect or sportsmanship toward them. A tip to players and fans alike is to show the officials, whom you think are doing a good job, that you appreciate their efforts and would like to have them work games more often. This might in time improve the whole functioning of the intramural league.

If any of you haven't witnessed an intramural game as yet, it might give you an enjoyable hour to watch the spirited play in the league. At present it looks like a three-team race for the crown with Kappa leading, but anything can and probably will happen.

Don't forget the big home basketball opener at Spaulding Gym on Saturday, December 6, with Curry College.

Kappa Heads League On Five Straight Wins

On the intramural basketball scene, many fine games were played. On November 10, Sigma edged the Commuters by a score of 43-37. Don Johnson and Mike Tierney paced the attack of the Sigma Blue Devils by hitting for 16 and 15 points respectively. In another great game Alpha nipped the Blue Devils of Sigma by a score of 31-28. The Sigma quintet had the taller team, but the Alpha men played good ball and with a combination of set shots and driving lay-ups, they emerged victorious. The scoring was pretty evenly divided. Grasso paced the victors with nine points. Don Johnson again led the Sigma team with eight points.

A fighting Hillsboro team threw a scare into the Kappa men, but at the final whistle Kappa was still in the lead, 46-41. It was a nip and tuck contest all the way, but the Kappa quintet had too much experience and drive for the Hillsboro five. Davis paced the victors with 12 points, while Paul Saladino was the sensational for the losers as he hit for 18.

The Hillsboro five won their first game of the season as they defeated the Commuters 47-37. Ken Hewitt and Saladino were outstanding on rebounding against the tall Commuter quintet. The Hillsboro team led throughout the contest. Hewitt dropped in 13 for the winners while Trombly and Lambert got 10 and 9 respectively for the losers. The Kappa team may be heading (Continued on Page 4)
